This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. Chitty, J. ANDREW v. CROSSLEY. Jan. 11
CROSSLEY v. ANDREW.

Patent—Practice—Amendment of Specification—Decision of Comptroller—Date when Amendment considered made—Pending Action for Infringement—Patents, Designs, and Trade Marks Acts, 1883-1888, s. 18.

A threats action having been commenced by A. against C. in which a motion for an injunction was made, the motion stood over on an undertaking by C. to bring an action against A. for infringement as soon as a disclaimer by C. of certain claims in his specification had been allowed; at the date of this undertaking C. had, pursuant to sect. 18 of the Patents, Designs, and Trade Marks Acts, 1883-1888, applied for leave to amend the specification; the amendment was opposed by A.

On the 9th of June, 1890, the comptroller gave his decision in writing, allowing the amendment subject to the usual condition that C. should undertake not to sue for infringements committed before the 1st of January, 1884.

On the 11th of June, the writ in the infringement action against A. was issued. On the 30th of June, a notice was sent to C. from the Patent Office, requesting him to give the undertaking required; this was complied with on the 9th of July.

On the 26th of August, C.'s specification was formally amended.

The two actions having been referred by consent to an arbitrator, and C. having proposed to put in evidence his amended specification, it was objected to by A. on the ground, that on the 11th of June, the date of the writ, the amendment had not been actually made, and that by sub-sect. 10 of sect. 18 of the Acts, the provisions as to amendment did not apply, pending any action for infringement, and that under the circumstances of the present case the specification was not admissible.

The arbitrator allowed the objection, and C. now moved to review this decision.

Sir R. Webster, A.G., and Lawson, for C.

Hopkinson, and J. C. Graham, for A.

CHITTY, J., held, that the correct reading of sect. 18 was, that the proceedings for amendment terminated when leave to amend was given; and that the mere ministerial act of amendment followed as a matter of course in pursuance of the leave so given; that any written consent to a condition imposed by the comptroller related back to the date of the comptroller's decision to give leave to amend, and that the giving of this assent did not fall within the meaning of the words in sub-sect. 10 of sect. 18 so as to constitute a proceeding, the taking of which was prohibited while an action for infringement was pending. For these reasons, his Lordship held that the amended specification was admissible.

Landlord and Tenant—Farm—Agricultural Lease—Covenant to cultivate in Husband-like Manner—Conversion into Market-garden—Breach of Covenant — Waste — Glass-houses—"Improvements"—Compensation—Agricultural Holdings Act, 1883.

By a lease dated the 21st of January, 1889, the plaintiff demised to the defendant an agricultural farm of about 152 acres, situate in the counties of Hertford and Middlesex, for a term of 21 years at a yearly rent of 225*l.*, all rights of sporting being reserved to the lessor, and the lessee covenanting that he would in all respects cultivate and manage the farm and every part thereof "in a good, proper, and husband-like manner, according to the best rules of husbandry practised in the neighbourhood." The defendant having covered part of the "arable" land of the farm with glass-houses for the growth of produce for the London markets, and intending to erect further glass-houses for the same purpose, the plaintiff brought this action for an injunction, contending that the defendant had committed a breach of covenant, and that the conversion of an agricultural farm into a market-garden was "waste." The defendant contended that the conversion complained of was an "improvement" and not waste; and that the erection of the houses was permitted by the Agricultural Holdings Act, 1883, and that they were buildings which, under that Act, might be removed by the tenant at the expiration of his tenancy or be bought by the landlord. The evidence at the trial shewed that many of the farms in the neighbourhood were being wholly or partially cultivated in the same way as the defendant's.

Marten, Q.C., and P. A. Kingdon, for plaintiff.

Renshaw, Q.C., and Vernon R. Smith, for defendant.

KEKEWICH, J., said that, having regard to the change of circumstances in the neighbourhood, and the system of cultivation of farms there which had sprung up in order to meet the requirements of the London markets, there had not been, in his opinion, any breach of the covenant contained in the lease. Without expressing any direct opinion upon the effect of the Agricultural Holdings Act, 1883, his Lordship felt inclined to hold that the glass-houses in question were "improvements" within the Act, for which the tenant could get compensation. There must be judgment for the defendant, with costs.

In re WESTMORELAND GREEN AND BLUE SLATE COMPANY.

Practice—Company—Winding-up—Officer of Company—Examination—Examiner of the Court, attendance before—Subpœna—Summons—Companies Act, 1862, s. 115.

This was a motion by M. J. Fielden, a contributory to the above company, which was in liquidation, for an order to compel J. S. Saurey, an officer of the company, to attend at his own expense before an examiner of the Court and submit to be sworn and examined under an order made by the chief clerk on the 2nd of November, 1891, giving the contributory "liberty to summon and examine" the said J. S. Saurey under sect. 115 of the Companies Act, 1862. Fielden's solicitor, having obtained that order, served Saurey with a subpœna to attend before the examiner. The question now raised was whether a subpœna was sufficient, and whether an order for Saurey's attendance ought not to have been obtained on a summons for the purpose: Buckley, 6th edit. p. 722.

Butcher, for Fielden, submitted that either practice might be adopted.

S. Eady, for Saurey, was not called upon.

KEKEWICH, J., said his own experience was that the practice was that laid down by Vice-Chancellor Wood in In re English Joint Stock Bank (Law Rep. 3 Eq. 203), namely, that the proper mode of summoning a person before an examiner, under s. 115 of the Companies Act, 1862, was by a summons in Chambers and not by subpœna, and that practice was recognised in all the text-books upon the subject; the reason being, as stated in Buckley, 6th edit. p. 300, that the Court must be satisfied that the person summoned was capable of giving the information mentioned in the section. In the present case Saurey had had no opportunity of saying whether he could give the information or not, or whether he came within the section at all. The proceeding by subpœna being wrong, or at all events contrary to the recognised practice, the motion must be refused with costs.

COURT OF APPEAL.

Lunacy. In re B—— (an alleged Lunatic). Jan. 12.

Lunatic—Attachment—Compulsory Order for Examination—Jurisdiction—Lunacy Act, 1891, s. 26, sub-s. 2.

This was a motion for attachment of a lady alleged to be of unsound mind for disobeying a compulsory order made by the master under sect. 26, sub-sect. 2, of the Lunacy Act, 1891, requiring her to attend for examination by a medical man at a time mentioned in the order. The lady refused to attend, and the person who had presented the petition for an inquiry now moved for a writ of attachment.

Sect. 26, sub-sect. 2, of the Lunacy Act, 1891, is as follows: "The masters may make orders for the attendance of an alleged lunatic at such time and place as the order directs, for examination by the masters or a medical practitioner, and such order may be enforced in the same way as an order of a judge of the High Court."

Walton, Q.C., and Lyttelton, for the petitioner.

Costello, and Co'am, for the alleged lunatic, contended that the application for an attachment ought to be made to a Divisional Court of the Queen's Bench Division, having regard to the provisions of sect. 99 of the Lunacy Act, 1890.

LINDLEY, L.J., said, that until the Act of 1891 there had been some obscurity as to the power of the master to enforce his orders, as was shewn by In re B—— ([1891] 3 Ch. 274), and in consequence of that case, sect. 26 was introduced into the Act of 1891. Then, by the Schedule of the Act of 1891, the power of the person executing an inquisition in Lunacy was enlarged by striking out the words "with a jury" in sect. 99 of the Act of 1890. It followed, therefore, that the Master in Lunacy had himself power to issue an attachment to enforce any order which he himself had power to make; and he had such power in the present case. As a matter of practice, however, it was more desirable that a matter involving the liberty of the subject should be dealt with publicly in open Court. This was the practice with regard to applications for attachment in the Chancery Division. He could not accede to the argument of the respondent's counsel, that the application for attachment ought to be made to a Divisional Court of the Queen's Bench Division. That would be introducing an altogether novel practice in Lunacy. The writ must issue in the present case, but should lie in the office for a fortnight if the respondent was in England, or, if she was abroad, for a fortnight after she returned to England, to give her an opportunity of coming to the Court in the meantime.

LOPES and KAY, L.JJ., gave judgment to the same effect.

From Ch. Div. ALCOCK v. SMITH. Jan. 15

Bill of Exchange—English Bill indorsed in Foreign Country—Overdue Bill—Equities attaching to Bill—Bills of Exchange Act, 1882, s. 72.

This was an appeal by the plaintiffs from a decision of Romer, J. (Weekly Notes, 1891, p. 167).

Kennedy, Q.C., and Daniel Jones, for Köpmansbank.

THE COURT (Lindley, Lopes, and Kay, L.JJ.) held, that as there was here no contest with the payer of the bill, sect. 72 of the Bills of Exchange Act, 1882, did not apply, and that the effect of the transfer of the bill in Norway must be governed by Norwegian law, and that as, according to that law, a transferee of an overdue bill did not take it subject to all equities affecting to it, Köpmansbank could not be affected by the equitable title of the plaintiffs. The appeal was, therefore, dismissed.

Minerals wrongfully taken—Compensation, Interest on—3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 42, s. 29—Action for Money had and received—Claim for Interest made on further consideration—Delay.

Appeal of plaintiffs from decision of Stirling, J. (44 Ch. Div. 694).

Hastings, Q.C., and F. T. Procter, for the appellants.

Rigby, Q.C., and Sangster Green, for the respondents, the legal personal representatives of the defendants, Forman and Homfray.

Buckley, Q.C., and Osler, for the respondents, the legal personal representatives of the defendant Fothergill.

THE COURT (Lindley, Lopes, and Kay, L.JJ.) held, agreeing with Stirling, J., that the action could not be treated as an action for trover or trespass de bonis asportatis within 3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 42, s. 29. Neither could it be treated as an action for money had and received. The decree must be regarded as having been made in an action for an account—that is, an action to make the defendants account for profits they had made out of a trespass they had committed. It was too late to ask nearly twenty-one years after that decree, to have it added to by allowing interest on the 9028*l.* 6*s.*, no sufficient explanation for the delay having been given.

Appeal dismissed with costs.

Petition by a creditor for the winding up of the company. The day appointed for the hearing was the 16th of January. The note at the foot of the advertisement of the petition stated (in error) that notice of intention to appear on the hearing must be served not later than 6 P.M. on the 13th of January (instead of the 15th).

Daw, for the petition, submitted that the proceedings ought not to be invalidated by reason of this accidental irregularity.

NORTH, J., said that, as no one had come forward to say that he had been misled by the error in the advertisement, and had, consequently, not served a notice of his intention to appear on the hearing which he should otherwise have served, there was no reason for invalidating the proceedings. He made a winding-up order.

QUARTERMAINE'S CLAIM.

Company—Winding-up—Proof—Secured Creditor—Realization of Security—Proof for Balance of Debt—Interest accrued since Date of Liquidation—Judicature Act, 1875, s. 10—Bankruptcy Act, 1883, ss. 9 sub-s. 2, 168; Sched. 2, r. 9—General Rules, rr. 73–75.

The above-named company was in process of voluntary liquidation. At the commencement of the winding-up the claimants, as executors of Thos. Quartermaine, deceased, were holders of a mortgage upon certain hotels belonging to the company. They afterwards commenced an action to enforce their security, and obtained the appointment of a receiver, who entered into possession, carried on the business, and made profits.

Ultimately the whole of the property comprised in the security was realized, leaving a balance still due to the claimants, for which they now desired to prove in the winding-up.

In computing the balance due to them, they had applied the proceeds of the realization of the security first in payment of interest and then of principal, and they now claimed to prove as unsecured creditors for the balance of the principal; or at all events to have the profits made by the receiver applied in keeping down the interest accrued since the winding-up.

Buckley, Q.C., and Abraham, for the executors, relied upon In re Talbott (39 Ch. D. 567), and Ex parte Penfold (4 De G. & Sm. 282).

Hastings, Q.C., and Le Breton, for the liquidator, cited In re Savin (Law Rep. 7 Ch. 760).

STIRLING, J., held that the claimants must be treated as secured creditors, and, by rule 9 of the 2nd Sched. to the Bankruptcy Act, 1883, having realized their security, they were only entitled to prove for the balance due to them at the date of the winding-up after deducting the net amount realized. In re Savin was not brought to the attention of North, J., when he decided In re Talbott. His Lordship had consulted the learned Judge, and was authorized by him to say that if In re Savin had been cited to him his decision would have been otherwise. The executors were, however, on the authority of Ex parte Penfold, entitled to set off profit realized since the winding-up against interest accrued during the same period.

SHEFFIELD BANKING COMPANY v. CLAYTON.

Principal and Surety—Counter Security given by Principal Debtor to Surety—Right of Original Creditor to Benefit of Counter Security.

The testator guaranteed the current account of S. & Co. with the plaintiffs, who were bankers, and S. & Co. gave a counter security to the testator. S. & Co. became bankrupt, and after the testator's death the plaintiffs claimed the exclusive right to the proceeds of the counter security as against the testator's estate.

They relied upon the following proposition laid down in the case of Maure v. Harrison (Eq. Ca. Abr. 93, Mich. 1692; 20 Viner's Abr. p. 102): "A bond creditor shall in the Court of Chancery have the benefit of all counter bonds or collateral security given by the principal to the surety; as, if A. owes B. money, and he and C. are bound for it, and A. gives C. a mortgage or bond to indemnify him, B. shall have the benefit of it to recover his debt."

Hastings, Q.C., and Curtis Price, for the plaintiffs.

Buckley, Q.C., and Ingle Joyce, for the executors.

STIRLING, J., having examined the record in Maure v. Harrison, held, that the facts disclosed in that case could not have supported a decision to the effect of the above proposition, and declared that the plaintiffs were not exclusively entitled to the benefit of the securities held by the defendants.

Kekewich, J. WELLBY v. STILL. Jan. 11.

Contempt—Writing to Witnesses—Charges against Party to Action—Jurisdiction.

The plaintiff was administratrix of Matthew Batten, deceased, and was also largely interested in his estate. By her pleadings she charged the defendants, a firm of solicitors, with having failed to duly account for certain mortgage moneys which had been advanced to the deceased and had been, it was said, received by the defendants. The action was now standing for trial.

This was a motion on behalf of the defendants to commit Robert Chapman, the plaintiff's solicitor, and his son, Alfred Chapman, who was the plaintiff's son-in-law—and, as such, interested in the estate—for contempt of Court in having written letters to various persons who, from their knowledge of the matters in dispute, were likely to be called as witnesses, and one of whom had already been subpœnaed by the plaintiff; the letters containing charges against the defendants. One of the letters complained of was written by Robert Chapman to Messrs. Walters, Deverell & Co., solicitors, who had been professionally concerned for mortgagees who had had mortgage transactions with the deceased. In this letter R. Chapman asked for information respecting the matters in question in the action, and concluded as follows: "I am obliged to adopt this course, especially having regard to the systematically dishonest and dishonourable course of conduct which the defendants have pursued towards the late Mr. Matthew Batten and the plaintiff." Alfred Chapman had also written to various persons charging the defendants with having "robbed the estate."

Sir Horace Davey, Q.C., and Yate Lee, for the motion.

Warmington, Q.C., and Oswald, for R. Chapman.

Cock, Q.C., and Romer, for A. Chapman.

KEKEWICH, J., said the case clearly fell within the principle that nothing should be said or done to interfere with the administration of justice. The letter written by R. Chapman to Messrs. Walters was clearly intended to warp their minds, and it was no answer to say that solicitors of their eminence were not likely to be influenced by such a letter. Possibility and not probability was the foundation of the principle upon which the Court acted in such cases; and it was possible that an inexperienced person might be influenced by a letter couched in such terms. An order must, therefore, be made against R. Chapman. With regard to A. Chapman, his letters also contained a charge or statement against the defendants which could only be tested at the trial of the action, and which ought not to have been made to any person who was likely to be called as a witness. The order must, therefore, go against him also.

His Lordship refused to accede to an application to suspend the order for fourteen days to enable the respondents to appeal, and made an order for their immediate committal.

COURT OF APPEAL.

From Ch. Div. HALL v. HALL. Jan 19.

Will—Construction—Effects—Real Estate.

This was an appeal from a decision of Fry, L.J., sitting as an additional Judge of the Chancery Division. The case is reported [1891] 3 Ch. 389.

A testator gave, devised, and bequeathed to his wife all his furniture, goods, chattels, and effects that he might be possessed of at his demise, whatsoever the same might be, and wheresoever the same might be situated; and after the death of his wife he gave, devised, and bequeathed, to be equally divided among three of his children, until they should attain the age of twenty-one, the furniture and moneys, or any property which his said wife might have become entitled to through his will or through any other source; and after they had attained twenty-one, he directed that the furniture, goods, chattels, and effects, whatsoever the same might be, or wheresoever it may be situated, and any moneys his said wife might be entitled to at the time of his demise, should be equally divided among his six children. The testator's property consisted principally of an undivided moiety of real estate. Fry, L.J., held that the context of the will was sufficient to shew that the testator intended to pass his real estate under the word "effects." The heir-at-law appealed from this decision.

Haldane, Q.C., and Bramwell Davis, for the appellant.

Cozens-Hardy, Q.C., and E. Ford, for the respondent, were not called on.

Lunacy—Vesting Order—Diminution of Number of Trustees—Lunacy Act, 1890, ss. 135, 136.

This was an application for a vesting order to vest a trust estate in three out of four trustees of a will, the fourth trustee having been found a lunatic by inquisition. The estate consisted of mortgages, stocks, and other investments. The petition was presented by the other three trustees and the cestuis que trust.

Dundas Gardiner, for the petitioners, referred to the Lunacy Act, 1890, s. 135, sub-s. 1, s. 136, sub-s. 2, and the Conveyancing Act, 1881, s. 32.

LINDLEY, L.J., said, that having regard to the state of the law and the authorities before the Lunacy Act, 1890, was passed, he thought the Court had jurisdiction to make the order asked for, although the number of trustees was thereby diminished.

Will—Forfeiture Clause—Interference in Management—Frivolous Action against Trustees.

This was an appeal from a judgment of Fry, L.J., sitting as an additional judge of the Chancery Division (45 Ch. D. 426).

A testator gave his freehold estate at R. to two trustees in trust to pay certain annuities to the plaintiff during his life, and after his death for the plaintiff's unborn sons in fee: provided always that if the plaintiff should in any way intermeddle with or interfere in, or attempt to intermeddle with or interfere in, the management of the testator's real or personal estate, the said annuities should immediately cease.

The testator devised another freehold estate to his daughter E. A., who was one of the trustees, charged with the payment of his debts, whether secured by mortgage or otherwise, in exoneration of his other lands; and he gave the residue of his real and personal estate to E. A. absolutely. E. A. entered into possession of the R. estate and paid the annuities regularly to the plaintiff; but the plaintiff brought an action against the two trustees, alleging that his annuities had not been paid, that the trustees had wasted the estate, and that the buildings were out of repair, and claiming that a certain mortgage on the R. estate should be paid off, and also account an injunction and receiver.

Fry, L.J., held, on the evidence, that none of the charges against the trustees had been established, and that the action, being groundless and frivolous, was an interference in the management of the estate and a forfeiture of the plaintiff's annuities, and dismissed the action.

The plaintiff appealed.

Bill of Lading—Construction—Limitation of General Words—Extent of Deviation from Specified Voyage.

Motion by the defendants for a new trial, or that judgment might be entered for them.

The action was brought, by shippers of oranges against the shipowners, for damages for breach of the contract contained in the bill of lading by reason of which the oranges were spoilt.

The bill of lading stated that the goods were shipped on board the steamship Zeta, "now lying in the port of Malaga, bound for Liverpool, with liberty to proceed to and stay at any port or ports, in any rotation, in the Mediterranean, Levant, Black Sea, or Adriatic, or on the coasts of Africa, Spain, Portugal, France, Great Britain, and Ireland, for the purpose of delivering coals, cargo, or passengers, or for any other purpose whatsoever." The oranges were shipped at Malaga, and the ship then, instead of going to Liverpool direct, went first to the port of Burriana, which is on the north-east coast of Spain, and thence back again, and then proceeded to Liverpool. A delay of some days was thus caused, and the consequence was that the oranges when they arrived at Liverpool were in a rotten condition. The defendants justified the delay by the terms of the bill of lading. Hawkins, J., held, that the general words in the bill of lading did not authorize such a deviation from the direct voyage from Malaga to Liverpool.

Bigham, Q.C., and H. F. Boyd, for the motion.

Barnes, Q.C., and C. C. Scott, for the plaintiffs.

THE COURT (Lord Esher, M.R., and Bowen and Fry, L.JJ.) refused the motion. They held that the case was governed by the principle laid down in Leduc v. Ward (20 Q. B. D. 475), viz., that the general words contained in such a contract must be limited by the voyage, which was the first thing agreed on between the parties, and which was the main object of the contract. The liberty reserved must be construed as meaning, liberty to proceed to any of the places mentioned which were substantially on the specified voyage. Here the voyage specified was from Malaga to Liverpool, and the ship began by going straight away in the other direction. The argument for the defendants must go to this extent—that the ship would have been justified in going to Constantinople or Sebastopol. No reasonable man could say that that would be substantially upon the voyage from Malaga to Liverpool; it would be an entirely different voyage. The general words must be limited to such ports as were fairly within the specified voyage, which was the very object of the contract, and it would be an outrage on all legal principle to suppose that such words were to be read in their largest sense, although the very object of the contract was a particular voyage. It was a principle applicable to the construction of all contracts that general words must not be construed in a way which would be inconsistent with and destructive of the main object of the contracting parties. The learned judge had construed the bill of lading rightly.

The judgment of the COURT (Lindley, Bowen, and Kay, L.JJ.) was now delivered by Lindley, L.J. Their Lordships held, that the clause relating to mines in the exchange deed of October, 1783, was not a reservation of the mines, but a grant of a license to work them, and that this license was not exclusive, and did not entitle the licensees to complain of the owner of the estate working the mines if he did not interfere with the working of the licensees. The appeal was, therefore, dismissed.

An equitable mortgagee by deposit of title-deeds of land accompanied by a memorandum of deposit is not entitled to six months' notice before he is bound to accept a tender of the amount due, nor to six months' interest in lieu of notice.

In the case of a regular mortgage deed with a proviso for redemption the just inference is that the loan on mortgage is intended to be of a permanent character, and that the parties intended that after default the mortgagee should be entitled to a six months' notice; but where the just inference from the transaction is that the mortgage is merely temporary, as is the case where the mortgage is the usual one by deposit merely, then it is not reasonable to infer that the parties intended that notice should be given.

Petition by the directors of the above company, asking for confirmation by the Court of a scheme of arrangement with the company's creditors, which had been filed under sect. 6 of the Railway Companies Act, 1867. The capital of the company consisted of first debenture stock; A debenture stock; B debenture stock; C debenture stock; D debenture stock; preference shares; and ordinary shares; which took priority respectively in the order above stated. The scheme did not in any way affect the rights of the holders of first debenture stock, and it had been assented to by the holders of the other classes of debenture stock respectively in the manner prescribed by sect. 10 of the Act, and by the ordinary shareholders in the manner prescribed by sect. 13; but the assent of the preference shareholders had not been obtained in the manner prescribed by sect. 12. The total nominal amount of the preference shares was 122,800*l.* The holders of preference shares to the amount of 75,980*l.* had expressed their assent in writing; the holders of the remaining shares had not expressed either assent or dissent, though the proper notices had been given to them. The assents consequently fell short by 16,120*l.* of the three-fourths in value which is required by sect. 12. The scheme affected to some extent the rights of the preference shareholders, because it capitalised arrears of interest which were due upon the A debenture stock, and created for that capitalised sum a new amount of A debenture stock which was to rank with the existing A debenture stock, and would thus have priority over the preference shareholders. But, on the other hand, the A debenture stock, the whole of which was cumulative, was to be divided into two moieties, one of which was to be cumulative and the other non-cumulative. The scheme also reduced the capital of the preference shares to one-fifth of its nominal amount; but, on the other hand, the C debenture stock, which carried interest at 3½ per cent., and the D debenture stock and the preference shares, which respectively carried interest at 1½ per cent., were, while being reduced in nominal amount, to be consolidated into one 4 per cent. preference stock, which was to rank next after the B debenture stock. No preference shareholder appeared in opposition to the confirmation.

Cozens-Hardy, Q.C., and Redman, for the petition, contended that sect. 15 applied, and that the assent of the preference shareholders in the mode provided by sect. 12 was not requisite, because, though technically the scheme affected their rights, yet, when looked at as a whole, it was for their benefit, and therefore it did not "prejudicially affect" their rights. This was confirmed by the fact that no preference shareholder appeared to oppose. And this construction of sect. 15 was adopted by Malins, V.C., on the occasion of a petition for the confirmation of another scheme, which was filed by this company in 1878, when, under precisely similar circumstances, he confirmed the scheme, although three-fourths in value of the preference shareholders had not assented to it.

Everitt, Q.C., for a dissentient holder of A debenture stock asked for special leave to be heard in opposition, though he had not entered an appearance, as required by rule 19 of the Order of 24th January, 1868, made under the Act: Browne & Theobald's Law of Railways, 2nd ed. p. 594.

NORTH, J., gave the special leave; and he refused to confirm the scheme. He was of opinion that the scheme as a whole was a beneficial one; but he could not adopt the view of Malins, V.C., as to the construction of sect. 15. The Act provided that each class of holders of bonds or debenture stock or preference shares should have an opportunity of considering the scheme as a whole, and then their assents were to be given in the prescribed mode, and the scheme was to be confirmed by the Court only if it was satisfied that those assents had been so given. In his opinion, the words "does not prejudicially affect" in sect. 15 meant "does not affect at all," and the assent of any class was not requisite only when the scheme did not affect their rights at all. He refused to confirm the scheme, only because the assent of the preference shareholders had not been given as required by sect. 12.

Jan. 27. An appeal from this decision was dismissed by Lindley, Lopes, and Kay, L.JJ., who held the written consent of the preference shareholders to be necessary.

North, J. HAMILTON v. HAMILTON. Jan. 20.

Infant—Consent to settle After-acquired Property — Married Woman—Restraint on Anticipation—Election.

This action was commenced on the 6th of June, 1890, by Maria Theresa Langel, then Maria Theresa Hamilton, late the wife of Julius Lawrence Hamilton, the first defendant on the record. She has since married Armand Langel, who has been made co-plaintiff. The other defendants were the trustees of a settlement made in 1879 in contemplation of a marriage which took place between the defendant Julius Hamilton and the plaintiff Maria Theresa Langel, and the two infant children of the marriage. At the time of the execution of the settlement, the plaintiff, Maria Theresa Langel, was under age. It was not made with the approval of the Court under the Infants' Settlement Act.

The settlement comprised a sum of 5000*l.* given by the mother of the intended wife, property real and personal brought into settlement by the intended husband and his family, and contained a covenant by the intended husband and wife to bring into settlement the intended wife's present and after-acquired property. The wife was given the first life interest in the property brought into settlement and intended to be brought into settlement on the part of her family, called "the settled wife's property," for her separate use without power of anticipation, during the joint lives of herself and Julius Hamilton. She was given after the death of the intended husband a life interest in property brought into settlement by himself and his family, called "the settled husband's property," for her separate use without power of anticipation during any coverture.

The defendant, Julius Hamilton, obtained a decree (pronounced absolute on the 10th of June, 1890) dissolving his marriage with the plaintiff, Maria Theresa Langel.

The claim was for a declaration that the covenant to settle the wife's after-acquired property was inoperative and other relief. The defendant, Julius Hamilton, delivered his original statement of defence on the 12th of August, 1890, by which he pleaded that the wife had confirmed the settlement after she became of age, and submitted that if the covenant to settle after-acquired property was declared to be inoperative to any extent, the wife's interest in the trust funds ought to be impounded for the purpose of compensating the other parties interested in the settlement for loss suffered by reason of her repudiating the settlement. The marriage of the plaintiffs took place in October, 1890.

Napier Higgins, Q.C., and Butcher, for the plaintiffs.

Cozens-Hardy, Q.C., and D. L Alexander, for the defendant Julius Hamilton and the infants.

NORTH, J., held, that the covenant to settle the wife's property had been confirmed as to certain property which had fallen into possession; that it was otherwise inoperative; that the plaintiff, Maria Theresa Langel, was bound, if she elected not to confirm the settlement in entirety, to compensate out of any benefit she took under the settlement those persons who lost by her repudiating the covenant to settle after-acquired property; but that such obligation to compensate was subject to the restraints on anticipation, and accordingly that there could be no impounding of the income of the settled wife's property during the joint lives of the plaintiffs and the defendant Julius Hamilton, or of the income of the settled husband's property during the joint lives of the plaintiffs.

Practice—Mortgage—Foreclosure Action—Parties.

This was a foreclosure action by a first mortgagee against puisne mortgagees and the trustees and executors of the will of the deceased mortgagor.

T. B. Napier, for the plaintiff and the defendants who were mortgagees, asked for the ordinary judgment with successive redemptions and foreclosures. He referred to the decisions in Francis v. Harrison (43 Ch. D. 183), and Aylward v. Lewis ([1891] 2 Ch. 81), and submitted to the Court whether the other defendants (who did not appear) sufficiently represented the estate of the mortgagor for all the purposes of the action.

KEKEWICH, J., referred to Mills v. Jennings (13 Ch. D. 649), and said that there was really nothing in the point which had been raised; for here the Court had before it the executors and trustees, persons who fully represented the estate, and in whom the equity of redemption or quasi legal estate was vested.

Deed—Construction—Rule in Shelley's Case—"To the use of such person as at the decease of A. shall be his heir-at-law, and of the heirs and assigns of such person."

By a deed of conveyance in 1854, land purchased by I. E., T. E., and O. E. was conveyed to such uses as I. E., T. E., and O. E. should jointly appoint, and subject thereto in thirds; the limitations as to the third part or share of O. E. being to such uses in favour of I. E. and T. E., or either of them, as O. E. should by deed appoint; and subject thereto to the use of O. E. for life without impeachment of waste, with remainder to the use of I. E. and T. E. as tenants in common for their joint lives without impeachment of waste, with remainder to the use of the survivor of I. E. and T. E. for life without impeachment of waste, with remainder to such uses as O. E. should by will appoint, with ultimate limitation "to the use of such person or persons as at the decease of the said O. E. shall be his heir or heirs-at-law, and of the heirs and assigns of such person or persons." Corresponding uses mutatis mutandis were limited concerning the third parts or shares of I. E. and T. E.

The question was whether, under the ultimate limitation of the third part or share of O. E., his heir took as persona designata, or whether the rule in Shelley's Case applied so as to carry the fee simple (subject to the intermediate uses) to O. E. himself.

Warmington, Q.C., and H. M. Williams, for the plaintiff.

Renshaw, Q.C., and L. H. Jenkins, for the defendants.

KEKEWICH, J., referred to Fuller v. Chamier (Law Rep. 2 Eq. 682), as being the nearest case to the present one, and held that the rule in Shelley's Case was applicable, and that, therefore, under the deed the fee simple passed to O. E.

ENGEL v. SOUTH METROPOLITAN BREWING COMPANY.

Company — Winding-up—Debenture-holders — Receiver — Official Liquidator—Right to Custody of Books and Documents of Company.

This was a summons in a debenture-holder's action by the Official Receiver, as permanent official liquidator of the above-mentioned company, asking that the custody of certain books and documents of the company, which were in the possession of a receiver and manager appointed in the action, might be delivered to the applicant. It appeared that in January, 1890, debentures practically comprising the whole of the property and assets of the company, including the uncalled capital (but not specifically mentioning the books), were issued. A petition for the winding up of the company was presented on the 18th December, 1890. The action was commenced on the 2nd of January, 1891, and the receiver and manager was appointed on the 7th of January, by an order which directed that all books and documents relating to the property and assets comprised in the debentures should be delivered to him. The winding-up order was made on the 17th of January. There was no uncalled capital of the company, and the management of the company had come to an end.

The books in question comprised the registers of members and mortgages, shares certificates book, letters, press copies of letters, bank pass-book, minute book, and other books, but did not comprise any documents of title. The receiver was willing to allow of inspection of them.

It was admitted that the question in the particular case was one of little moment; but it was submitted to the Court by way of test in other cases.

Ingle Joyce, for the liquidator, referred to the Companies Act, 1862, ss. 23, 25, 26, 27, 32, 43, 56, 58, 67, 100, 154, 155, and 156, and the Companies (Winding-up) Act, 1890, s. 4, sub-s. 3; s. 7, and Sched. I, s. 3, and contended that the company, by force of those enactments, was precluded from assigning or parting with the books in question, and that the liquidator was entitled to the custody of them.

Warmington, Q.C., and Solomon, for the plaintiff.

KEKEWICH, J., held that as the books and documents were not shewn to be documents of title and concerned the business and affairs of the company, and not the interest of the debenture-holders as mortgagees, the official liquidator was entitled to the custody of them; and as the management of the company had ceased, his Lordship, notwithstanding the terms of the order appointing the receiver, directed that the documents should be delivered to the liquidator on his undertaking to produce them to the receiver at all proper times.

The plaintiff was an auctioneer to whom a horse had been sent for sale with liberty to use it until sold. Whilst the horse was being driven by the plaintiff's servant along a highway it was frightened by a steam tram-car of the defendants, which was travelling at an excessive speed. The horse in consequence plunged, fell, and injured itself. The accident was wholly due to the negligence of the defendants. The plaintiff brought an action to recover the amount of the diminution in the value of the horse. The county court judge held that as the plaintiff was under no liability to his bailor he could not recover.

COURT OF APPEAL.

From Probate Div. In re Wood. Jan. 27.

Production of Bankers' Books—Affidavit of Documents—Sealed-up Documents—Bankers' Books Evidence Act, 1879 (42 & 43 Vict. c. 11).

This was an appeal by the interveners, Anne and Irene Courage, from a decision of Henn Collins, J., as vacation judge, refusing to order Mrs. Parnell's bankers to allow the applicants to inspect the entries in their books concerning her banking account, or, in the alternative, to give the applicants leave to issue a subpœna duces tecum directing the bankers to produce their books at the trial.

The action was to obtain probate of the will of Mrs. Wood. The defendants, the Woods, alleged that the will had been obtained by Mrs. Parnell by undue influence. Mrs. Parnell having filed an affidavit as to documents, the defendants applied for a further and better affidavit, which the registrar refused to order; and on the 20th of January, 1891, Butt, J., affirmed his decision. The defendants then applied for liberty to inspect the bankers' books containing Mrs. Parnell's banking account, and on the 27th of January, 1891, Butt, J., made an order giving them that liberty. The plaintiff appealed from this order, and the defendants appealed from the order of the 20th of January, 1891. On the 25th of February, 1891, the Court of Appeal ordered Mrs. Parnell to file a further affidavit as to pass-books, with liberty to seal up such portions of the accounts disclosed as were not material to the matters in question in the action. The appeal from the order of the 27th of January, 1891, was adjourned. Mrs. Parnell made the affidavit directed, and produced her pass-books, sealing up certain parts of them. The parts which were left open included divers sums of money received by Mrs. Parnell by means of cheques from Mrs. Wood which were paid into Mrs. Parnell's account; but all entries shewing the application of those sums were covered.

The interveners, Anne and Irene Courage, who were in the same interest as the Woods, then took out a summons for liberty to inspect the bankers' books under the Bankers' Books Evidence Act, 1879 (42 & 43 Vict. c. 11).

Henn Collins, J., declined to make any order, and the applicants appealed, asking in the alternative that they might be at liberty to issue a subpœna duces tecum for the bankers to produce their books at the trial.

H. Tindal Atkinson, for the appeal.

The Court (Lindley, Lopes, and Kay, L.JJ.) dismissed the appeal, saying that the object of this application was to get behind the privilege which entitled a party to seal up those parts of the documents in his possession which he swore to be irrelevant to the matters in issue, so as to protect them from inspection before the trial. That the Bankers' Books Evidence Act, which was mainly intended to relieve bankers from the great inconvenience of having to produce in Court books which were in constant use in their business, was never intended to be used in the way now proposed, so as to revolutionize the whole law of discovery. That as to the subpœna duces tecum, the proper time for determining whether the appellants should have leave to issue it would be at the trial, and the present application would be dismissed without prejudice to any application to the judge at the trial for leave to issue the writ.

Ex parte Shine.

Bankruptcy—Appropriation of Bankrupt's Salary or Income to Creditors—"Receipt of Salary or Income"—Bankruptcy Act, 1883, s. 53, sub-s. 2.

Appeal by the bankrupt against an order made by Mr. Registrar Linklater, that the sum of 15*l.* per week, part of the bankrupt's salary, should be paid by weekly instalments to the trustee in the bankruptcy, to be applied in payment of the bankrupt's debts.

The bankrupt was a comedian, and on the 4th of June, 1891, he entered into an agreement with Sir A. Harris, the manager of Drury Lane Theatre, by which he was engaged for two years to perform at that theatre and elsewhere at a salary of 30*l.* a week. The salary was to be paid weekly; but for any night on which the theatre should not be open, or, if from illness or any other cause Shine should not be able to perform on any night, the proportionate part of the week's salary attributable to that night was not to be payable. On the 23rd of July, 1891, a receiving order was made against Shine, and on the 23rd of August he was adjudged a bankrupt. The order appealed from was made on the application of the official receiver, as trustee of the bankrupt's property, and it purported to be made under sect. 53, sub-sect. 2, of the Bankruptcy Act, 1883. In answer to the application, the bankrupt deposed to the effect that, since the date of the receiving order, he had entered into an arrangement with Sir A. Harris, that Harris should buy up the bankrupt's debts, and that, in order to repay him the moneys so advanced, he should deduct 20*l.* a week from the bankrupt's salary, and this weekly deduction was now made accordingly. The bankrupt had also been ordered by the Divorce Division to pay 4*l.* a week to his wife for alimony.

E. C. Willis, Q.C., and F. C. Willis, for the bankrupt.

Sir E. Clarke, S.-G., and Muir Mackenzie, for the official receiver.

The Court (Lord Esher, M.R., and Bowen and Fry, L.JJ.), discharged the order. They held that the payment of 30*l.* a week to the bankrupt was, within sect. 53, sub-sect 2, "salary," or, at any rate, "income" in the nature of salary. But their Lordships held, that in order that sub-sect. 2 should apply, it was necessary that the bankrupt should be in actual receipt of the salary or income in question. The payment in question was made in respect of the bankrupt's personal services; it was not part of the bankrupt's property which vested in the trustee in the bankruptcy, and the creditors had no right whatever to it until an order had been made under sect. 53, sub-sect. 2. The bankrupt was, consequently, entitled, notwithstanding the receiving order, to make any arrangement he pleased with Harris about his salary, and the effect of the arrangement which had been made, and of the order of the Divorce Court, was that the bankrupt, instead of being in receipt of 30*l.* a week, was in the actual receipt of not more than 6*l.* a week. Under these circumstances, the order appealed from ought not to have been made, and it must be discharged. If the facts had been fully brought to the mind of the registrar, he would not have made the order.

Lord Esher, M.R., added that, in exercising the discretionary power given by this section, he thought the Court ought not to cut down the bankrupt's means of living too closely, but ought to leave him a liberal allowance for his support.

Fry, L.J., said that he desired to reserve his opinion on this point, which did not now arise for decision.

Will—Partial Intestacy—Rights of Widow—Intestates' Estates Act, 1890, ss. 1 & 2.

The Intestates' Estates Act, 1890, does not, like the Statute of Distributions (22 & 23 Car. 2, c. 10), apply to cases of partial intestacy; therefore, where a testator, who dies leaving a widow and no issue, makes certain dispositions of his property which fail by reason of the deaths of the legatees in his lifetime, his widow will not be entitled to the whole of the undisposed-of portion of his estate, when under 500*l.*, or, if such undisposed-of portion exceeds 500*l.*, to a preferential 500*l.*, in addition to what she is entitled to under the Statutes of Distribution.

In re Crystal Reef Gold Mining Company.

Company—Winding-up Petition—Contributory—Calls in arrear.

Petition by two shareholders for the winding up of the company.

Beddall, for the petitioners.

Cozens-Hardy, Q.C., and Warrington, for the company, objected that the petitioners had not paid calls which had been made on their shares, and that they could not, therefore, be heard to ask for a winding-up. They had not offered to pay the amount due from them into Court: In re European Life Assurance Society (Law Rep. 10 Eq. 403); In re Steam Stoker Company (Law Rep. 19 Eq. 416); In re Diamond Fuel Company (13 Ch. D. 400).

Beddall, for the petitioners, argued that, though in In re European Life Assurance Society James, V.C., dismissed a winding-up petition presented by a shareholder, on the ground that the petitioner was in arrear of payment of calls, and this decision was followed by Bacon, V.C., in In re Steam Stoker Company; yet in In re Diamond Fuel Company, in which a similar objection was taken, the Court of Appeal overruled it, and James, L.J., said (p. 406), "I think that in In re European Life Assurance Society I was rather supplementing the Act than interpreting it."

C. E. E. Jenkins, for contributories supporting the petition.

North, J.:—I do not think that In re Diamond Fuel Company goes so far as has been contended. In In re European Assurance Society, James, V.C., at first expressed an intention of not hearing the petition until the petitioner had paid his calls. The counsel for the company asked that the petition might not be kept hanging over their heads, and the Vice-Chancellor then departed from his original intention, and dismissed the petition at once, and thus deprived the petitioner of any opportunity of paying his calls. From that ultimate decision the learned judge went back in the subsequent case of In re European Assurance Society; and I must say, with all respect, I do not see why a winding-up petition by a shareholder who is in arrear in payment of calls should be absolutely dismissed, even though the petitioner has the money in his pocket in Court, and is ready to pay the calls. That the petition ought not to be absolutely dismissed is what was decided in In re Diamond Fuel Company. As a general rule, I think the Court ought not to hear a petition by a shareholder who is in arrear in payment of calls; but I agree with Mr. Beddall that there may be circumstances in which the Court ought not to refuse to hear such a petition. In the present case I will hear the petition only upon the undertaking of the petitioners to submit to any order which the Court may think fit to make as to the payment of their calls.

Beddall, gave the undertaking.

North, J., after hearing the evidence, dismissed the petition on the merits, with costs, describing it as an abuse of the process of the Court. He had allowed the petition to be heard, because he thought that the petitioners might possibly have a case; but he had now come to the conclusion that the petition ought not to have been presented. An order must be made for payment of the calls by the petitioners.

Morris v. Tottenham and Forest Gate Railway Company.

Railway Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845 (8 & 9 Vict. c. 20), s. 32 —Taking Temporary Possession of Land—Road—Necessity of Purpose.

This was a motion to restrain a railway company from acting on a notice to take temporary possession of land, under sect. 32 of the Railway Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845. The notice was to take temporary possession of the land "for the purpose of forming roads thereon to or from and by the side of the proposed railway during the construction of the railway." The object of the company in taking the land was to connect the railway in construction with a siding at a station on another railway and place rails on the land taken, so as to bring material for the construction of the new railway by locomotive power. It was in evidence that the material could be brought at greater cost by highway from the siding.

Cozens-Hardy, Q.C., and Dibdin, for the plaintiffs.

S. Hall, Q.C., and R. J. Parker, for the defendants.

North, J., held, (1.) that the company had no power to take the land temporarily for the purpose of constructing a railroad; (2.) that they had only power to take it in case possession of the land was necessary, and that it was not necessary. He granted the injunction.

Moore v. Moore.

Will—Construction—Special Occupant.

The testatrix, who died in 1844, by her will, dated in 1843, devised certain freehold and copyhold estates in Wiltshire and all other her freehold and copyhold estate, to the use of her cousin, G. F. Moore, for life, with remainder to the use of his first and other sons successively in tail male, with remainder to his first and other daughters in tail, with remainder to the use of the testatrix's cousin, J. C. Moore, for life, with remainder to trustees to preserve the contingent remainders, and after the death of the said J. C. Moore, to the use of his second, third, and every other subsequent son successively in tail male, with remainder to the use of the first son of the body of the said J. C. Moore in tail male, with divers remainders over.

The will contained a name and arms clause, requiring the said G. F. Moore, and every other person becoming entitled to the rents and profits of the devised estates, within a limited period to take and use the name and arms of Michell Esmead, and providing that the estate and interest of the person failing duly to take and use the name and arms aforesaid should cease, and the devised estates should immediately go over to, or in trust for, the person next beneficially entitled under the will in the same manner as if the person making failure, being tenant for life, were dead, without issue inheritable, and providing also that the cesser of his estate should not prejudice the contingent remainders, and that the trustees to preserve such remainders should, after the cesser and during the suspense of the remainder, receive the rents and profits and pay them to the person to whom they would have been payable in case the tenant for life making failure were dead, and so that, immediately after such cesser, the issue of each such tenant for life entitled in remainder immediately expectant on his decease might be entitled to such rents and profits for his own use during the parent's life as if the parent were dead; and in case there should be no such issue in existence, then, during the vacancy or contingency of such issue the persons beneficially entitled to the next vested estate in remainder were to be entitled to the rents, but without prejudice to the estate or interest of any issue afterwards coming into existence. The will also contained a bequest of personal estate upon trust for investment in land to be held with the devised estates.

On the death of the testatrix, G. F. Moore duly assumed the name and arms of Michell Esmead and entered into possession of the devised estates.

By a disentailing assurance, dated the 12th of October, 1872, J. G. C. Moore, the only son of J. C. Moore, with the consent of G. F. Moore Michell Esmead and J. C. Moore, limited the devised estates subject to the uses prior to his own estate, but freed from his own estate tail and all subsequent remainders, to a trustee to the use of himself, the said J. G. C. Moore, in fee. And by the same deed the said J. G. C. Moore also disentailed the personal estate bequeathed by the will.

G. F. Moore Michell Esmead died a bachelor on the 8th of October, 1883, and the estates and property devised and bequeathed by the will devolved upon J. C. Moore as the next tenant for life.

J. C. Moore did not comply with the provisions of the name and arms clause, and, upon the expiration of the period limited by the clause, his life estate ceased and determined.

Upon the determination in this manner of J. C. Moore's life estate during his own lifetime, it became, under the terms of the will, the duty of the trustees to preserve the contingent remainders during J. C. Moore's lifetime, to pay the rents and profits to the person to whom they would have been payable if J. C. Moore had been dead. So that, in the events which had happened, J. G. C. Moore, the only son of J. C. Moore, became entitled to an equitable estate to him, his heirs, and assigns in the devised estates during the life of his father, determinable on the birth of another son; in other words, to a determinable equitable estate or interest pur autre vie; and he was also entitled to a vested legal estate in fee in the same hereditaments in remainder expectant on his father's death and the failure of the limitations to his father's second and other sons.

Being thus entitled, J. G. C. Moore, who had married in 1872, died intestate, and without issue, and leaving a widow, on the 10th of July, 1890. His father, J. C. Moore, who was eighty-five years of age and had been fourteen years a widower, was his heir-at-law and customary heir, and had also taken out letters of administration to his personal estate and effects.

This was an action brought by J. C. Moore against his son's widow for the purpose of ascertaining their respective rights and interests under the will of the testatrix; and the several questions arising were submitted to the Court by a special case stated pursuant to Order XXXIV., r. 1.

Buckley, Q.C., and S. Eady, for the plaintiff.

Beale, Q.C., and Upjohn, for the defendant.

STIRLING, J., held, that the plaintiff, J. C. Moore, took the rents and profits of the devised real estates as special occupant, and the income of the personal estate as legal personal representative of his son; and, consequently, that during the plaintiff's life and so long as he had no second son, the income of the personal estate formed part of the son's personal estate, while the income of the real estate did not. His Lordship also held, that inasmuch as the interposition of a succession of estates tail which might possibly arise severed the son's equitable interest in possession from his estate of inheritance in remainder, his wife was not entitled to dower out of the freeholds. As to her claim for free-bench out of the copyholds, that had been withdrawn.

Patent—Co-Owners—One co-Owner Mortgagee of other co-Owner's Moiety—Patent worked by Mortgagee co-Owner—Profits—Redemption—Accounts.

The plaintiff was the assignee of a patent, and had assigned one-half of the patent to the defendant. In 1884 the plaintiff had mortgaged his moiety of the patent, and in 1886 the mortgage became vested by transfer in the defendant. From 1886 the defendant worked the patent and made profits. In 1889 the plaintiff commenced this action to redeem the mortgage, and at the trial judgment was taken by consent, (1) for an account of what was due under the mortgage, and (2) for an account of all the profits made by the defendant as such mortgagee since 1886.

The defendant subsequently refused to render an account of the profits, and claimed that as assignee of one-half he was entitled to work the patent for his own benefit and to retain all the profits. A summons was then taken out by the plaintiff (which was adjourned into Court) to compel the defendant to render the account.

E. C. Willis, Q.C., and Agabeg, for the summons.

B. Dennis, for the defendant.

ROMER, J., held, that under the circumstances it was not too late for the defendant to take the objection. The point really had not been discussed or even mentioned at the trial. The mere fact that the defendant was mortgagee of the plaintiff's moiety of the patent did not prevent the application of the general rule that entitled a co-owner of a patent to work it for his own benefit. The summons must be dismissed with costs.

Bankruptcy—Trustee's Remuneration—Resolution of Committee of Inspection—Jurisdiction of Board of Trade to Review—The Bankruptcy Act, 1883, s. 72, sub-s. 2.

In this case the creditors at their first meeting, held in October, 1887, passed resolutions appointing J. Harris the trustee with a committee of inspection, and left it to the committee of inspection to fix the remuneration of the trustee. In January, 1891, the committee of inspection passed a resolution fixing the trustee's rate of remuneration. Subsequently more than one-fourth in number of the creditors dissented from the resolution of the committee of inspection, and requested the Board of Trade to fix the remuneration of the trustee. The trustee objected, that, under the circumstances, the Board of Trade had no power to review the resolution of the committee of inspection, or to fix his remuneration, and applied to the Court to restrain them from so doing.

Bigham, Q.C., and H. Reed, for the trustee.

Sir R. Webster, A.G., and Muir Mackenzie, for the Board of Trade.

VAUGHAN WILLIAMS, J., held, that upon the true construction of sub-sect. 2 of sect. 72 of the Bankruptcy Act, 1883, the Board of Trade had, under the circumstances, power to review the resolution of the committee of inspection and to fix the remuneration of the trustee, and made a declaration accordingly.

Bankruptcy Practice—Pending Action—Trustee's Right to examine a Party—Discretion of Court—The Bankruptcy Act, 1883, s. 27.

On the 27th of May, 1891, A. Franks was adjudicated bankrupt, and F. Gittins, the official receiver, became the trustee. The bankrupt died in June, 1891. The bankrupt had on the 24th of March, 1891, assigned a policy of assurance on his own life to one Campbell for value. In October, Campbell commenced an action against the insurance company to recover the policy-moneys which were claimed by the trustee as part of the bankrupt's estate. The insurance company interpleaded, and on the 2nd of November an issue was directed to try the question whether the trustee or Campbell was entitled to the policy-moneys. On the 16th of November the trustee took out a summons, under sect. 27 of the Bankruptcy Act, 1883, for the examination of Campbell, who attended before the registrar but refused to be examined. The summons was then adjourned to the judge.

Muir Mackenzie, for the summons.

J. Walton, for Campbell.

Vaughan Williams, J., said it was clear that the matter was entirely in the discretion of the Court. He thought it better that the examination should be postponed. He was very loth to say that the mere fact that an action was pending justified the trustee in at once resorting to an examination under sect. 27. He should not like it to be supposed that the powers under that section were to be treated as a mere step in the action. The summons would stand adjourned, and the trustee must give Campbell notice in writing of the admissions of fact he desired to obtain from him; and on the answers of Campbell it would depend whether the Court would direct the examination to proceed or not.

QUEEN'S BENCH DIVISION.

Q. B. D. Reg. v. Justices of Anglesey. Jan. 28.

Inn—Licensed Person — Public-house — Renewal of Licence—Notice of Opposition—"Commencement of the Annual General Licensing Meeting"—Adjourned Meeting—Licensing Act, 1872 (35 & 36 Vict. c. 94), s. 42, sub-s. 2.

Rules nisi for a mandamus to justices in Quarter Sessions to hear and determine an appeal from the decision of licensing justices, and for a certiorari to bring up and quash the order of justices in Quarter Sessions dismissing an appeal from the same decision.

On the 17th of August, 1891, the appellant, a licensed victualler, was served with notice of opposition, under 35 & 36 Vict. c. 94, s. 42, sub-s. 2, to the renewal of his licence. The general annual licensing meeting for the petty sessional division was fixed for the 24th of August, but the adjourned licensing meeting for that part of the division in which the appellant's house was situate was fixed for the 18th of September. On that day the appellant applied for a renewal of his licence, and contended that the justices had no jurisdiction to hear the opposition to his application, since notice had not been served upon him "not less than seven days before the commencement of the general annual licensing meeting," in accordance with the section. The justices, however, heard evidence on the merits, and, after adjourning the case in order that they might inspect the premises, refused the renewal on the 28th of September.

An appeal to Quarter Sessions was dismissed with costs, and the appellant obtained the rules nisi which now came on for argument on the ground that neither the licensing justices nor the justices in Quarter Sessions had jurisdiction to refuse the renewal of the licence, because the notice of opposition had not been duly served.

Poland, Q.C., and Bryn Roberts, shewed cause.

J. Paterson, in support of the rule.

The Court (Lawrance and Wright, JJ.) held, that the notice had been duly served, since the words in 35 & 36 Vict. c. 94, s. 42, sub-s. 2, "the commencement of the general annual licensing meeting," must be taken to mean the commencement of the adjourned meeting for that part of the petty sessional division in which the appellant's house was situate. Although, therefore, the notice would not have been in time if the appellant's application had been made on the 24th of August, it was in time for the adjourned meeting on the 18th of September, at which the application was made.

Rule nisi for a mandamus to justices in Quarter Sessions to hear and determine an appeal from the refusal of licensing justices to renew a licence.

On the 8th of September, 1891, at the annual general licensing meeting for the borough of Cardiff, the appellant applied for a renewal of his licence. Notice of opposition on behalf of the head constable had been duly given to him, and the justices, after hearing the opposition, refused his application. On the 12th of September the appellant served notice of his intention to appeal to Quarter Sessions from this refusal on the clerk to the justices, the head constable, and on several, but not on all, of the justices who had adjudicated upon the case. Upon the appeal coming on to be heard at Quarter Sessions, objection was taken that under 9 Geo. 4, c. 61, ss. 27, 37, notice of appeal ought to have been served on all the justices who took part in the decision appealed from.

The Quarter Sessions upheld the objection and dismissed the appeal.

Arthur Lewis, shewed cause against the rule.

A. J. David, for the head constable.

Walton, Q.C., and J. Paterson, in support of the rule.

The Court (Lawrance and Wright, JJ.) held, that the notices had been duly served on the ground that, under sect. 13, sub-sect. 11, of the Interpretation Act, 1889, licensing justices were a "court of summary jurisdiction," and, therefore, that an appeal from their decision was governed by sect. 31 of the Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1879, which required notice of appeal to be served on the other party and on the clerk of the court. They accordingly made the rule absolute for a mandamus.

COURT OF APPEAL.

From Ch. Div. JOHNSON v. EDGE. Feb. 1.

Patent—Infringement—Action to restrain Threats—Circular—General Notice—Prosecution of Action—Due Diligence—Patents, &c. Act, 1883 (46 & 47 Vict. c. 57), s. 32.

This was an action, under sect. 32 of the Patents, &c. Act of 1883, to restrain the defendant from threatening any customers of the plaintiffs, or any other person, with any legal proceeding or liability in respect of any manufacture, sale, or purchase of blue packed in bags, and alleged to be so packed in infringement of the defendant's letters patent.

The plaintiffs and the defendant were rival manufacturers of blue, and the alleged threat was contained in a printed circular signed by the defendant's solicitors, which the defendant, in September, 1890, began sending out in the boxes which contained his blue, and which was in the following terms:—"Notice to grocers and others. Information of extensive violation of Mr. Wm. Edge's patent rights has been received. All parties are warned not to infringe these rights."

It appeared that in August, 1889, one Harrison had begun selling blue made up in parcels, and that Edge in February, 1890, had brought an action against him alleging that he had been passing off his blue as that of Edge. Shortly after the issue of the circular, Johnson & Co. began selling blue made up in packets; and in December, 1890, Edge commenced an action against them for an alleged imitation of his blue. The writ in the present action was issued on the 16th of January, 1891, and in June, 1891, Edge, in proceedings instituted by Johnson & Co., submitted to a revocation of his patent. In December, 1891, the present action came on for hearing before Mr. Justice Mathew, who held (see Weekly Notes, 1891, p. 193), that the circular amounted to a threat within the meaning of sect. 32 of the Patents Act of 1883, and that the defendant Edge's action had not been prosecuted with due diligence within the proviso at the close of that section; and His Lordship accordingly directed an inquiry as to the damages sustained by the plaintiffs.

Bousfield, Q.C., and T. L. Wilkinson, for the appellant.

Moulton, Q.C., and R. W. Wallace, for the plaintiffs, were not called upon.

THE COURT (Lindley, Lopes, and Kay, L.JJ.) held, that the circular was more than a mere general warning, and that the appeal must be dismissed with costs.

Will — Condition — Defeasible Interest — Assignment — Covenant for Quiet Enjoyment.

A testator gave his residuary estate to trustees in trust to pay 300*l.* a year to M. Griffiths so long as three or more of his children should reside with her, and if more than three of his children should reside with her he directed that 50*l.* a year in addition should be paid to her for each child beyond three, and that 50*l.* a year should be deducted from the annual income of each of his children who should reside with M. Griffiths, and the residue of the 300*l.* a year should be paid out of his general estate. Provided that no child should be entitled to reside with M. Griffiths if she and the trustees should object to his doing so. And the testator gave the residue of his estate to his nine children in equal shares; the shares of the children to be paid to them for their respective lives, and after their deaths to their children. In 1886, one of the sons, H. P. Greenwood, who had been residing with M. Griffiths since the testator's death, left and went to Germany, and the trustees thereupon ceased to pay the 50*l.* a year out of his income to M. Griffiths. During his absence from England, H. P. Greenwood executed a deed assigning, "as beneficial owner," all his interest under his father's will to the Liverpool Reversionary Interest Company. In 1890, H. P. Greenwood returned to England, and, with the consent of M. Griffiths and the trustees, went again to reside with her. The trustees filed an originating petition in the County Palatine Court asking a declaration whether they ought to pay 50*l.* a year out of his share to M. Griffiths. The Vice-Chancellor held that they ought to pay this sum out of H. P. Greenwood's income so long as he resided with M. Griffiths, and the Liverpool Reversionary Interest Company appealed.

Neville, Q.C., and Hughes, for the appellants.

Farwell, Q.C., and Arkle, for M. Griffiths.

Cozens-Hardy, Q.C., and Rotch, for the other children of the testator.

P. O. Lawrence, for the trustees.

LINDLEY, L.J., said, that it appeared to him that H. P. Greenwood had only a life estate subject to a defeasance to the extent of 50*l.* a year for the benefit of M. Griffiths so long as he resided with her. This was the interest which he assigned to the appellants, and he could not assign anything more. He assigned this interest as beneficial owner, and therefore, under the Conveyancing Act, 1881, he was bound by the covenant for quiet enjoyment contained in sect. 7A of that Act. He was of opinion that this covenant did not have the effect of enlarging the defeasible interest of the assignor into an indefeasible interest, or impose an obligation on him not to return to reside with M. Griffiths. Nor was M. Griffiths under any obligation to refuse to receive H. P. Greenwood without the concurrence of the trustees, and so long as he resided with her she was entitled to be paid 50*l.* a year out of his share. In his opinion, therefore, the Vice-Chancellor's decision was correct, and the appeal must be dismissed.

LOPES, L.J., concurred.

KAY, L.J., said, that he had difficulty in arriving at the same conclusion as Lindley, L.J.; he should rather construe the will as giving a power or privilege to H. P. Greenwood to direct that part of his income should be paid to M. Griffiths so long as he chose to reside with her. In that view, it was settled by authority that any attempt to exercise that power or privilege after the assignment would be a derogation from the grant. With reluctance, therefore, he differed from the judgment of the other Lords Justices and of the Vice-Chancellor.

Company—Winding-up—Practice—Determination of Creditors and Contributories—Unanimous—Appointment of Liquidator—Official Receiver—Discretion of the Court—The Companies (Winding-up) Act, 1890, s. 6—Companies (Winding-up) Rules, 1890, r. 63, sub-rr. 1, 2.

This was an application in the winding-up of the above-named company, raising the question as to the right of creditors and contributories to have an official liquidator appointed, other than the official receiver. The company had been ordered to be wound up; the official receiver had, pursuant to sect. 6 of the Companies (Winding-up) Act, 1890, called the statutory meetings of creditors and contributories, with the result, that at each meeting, a resolution was passed by a proper majority that H. be appointed liquidator, in the place of the official receiver, and that the Court be applied to to sanction the appointment. The official receiver reported the result of the meetings to the Court, and took out a summons to consider the determination of the meetings, the report of the official receiver, and for the appointment of H. as liquidator. It appeared that the assets had been realized, all the debts paid, and that there was a surplus available for immediate distribution among the shareholders; so that there was nothing further for the liquidator to do. A contributory, who desired the appointment of H. as liquidator, now applied that H. might be appointed according to the determination of the meetings of creditors and contributories.

Whinney (Sir H. Davey, Q.C., with him), contended, for the applicant, that the scheme of the Act of 1890 and the rules was to leave the creditors and contributories to decide whether the winding-up should be by the official receiver, or by an outside liquidator, and that, except in the case of a difference between the meetings of the creditors and contributories, the Court had no discretion. In the present case the result of the meetings was unanimous.

Farwell, Q.C., and Macnaghten, for creditors and contributories who were in the minority at the meetings.

CHITTY, J., held, that the word "may" in the Companies (Winding-up) Act, 1890, s. 6, gave the Court a discretion, and that the Legislature had never intended that the Court should merely register the result of the determination of the creditors and contributories; that the "unanimous" determination of the creditors and contributories referred to in rule 63, sub-rule 2, meant, not an unanimity in the result of the two meetings, but the unanimity of all the creditors and contributories, and that in the exercise of such discretion, and having regard to the circumstances, he should decline to appoint any liquidator, and should leave the official receiver to complete the distribution of the assets under sub-sect. 3 of sect. 6, and that the application must be refused.

Vendor and Purchaser—Undischarged Bankrupt—After-acquired Real Estate—Property vesting in Trustee—Intervention of Trustee—Bankruptcy Act, 1883, ss. 44, 54.

A testatrix, who died in April, 1890, devised her real estate to her nephews, W. and J., as tenants in common in fee. In October, 1890, W. and J. purported to convey this real estate to the company, who in May, 1891, entered into a contract for the sale thereof to a purchaser. The purchaser before completion discovered that in 1888 W. had been adjudicated bankrupt, and was still undischarged. The vendors were not aware of this fact when they purchased. The trustee in W.'s bankruptcy now intervened, and claimed a moiety of the property. The purchaser then applied, under the Vendor and Purchaser Act, 1874, for a declaration that the vendors had not made a good title, and for the return of his deposit.

Horace Kent, for the vendors.

CHITTY, J., considered that the proposition laid down in Cohen v. Mitchell (25 Q. B. D., at p. 267), that "until the trustee intervenes, all transactions by a bankrupt after his bankruptcy with any person dealing with him bonâ fide and for value, in respect of his after-acquired property, whether with or without knowledge of the bankruptcy, are valid against the trustee," ought to be treated as a summary of the previous decisions then before the Court, none of which related to real estate, and consequently, that it was not intended to include a case like the present one, which related only to the vesting of the legal estate in realty. Under these circumstances he held, that a good title had not been made, and that the purchaser was entitled to the return of his deposit.

Practice — Rules of Supreme Court, 1883, Order XLIV., r. 2; Order LXVII., r. 6—Motion to Commit—Substituted Service.

In this matter an application was made for leave to effect substituted service of a notice of motion to commit a solicitor for non-payment of a sum of money in his capacity of an officer of the Court. It was proved that several attempts had been made to serve him at his office, and that his clerk had stated that all letters would be forwarded. Two appointments had also been made; but the solicitor had failed to keep either of them.

NORTH, J., questioned whether it was necessary to make such application separately, and whether the proper course was not to effect service in the way suggested, and then, on the hearing of the motion to commit, to ask the Court to accept such service as sufficient.

Gatey, for the plaintiff, referred to an unreported case of In re Watts, before Kay, J., and to Mander v. Falcke (35 Sol. Jour. p. 697), as shewing that in cases of motions to commit, if personal service cannot be effected, application must be made ex parte for leave to effect substituted service, which must then be carried out in the manner directed before the motion can be brought on.

NORTH, J., made the order as asked.

Trade-mark — Infringement — Innocent Purchaser of Spurious Article—Costs.

This was a motion to restrain the defendants from infringing the plaintiffs' trade-mark, and from selling or offering for sale cigarettes so labelled or got up as to be an infringement or colourable imitation of the plaintiffs' trade-mark or of the goods sold by them. The plaintiffs had since 1883 manufactured and sold "Chancellor cigarettes," and had registered a trade-mark in respect of them.

The defendants, who were wine and cigar merchants, had bought from E. & Co. 50 packets, containing 500 cigarettes, at a cost of 17*s.* 6*d.*, which, according to the plaintiffs' evidence, were so close an imitation of their goods as to amount to an absolute forgery. The defendants had previously bought the genuine cigarettes from the plaintiffs, and were not aware that the goods which they had bought from E. & Co. were not manufactured by the plaintiffs. The plaintiffs, without any previous communication, served the defendants with the writ and notice of motion in this action. The defendants had returned the spurious goods to E. & Co., and they filed an affidavit in which they submitted to any order which the Court might make, but contended that they ought not to pay costs.

Willis Bund, for the plaintiffs, relied on Cooper v. Whittingham (15 Ch. D. 501), and Upmann v. Forester (24 Ch. D. 231).

Oswald, for the defendants, submitted that they had acted innocently and without carelessness, it being admitted by the plaintiffs that the imitation was so close as to be an absolute forgery. It was not a case in which the defendants ought to pay the costs of the action.

STIRLING, J., said that this was not the kind of action which ought to be encouraged. There was no authority that a retail trader who innocently bought and sold a small quantity of a spurious article should be rendered liable for the costs of an action for infringement. In Upmann v. Forester, Chitty, J. expressly stated that he did not intend so to decide. There the amount of goods sold was large (5000 cigars); here it was only 500 cigarettes. This was not a case in which the defendant ought to be made to pay costs.

Receiver—Partnership—Dissolution—Arbitration—Stay of Proceedings—Arbitration Act, 1889, s. 4.

These were cross-motions in a partnership action, one being by the plaintiff for the appointment of a receiver and manager, and the other by one of the defendants for an order under sec. 4 of the Arbitration Act, 1889, to stay all proceedings in the action on the ground of an agreement to refer all matters in dispute to arbitration. The partnership was a partnership at will, and the articles provided that all doubts, difficulties or divergencies that might arise between the partners or their representatives during the course of the partnership, or at the liquidation or its total or partial dissolution, should be resolved and adjusted by arbitrators, whose decision should be observed by the interested parties without any recourse of appeal to the ordinary courts of justice.

The plaintiff alleged that in consequence of the defendant's course of action the partnership property was in danger.

The questions were, first, whether the mere fact of the dissolution entitled the plaintiff to the appointment of a receiver as a matter of right; and, secondly, whether the jurisdiction of the Court to appoint a receiver was ousted by the arbitration clause.

Hastings, Q.C., and G. F. Hart, for the defendant.

Maidlow, for the plaintiff.

STIRLING, J., said that the arbitration clause was very wide and it was not disputed that so far as the defendant's motion was concerned, an order should be made referring all matters in dispute in the winding-up of the partnership to arbitration. It was putting the case too high to say that the plaintiff was entitled as a matter of right to the appointment of a receiver. He held, on the authority of Compagnie du Sénégal v. Woods (53 L. J. (Ch.) 166), that there was jurisdiction to appoint a receiver, and at the same time to stay further proceedings with a view to the arbitration. On the evidence, his Lordship thought that this was a proper case for the exercise of that jurisdiction. He therefore directed a reference to chambers to appoint a receiver and manager or receivers and managers of the business, with liberty for either party to propose himself as receiver or one of the receivers, with a proviso that if the defendant should propose himself he was to give security for the plaintiff's protection. All proceedings in the action would be stayed except for the purpose of giving effect to the order.

Trustees — Administration — Account Stamp Duty — Voluntary Settlement — Special Power of Appointment — Appointees of Specific Sums and of Residue—Incidence of Duty—Customs and Inland Revenue Act, 1881 (44 Vict c. 12), s. 38, sub-s. 2 (c); s. 41.

By the will of a settlor exercising a special power of appointment reserved in favour of his children by a voluntary settlement, the trustees of the settlement were directed, after the death of the settlor (to whom a life interest had been reserved), to raise certain specific sums of money out of the trust funds, in trust for certain of his children, and to hold the residue of the trust funds in trust for another of his children.

This was an originating summons taken out by the trustees against the appointees of the trust funds, to determine whether the account stamp duty imposed by the Customs and Inland Revenue Act, 1881, s. 38, sub-s. 2 (c), on the death of the settlor, ought to be borne exclusively by the appointed residue of the trust funds, or whether it ought to be borne rateably by the specific sums and the residue.

Mills, for the plaintiffs.

Fischer, Q.C., and Mills, for the defendants, the appointees of the specific sums.

Budcock, for the appointee of the residue.

KEKEWICH, J., said the question was one of intention, namely, whether, having regard to the terms of the appointment, he was to presume that the appointor's intention was to charge the residue with the whole of the duty payable, under any Act of Parliament, on the appointed funds. In his Lordship's opinion, he clearly ought not to presume any such intention, the will being altogether silent as to the mode of payment of duty. In his opinion, the proper rule was to make each share of the appointed funds bear its own duty.

Under a mortgage of lands in Essex, effected in 1846, the mortgagees, in 1884, sold part of the mortgaged hereditaments, received the proceeds of sale, and recovered judgment against the mortgagor for the balance. A writ of elegit was issued in execution of the judgment, and the sheriff delivered to the mortgagees possession of other lands in the county belonging to the mortgagor, and they continued in possession of such lands as well as of the unsold part of the mortgaged hereditaments. The judgment and writ were duly registered.

The mortgagor died in 1890, and by his will, dated in 1886, he specifically devised the lands delivered under the writ of elegit, and, after specifically devising and bequeathing divers other leasehold and freehold properties, directed that all the rest of his real and personal estate (which included the unsold part of the mortgaged hereditaments) should be sold, and the proceeds divided among persons named. The will contained a general direction for payment of debts.

The devisee of the lands delivered under the writ of elegit claimed that they ought to be exonerated from the judgment debt out of the general personal estate of the testator.

Renshaw, Q.C., and C. E. E. Jenkins, for the executor, contended that the devisee took cum onere.

Warrington, for the devisee, contrà.

T. L. Wilkinson, and Vernon R. Smith, for other parties.

KEKEWICH, J., held, that in conformity with the provisions of Locke King's Acts, the devised estate must bear its own burden, and, therefore, that the devisee of the lands delivered under the writ of elegit was not entitled to have them exonerated out of the personal estate.

Company — Winding-up — Liquidator — Wishes of Creditors— Meeting of Creditors—Appointing Chairman as Liquidator— Discretion of Court—Companies Act, 1862, s. 91.

In April, 1886, an order was made for the winding up of the above company, and a Mr. Mackay was appointed liquidator. Subsequently Mr. Mackay died, and, in consequence of differences of opinion as to his successor, his Lordship directed a meeting of the creditors of the company to be called under sect. 91 of the Companies Act, 1862, to ascertain their wishes on the subject, Mr. Newton Smith, an accountant, being appointed by his Lordship as chairman of the meeting. The meeting was held, and a Mr. Dyson, a creditor for 600*l.*, was selected by a large majority of the creditors present, no other person being proposed as liquidator. Mr. Newton Smith reported the result of the meeting to his Lordship, and Mr. Dyson took out a summons for his appointment as liquidator pursuant to the decision of the meeting. His Lordship, however, declined to appoint him, and, in the exercise of his discretion, made an order appointing Mr. Newton Smith to be liquidator.

Mr. Dyson now moved to have that order discharged and for an order appointing himself as liquidator.

Millar, Q.C., and Ringwood, for the motion, contended, first that the Court ought not to disregard the wishes of the creditors as to the appointment of a liquidator, especially as a meeting had been directed to ascertain those wishes; and, secondly, that it was contrary to the practice of the Court and to public policy to appoint as liquidator the chairman of a meeting called for the purpose of appointing that officer, the chairman being the "returning officer" appointed by the Court to report the result of the meeting, and intrusted as such with quasi-judicial duties; and further, that the chairman in the present case, being an accountant, ought not to be appointed, he being a person interested in making a profit out of the liquidation.

Warmington, Q.C., and Vernon R. Smith, for creditors.

Renshaw, Q.C., and Gover, for Mr. Newton Smith.

Kekewich, J., said that he had selected Mr. Newton Smith for the office of chairman of the meeting as he was a well-known accountant and properly qualified in every way for the office; not a suggestion had been made that he had conducted the meeting improperly. The question, then, was whether he was a proper person to appoint as liquidator. His Lordship, after full consideration of the matter in Chambers, had arrived at the conclusion that he ought not to adopt the opinion of the majority at the meeting, Mr. Dyson having proposed himself as liquidator, and for that reason his Lordship had not looked with favour upon his application, although he might in other respects have been a perfectly fit and proper person. His Lordship had no doubt that, having regard to sect. 91 of the Companies Act, 1862, the Legislature intended, and it was in accordance with the practice, that where the Court directed a meeting to be called to ascertain the wishes of creditors, or where their wishes were ascertained in any other way, the Court ought to have regard to those wishes; but that did not in any way interfere with the exercise of the discretion of the Court. In the present case, Mr. Newton Smith had not proposed himself as a candidate for the appointment of liquidator, and his Lordship did not see why, after that gentleman had completed his duties as chairman, he should not be selected as liquidator. His Lordship had selected him, and thought he had rightly exercised his discretion in doing so. The motion must, therefore, be refused with costs.

BANKRUPTCY.

Ex parte Wreford.

Settlement—Joint Power of Appointment—Re-settlement—Tenant for Life—Gift over on Alienation—Trust to pay Debts—Revocable Mandate—Bankruptcy of Tenant for Life—Title of Trustee in Bankruptcy.

By a settlement made in 1873 certain real estates were limited, in the events which happened, to the use of N. Ashby for life, with remainder to the use of Anne Ashby, the wife of N. Ashby, for life, with remainder to such uses as N. Ashby and G. Ashby (the son of Anne Ashby) should at any time during their joint lives by deed jointly appoint, with remainder in default of appointment to the use of the said G. Ashby for life, with remainder over. G. Ashby was not a party to this deed. Anne Ashby died in 1886.

By a deed of re-settlement, dated the 26th of April, 1888 (being a family arrangement), and made between the said N. Ashby of the first part, the said G. Ashby of the second part, and certain persons as trustees of the third part, the said N. Ashby and G. Ashby, in exercise of the joint power of appointment given to them by the deed of 1873, appointed and granted the said real estates to the use of the said trustees for a term of years to raise and pay—(1) certain mortgages; (2) certain scheduled debts of N. Ashby; and (3) certain scheduled debts of G. Ashby, with remainder to the use of N. Ashby for life, with remainder to the use of the said trustees during the life of G. Ashby upon trust to receive and pay him the rents and profits during his life until he should assign, charge, or incumber, "or do or suffer anything whereby the same would through his act or default or by operation or process of law or otherwise become vested in or payable to any other person," with a discretionary trust over on the happening of any such event, with remainders over.

The trustees duly raised the money to pay the debts of G. Ashby, and in March, 1889, had paid about one-third of such debts, and were about to pay the remaining two-thirds (which amounted to 719*l.*), when they received a written notice from G. Ashby requiring them not to part with any money in their hands applicable to the payment of the said debts.

In July, 1889, G. Ashby was adjudicated bankrupt, and the official receiver became the trustee in bankruptcy. In 1890, N. Ashby died. Subsequently the trustee in bankruptcy claimed—(1) the life interest of the bankrupt in the settled estates on the ground that the gift over on alienation was void against him, and (2) the 719*l.* in the hands of the settlement trustees on the ground that it was part of the property of the bankrupt.

Muir Mackenzie, for the trustee in bankruptcy.

Levett, Q.C., and Yate Lee, for the trustees of the settlement.

G. Henderson, for the creditors of the bankrupt, whose debts were scheduled to the settlement.

Vaughan Williams, J., held, that the settlement of 1888 was not a settlement by the bankrupt of his own property, and, therefore, did not fall within the rule which rendered invalid a gift over on alienation or bankruptcy in cases where a person settled his own property on himself in that manner. The discretionary trust over, therefore, took effect, and the trustee in bankruptcy was not entitled to the life interest of the bankrupt. But as to the 719*l.* in the hands of the settlement trustees, his Lordship was of opinion that the trust to pay debts was in the nature of a revocable mandate, and had been duly revoked by the bankrupt in March, 1889. The 719*l.* was, therefore, part of the bankrupt's estate, and must be paid over by the settlement trustees to the trustee in bankruptcy.

COURT OF APPEAL.

From Ch. Div. Moser v. Marsden. Feb.

Practice—Parties—Adding Defendant—Rules of Supreme Court, Order xvi., r. 11.

This was an appeal from a decision of the Vice-Chancellor of the County Palatine of Lancaster.

The plaintiff was the registered owner of a patent for improvements in machines for weaving, and the action was brought to restrain the defendant from using machines made in violation of the patent. The machine used by the defendant was made by a manufacturer in Prussia named Montforts under a patent which he had obtained in that country. Montforts applied to have his name added as a defendant to the action, alleging that his rights were affected by the action, and that he believed that the defendant Marsden would not properly defend the action. The Vice-Chancellor granted the application, and the plaintiff appealed. The order was made under the rule of the Palatine Court, which is similar to Order xvi. rule 11, of the Supreme Court. That rule provides that the Court or a judge may at any stage of the proceedings, either upon or without the application of either party, and on such terms as may appear to the Court or judge to be just, order that the names of parties, whether plaintiffs or defendants, who ought to have been joined, or whose presence before the Court may be necessary in order to enable the Court effectually and completely to adjudicate upon and settle all the questions involved in the cause or matter, be added.

Pankhurst (Moulton, Q.C., with him), for the appellant.

Hopkinson, and Astbury, for Montforts.

Lindley, L.J., said that the question between the plaintiff and the defendant, so far as they alone were concerned, could be very well worked out without joining any one else as defendant in the action. Clearly, Montforts did not come under the expression of a party "who ought to have been joined," but there was no obligation on the plaintiff to sue every one who was concerned in the infringement of his patent. Nor did the later words, "whose presence before the Court might be necessary in order to enable the Court effectually and completely to adjudicate upon and settle all the questions involved in the cause or matter," apply. The object of the rule was to prevent an action being defeated by the non-joinder of parties; but it was not intended to make the plaintiff litigate with everybody who might be in any way affected by the action. Montforts might be incidentally and commercially injured by the success of the plaintiff's action; but he was not legally injured. He was of opinion that the Vice-Chancellor had misconstrued the rule, and that the appeal must be allowed.

TWIBOULD v. CHAMBER COLLIERY COMPANY.

Mines—Grant—Covenant—Right of Working—Letting down Surface—Destruction of Buildings—Right of Support—Injunction.

By a deed of grant in 1807, all the mines, veins, and beds of coal lying under certain lands in Oldham, Lancashire, and therein described (of which certain surface lands now belonging to the plaintiff formed part), together with full and free liberty, power and authority, to and for the grantees, their heirs and assigns, agents and workmen, to enter upon the said lands and use and enjoy all privileges in the boring, searching, getting and carrying away of such mines, &c., "in as full, large, ample, and beneficial a manner to all intents and purposes as" the grantors "could or might have done in case these presents had not been made," and also to get, bank, and dispose of all mines, veins, and beds of coal belonging to the grantees, their heirs, executors, administrators, and assigns, upon, within, or under the said lands, for which aforesaid purposes it should be lawful for the grantees, their heirs and assigns, to sink shafts, &c., and use and enjoy all such liberties and privileges for the getting, working, and disposing of the said mines as should be necessary, and as to the grantees, their heirs and assigns, should seem most proper and most conducive to the beneficial and most profitable working of the said mines, &c., they doing little damage and injury to the said lands and "the surface thereof and herbage thereof" as the nature of the case would admit, and making satisfaction to the grantors, their heirs and assigns, for all unavoidable damage and spoil of ground to be occasioned by the exercising and enjoying the powers, liberties, and privileges assured, by annual payments at the rate per acre therein mentioned—were granted to uses in favour of the grantees. And the grantees covenanted that, in case any damage should accrue "to any building erected or standing upon" the said lands by the working of the said mines, they would make compensation therefor to the grantors over and above the annual sums thereinbefore provided.

The plaintiff was a lessee of the surface of some of the lands over mines under which were the subject of the above grant, and on this surface were standing a tripe-dressing manufactory and several cottages, most of which buildings had been erected before the date of the grant. The defendants, who derived title under the grantees of the mines, had, in working the coal, caused a subsidence of the surface of the plaintiff's lands, and consequent injury to the buildings thereon.

This action was brought by the plaintiff for an injunction to restrain the defendants from working the coal so as to injure the land or buildings, and for damages.

The defendants contended that, upon the construction of the deed, they were entitled to work the coal without leaving a support for the surface, and that, in any case, the covenant as to compensation only extended to buildings on the land at the date of the grant. The action came on for trial before Mr. Justice Vaughan Williams, sitting as an additional Judge of the Chancery Division, who, on the 21st of November, 1891, gave judgment, refusing an injunction, but declaring that the plaintiff was entitled to compensation.

From that judgment the defendants appealed. There was also a cross-appeal by the plaintiff asking for an injunction and damages in lieu of compensation.

The appeals were heard on the 29th and 30th January, 1892.

Sir R. Webster, A.G., Moulton, Q.C., and S. Eady, for the defendants.

Feb. 15, 1892. THE COURT (Lindley, Lopes, and Kay, L.JJ.) considered it settled, by a long series of decisions, that a conveyance of mines, with full powers of working them, did not entitle the mineral owner to let down the surface without making compensation, unless the right so to do was conferred upon him by express words, or by necessary implication, by which was meant some provision which was plainly inconsistent with the absence of such a right. If all that could be said was that the provisions of the deed were consistent with such a right, and did not therefore exclude it, they would not go far enough; they must confer the right, if not in express terms, at least by the terms of the deed being plainly inconsistent with its absence. In other words, in a case of doubt, the right to let down the surface without paying compensation did not exist. Such was the principle laid down in Davis v. Treharne (6 App. Cas. 460), Dixon v. White (8 App. Cas. 833), and Love v. Bell (9 App. Cas. 286). Upon the construction of the deed of grant in the present case, the Court held that the defendants were bound to make compensation for injury to all buildings existing on the land, whether at the date of the grant or erected subsequently, and dismissed the defendants' appeal with costs.

Upon the plaintiff's cross-appeal, the Court granted an inquiry as to damages on the footing of trespass.

Settled Estate—Contract for Sale—Sanction of Court—Infant—Settled Estates Act, 1877, s. 16—Conveyancing Act, 1881, s. 41.

Petition, under the Settled Estates Act, 1877, asking the sanction of the Court to an agreement for the sale of real estate devised by the will of J. W. Sparrow, who died in 1891.

The testator devised all his real estate to three trustees in fee, upon the trusts thereinafter declared. As to certain specified lands, and a mining property called Jacob's Hall, the trusts declared were "to receive the rents and annual proceeds (including mining royalties, if any) arising from the same, and to invest the same until my son Cyril shall attain twenty-one, or die leaving issue, whichever event shall first happen; and thereupon I declare that my trustees shall stand possessed thereof, and of the rents and proceeds received by them as aforesaid, in trust for the said Cyril absolutely and beneficially." And the testator declared that his trustees should hold the residue of his real and personal estate, upon trust to sell and convert the same into money, and to pay and divide the same equally between such of his sons, Isaac, William, and Cyril, as should attain twenty-one, or die under that age leaving issue, and if there should be only one such son, then upon trust for such one son absolutely and beneficially. The will did not contain any power of sale of specifically devised real estate. At the time when the petition was presented, the son Isaac had attained twenty-one; the sons William and Cyril were both under twenty-one. The petitioners were, the trustees of the will; the testator's son, John, who was his heir-at-law; the son Isaac; and the sons William and Cyril, by their guardian.

The petition asked the Court to sanction a contract into which the trustees had entered for the sale of the Jacob's Hall property.

North, J., on the authority of Liddell v. Liddell (31 W. R. 238; 52 L. J. Consequently, he had jurisdiction to sanction the agreement. Upon the evidence he sanctioned the agreement.

Specific Performance—Landlord and Tenant—Building let in Flats—Covenant by Landlord to appoint Resident Porter.

The plaintiff was the lessee of a residential flat in a building containing one other residential flat and several suites of business chambers. By his lease, dated the 2nd of July, 1889, from the defendant company, the latter demised a flat on the fourth floor to the plaintiff for twenty-one years.

The lease provided as follows: "And it is hereby agreed and declared by and between the parties hereto that the premises hereinbefore expressed to be hereby demised are taken by the lessee subject to the regulations made by the lessors with respect to the duties of the resident porter, and other matters for the general convenience of tenants. These regulations are set forth in the schedule hereunder written, and are to be considered as forming part of these presents. The lessors, however, reserve to themselves the right of altering and modifying the regulations . . . from time to time as the convenience of the tenants or other special circumstances may render desirable." The schedule was, so far as material, as follows: "(1) The rooms in each block are, together with the entrance and staircase belonging to it, in charge of a resident porter appointed and removable by the lessors, but who shall be and act as the servant of the tenants of the several rooms in the block." "(3) Tenants have the right to the general services of the porter resident in their block within the scope of his general duties as defined by rule 6." "(4) Tenants have the right to the special services of such porter as defined by rules 8, 9, and 10." "(6) The general duties of the porter which the tenants are entitled to have performed for them, free of extra charge, are as follows:—(a) To be constantly in attendance in the section of the building committed to his charge, either by himself, or, in his temporary absence, by some trustworthy assistant. (b) To cleanse stairs, &c., and attend to lighting and extinguishing gas. (c) To receive and deliver to the several tenants all letters, parcels, and messages, and to receive the keys of the outer doors of the several sets of rooms from the tenants for safe custody on their leaving for the night." Regulations 8, 9, and 10 provided as to special services of the porter, but did not expressly mention attending at the door.

The plaintiff by his pleadings alleged that a resident porter had not been appointed according to the regulations; and that although a porter had been appointed, he was not constantly in attendance, either by himself, or, in his temporary absence, by a trustworthy assistant; and he claimed (1) an injunction to restrain the defendants from employing as the porter in charge any person who was not resident and constantly in attendance therein, and able and willing to act as the plaintiff's servant according to the regulations; (2) specific performance of the agreement to appoint a resident porter in charge; (3) 10*l.* damages. The defendants denied that they had not provided a sufficient porter, and also contended that such an agreement could not be ordered to be specifically performed, but that the remedy for a breach was in damages.

The evidence shewed that the defendants had appointed a man as porter, who resided on the premises with his wife; that during part of the time of his employment he was engaged as chef, in the middle of the day, at a luncheon club in the same street; that the street-door was rarely attended to by the porter or his wife, but that it was sometimes opened by his niece, and generally by a boy in shirt-sleeves, and often by a charwoman or cleaner.

Haldane, Q.C., and Warrington, for the plaintiff.

Chadwyck Healey, Q.C., and S. Eady, for the defendants.

A. L. Smith, J., said that, summarizing the regulations, the defendants undertook to provide the services of a resident ma porter. He was not to be always present at the building, and during his temporary absences he might appoint a trustworthy substitute. The meaning was that the residents should have a male attendant—a man—who should perform the duties of an ordinary manservant. The defendants had put in a chef and his wife to perform the duties of a porter. These duties had been performed by a boy, co-adjuted by a charwoman, and by the chef's niece. The directors had not performed their covenant. After Wolverhampton and Walsall Railway Company v. London and North Western Railway Company (Law Rep. 16 Eq. 433), relied on by the plaintiff's counsel, his Lordship thought an injunction ought to be granted, and a nominal sum given for damages; but, in case the Court of Appeal thought that was not the proper remedy in such a case, he assessed the damages at 25*l.*

Company — Winding-up — List of Contributories — Director's Qualification Shares—Implied Contract to take Shares.

Adjourned summons.

The articles of association of a limited company provided that the qualification of a director should be the holding of shares in the company of the nominal value of 1000*l.*; that a first director might act before acquiring his qualification shares, but should in any case acquire them within one month from his appointment, and unless he should do so "he shall be deemed to have agreed to take the said shares from the company, and the same shall be forthwith allotted to him accordingly."

Sir H. I. was a first director of the company, which was incorporated in November, 1889. He accepted the office, and was present at every meeting of the directors from the 24th of February, 1890, to the 24th of March, 1891. But he never applied to the company for any shares, and he maintained that there never had been any allotment of shares to him of a binding nature, and that he had never received any notice of any allotment whatever. It was admitted by the counsel for the official receiver, for the purpose of the argument, that no shares had been formally allotted to Sir H. I. or registered in his name. The company was ordered to be wound up in May, 1891; and the question was whether Sir H. I. was liable to be placed on the list of contributories in respect of the 100 10*l.* shares which constituted a director's qualification.

Buckley, Q.C., and E. S. Ford, for Sir H. I.

Muir Mackenzie, and Arnold White, for the official receiver and liquidator.

STIRLING, J., said that there was no authority which precisely governed the question, and it had been deliberately left open by the Court of Appeal in Hewitt's & Brett's Case (25 Ch. Div. 283). In his own opinion, where a man has accepted the office of director and acted as such, there ought to be inferred an agreement between him and the company, on his part, that he will serve the company on the terms as to qualification and otherwise contained in the articles of association, and on the part of the company, that he shall receive the remuneration and benefits which those articles provide for directors. The articles in this case were unusually plain and explicit; there were at all times, down to the winding up of the company, sufficient shares to enable an allotment to be made to Sir H. I.; and his Lordship held it to have been established that Sir H. I. had agreed with the company to take, and that the company had agreed to allot to him, 100 10*l.* shares, and consequently that he was liable to be settled on the list of contributories for that number of shares.

This was an application by Karberg, under the Companies Act, 1862, sect. 35, to have his name removed from the list of shareholders of the above company on the ground of misrepresentation in the prospectus. In January, 1889, a prospectus of the company, which was now admitted to contain misleading statements, was received by Karberg from one of the promoters; and on the 28th of January, 1889, he, on the faith of the prospectus, as he alleged, applied for a certain number of shares. The company was registered on the 30th of January, and the shares were allotted to Karberg on the 11th of February. On the 27th of May, Karberg was present at a meeting of the company at which the company approved a prospectus similar to that which he had received. On the 26th of June, 1889, Karberg, as he alleged, first discovered the misrepresentations contained in the prospectus, and on the 3rd of July commenced this proceeding to rectify the register of shareholders by removing his name, which stood over till Wainwright's Case, a similar application by a shareholder, had been decided. Kekewich, J. WILLERTON v. STOCKS. Jan. 20.

Will—Construction—Gift to a Class to be ascertained at a future time—Gift at Twenty-four—Accumulation—Remoteness.

Robert Willerton, by his will, dated in 1869, gave his residuary real and personal estate to trustees, upon trusts for sale and investment, and to pay to his wife and others certain annuities out of the income; and as to the residue of the income, the testator directed the same to accumulate during the life of his wife, with power for the trustees to apply the said residuary income, or any part thereof, in or towards the maintenance of Jane, the wife of his son Solomon Willerton, during the lifetime of her husband, and in or towards the maintenance, education, and advancement of all or any of the children of the said S. Willerton until the youngest should attain the age of twenty-one years, if the testator's wife should so long live; and after the death of the testator's said wife upon trust to pay an annuity to his said son Solomon for his life, and after his death to pay the same to the said Jane his wife; and after the death of the testator's wife, subject to the payment of certain legacies, upon trust to pay, transfer, and divide the residue of his said trust estate unto and equally between all the children of his said son Solomon, share and share alike, as and when, being sons, they should severally attain the age of twenty-four years, or, being daughters, they should severally attain that age or marry.

The testator died in 1871, leaving his wife and his son Solomon surviving him. The testator's widow died in 1884. Solomon Willerton died in 1889, leaving his wife Jane surviving him. He had eleven children, all of whom were living and infants at the death of the testator. One had died since, having predeceased her father.

This was an administration action brought by a son of Solomon Willerton against the trustees, and charging them with certain breaches of trust.

The case now came before the Court on a preliminary point of law as to whether the residuary gift for all the children of Solomon Willerton (a living person), as they should severally attain twenty-four, was void for remoteness, and whether, therefore, the plaintiff's interest under the will was sufficient to sustain the action.

G. C. Price, for the defendants, contended that the gift was void for remoteness.

H. M. Humphry, for the plaintiff, contrà, relied on Elliott v. Elliott (12 Sim. 276).

Kekewich, J., said the point argued on behalf of the plaintiff was that the ultimate gift among all the children of the testator's son Solomon who should attain twenty-four, comprised only children of Solomon living at the death of the testator, and did not comprise any children born afterwards, and that therefore there was nothing to prevent a postponement of the gift until the age of twenty-four. If after-born children were included, then, applying the law laid down in Pearks v. Moseley (5 App. Cas. 714), assuming that they might be children who could not attain twenty-four until after the death of the testator, the gift was void for remoteness. Elliott v. Elliott (12 Sim. 276) was not applicable to the present case. Here there was no immediate gift, but a direction for accumulation during the life of the testator's wife, and after her death the accumulation ceased, and then, and not till then, the division of the residue was to take place. That was of itself sufficient to shew that the testator contemplated a class to be ascertained at a future time. Moreover, he directed the income during the life of the wife to be applied towards the maintenance of the children until they attained twenty-one, and that was entirely inconsistent with the supposition that only those children living at the death of the testator were to be entitled. What the testator meant was that any children Solomon might have should take, whether living at the testator's death or born afterwards. It was difficult to bring the case within Elliott v. Elliott (12 Sim. 276), which was referred to and commented on in In re Coppard's Estate (35 Ch. Div. 350), and In re Mervin ([1891] 3 Ch. 197), also in In re Wenmoth's Estate (37 Ch. Div. 270–1), in which latter case Chitty, J., had made observations on Elliott v. Elliott which did not point to its entire approval by him. Upon the construction of the will in the present case, his Lordship entertained no doubt that all the children of Solomon were intended to take, whether living at the death of the testator or born afterwards, and that consequently the gift was void for remoteness.

COURT OF APPEAL.

From Bkcy. Ct. In re MANSEL. Ex parte NORTON. Feb. 19.

Bankruptcy—Application by Trustee for Payment of Money by Third Party—Statute of Limitations—Bankruptcy Act, 1869, s. 72.

Appeal against an order of Mr. Registrar Hope, that Charles Norton, formerly the solicitor of the liquidating debtor, Sir R. Mansel, should pay over to the trustee in the liquidation a sum of money which had arisen from rents of real estate of the debtor which he had received.

The order was made upon a motion of the trustee under sect. 72 of the Bankruptcy Act, 1869. The rents in question had been received by Norton more than six years before the date of the notice of motion.

Levett, Q.C., and Currington, for Norton, contended that the claim of the trustee was barred by the Statute of Limitations. A motion under sect. 72 was only a substitute for an action at law, and the Statute of Limitations runs against a trustee in bankruptcy just as it would against the bankrupt himself; South Sea Company v. Wymondsell (3 P. Wms. 143).

Henry Kisch, and S. Mayer, for the trustee.

THE COURT (Lord Esher, M.R., and Fry and Lopes, LJJ.), allowed the appeal, holding that the statute was a bar to the claim.

ROYAL AQUARIUM AND SUMMER AND WINTER GARDEN SOCIETY, LIMITED v. PARKINSON.

Defamation—Slander—County Council—Privilege—Immunity from Action—Administrative Functions—Licensing—Notice of Action.

Application by defendant for a new trial or to enter judgment for the defendant.

The facts were as follows:—The action was for slander of the plaintiffs in the way of their business as proprietors of a place of entertainment by the defendant, a member of the London County Council. The statements complained of were made by the defendant at a meeting of the Council held for the purpose of hearing applications under 25 Geo. 2, c. 36, for music and dancing licences (the power of granting which was transferred by the Local Government Act, 1888, from the justices to the County Council), while the defendant was opposing the renewal of the plaintiffs' licence.

The defendant did not plead a justification; but the defence was that the occasion on which the statements were made was absolutely privileged, or, if it was not absolutely privileged, there was a privilege in the absence of express malice, and also that notice of action was required by the combined effect of the Local Government Act, 1888, and 11 & 12 Vict. c. 44, s. 9, and such notice had not been given.

The case was tried before Hawkins, J., who left the question whether there was express malice on the part of the defendant to the jury. The jury found for the plaintiffs for 250*l.* damages, for which amount the learned judge gave them judgment.

Sir H. James, Q.C., and Murphy, Q.C. (R. M. Bray, with them), for the defendant, contended that the defendant was entitled to absolute immunity from an action in respect of words spoken by him while engaged in performance of his duty as a member of the County Council in respect of the granting of licences for music and dancing under 25 Geo 2, c. 36, on the ground that the functions of the County Council in that respect were judicial. They also contended that notice of action was necessary under 11 & 12 Vict. c. 44, s. 9.

Lockwood, Q.C., and Dickens, Q.C., for the plaintiffs.

Cur. adv. vult.

Feb. 20. THE COURT (Lord Esher, M.R., Fry, L.J., and Lopes, L.J.), held that the functions of the County Council in respect of granting licences for music and dancing were not judicial but administrative only, and therefore the defendant was not entitled to absolute immunity from an action, but only to the ordinary privilege attaching to a privileged occasion; and that notice of action was not necessary, inasmuch as "words spoken" did not constitute "anything done" within the meaning of 11 & 12 Vict. c. 44, ss. 8, 9. They, therefore, dismissed the application.

In April, 1890, Nott & Purdey entered into a written agreement with the Enfield Local Board of Health to demise to them a piece of land for the term of ninety years, subject to the sanction of the Chancery Division being obtained. The sanction of the Court was afterwards obtained, and the lease was granted. An order having been made for taxation of the costs of the lessors' solicitors, which by agreement were to be paid by the lessees, the taxing master disallowed all the costs of the agreement except costs out of pocket. Objections were taken to the taxation, which were disallowed by North, J., on the ground that the case was governed by In re Emanuel & Simmonds (33 Ch. Div. 40). The solicitors appealed, and it was stated that it was intended to carry the case to the House of Lords in order that the decision in the former case might be reviewed.

In re SMOKELESS POWDER COMPANY'S TRADE-MARK.

Trade-mark—Person aggrieved—Descriptive Words—Common to the Trade—Part of Label—Name of Company—Disclaimer—Patents, Designs, and Trade Marks Act, 1883, ss. 64, 74.

Application on behalf of the Schultze Gunpowder Company, Limited, to rectify the Register of Trade Marks, by removing therefrom the trade-mark No. 74341, registered in 1888 by the Smokeless Powder Company, Limited. The important part of the trade-mark in question consisted of a target on which were drawn two concentric circles, and between the inner and the outer circle were the words "Smokeless Powder Company, Limited;" the target was supported on one side by a sportsman, and on the other by a soldier in uniform.

Aston, Q.C., and Wurtzburg, for the applicants, contended that, registration having taken place under the Act of 1883, it was incumbent upon the respondents to disclaim the terms "Smokeless Powder."

Sebastian (Moulton, Q.C., with him), argued that they did not claim any exclusive right to the words except as forming part of the label; that the words were part of the label, and not an addition, and were therefore not the subject for a disclaimer; that the words were not distinctive words; and further, that being also the name of the company, they were protected from the necessity of a disclaimer by sect. 10 of the Act of 1888.

CHITTY, J., held that the words in question were ordinary English words, forming part of the name of the respondent company, and indicating that it made smokeless powder; that the words were not "distinctive words" or a distinctive combination of words, and that accordingly no disclaimer was required; furthermore, that the words "Smokeless Powder" being contained in a distinctive label registered as a whole, under the Act of 1883, need not be disclaimed under sect. 74, inasmuch as they formed a part of the label, and were not additions to it, and that under these circumstances the application must be refused.

In re LONDON AND SUBURBAN BANK.

Company—Winding-up—Jurisdiction—Society registered under Industrial and Provident Societies Act, 1876—Companies (Winding-up) Act, 1890, ss. 1, 2, 3.

Petition by a creditor for the winding up of the above bank by the Court. The bank was incorporated in December, 1886, by registration under the Industrial and Provident Societies Act, 1876. It was not registered under the Companies Acts. Its registered office was in the City of London. The amount of the capital paid up, or credited as paid up, was 2215*l.*

R. B. Davis, for the company.

Chubb, for creditors, supported the petition.

Ingle Joyce, for shareholders; and Boome, for shareholders and creditors; opposed the petition.

NORTH, J., held that he had no jurisdiction. Prior to the passing of the Act of 1890, the only Court which had jurisdiction to wind up a society registered under the Act of 1876 was the county court in the district of which the registered office of the society was situate. And, in his Lordship's opinion, the Act of 1890 applied only to companies which, before the passing of that Act, the High Court had power to wind up. The petition must be dismissed.

In re THE INTERNATIONAL CABLE COMPANY.

Company—Director—Remuneration—Qualification Shares.

The articles of the company provided (100) that the qualification of each of the first directors should be the holding of 50 shares of 10*l.* each, or 500*l.* stock, and the qualification of future directors should be the holding of 100 shares, or 1000*l.* stock. Article 103 provided that the directors might exercise all such powers, and do all such acts as might be exercised and done by the company, and as were not required by statute or by the articles to be exercised and done by the company in general meeting. A. and M. were not first directors, but were elected directors on the 20th of March, 1888. They held only 50 shares each in the company, but they had accepted the office of directors on condition that they should not be required to increase their holding; and prior to their election the board of directors had undertaken that if necessary a general meeting of the shareholders should be called for the purpose of altering the articles. The question was brought before the shareholders on the 26th of April, 1889, when a resolution was passed that the smaller qualification should be extended to all directors elected previously to the 27th of April, 1889. That resolution was confirmed on the 16th of May, 1889. A. and M. had acted as directors since the 20th of March, 1888, and had received their fees down to the 31st of March, 1889.

The company was afterwards ordered to be wound up.

This was a summons taken out by the official liquidator asking that A. and M. might be ordered to repay to the company the fees which they had received on the ground that during the period in respect of which such fees were paid they did not possess the necessary qualification.

Hastings, Q.C., and Grosvenor Woods, for the official liquidator.

Buckley, Q.C., and J. Chester, for the respondents.

STIRLING, J., held, on the authority of Ex parte Lord Inchiquin ([1891] 3 Ch. 28), that the directors might act before they had acquired the qualification, and whatever the rights of the company might be in case they failed to acquire it, the company might resolve that for a limited time the board should abstain from allotting the qualification shares, or from insisting that the directors should not act until they had acquired them. Here the directors as a body had power to do all such acts as were not required to be done by a general meeting, and they were within their powers in electing A. and M. and requesting them to act pending the submission of the question of qualification to the shareholders. A. and M. had duly acted during the period in question, and were entitled to be remunerated accordingly.

MARSHALL v. NATIONAL PROVINCIAL BANK OF ENGLAND.

Mortgage of Stock—Priority—Notice—Negligence—Transferee of Loan on Security of Transfer of Stock for Nominal Consideration—Duty to inquire as to Title of Mortgagor—Practice—Evidence—Affidavit—Duty to produce Office Copy.

The plaintiff, who was the owner of railway stock, obtained a loan of 850*l.* from a company to whom he transferred the stock by way of security. The loan was effected for the plaintiff by I., a broker, with whom the plaintiff kept a running account, and who received on his behalf the dividends on the stock. At the instance of I., who represented that he could procure a loan from the defendant bank at a more favourable rate of interest, the plaintiff agreed that the loan should be transferred to the bank, of which I. was a customer. The plaintiff, who was not a customer of the bank, was informed that it was the practice of the bank to make advances of this kind to their own customers only. He also knew that it was necessary that the stock should be transferred to the bank. I., without disclosing the interest of the plaintiff, obtained from the bank a loan of 950*l.* upon a transfer, expressed to be for a nominal consideration, of the stock from the company, who were paid off, to the bank. The officers of the bank believed that I. had purchased the stock and was the owner of it, subject to the amount due to the company. The plaintiff did not give any notice of his interest to the bank, nor did he put any distringas on the stock. I. afterwards paid off the bank, sold the stock, and applied the proceeds to his own purposes. The plaintiff brought this action against the bank seeking to hold them liable for the difference between the amount of the original loan to the plaintiff and the amount realized by the sale of the stock, upon the ground that under the circumstances the bank were put upon inquiry, and were, therefore, to be deemed to have notice of the plaintiff's title to the stock.

During the cross-examination of one of the defendants' witnesses, reference was made to his affidavit in answer to interrogatories, which affidavit had been filed on behalf of the defendants, and a question arose whether or not it was the duty of the defendants to produce the office copy of such affidavit.

Benshaw, Q.C., and F. Thompson, for the plaintiff.

Warmington, Q.C., and E. Beaumont, for the defendants.

KEKEWICH, J., said that he had himself considered that the point was covered by the Rules of Court; but as there appeared to be some doubt as to the practice, he had inquired of the registrars on the matter, and was confirmed in the view that the practice was that the party on whose behalf the affidavit was filed was bound to produce the office copy. In the present case the affidavit bore a note that it was filed on behalf of the defendants, and it was therefore their duty to produce it.

Upon the main question his Lordship held that, under the circumstances of the case, there was no duty imposed on the defendants to inquire as to the title of the plaintiff; that there had been no negligence on their part in their mode of dealing with their security; and that the action must, therefore, be dismissed with costs.

Case stated by justices of the West Riding of Yorkshire on the appeal of a surveyor of highways against a conviction under sect. 56 of the Highways Act, 1835. The case stated that the heap of stones in question was left and allowed to remain on the road in the manner mentioned in the section by a person employed by the appellant to repair the road, but without the knowledge of the appellant, and that it was contended on behalf of the respondent, the informer, that as the section did not say "wilfully" or "knowingly," the appellant was liable under it for the negligence of the person so employed.

Divorce. CONNEMARA v. CONNEMARA. Feb. 19.

Divorce Suit—Decree Absolute—Intervener's name struck out of Title of Petition—Refusal of Court to re-insert it in Proceedings for Variation of Settlements.

Motion to discharge an order made by the President in chambers striking out the name of an intervener from all pending and future proceedings.

The petition was presented by the wife, and prayed for a dissolution of the marriage on the grounds of her husband's adultery coupled with cruelty. One of the persons with whom the respondent was alleged to have committed adultery obtained leave to intervene, and the title of the suit was amended by the insertion of her name as intervener. On the 12th of November, 1890, an order was made on the application of the intervener for a commission to India to examine the respondent, and for the postponement of the trial of the issues against the intervener until after the trial of the other issues.

These issues were tried before the President (Sir J. Hannen) on the 27th of November, 1890, and a decree nisi was granted, which was made absolute on the 9th of June, 1891. The issue against the intervener was not tried.

On the 9th of July, 1891, a petition was presented for variation of settlements, the name of the intervener being on the title filed. On the 30th of November, 1891, the intervener took out a summons to have her name struck out of all pending and future proceedings. The Registrar held that he had no jurisdiction to make such an order, and dismissed the summons; but the President, on appeal in chambers, made the order as prayed.

G. Tahourdin, for the petitioner, appealed against the order.

THE PRESIDENT confirmed the order, and refused to restore the intervener's name to the title of the petition.

Divorce. BLANDFORD v. BLANDFORD. Feb. 23.

Divorce—Provision for Maintenance—Child above the age of 16—20 & 21 Vict. c. 85, s. 35.

Motion to dismiss a supplemental petition praying for a maintenance for the eldest son of a marriage which had been dissolved.

In this case a decree absolute had been pronounced some years ago on the petition of the Marchioness of Blandford, dissolving her marriage with her husband—now the Duke of Marlborough—and a supplemental petition has been presented, praying that the Duke might be ordered to make some provision for the maintenance and education of the Marquis of Blandford, the eldest son, now a young man of between 20 and 21 years of age.

On the 28th of January of this year the registrar made an order directing that the question of jurisdiction should be argued and determined before the hearing of the petition.

Sir R. Webster, A.G. (Lyttelton, with him), now moved, on behalf of the respondent, that the petition should be dismissed, and contended that the Court had no power to make any order as to custody, maintenance, and education of children above the age of sixteen years. [He cited Ryder v. Ryder (30 L. J. (P. & M.) 44); Webster v. Webster (31 L. J. (P. & M.) 184); and Mallinson v. Mallinson (Law. Rep. 1 P. & M. 221).]

Inderwick, Q.C. (Searle, with him), in support of the order, cited Bacon v. Bacon (2 S. & T. 86); Bent v. Bent (2 S. & T. 392); Hunt v. Hunt (8 P. D. 161); Benyon v. Benyon (1 P. D. 447); March v. March and Palumbo (Law Rep. 1 P. & M. 440).

THE COURT, held, that it had no power to make orders as to children over sixteen, either in regard to custody, education, or maintenance, and dismissed the petition.

Practice—Costs—Higher Scale—Rules of the Supreme Court, Order LXV., r. 9—Scientific Evidence—Plans.

By Order LXV., r. 9, of the Rules of the Supreme Court, 1883, "The fees set forth in the column headed "higher scale" in Appendix N may be allowed . . . in any cause or matter . . . if, on special grounds arising out of the nature and importance, or the difficulty . . . of the case, the Court . . . shall at the trial or hearing . . . so order . . ."

The plaintiffs, the owners of the steamship Robin, brought an action in the Admiralty Division of the High Court, claiming damages against the defendants, the mayor, aldermen, and burgesses of Preston, for injuries sustained, on the 24th of February, 1891, by the Robin, owing to the alleged negligence of the defendants, in their capacity of the Preston Port and Harbour Authority, in not keeping the bed of the harbour of Preston in a proper and safe state for a vessel to ground upon at low water.

The defendants, by their defence, alleged (inter alia) that the damage was occasioned by the inherent weakness and unfitness of the vessel to take the ground with the cargo she had on board.

The trial of the action lasted the greater part of four days, and, owing to the nature of the defence set up, several engineers and surveyors were called on both sides, who produced plans in support of their respective views as to the strength and construction of the vessel.

In the result, the learned judge, after consultation with the Trinity Masters, gave judgment for the plaintiffs, on the ground that the injuries sustained by the Robin were due to the vessel settling on a ridge of gravel left by the negligence of the defendants in the berth allotted to the vessel under the superintendence of the harbour master.

On the question of costs:—

Barnes, Q.C., and Joseph Walton, for the plaintiffs:—Order LXV., r. 9, of the Rules of the Supreme Court as to costs on the higher scale applies. In considering whether the costs of a cause shall be awarded upon the higher scale, the Court will have regard to the manner in which the case has been prepared and conducted at the trial:—see per Kekewich, J., at p. 374 Davies v. Davies (36 Ch. Div. 359). Here the trial has occupied considerable time, and the nature of the defence has involved the plaintiffs in much labour in preparing for trial. It has also necessitated calling several scientific witnesses and the preparation of a number of plans.

Sir Walter Phillimore, and F. W. Raikes, for the defendants.

JEUNE, J.:—There will be an order for costs on the higher scale. The case is special in its nature, as it has involved the calling of a number of scientific witnesses and the preparation of plans.

Judgment for plaintiffs, with costs on the higher scale.

A solicitor who has been exonerated by the Statutory Committee of the Incorporated Society on an inquiry, under sects. 12 and 13 of the Solicitors Act, 1888, into charges of misconduct alleged against him, is entitled to apply to the Court to have his costs of the inquiry paid by the party who has made the improper charges; and the Court has jurisdiction to make an order for his costs accordingly, even though no further proceedings have been taken by the Society beyond filing the report of the Committee at the central office under sect. 13.

MICHIELS v. EMPIRE PALACE COMPANY.

Practice—Security for Costs—Foreigner—Temporary Residence in United Kingdom—Rules of Supreme Court, 1883, Order LXV., r. 6 (a)

Appeal from Divisional Court.

The action was for damages for breach of contract. The plaintiff was a Frenchman, and came to England in November last as manager of a French theatrical company. He alleged that his company had been engaged by the defendants for a series of performances, but had been wrongfully dismissed. He then commenced this action. The defendants applied to Pollock, B., for an order on the plaintiff to give security for costs under the Rules of the Supreme Court, 1883, Order LXV., r. 6 (a), which says that "A plaintiff ordinarily resident out of the jurisdiction may be ordered to give security for costs, though he may be temporarily resident within the jurisdiction." The affidavit of the defendants stated that the plaintiff was ordinarily resident in Paris, where his wife and children were, and that he was only temporarily resident in this country, and that he had no means of paying the defendants' costs, or any property in this country.

In reply, the plaintiff in his affidavit said: "My wife has not come to England yet, as she is nursing my daughter, who is ill in Paris," and that he had two other children, one being an officer in the Belgian army, and the other having been sent to Switzerland on account of his delicate health. Then he went on to say: "I came to England on November 2nd last, for the purpose of bringing out an opera of which I am the composer. I am now entirely engaged in this matter and in other business of a musical nature. I am now living at 17, Maddox Street, Regent Street, and I have no present intention of returning to France or of leaving England, and shall in all probability permanently remain in England. My present engagements alone would prevent my leaving England for nearly twelve months, even if I desired to do so."

Pollock, B., refused to make the order, and the Divisional Court, on appeal, affirmed that decision.

The defendants now appealed from the decision of the Divisional Court.

W. Willis, Q.C., and Bremner, for the appellants.

T. Terrell, for the plaintiff, was not called upon.

THE COURT (Lindley and Kay, L.JJ.), said the words in the rule, "temporarily resident within the jurisdiction," had a elastic meaning. The real object of the rule was to cover a case in which a foreigner ordinarily resident out of jurisdiction would not be here when he was wanted. In the ordinary case of an Englishman who could not pay, he would not be ordered to give security for costs, and there was no reason why foreigner in a similar position should be ordered to give security. Having regard to the plaintiff's statements in his affidavit, the Court thought that Pollock, B., was quite right in declining to make an order to give security for costs, and therefore the appeal must be dismissed, with costs.

In re GOVERNMENTS STOCK INVESTMENT COMPANY.

Company—Alteration of Memorandum—Objects—Extension of Business—Dissentient Minority—Conditions—The Companies (Memorandum of Association) Act, 1890, s. 1, sub-ss. 3, 5 (a) (d).

The memorandum of association of the above-named company stated its objects to be: (1) To raise money on deposit at interest; (2) To invest the money received from payments on shares in the stocks or obligations of British, Foreign, or Colonial governments, states, provinces, or municipalities, or of railways or other public undertakings, guaranteed by any British, Foreign, or Colonial government, state, province, or municipality. The company passed a special resolution to alter the memorandum by inserting immediately after (1), a power to borrow or raise money, or secure money already or hereafter borrowed, by the issue of perpetual or terminable debentures, charged on the undertaking and assets of the company by a trust deed; and also by adding a power after (2), to invest the moneys of the company on the security of, or otherwise to acquire and hold, any bonds, debentures, debenture stock, obligations, mortgages, or securities of any companies or corporations, formed or incorporated under British, Foreign, or Colonial law.

The company now presented a petition under the Companies (Memorandum of Association) Act, 1890, for the confirmation by the Court of this special resolution.

A somewhat similar application had been made and refused in March, 1891: see [1891] 1 Ch. 649.

Of the debenture stock holders who had expressed any opinion on the proposed alterations, eight-ninths assented, and one-ninth dissented.

Farwell, Q.C., and A. D. Maclaren, for the company.

Byrne, Q.C., and Disturnal, J. Chester, and R. B. Yardley, for debenture stock holders supporting the application.

R. F. Norton, for a debenture stock holder for 1000*l.*, opposed.

CHITTY, J., said the majority of debenture stock holders supporting the present application was much larger than that which supported the previous petition, and the alterations proposed were different; still the Court had to see whether the proposed alteration was within the scope of the statute and was also fair and reasonable. He considered that the proposed alteration, which enabled the company to give a better security to its debenture stock holders, was one which fell within sect. 1, sub-sect. 5 (a), as it enabled the company to carry on its business more efficiently; that the enlarged power of investment fell within sect. 1, sub-sect. 5 (d), as it would enable the company to carry on a business which could be conveniently and advantageously combined with the business of the company; and under these circumstances he thought it right to confirm the special resolution. His Lordship, however, suggested by way of condition to the making of the order, that the company should give the present debenture stock holders a floating charge on their assets within four months, and should also change the name of the company, by the addition of some further words, so that persons dealing with it might not be misled into supposing that its investments were confined to Government securities.

Easement—Light—Extinguishment of Easement.

This was a motion to restrain the erection of new buildings so as to interfere with the access of light to the plaintiffs' alleged ancient lights. The plaintiffs' premises were a warehouse erected in 1876 on the site of old buildings pulled down in 1872. The evidence shewed that the light which passed through some portions of the plaintiffs' existing buildings passed through some parts of the space formerly occupied by windows of the ancient tenements; but the plaintiffs could not shew which portion of any new window corresponded with any portion of the old window.

Stirling, J. In re HOWARD'S SETTLED ESTATES. Feb. 13, 18.

Improvement of Land Act, 1864 (27 & 28 Vict. c. 114), s. 60—Settled Land Act, 1882 (45 & 46 Vict. c. 38), s. 21, sub-ss. 2, 3—The Settled Land Acts (Amendment) Act, 1887 (50 & 51 Vict. c. 30), ss. 1, 3—Application of Capital Moneys—Improvements on Land—Purchase or Redemption of Rent Charges.

This was a summons by the tenant for life of certain settled lands for a declaration that upon the true construction of the Settled Land Acts (Amendment) Act, 1887, all capital moneys applied by the surviving trustee of the settlement in the purchase of certain rent charges should be deemed to have been applied in improvements authorized by the Settled Land Act, 1882, and that the applicant or other the person beneficially entitled to the settled estate was under no liability to make any repayment to the trustee in respect of the rent charges, and that the same ought to be deemed to have merged for the benefit of the inheritance: and that the trustee might be ordered to pay to the applicant the repayments already made by the applicant to him in respect of the said rent charges, or that directions might be given for the redemption of the rent charges by the trustee out of further capital moneys now in his hands.

It seemed that between 1881 and 1885 the tenant for life, under the Land Improvement Act, borrowed divers sums of money for the purpose of executing "improvements" on the estate within the meaning of the Settled Land Act, the repayment of which sums was secured by rent charges under the Act, in the common form, without any proviso or contract for redemption. At various times between 1883 and 1885 some of these rent charges were bought up by the trustee under sect. 60 of the Improvement of Land Act, 1864, and became vested in him. Subsequently, in 1888, upon the sale of portions of the settled estate, comprising the lands on which the improvements were effected, the rent charges were, under the powers of the Settled Land Act, shifted from the portions sold to other part of the estate.

By sect. 21, sub-sect. 2, of the Settled Land Act, 1882, capital money under the Act may be applied in discharge, purchase, or redemption of incumbrances affecting the inheritance of the settled land; and by sub-sect. 3, in payment of any improvement authorized by the Act.

The Settled Land Acts (Amendment) Act, 1887, provides (sect. 1) that where any improvement authorized by the Act of 1882 "has been or may be made either before or after the passing of this Act, and a rent charge . . . has been or may be created in pursuance of any Act of Parliament with the object of paying off any moneys advanced for . . . such improvement, any capital money expended in redeeming such rent-charge, or otherwise providing for the payment thereof, shall be deemed to be applied in payment for an improvement authorized by the Act of 1882;" and sect. 3 enacts that the Act is to be construed as one with the Settled Land Act, 1882.

Carson, for the tenant for life, contended that the Act of 1887 was retrospective, and that he was entitled to a declaration and to payment in the terms of the summons, or at all events, that provision should be made for the rent charges.

R. J. Parker, for the trustee, contended that the Act was not retrospective; that the moneys in question had been applied by the trustee in the purchase of the rent-charges as an investment, and not by way of redemption; and that as the whole of the improved lands had been sold, the expenses of the improvement could not now be paid out of capital moneys.

Cur. adv. vult.

Feb. 18. STIRLING, J., said, that what had been done prior to the Act of 1887 was an expenditure of capital money by way of investment under sect. 60 of the Act of 1864, and not a redemption of the rent charges, which remained on foot and payable by the tenant for life. So far as the application related to past transactions it was not brought within the Act of 1887. His Lordship was not satisfied that sect. 1 of that Act was meant to be retrospective, and he could not direct the trustee to recoup the tenant for life, out of capital money, his payments made between 1882 and 1887. Upon the question whether he could direct provision to be made for payment of the rent charges unpaid when the act passed, in the present case the lands improved had been sold; and although there would have been great doubt whether, under the Act of 1882, capital moneys could be applied in payment for improvements on lands no longer in settlement, what His Lordship was dealing with was the Act of 1887; and it seemed to him that the application came within the language of that Act. He accordingly directed that the instalments of rent charges which remained due at the passing of the Act of 1887 should be provided for out of capital moneys.

Kekewich, J. In re ADAMS' TRADE-MARK. Feb. 26.

This was an application under sect. 92 of the Patents, Designs, and Trade Marks Act, 1883, by one Adams, the proprietor of an old trade-mark used for many years before 1875, and subsequently registered under the Trade Marks Act, 1875, in connection with furniture polish, for leave to alter the registered mark by striking out the word "Patent," the principal portion of the mark or label consisting of the words "J. Adams's Patent Composition for Cleaning and Polishing Furniture, &c.," with the signature "John Adams" at the foot. There was, in fact, no patent in existence, or, at least, it could not be traced, the business having been carried on and the labels used by the applicant's predecessor as far back as 1832. This application was made in consequence of the applicant finding it impossible to restrain infringements through his being unable to prove that a "patent" existed for the article. [See Patents, Designs, and Trade Mark Acts, 1883, s. 105, and Merchandise Marks Act, 1887, ss. 2, 3, sub-s. 1 (e).]

Warmington, Q.C., and J. Cutler, for the applicant, contended that sect. 92 applied to old marks as well as to new, and that the word "patent" might be struck out as "not being an essential particular" of the mark, and as its omission would in no way deceive the public.

Sir R. Webster, A.G., and Ingle Joyce, for the Comptroller-General of Patents, were not called upon.

KEKEWICH, J., said, that if he were to accede to the application he should be acting against the decision of Chitty, J., in In re Phillips' Trade-marks ([1891] 3 Ch. 139). The meaning of sect. 92 was, and the practice had been, to allow some deviation from an old mark as used; but in all substantial particulars an old mark must be registered and stand as it was before 1875. He was now asked to strike out the word "patent." The applicant had very good reason for wishing to alter the mark, for he found he had not got a patent, and it was not uncommon, in cases of alleged infringement, to refuse relief to persons advertising, as "patent," articles which were not protected by a patent. Sect. 92 might possibly include an old mark; but the section gave the Court a discretion to refuse or grant leave to add to or alter a trade-mark, and the Court must, therefore, look into the whole case before it and see whether the proposed addition or alteration was in "an essential particular" or not. An old mark so proposed to be altered must be a good mark and not liable to be attacked. In the present case the mark was not a good mark, and it would be departing from the rule to say that a mark which was not a good trade-mark should be registered as such. The application must be refused, with costs.

DIXON AND OTHERS v. CALCRAFT.

Ship—Provisional Detention of by Board of Trade as unsafe—Absence of "reasonable and probable cause by reason of condition of ship"—"Compensation for loss or damage sustained by reason of detention"—Damage to Reputation of Shipowner—Merchant Shipping Act, 1876 (39 & 40 Vict. c. 80), s. 6, sub-s. (1), 10.

Application to enter judgment for defendant or for new trial.

The action was by shipowners against the secretary to the Board of Trade for expenses and compensation for damage sustained by reason of the provisional detention of the plaintiffs' ship by the Board of Trade at Liverpool.

By the Merchant Shipping Act, 1876 (39 & 40 Vict. c. 80), s. 6, sub-s. 1, "the Board of Trade, if they have reason to believe on complaint, or otherwise that a British ship is unsafe, may provisionally order the detention of the ship for the purpose of being surveyed." By sect. 10 of the Act, "if it appears that there was not reasonable and probable cause, by reason of the condition of the ship or the act or default of the owner, for the provisional detention of the ship, the Board of Trade shall be liable to pay to the owner of the ship his costs of and incidental to the detention and survey of the ship, and also compensation for any loss or damage sustained by him by reason of the detention or survey."

The Board of Trade had provisionally detained the plaintiffs' ship in the belief that she was overloaded so as to be unsafe, which, however, was not really the case. It was admitted that they acted within the power given by sect. 6, sub-s. 1, but that there was not reasonable and probable cause by reason of the condition of the vessel for her detention, so that sect. 10 applied. The defendant paid into Court the full amount claimed for expenses and pecuniary loss caused by the detention of the ship; but in addition to that the plaintiffs claimed general damages in respect of injury to their reputation as shipowners by the detention of the vessel as being overloaded. There was no evidence given of any specific pecuniary damage to plaintiffs' business under this head. The learned judge at the trial left this head of damage to the jury, and they awarded the plaintiffs 100*l.* in respect thereof.

Sir R. Webster, A.G., and Gully, Q.C., H. Sutton, and T. G. Carver with them, for the defendant, contended that damage for loss of reputation was not recoverable under the terms of the 10th section of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1876.

Bigham, Q.C., and A. G. Steel, for the plaintiffs, contrâ.

THE COURT (Lord Esher, M.R., Fry, L.J., and Lopes, L.J.) held that the damages claimed in respect of injury to the plaintiffs' reputation could not be recovered under sect. 10, and therefore entered judgment for defendant.

In re DUNCAN.
Ex parte OFFICIAL RECEIVER.

Bankruptcy—Trustee—Employment of Solicitor—Costs—Taxation—Official Receiver acting as Trustee—Limited Authority from Board of Trade to employ Solicitor—Bankruptcy Act, 1883, ss. 22, sub-s. 9; 54, sub-s. 1; 57, sub-s. 3; 73, sub-s. 3—Bankruptcy Rules, 1886, rr. 117, 337.

Appeal by the official receiver against an order of Vaughan Williams, J., to review the taxation of the costs of his solicitors in the bankruptcy.

The creditors did not appoint a trustee or a committee of inspection, and by virtue of sect. 54, sub-sect. 1, of the Bankruptcy Act, 1883, the official receiver became trustee. The official receiver made four separate applications to the Board of Trade for authority to employ a solicitor, stating in each case the nature of the business for which a solicitor was required, and that the solicitor would look to the estate for costs, and stating also the maximum amount of costs, beyond which no expense would be incurred without further application. In three of the applications the maximum was 50*l.*; in the fourth, 100*l.*; the total being 250*l.* The Board of Trade approved all the applications as charges against the bankrupt's estate. Ultimately the creditors were paid in full, and the bankruptcy was annulled. The official receiver's solicitors delivered their bill of costs, and on taxation it was allowed at 506*l.* The bankrupt applied to the Court to review the taxation, on the ground that only the 250*l.* which the Board of Trade had sanctioned, could be allowed against the estate. Vaughan Williams, J., held that only 250*l.* could be allowed. The official receiver appealed.

Sir E. Clarke, S.G., and H. Sutton, for the appellant.

French, Q.C., and Ringwood, for the bankrupt.

THE COURT (Lord Esher, M.R., and Lopes and Fry, L.JJ.), dismissed the appeal. They held that, if there were a committee of inspection and a trustee, sect. 57, sub-sect. 3, would empower the committee, in giving permission to the trustee to employ a solicitor, to limit the amount of costs which might be incurred. There being no committee of inspection, the Board of Trade stood in the same position as a committee, and had the same powers and duties, and, there being no trustee, the official receiver stood in the position of a trustee. The Board of Trade could, therefore, limit the amount of costs to be paid out of the estate to the solicitor employed by the official receiver; and in the present case they had clearly done so Only the 250*l.* which the Board had sanctioned could be allowed out of the estate. Possibly the official receiver might be personally liable to the solicitors for the extra costs; but that was not the present question.

Practice—Defect of Parties—Rules of Supreme Court, 1883, Order XVI., r. 11; Order XXVIII., r. 11; Order XLI., r. 3.

This was a beneficiary's action for the administration of the personal estate of a testator, and partition or sale of real estate devised by the testator. Judgment had been passed and entered. In the prosecution of inquiries in chambers, it was discovered that an executor named Baldwin, who had not proved at first, had come in and proved, and ought therefore to have been a party.

R. Watson, for the plaintiff, moved to have the judgment and pleadings amended by adding Baldwin as a defendant.

E. S. Ford, for the defendants and Baldwin, was willing to consent.

NORTH, J., considered that the better course was to make an order, that John Clayton Baldwin appearing by counsel and submitting to be bound by the judgment in the same manner as if he had been originally made a party to the action, further proceedings be carried on against him in the same manner as if he had been an original defendant to the actions.

Stirling, J. In re CARDIFF SAVINGS BANK. Feb. 2, 24.
MARQUIS OF BUTE'S CASE.

Savings Bank—Winding-up—Trustee and Manager—Non-compliance with Rules—Neglect or Omission—Liability—Trustee Savings Banks Act, 1863 (26 & 27 Vict. c. 87), s. 11.

This was a summons taken out by the liquidator in the winding up of the bank asking that the Marquis of Bute, who was president of the bank, might be declared to be personally liable for his neglect or omission in complying with the rules of the bank as to the maintenance of checks and the audit and examination of the accounts; and that an inquiry might be directed to ascertain what sum he ought to contribute to the assets of the bank by way of compensation.

The bank was formed in 1819, and reconstituted after the passing of the Trustee Savings Banks Act of 1863 under certified rules. It suspended payment in 1886 in consequence of the frauds and defalcations of its actuary, who had abstracted about 30,000*l.* from its funds.

Section 11 of the Act of 1863, provides that no trustee or manager of any savings bank is to be personally liable except (1) for moneys actually received by him for the savings bank and not paid over and disposed of according to the rules (2) for neglect or omission in complying with the rules required to be adopted in the maintenance of checks, the audit and examination of accounts, the holding of meetings, and keeping minutes of proceedings; and (3) for neglect or omission in taking security from officers.

It was admitted that the Marquis was president, but he had presided at one meeting only, and had never taken any active part in the management of the bank. It was also admitted that the rules had not been complied with; but it was alleged on behalf of the Marquis that he was ignorant of this.

It had already been held in Davies' Case (45 Ch. Div. 537), that Davies, who was a trustee and manager of the bank, and had taken an active part in the management of its affairs, and had knowledge of the irregularities, was liable, under sect. 165 of the Companies Act, 1862, to make compensation on the ground of misfeasance.

Sir R. Webster, A.G., Fischer, Q.C., and Ingle Joyce, for the official liquidator.

Sir H. James, Q.C., and Vaughan Hawkins, for the Marquis of Bute.

STIRLING, J., said, that assuming that the Marquis was to be regarded as a trustee and manager, neglect or omission to attend meetings was not the same thing as neglect or omission of a duty which ought to be performed at such meetings. If the Marquis had had knowledge or notice either that no meetings of trustees or managers were being held, or that a duty which ought to be discharged at those meetings was not being performed, it might be right to hold that he was guilty of neglect or omission of the duty. He had, however, received circulars and reports issued by the bank which entitled him to conclude that the duties undertaken by his co-trustees and co-managers were duly performed; and to hold him liable would be to fix him with liability for the neglect and omission of others rather than his own.

The application must be refused.

In re EDDYSTONE MARINE INSURANCE COMPANY.
Ex parte WESTERN INSURANCE COMPANY.

Marine Insurance Companies—Reinsurance—Contract to "pay as may be paid" on Original Policy—Non-payment of Original Assured by Reinsured—Liability of Reinsurers—Winding-up.

The Western Insurance Company having insured a ship, reinsured part of their risk with the Eddystone Insurance Company, and duly paid them the premiums. The reinsurance policy issued by the Eddystone Company contained the following clause, "Being a reinsurance applying to the lines of the Western Insurance Company, policy No. , subject to the same terms and conditions as the original policy, and to pay as may be paid thereon." Both companies went into liquidation. This was a summons taken out in the winding-up of the Eddystone Company upon a claim made by the liquidator of the Western Company, and for the purposes of the application it was to be assumed that the vessel insured had sustained damage, and that the Western Company had become liable to pay on their original policy of assurance, but had as yet paid nothing thereon. It was contended by the liquidator of the Eddystone Company that under the clause above mentioned his company were liable to pay to the Western Company the proper rateable proportion of any dividend which might be paid by the Western Company to the original assured, but only when, and not until, such dividend has been actually declared and paid. The liquidator of the Western Company contended that the liability of the reinsurers, who had been duly paid their premiums, ought not to be measured by the solvency or insolvency of their reinsured, and that such liability accrued immediately on the accruing of the liability of the reinsured.

Joseph Walton, for the liquidator of the Western Company:—Actual payment by the original insurers to their assured is not a condition precedent to payment by the reinsurers to the reinsured.

Hastings, Q.C., and A. W. Rowden, for the liquidator of the Eddystone Company. The contract is one of indemnity only, and under the words "to pay as may be paid thereon," payment by the reinsured is a condition precedent to payment by the reinsurers.

Walton, in reply.

Cur. adv. vult.

Feb. 27. STIRLING, J., said, that the words "to pay as may be paid thereon" would be satisfied if held to mean that the payment to be made on the reinsurance policy was to be regulated by that to be made on the original policy, and could not be intended to mean that before the reinsured obtained the benefit of his reinsurance he must himself have paid on the original insurance, even though bankruptcy might be the result. His Lordship accordingly held, that the contention of the liquidator of the Western Company must prevail, and that payment by his company was not a condition precedent to his recovering against the Eddystone Company.

WALLROTH, APP.;
ROPER AND THE OOREGUM GOLD MINING COMPANY OF INDIA, LIMITED, RESPS.

Company—Issue of Shares at a Discount—Companies Act 1862 s. 8—Companies Act 1867 s. 25.

The question raised by these consolidated appeals was whether a company limited by shares, formed and registered under the Act of 1862, can issue its shares fully paid up for a money consideration less than their nominal value. The memorandum of association provided that the original or increased capital might be divided into different classes and issued with such preference, privilege, guarantee, or conditions as the company might direct.

NORTH J. and the Court of Appeal following the decision of the Court of Appeal in In re Almada and Tirito Company (38 Ch 415) without argument declared that the issue by the company of preferred shares of 1*l.* each at a discount of 15*s.* per share was ultrà vires, and that the shares were held subject to the liability to pay to the company in cash so much of the 1*l.* per share as had not been paid, and ordered the register to be rectified accordingly. The question arose not in a winding-up, but in an action by Roper on behalf of the ordinary shareholders against tehe company and Wallroth, who represented the preference shareholders.

Sir H. Davey Q.C. and Grosvenor Woods for the company.

Rigby Q.C. and Bramwell Davis for Wallroth.

Cozens-Hardy Q.C. and Mulligan for Roper.

THE HOUSE (Lord Halsbury L.C. and Lords Watson, Macnaghten, and Morris) after consideration affirmed the decision of the Court of Appeal and dismissed the appeals with costs. Lord Herschell, while agreeing that a company cannot issue its shares at a discount so as to exonerate those taking the shares from the liability in case of a winding up to pay the amount not already paid on the shares, would have thought (had the point been insisted on at the Bar) that the company was not entitled to call upon the preference shareholders for any further payment beyond that agreed upon, except in the case of a winding up, and then only so far as necessary for the discharge of the company's obligations and the costs of the winding up.

PICKERING PHIPPS v. THE LONDON AND NORTH WESTERN RAILWAY COMPANY.

Railway Company—Traffic Management—Undue Preference—Lower Mileage Rates—Rival Manufacturers—Access to Competing Lines—Railway and Canal Traffic Act, 1854 (17 & 18 Vict. c. 31), s. 2—Railway and Canal Traffic Act, 1888 (51 & 52 Vict. c. 25), ss. 27, 28.

By the Railway and Canal Traffic Act, 1854, s. 2, railway companies are to afford all reasonable facilities for receiving and forwarding traffic without giving any undue or unreasonable preference or advantage to any person, and without any unreasonable delay. By the Act of 1888, sect. 27, whenever it is shown that any railway company charge one trader or set of traders lower tolls for the same or similar merchandise or services than they charge to other traders or classes of traders, or make any difference of treatment in respect of such traders, the burden of proving that such lower charge or difference in treatment does not amount to an undue preference is to lie on the railway company; and by sect. 29 any railway company may, for the purpose of fixing their rates for the carriage of merchandise, group together any number of places in the same district at various distances and charge a uniform rate in respect thereof, provided that the distances are not unreasonable and no undue preference is created.

The plaintiffs were the executors of an owner of iron furnaces at D., sixty miles from the market, and they complained that the London and North Western Railway Company had given an undue preference to the owners of certain furnaces at B. and I., which were respectively seventy-one and eighty miles from the market, in charging them a lower rate per ton per mile for the carriage of their pig-iron to the market than they charged the plaintiffs, so that the plaintiffs had to pay more than they would have had to pay if the same mileage had been charged in each case, and lost the benefit of being nearer the market.

The London and North Western Railway Company contended that, as both B. and I. had access to a rival railway, the Midland, the rates charged were necessary to enable the company to maintain their competition with the Midland.

The Railway Commissioners held, that in fixing these mileage rates the competition of the London and North Western Company with the Midland Railway Company was a circumstance which might be taken into account, and that no sufficient case of undue preference had been made out against the London and North Western Railway Company.

The plaintiffs now appealed upon this point of law.

Sir H. James, Q.C.; Littler, Q.C.; Percy Gye; and Waghorn; for the appellants.

Sir R. E. Webster, A.G.; Cripps, Q.C.; and Ernest Moon; for the respondents.

THE COURT (Lord Herschell, and Lindley and Kay, L.JJ.) said that they did not see why the position of a trader who had the advantage of two competing railway routes should not be taken into account; and they held that, whether the Act of 1854 was looked at by itself or in conjunction with the Act of 1888, it was impossible to say that there was any rule of law which absolutely excluded the consideration of competition when determining whether a lower mileage rate was an undue preference or not.

The appeal was accordingly dismissed.

Slander—Town Councillor—Imputation of Drunkenness and Unfitness for Office.

This was an appeal by the defendant from a judgment of Grantham, J., on the trial of the action by a jury. In October, 1890, the plaintiff had been elected to the office of town councillor at Salisbury, and after the election, but before the plaintiff had entered upon his office, the defendant spoke the following words of the plaintiff: "He is never sober, and is not a fit man for the council." There was no proof of special damage. The jury found a verdict for the plaintiff, with 50*l.* damages, and the judge gave judgment accordingly.

McCall, Q.C., and Macaskie, for the appellant.

Channell, Q.C., and E. Morten, for the plaintiff.

LORD HERSCHELL said that the words spoken could not be taken as mere words of abuse, but as imputing to the plaintiff that he was an habitual drunkard and unfit for his office. The charge was, however, not of misconduct in the office to which he had been elected, for he had not yet entered upon its duties, but of unfitness for it. If the office had been one of profit, it was clear that an imputation of want of fitness for it was sufficient to support an action of slander; but it was different with respect to offices not of profit, but of credit and honour. In such cases it had been held that, in the absence of proof of special damage, an action would not lie unless it was such an imputation as, if true, would be a ground for removing him from his office. This was an intelligible principle, although not altogether satisfactory. In the present case the Court was asked to extend the law to a case where the imputation, if true, would not have been a ground for depriving the plaintiff of his office. In his opinion the Court ought not to do that. The judgment must be set aside and entered for the defendant; but the action would be dismissed without costs.

Lunatic—Stock—Vesting Order—Jurisdiction—County Court—Lunacy Act, 1890 (53 & 54 Vict. c. 5), ss. 132, 133.

Appeal against a decision of a Divisional Court (Mathew and A. L. Smith, JJ.), ([1892] 1 Q. B. 97).

The question was, whether, under sect. 132 of the Lunacy Act, 1890, a county court had jurisdiction, in the case of a pauper lunatic whose total property was of less value than 200*l.*, to order the Bank of England to transfer to the clerk to the guardians of the union a sum of Consolidated Annuities, which was standing in the name of the lunatic in the books of the Bank, the lunatic being the beneficial owner of the stock. The Divisional Court held that the county court had no jurisdiction to make the order. The clerk to the guardians appealed.

Finlay, Q.C., and E. Morten, for the appellant.

Latham, Q.C., and Howard Wright, for the Bank of England, were not called upon.

THE COURT (Lord Esher, M.R., and Fry and Lopes, L.JJ.) affirmed the decision. They said that, even if the words of sect. 132 were of themselves large enough to include stock, of which they expressed doubt, still as the next section (133) dealt expressly with "stock," it was plain that "stock" was not intended to be dealt with under sect. 132. It could only be dealt with under sect. 133, and under that section a vesting order must be made by the judge having jurisdiction in Lunacy, not by the county court.

Settled Land Act, 1882 (45 & 46 Vict. c. 38), ss. 21, 34—Purchase money of Freehold Reversion—Investment on Leaseholds—Tenant for Life and Remainderman—Application of Income.

Freehold ground-rents were, with other property, settled by will on a tenant for life, with remainders over. The tenant for life sold these ground-rents, under the Settled Land Act, 188[illegible] and the purchase-money was paid to the trustees. At the time of the sale, the ground-rents produced an income of about 400*l.* per annum, and the leases had about thirty-five years to run. The trustees invested the proceeds of sale, pursuant to sect. 21, on the direction of the tenant for life, in the purchase of leaseholds having more than sixty years unexpired, whereby the income of this part of the property was more than doubled. The remainderman contended, that the tenant for life was not entitled to receive the whole of the increased income, and that a portion of it ought, in accordance with sect. 34, to be accumulated for the benefit of the inheritance.

Byrne, Q.C., and T. H. Robertson, for the remainderman.

Farwell, Q.C., and Benn, for the tenant for life, argued that as the fund was not in Court, the Court had no jurisdiction to interfere, and that the trustees had no right to withhold from the tenant for life any portion of the income arising from a duly authorized investment.

Medd, for the trustees, stated that they were willing to exercise their discretion, but were in some doubt as to the proper way of exercising it.

CHITTY, J., held, that the Court had jurisdiction to interfere in this matter; that the trustees ought to apply the income arising from the investment in leaseholds in such a way (following the wording of sect. 34) as to give to the parties interested the like benefit as they might lawfully have had from the reversion in respect whereof the purchase-money had arisen or as near thereto as might be; and intimated, that the duty of the trustees would be to ascertain the exact amount of the income received by the tenant for life from the ground-rents sold, and then to pay the tenant for life the same amount of income during the residue of the period (thirty-five years) for which the ground-rents were received, and to accumulate the residue.

In re REVERSIONARY INTEREST SOCIETY.

Company—Alteration of Deed of Settlement — Confirmation by Court—Deed of Settlement modified by Private Act—Companies (Memorandum of Association) Act, 1890, ss. 1, 3.

Petition by the above society for the confirmation by the Court, under the Companies (Memorandum of Association) Act, 1890, of a special resolution for the alteration of the deed of settlement of the society.

The society was constituted in 1823 by a deed of settlement, which provided that the object and business of the society should be to purchase reversionary interests of every description in real and personal property (except advowsons and next presentations), and also to purchase life or other partial interests, the reversions expectant on which might have been previously purchased by the society, and also to purchase life policies of insurance. In 1845 a private Act was passed, which empowered the society to increase its capital; and this was done in 1846. In 1857 another private Act was passed, which provided that the society might purchase life and other partial interests of every description in real and personal property, whether vested or contingent, so as the interests to be so purchased should be either to determine or to take effect upon the decease of a person or persons, except interests in advowsons and next presentations to ecclesiastical benefices, but including rents and annuities of every description given or granted for a life or lives, or for a term or terms of years and determinable upon the dropping of a live or lives; and that the society might lend money as well upon real security as upon the security of any interest in real or personal property which the society was authorized to purchase by the deed of settlement or by this Act. In 1880 the society was registered as a company with limited liability under the Companies Act, 1862. In 1891 a special resolution was passed and confirmed, in accordance with sect. 51 of the Companies Act, 1862, to add the following clause to the deed of settlement: "That the society may from time to time borrow and raise money for the purposes of the society's business, and secure the repayment thereof by bonds, debentures, debenture stock, or mortgage debentures, perpetual or determinable (payable to bearer or otherwise), and with or without a trust deed, and for this purpose may mortgage or charge the undertaking and all or any of the property of the society, including its capital for the time being uncalled; provided that the total indebtedness of the society under this clause shall not at any time exceed the amount of the paid-up capital of the society for the time being." The proposed alteration did not affect any of the provisions of the private Acts. Advertisements had been issued for creditors, and all the creditors had expressed their assent.

Cozens-Hardy, Q.C., and Eastwood, for the petitioners.

NORTH, J., confirmed the resolution. He held that, notwithstanding the private Acts, the deed of settlement came within the definition contained in sect. 3 of the Act of 1890, and that consequently he had jurisdiction. He held, also, that the proposed alteration came within sub-sect. 5 (a) of sect. 1 of the Act.

Practice—Equitable Execution — Procedure — Rules of Supreme Court, 1883, Order XLII., r. 28; Order L., 15A.

Two of the defendants were trustees who had been ordered to pay to the plaintiffs certain costs. This was a motion on the part of the plaintiffs to obtain the appointment of a receiver (by way of equitable execution) of an equity of redemption belonging to those defendants. It was objected that the application should have been made by summons in chambers.

Method, for the plaintiffs.

Oswald, for the respondents.

NORTH, J., considered that in this case he ought to allow the plaintiffs costs, because it had been usual to make such applications as the present by motion, and because he was not satisfied that additional costs had been incurred by reason of the application having been made by motion and not by summons. But in a future case, where such an application was made by motion, he should consider whether the applicant ought to be paid the whole of his costs.

Company—Deed of Settlement—Supplementary Deed—Irregularities in Execution—Filing of Deed by Registrar of Joint Stock Companies—Subsequent Registration of Company under Companies Act, 1862—Validity of Deed—Setting aside—Companies Act, 1862 (25 & 26 Vict. c. 89), ss. 183, 191–196, 209.

In this action the plaintiff sought to have his name put on the register of shareholders of the Briton Medical and General Life Association, Limited, and to have the supplementary deed of constitution of the company delivered up and cancelled, on the ground that it was executed in fraud, and was not binding on the company or its members.

The defendants were the directors of the company.

The company was constituted by a deed of settlement in 1854, and registered under the Act 7 & 8 Vict. c. 110. It was afterwards registered under the Companies Act, 1862, as a company limited by shares. In 1886 a winding-up petition was presented against the company; but no order was made, and a scheme for reduction of the company's contracts was settled, and confirmed by the Court in June, 1887. In February, 1888, the plaintiff purchased certain shares in the company from J. S.; but the company declined to register the deed of transfer on the ground that J. S. was indebted to the company, and that under the deed of settlement they were entitled to a lien upon his shares. The supplementary deed was approved and confirmed at meetings of the shareholders in 1860, and in 1861 it was put upon the file by the Registrar of Joint Stock Companies. The plaintiff alleged that there had been gross irregularities in the proceedings of the company relating to the execution of the supplementary deed, and that it was in fact a nullity. The defendants did not dispute that there had been irregularities, but contended that the validity of the deed could not now be disputed.

The plaintiff in person.

Hastings, Q.C., Danckwerts, and Courthope-Munroe, for the defendants.

STIRLING, J., held, that the effect of registration under the Companies Act, 1862, was to constitute a new company with the deed of settlement in the place of a memorandum and articles of association. The supplementary deed was voidable only, and might, perhaps, if fraudulent, have been set aside if proper steps had been taken at the proper time. But it was not shewn to have been fraudulent, and had been on the file since 1861. During that period it had been held out to the world as part of the company's constitution, and on the faith of it policy-holders and others had dealt with the company, and shares had been bought and sold. Under these circumstances, it must now be treated as binding.

On the question of the company's lien upon the shares bought by the plaintiff, his Lordship held, on the evidence, that J. S. was indebted to the company, and that at the time such debt was incurred the company had no notice of the purchase by the plaintiff. The company were, therefore, entitled to the lien claimed, and the plaintiff was not entitled to be put upon the register.

Settled Land Acts—Tenant by the Curtesy—Building Lease—Deed operating as exercise of Statutory Power—Trustees of Settlement, Absence of—Notice—"Dealing in Good Faith"—Settled Land Act, 1882, ss. 6, 20, 45, 53—Settled Land Act, 1884, s. 8.

W. G. Hoskins, being at the time only tenant by the curtesy, purported, as absolute owner, by deed to grant a building lease dated the 31st of October, 1884, to the plaintiff Mogridge, but without any reference to the Settled Land Acts. Mogridge made no inquiry into Hoskins's title and believed him to be owner in fee simple. Mogridge having contracted to sell the lease to the defendant Clapp, the latter refused to complete, on the ground that the lease granted by Hoskins was not binding against the persons entitled after Hoskins's death. Mogridge then brought this action for specific performance of his contract with Clapp.

Sect. 8 of the Settled Land Act, 1884, enacts, that "for the purposes of the Act of 1882, the estate of a tenant by the curtesy is to be deemed an estate arising under a settlement made by his wife."

Sect. 20 of the Settled Land Act, 1882, provides that a tenant for life's deed, "to the extent and in the manner to and in which it is expressed or intended to operate and can operate under this Act, is effectual to pass the land conveyed."

The lease was one which complied with the regulations relating to building leases made by a tenant for life under the Act of 1882; but it was admitted that there were no trustees for the purposes of the Act in existence at the date of the lease, and consequently that no notices could have been given pursuant to sect. 45.

On behalf of the vendor, it was contended that the lease to him operated as a valid lease under sect. 20, though not so expressed; and that by sub-sect. 3 of sect. 45, as "a person dealing in good faith with the tenant for life," he was not concerned to inquire respecting the giving of the requisite notices under that section.

On behalf of the purchaser, it was contended that the lease was neither expressed nor really intended to operate under the Act; that by sect. 20 an actual intention on the part of the tenant for life was necessary to the exercise of the power, as was shewn also by sect. 53, which placed him in the position of a trustee; also that the absence of trustees of the settlement and the want of the necessary notices were fatal to the title.

Warmington, Q.C., and Upjohn, for the plaintiff.

Marten, Q.C., and Vernon R. Smith, for the defendant.

KEKEWICH, J., held, that the lease was, under the circumstances, intended to operate and could operate under the Act to convey the land within the meaning of sect. 20; and that with regard to the notices required by sect. 45, the vendor Mogridge, was protected by sub-sect. 3; that his title to the lease was accordingly a good one, and that he was entitled to judgment for specific performance.

Owing to a mistake made by the officials in its transmission, the rate of freight offered by the charterer had been misrepresented in the telegram which the shipbrokers had received from him.

Held, by DENMAN, J., in an action brought by the owners of the ship against the shipbrokers for breach of warranty of authority, that evidence of persons engaged in the business was admissible to explain the effect of the form of signature, that such evidence showed that it was commonly adopted in order to negative the implication of any further warranty by the agent than that he has received a telegram which, if correct, authorizes such a charter as that which he is signing, and that the shipbrokers were, therefore, not liable.

Industrial Society—Application of Profits—"Lawful Purpose"—Subscription to Strike Fund — Industrial and Provident Societies Act, 1876 (39 & 40 Vict. c. 45), s. 12, sub-s. 7.

Appeal from a judgment of Mathew and Smith, JJ. ([1892] 1 Q. B. 213) affirming the decision of the judge of the County Court of Huddersfield.

The Huddersfield Industrial Society was incorporated under the Industrial and Provident Societies Act, 1876. Rule 2 of the society's rules declared the objects of the society to be to carry on the trades of general dealers and of manufacturers farmers, and workers of mines and minerals, and to do anything permitted by the Industrial and Provident Societies Act, 1876. Rule 10 provided that the net profits of all business carried on by the society, after paying or providing for the expenses of management, interest on loans, &c., should from time to time be applied, by direction of the ordinary quarterly meeting, either to increase the capital, reserve fund, or business of the society, or to any lawful purpose, and the remainder, less any grant that might be made for educational purposes at any general meeting, should be divided among the members of the society in proportion to the amounts of those purchasers at the stores during the past half-year. The Industrial and Provident Societies Act, 1876, by sect. 12 enacts, that "the profits of the society may be applied to any lawful purpose." The society having made a grant of 20*l.* towards the funds of a local strike, the plaintiff brought this action to restrain such application of the society's money, and the county court judge decided in favour of the plaintiff, and his decision was affirmed by the Divisional Court.

Cohen, Q.C., and Edward Ford, for the appellants.

Lane, Q.C., and Bunting, for the respondent.

LORD HERSCHELL said, that whatever might be the extent of the meaning of "any lawful purpose" in sect. 12 of the Act the question here must depend upon the construction which ought to be put upon those words in rule 10 of the society's rules. It seemed clear to him that those words must be restricted to any of the lawful purposes of the society. This view was specially supported by the words that followed, making special references to grants for educational purposes, shewing that the previous words "any lawful purpose" did not in themselves cover educational purposes. He was of opinion that the decision of the Divisional Court was right, and the appeal must be dismissed.

LINDLEY and KAY, L.JJ., gave judgment to the same effect.

License — Public House — Renewal — Appeal from Refusal of Licensing Justices—"Court of Summary Jurisdiction"—Notice of Appeal to Clerk to Justices—Case, Power of Justices to state —Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1879 (42 & 43 Vict. c. 49), ss. 31, 33—Interpretation Act, 1889 (52 & 53 Vict. c. 63), s. 2, sub-s. 11.

The first of these cases was an appeal from the decision of the Queen's Bench Division (Lawrance and Wright, JJ.), granting a mandamus to quarter sessions to hear and determine an appeal from the refusal of licensing justices to renew a publican's license, reported supra p. 18, where the facts are stated. The question raised was whether, by virtue of sect. 13, sub-sect. 11, of the Interpretation Act, 1889, the licensing jus-acting under 9 Geo. 4, c. 61, were a "Court of summary jurisdiction" within the meaning of the Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1879, s. 31, which provides that notice of appeal shall be served on the clerk to the justices.

The Divisional Court held that they were.

The second case was an appeal from an order of the Queen's Bench Division (Hawkins and Wills, JJ.), directing justices to state a case shewing their grounds for refusing to renew a license under 9 Geo. 4, c. 61. The question raised in this case was really the same as that raised in the former case, being, whether by virtue of the Interpretation Act, 1889, s. 13, sub-s. 11, the licensing justices were a "Court of summary jurisdiction" for the purposes of sect. 33 of the Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1879, which gives such a Court power to state a case.

Sir R. E. Webster, A.G., and H. Sutton (A. Lewis and W. Daniell, with them), for the appellants.

Sir H. James, Q.C., and Lawson Walton, Q.C. (Poland, Q.C., and J. Paterson, with them), for the respondents in the first case.

Lumley Smith, Q.C., and J. Paterson (Glascodine, with them), for the respondents in the second case.

THE COURT (Lord Esher, M.R., Fry, L.J., and Lopes, L.J.), held, that the licensing justices were a "Court of summary jurisdiction" for the purposes of sects. 31 and 33 of the Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1879, and consequently the service of the notice of appeal on the clerk to the justices in the first case was good, and that there was power to state a case in the second. They, therefore dismissed the appeals.

Appeals dismissed.

Appeal by the Countess Russell, against an order of the President of the Divorce Court, dismissing with costs a summons by her solicitor for the taxation and payment by her husband, the respondent, Earl Russell, of her costs of the trial of the action, which was for divorce. The action was brought by her, and was dismissed at the trial in December, 1891, with costs to be paid by her. The wife's solicitor had obtained payment by the husband of the costs of the wife prior to the hearing. The costs of and incidental to the hearing were estimated at 350*l.*, and for this amount the husband, under an order for security of the Divorce Court, dated the 3rd of July, 1891, gave in that month a bond to the wife's solicitor, which was filed in the registry of the Court of Probate under rule 199 of the Rules of the Divorce Court.

The question was whether the wife's solicitor—who was unable to get his costs from her, she having no separate estate—was entitled to enforce payment of the bond as against the husband.

Lewis Coward (Sir E. Clarke, S.G., with him), for the appellant, the wife.

Sir Charles Russell, Q.C., and Bargrave Deane, for the husband.

THE COURT (Lindley and Kay, L.JJ.) held that the wife's solicitor had no right to an order giving him costs as against the husband; her solicitor had no independent right of his own against the husband, but, in point of law, claimed through the wife; and if the Court would not give her any costs against her husband, her solicitor could get none. Notwithstanding that the bond was, in form, given to the solicitor and not to the wife, the principle established both at Common Law and in Equity prevailed in the Divorce Court, namely, that a solicitor had no greater rights than his client to costs from that client's opponent.

Ex parte OFFICIAL RECEIVER.

Bankruptcy—Order of Discharge—Discharge conditional on payment of specified Dividend—Accruer to Bankrupt of Property more than sufficient to pay specified Dividend—Title of Trustee—Bankruptcy Act, 1883, ss. 28, 44, 65—Bankruptcy Act, 1890, s. 8, sub-s. 2 (iii.).

Appeal by the official receiver, as the trustee in the bankruptcy of J. Hawkins, against a decision of a Divisional Court (Vaughan Williams and Henn Collins, JJ.).

Hawkins was adjudicated a bankrupt in the Walsall County Court, and, on the 18th of November, 1886 (some of the facts mentioned in sect. 28, sub-sect. 3, of the Bankruptcy Act, 1883, having been proved), an order was made by the county court that the bankrupt's discharge should be suspended, until he had paid to the trustee such a sum as, with the dividend declared or to be declared, would enable the trustee to pay to the creditors 5*s.* in the pound upon their debts, and that the order of discharge should take effect and come into operation on the day of the payment of that sum to the trustee. A dividend of 1*s.* 3*d.* in the pound was paid to the creditors. On the 1st of June, 1891, the bankrupt's father died, and under his will the bankrupt became thereupon entitled to a share of the residue of his estate, amounting to about 800*l.* The sum necessary to complete the payment of 5*s.* in the pound to the bankrupt's creditors was then about 300*l.* The official receiver, as trustee, claimed the whole 800*l.* for division among the creditors, and the judge of the county court held that he was entitled to it. The Divisional Court held that the trustee was entitled to only so much of the bankrupt's share of the 800*l.* as was necessary to complete the payment of 5*s.* to the creditors, and that the bankrupt himself was entitled to the surplus. The official receiver appealed.

Sir E. Clarke, S.G., and Muir Mackenzie, for the appellant.

Yate Lee, for the bankrupt.

THE COURT (Lord Esher, M.R., and Fry and Lopes, L.JJ., Fry, L.J., dissenting) allowed the appeal.

Their LORDSHIPS all agreed that an order of discharge conditional upon the payment by the bankrupt of a specified dividend was not valid under the Bankruptcy Act, 1883, though an order conditional on the payment of 10*s.* in the pound would be valid under sect. 8 of the Bankruptcy Act, 1890, which did not apply to the present case. But, after the lapse of time during which the order had been acted upon, it must be treated as a valid order, and the question was, what were its true construction and effect.

LORD ESHER, M.R., held, that the discharge did not operate until the 5*s.* in the pound had been paid to the creditors; that the whole 800*l.* must be considered to have devolved upon the bankrupt at one time; and that, as he was undischarged at the time when it devolved on him, it was, by virtue of sect. 44, sub-sect. 1, "property of the bankrupt divisible among his creditors;" and by sect. 65 the bankrupt was only entitled to any surplus after payment of his creditors in full. But, from and after the devolution of the 800*l.* the order of discharge took effect.

LOPES, L.J., concurred.

FRY, L.J., held, that the intention of the order was, that the creditors should not receive more than 5*s.* in the pound, and that, in order to effect that intention, the 800*l.* ought to be treated by construction of law as having devolved in two sums, one of 300*l.*, which vested in the trustee and brought the order of discharge into operation, and the other of 500*l.*, which devolved on the bankrupt, as being then discharged, for his own benefit. There was ample authority for this view. If there was a power to revoke uses and appoint new uses, and by one and the same deed the old uses were revoked and new uses appointed, though the new uses could not take effect until after the revocation of the old uses, it had been held that the revocation took effect before the new appointment, though both were effected by the same deed: Fitzwilliam's Case (6 Rep. 32*a*, 33*b*). And the same principle had been applied to the case of a lease and release contained in one deed: Barker v. Keete (Freeman (K. B.), 251); and to the case of father and son being both at once naturalized by Act of Parliament: Collingwood v. Pace (O. Bridgman, 455). There it was said, "the law will make a priority, though in the same Act, according to the order of nature and the intent of the Act."

A testator devised and bequeathed his residuary estate upon trust, as to a moiety, for his daughter A. for life, with remainder to such of her children as should attain 21, or, being daughters, marry. A. was dead, leaving two infant children, and the question now raised was, whether the trustees had power under sect. 43 of the Conveyancing Act, 1881, to apply for the maintenance of these two infants the income of the trust estate to which they were contingently entitled as aforesaid under the will.

Stokes, for the infants.

R. F. Norton, relying on In re Jeffery ([1891] 1 Ch. 671), contended that sect. 43 did not apply to an interest of this kind.

CHITTY, J., held, that inasmuch as the eldest child, on attaining 21 or marrying, would not be entitled to the whole of the income, to the exclusion of the other child, till such child also attained a vested interest, sect. 43 of the Conveyancing Act, 1881, applied, and that accordingly both infants were now entitled to maintenance.

Costs—Taxation—Party and Party—Costs of three Counsel—Taxing Master's Reasons—Practice.

In taxing the costs of the successful defendants in this action, as between party and party, the taxing master had disallowed the costs of their third counsel. The plaintiff had employed four counsel, the defendants three; the trial occupied four days in the Court below, and four days in the Court of Appeal (see report of the case [1891] 3 Ch. 306). It appeared that the taxing master had declined to supply either the plaintiff or the defendants with a copy of his reasons for disallowing the costs of the defendants' third counsel, though he had sent them to the judge. This was an application by the defendants to review the taxing master's decision.

Byrne, Q.C., and Ribton, for the defendants.

H. Fellows, for the plaintiff.

CHITTY, J., said, unquestionably the ordinary rule was, only to allow the costs of two counsel as between party and party, but this rule was not an inflexible one, and, having himself tried this action, he was able to say, that he did not remember any case in which so many and difficult questions of law had been raised, and in his opinion it was eminently one in which "it was essentially necessary for the purpose of doing justice that three counsel should be employed" (Pearce v. Lindsay, 1 D. F. J. 573), and one in which "a reasonable and prudent man acting with ordinary prudence would not have ventured to come into Court without three counsel" (Kirkwood v. Webster, 9 Ch. D. 242); and he therefore considered that the present case was within the exception from the ordinary rule, and that the costs of three counsel ought to have been allowed. With reference to the point that the taxing master had sent his reasons for disallowing the costs of a third counsel to the judge but had declined to shew those reasons to either side, his Lordship considered that this was an error on the part of the taxing master, and added, that it was important that the taxing master should in all cases shew to both parties the reasons he was prepared to submit to the Court why he had disallowed the costs of either party, otherwise the parties came into Court not knowing what these reasons were; further, it might often happen that the taxing master's reasons were so cogent that the parties, if they had known them, might not have ventured to dispute them in Court. The right course for the taxing masters to pursue was, to communicate their reasons, not only to the judge, but to disclose them to the parties before the matter came into Court.

North, J. LAYBURN v. GRIDLEY. March 16.

Conveyance—Parcels—Overhanging Building—Lease—Statute of Limitations (3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 27), s. 9.

The plaintiff was owner in fee of a public-house called the "Outrigger," at Kingston-on-Thames, subject to a lease granted in 1867 for a term of thirty-five years by Thomas Cucksey, the owner in fee of that property, and also the adjoining property next mentioned. The defendants were two persons who carried on business as timber merchants on adjoining premises, now the property of James Gridley, one of the defendants. A portion of a loft occupied with the defendants' premises overhung a portion of the plaintiff's premises.

In 1870, Thomas Cucksey granted a lease of the timber premises for twenty-one years from September, 1870, to the defendant, James Gridley, at a yearly rent of 25*l.* In both the leases the properties were described as late and then in the occupation of named persons; consequently, the overhanging part of the loft was not comprised in the lease of the public-house, but was comprised in the lease to the defendant James Gridley. In January, 1872, the plaintiff's premises were conveyed to him by the then common owners of the reversions of both properties. The parcels were described by reference to a plan of the ground floor, and no reference was made to the overhanging portion of the loft. Shortly afterwards the defendants' premises were conveyed to one Henry Herrick. The parcels in this conveyance were also described by reference to a ground plan, and no reference was made to the overhanging portion of the loft. James Gridley paid the whole rent of 25*l.* to Herrick for three years, and the plaintiff never received rent in respect of the overhanging loft. In 1875 the defendant purchased and took a conveyance of his premises from Henry Herrick, having previously assigned the lease of 1870 to a trustee to prevent a merger. The defendants previously to the expiration of their lease made alterations in their premises, among other things increasing the height of the overhanging loft. This was an action to restrain trespass with the object of asserting the plaintiff's right to the ownership of the loft, or his alternative right to the space over the loft as it existed before the recent alteration. The defendants pleaded that the fee in the loft passed to Herrick; that as owner of the loft the defendant James Gridley was entitled to raise it; and in the alternative, that the plaintiff's right of action was barred by statute owing to his not having received rent for more than twelve years.

Cozens-Hardy, Q.C., and Joseph Tanner, for the plaintiff.

S. Hall, Q.C., and D. Jones, for the defendants.

NORTH, J., held: (1) That the reversion in the overhanging part of the loft passed by the conveyance of 1872 to the plaintiff. (2) That had the part of the loft in dispute belonged to the defendants, they would have had no right to raise it. (3) That the plaintiff was not statute barred, there never having been a time at which apportioned rent was recoverable by him at law.

North, J. EARL OF AYLESFORD v. EARL POULETT. March 18.

Two of the defendants to this action, Earl Poulett and F. R Knollys, were trustees under Acts of Parliament of the Aylesford estates. The trustees had power under the Acts to raise a sum of 350,000*l.* by mortgage of the estates in fee. The money raised on mortgage was applicable in paying, among other things, certain debts of the then Earl of Aylesford.

The action was brought by the present tenant for life of the estates for an account from the trustees. In taking the account a large amount expended by the trustees had been disallowed, and the trustees had been ordered to pay into Court a sum of 98,452*l.* 18*s.* 7*d.* in respect of principal, and 19,106*l.* in respect of interest; default was made in not paying any part of the money ordered to be paid into Court.

A motion was now made on behalf of the plaintiff that he should be allowed to issue a writ of attachment against the defendant Earl Poulett. The defendant Knollys was an undischarged bankrupt.

Earl Poulett made an affidavit to the effect that he had been induced to accept the office of trustee on the representation that the duty would not be onerous, as the estate would be managed by the solicitor and agents of the then Earl of Aylesford; that the payments disallowed had been made in reliance on such solicitor and agents; that Earl Poulett had received no personal benefit; that the payments disallowed had been made in discharge of debts incurred by the late Earl of Aylesford (other than the debts authorized to be discharged) with the exception of some reductions made on solicitors' bills and similar payments. Privilege of Parliament was also set up as an answer to the motion by Lord Poulett as a member of the House of Peers.

Cozens-Hardy, Q.C., and W. C. Druce, for the motion. The jurisdiction to commit a trustee for non-payment of misapplied trust funds is in its nature punitive. Privilege of Parliament is, therefore, no protection: In re Gent (40 Ch. D. 190).

Sir H. Davey, Q.C., and Vernon R. Smith, for the respondent

In this case there was no moral culpability involved in the misapplication of the trust funds; the case In re Gent does not, therefore, apply, and privilege of Parliament will be allowed. There is discretion under the Debtors Act, 1878, to refuse to allow the writ of attachment to issue. This is a case in which the Court will exercise such discretion in favour of the respondent.

NORTH, J., did not decide whether there was, in this case, privilege of Parliament. He refused, in the exercise of his discretion under the Debtors Act, 1878, to allow the writ of attachment to issue.

This was a purchaser's summons under the Vendor and Purchaser Act, 1874, raising a question as to the validity of the title to a messuage derived under a deed dated the 5th of December, 1882, which the purchaser alleged to be a settlement within the meaning of sect. 47 of the Bankruptcy Act, 1883.

By an indenture dated the 2nd of June, 1880, A. being the owner in fee of the property in question, mortgaged the same to secure 1800*l.* By the deed of the 5th of December, 1882, A., in consideration of the payment off by B. of a debt due by A., and also in consideration of B.'s taking upon himself the payment of the mortgage debt and interest, conveyed the property (subject to the mortgage) to B. and another, upon certain trusts for the benefit of C., the wife of A.

By deed dated the 25th of April, 1888, C. and her trustees conveyed to the predecessors in title of the vendor.

H. Terrell, for the purchaser, relied on In re Briggs & Spicer ([1891] 2 Ch. 127), and contended that the transaction of the 5th of December, 1882, amounted to a purchase by B. and a voluntary settlement by him upon C., and that inasmuch as ten years had not elapsed since the execution of the deed the vendor could not make a good title.

Hastings, Q.C., and Elgood, for the vendor, contended that the case was within the decision in Hance v. Harding (20 Q. B. D. 732).

STIRLING, J., held that in effect A., in consideration of B.'s paying his debt, and taking on himself a liability, conveyed the property in trust for C., and that B., in consideration of A. so conveying the property, agreed to pay A.'s debt, and to take on himself a liability, so that there was a consideration moving from A. to B., and from B. to A., and that, therefore, the transaction did not amount to a voluntary settlement either by A. or B. within the meaning of sect. 47.

Probate. IN THE GOODS OF RICH. March 22.

A will made by a lunatic passed over and a grant of administration made as in case of intestacy.

Application for administration.

Alfred G. Rich died on the 19th of February, 1891, at the Bristol Lunatic Asylum, of which he had been an inmate since November, 1879, having been insane since the year 1867. He left a widow and three children, who were resident in Australia. He was under the delusion that he was very rich; whereas during the latter years of his life he had been supported by his mother and sister; and after his death a duly executed will was found by his sister, dated the 20th of June, 1878, by which he disposed of large sums of money. At the date of the will he was possessed of no property whatever; but by the death of his mother in 1889 he became entitled to two sums of 115*l.* in the New Consols, and 144*l.* 18*s.* 9*d.* in 3½ per cent. India Stock.

Searle, moved for a grant of administration to Georgiana Rich, the sister of the deceased, as attorney for Margaret Rich, his lawful relict and widow, as in the case of an intestacy. There have been cases in which wills made by lunatics have been set aside and have been retained in the registry though not admitted to proof: Coote's Practice, p. 192; In the Goods of Bourget (1 Curt. 591); Perry v. Dyke (1 S. & T. 12).

THE PRESIDENT made a grant of administration as prayed and in the case of an intestacy, and as to the form of the oath to be taken by the administratrix, directed that it should be to the effect that the deceased made no will as far as she knows and believes.

COURT OF APPEAL.

From Q. B. D. WILKS v. WOOD. March 29.

Practice—Specially indorsed Writ—Liquidated Demand—"With or without Interest"—Claim of Interest from date of Writ till Payment or Judgment—Order III., r. 6; Order XIV., r. 1.

Appeal of defendant from an order of a Divisional Court giving the plaintiff leave to sign judgment under Order XIV., r. 1.

The writ was indorsed as follows: "The plaintiff's claim is for the price of goods sold and delivered to the defendant at his request [here followed the particulars with the prices, amounting in all to 49*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.*], and the plaintiff also claims interest on 49*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.* from the date of the writ until payment or judgment, and the sum of 3*l.* 10*s.* (or such sum as may be allowed on taxation) for costs. If the amount claimed be paid to the plaintiff or his solicitor within four days from the service hereof, further proceedings will be stayed."

Channell, Q.C., and T. Terrell, in support of the appeal.

Lochnis, contrà.

THE COURT (Lord Esher, M.R., Fry and Lopes, L.JJ.) held, that as the plaintiff claimed interest not arising under a statute or by contract, he did not "seek only to recover a debt or liquidated demand," and that, therefore, the writ was not specially indorsed under Order III., r. 6, and judgment could not be entered under Order XIV., r. 1.

Appeal allowed.

From Ch. Div. HENTHORN v. FRASER. March 30.

Contract by Letters—Acceptance by Letter—Withdrawal of Offer.

The plaintiff, who resided at Birkenhead, called several times at the office of a building society in Liverpool to negotiate for the purchase of some houses of theirs. On the last occasion, on the 7th of July, the secretary of the society signed and handed to the plaintiff a note giving him the refusal of the houses at 750*l.* for fourteen days. On the following day, the 8th of July, at 3.50 P.M., the plaintiff posted at Birkenhead an unconditional acceptance of the offer. This letter was delivered at the society's office after business hours, and came to the secretary's hands on the following morning. On the same 8th of July the secretary withdrew the offer by a letter posted in Liverpool before one o'clock, which was delivered at the plaintiff's address in Birkenhead between 5 and 6 P.M., and reached the plaintiff's hands at 8 P.M. The plaintiff sued for specific performance. The Vice-Chancellor of the County Palatine held that the offer was withdrawn before there was a binding acceptance, and dismissed the action. The plaintiff appealed.

Farwell, Q.C., and T. R. Hughes, for the appeal.

Neville, Q.C., and P. O. Lawrence, for the defendant.

THE COURT (Lord Herschell, and Bowen and Kay, L.JJ.) reversed the decision, on the ground that if an offer is made to a person under such circumstances that it must have been within the contemplation of the parties that, according to the ordinary usages of mankind, the post might be used as the means of accepting it, the acceptance is complete as soon as it is posted; but that a withdrawal of an offer is of no effect until it is brought to the mind of the person to whom the offer was made, and does not relate back to the time of posting it. That there was, therefore, a binding contract at 3.50 P.

on the 8th, and that the withdrawal was too late. The plaintiff, therefore, was entitled to specific performance.

In re CHAWNER'S SETTLED ESTATES.

Settled Land—Lease—"Best Rent"—Building Lease—Consideration—Past voluntary Expenditure by Lessee—Settled Land Act, 1882 (45 & 46 Vict. c. 38), ss. 6, 7, sub-s. 2; s. 8, sub-s. 1; s. 13, sub-ss. 1, 5.

A dwelling-house, garden, and premises, being part of the settled land, were held by A. B. on lease for twenty-one years from June, 1889, at a rent of 180*l.* per annum; the tenant for life was willing, in consideration of past voluntary expenditure (amounting to 4000*l.*) by A. B. on the buildings comprised in his lease, to grant him an extended lease for twenty-nine years, without making any addition to the rent, and he now proposed to accept a surrender of the existing lease and to grant A. B. a fresh lease for the extended term of twenty-nine years under sect. 8 of the Settled Land Act, 1882, or to give him a fresh term of twenty-one years under sect. 7, sub-sect. 2.

E. Beaumont, for the tenant for life.

Rowden, for the trustees, objected to the arrangement proposed by the tenant for life.

CHITTY, J., held, that the tenant for life by what he proposed to do would not be reserving the "best rent" that could "be reasonably obtained," as required by sect. 7, sub-sect. 2; and that treating the proposed new lease as a building lease under sect. 8, sub-sect. 1, the lessee's past expenditure could not be regarded as "consideration" for such lease, so as to make it valid within that section, and for these reasons he must decline to sanction the arrangement proposed by the tenant for life.

In re MERCANTILE BANK OF AUSTRALIA.

Company—Winding-up Petition—Appointment of Provisional Liquidator—Official Receiver—Fixing of Security by Board of Trade—Companies (Winding-up) Act, 1890, ss. 1; 4, sub-ss. 1, 5, 6; 32, sub-s. 3—Companies (Winding-up) Rules, 1890, rr. 32, 67.

Petition by a creditor for the winding up of the above banking company. The company was incorporated in 1877 in Victoria, Australia, by an Act of the Legislature of that colony. The head office was at Melbourne. In 1886 the company appointed local directors in London, and gave them power to carry on a branch of the company in London. The London office was in Lombard Street, and that was the only place of business in England. The petition alleged that that office was the registered office of the company for the purposes of the Companies (Winding-up) Act, 1890. The company had shareholders and assets in England. The company suspended payment in Australia and in London, and on the 7th of March the petition was presented. On the 11th of March, on the motion of the petitioner, North, J., made an order appointing the London manager of the company and another person provisional liquidators, and directed that they should give security forthwith. It became impossible to carry out this order, because the Board of Trade declined to fix, under rule 67, the amount and nature of the security to be given. The Board considered that that rule applied only after a winding-up order had been made by the Court, and that the Court had no power, under sect. 4, sub-sect. 5, before the hearing of the petition, to appoint as provisional liquidator any one but the official receiver.

Cozens-Hardy, Q.C., and Elgood, for the petitioner, asked that the petition might stand over, in order that it might be ascertained what resolutions would be passed by the shareholders in Australia. They argued that sect. 4, sub-sect. 5, gave the Court an option to appoint the official receiver provisional liquidator, but left it open to appoint some one else. It would be more expensive to appoint the official receiver, by reason of the percentage to which he would be entitled. Rule 67 was not limited in the way the Board of Trade supposed.

Everitt, Q.C., and Bramwell Davis, for the company, desired that the official receiver should not be appointed provisional liquidator.

J. K. Young; and R. B. Morris; for creditors.

It was admitted that, having regard to sect. 32, sub-sect. 3, of the Act of 1890, the company was within that Act.

NORTH, J., said that he would order the petition to stand over to the next sittings. When he made the order of the 11th of March, he thought that the company was outside the Act of 1890, because it had no registered office in this country. But now, having regard to sect. 32, sub-sect. 3, he thought that view was wrong, and that the Act of 1890 applied. He would not now decide whether the Court had power, under sect. 4, sub-sect. 5, to appoint as provisional liquidator, before the making of a winding-up order, some person other than the official receiver. He would assume that there was power to do so. But he thought the normal course was to appoint the official receiver provisional liquidator. He saw no reason for departing from that course in the present case. The official receiver would have no greater power than any other provisional liquidator. His powers would be limited by the directions given by the judge. In the present case his powers would be limited by directing that he should take possession of, collect, and protect the assets of the company, but should not distribute or part with the same until further order, except that he might pay current rent and salaries, and such other current expenses as he might think fit. He would also be empowered to give such notices as he might be advised to determine the engagements of persons in the employment of the company. His Lordship was of opinion that the view which the Board of Trade had expressed of rule 67 was not right. He saw no reason why the rule should not apply to the fixing of the security of a liquidator appointed before as well as after the making of a winding-up order. In his Lordship's opinion, the Board of Trade had power to fix the security to be given by a provisional liquidator.

In re KEMEYS-TYNTE.

KEMEYS-TYNTE v. KEMEYS-TYNTE.

Will—Tenant for Life—Mining Lease—Rents and Royalties.

This was an originating summons taken out by the trustees of the will of the late Colonel Kemeys-Tynte, who died on the 10th of January, 1891, to determine whether, under the circumstances of the case, the tenant for life under the will was entitled to royalties and rent in respect of coal under part of the property. The testator had absolute power of disposing of the property. During his life he entered into agreements to grant certain mining leases of coal, which was to be worked by adits from neighbouring mines in the occupation of the intended lessees. Two of the intended leases were not granted during his life; but such leases are intended to be granted under the Settled Land Acts. The dead rent, however, was paid, and underground work was carried on for the purpose of getting at the coal intended to be leased; but the coal, the subject of the leases, has not yet been quite reached.

Everitt, Q.C., and Kingdon, for the trustees, argued that the mines had not yet been opened, and that, as the tenant for life was impeachable for waste, the law was that the rents and royalties belonged to the inheritance and not to the tenant for life.

Cozens-Hardy, Q.C., and Bramwell Davis, for the tenant for life in possession and the infant tenant for life in remainder, argued that the dead rents and royalties, being incident to the reversion at the testator's death, belonged to the tenant for life.

NORTH, J., held that the dead rents now payable and royalties payable during his tenancy for life, belong to the tenant for life as income.

The Court had made an order in the matter of the above company confirming a special resolution to enlarge the objects of the company. The order had been passed and entered, but not in time for the company to deliver a copy to the Registrar of Joint Stock Companies in compliance with the provisions of sect. 2 of the Companies (Memorandum of Association) Act, 1890, within fifteen days of the date of the order.

Cozens-Hardy, Q.C., for the company, asked to have the order post-dated to enable the company to deliver a copy of the order in due time.

NORTH, J., considered that the better course would be to make an order enlarging the time limited by sect. 2 of the Act, under the Companies Acts Rules of November, 1862, r. 73.

Motion to expunge a trade-mark registered by an Irish limited company having its registered office in Belfast, but having a branch office in London.

In consequence of the company's registered office being in Ireland, the applicants adopted the course suggested by Stirling, J., in In re La Compagnie Générale, &c. ([1891] 3 Ch. 451), serving the notice of motion on the Comptroller-General, and sending a copy of it to the company at Belfast with an intimation to them that the copy was sent to inform them that proceedings had been commenced which might affect their interests.

The company did not appear, and the question was whether the Court had jurisdiction to hear the motion in their absence.

Warmington, Q.C., and Swinfen Eady, for the applicants.

Ingle Joyce, for the Comptroller-General.

KEKEWICH, J., held, that he had jurisdiction to hear the application in the absence of the company; and, upon the evidence, ordered the trade-mark to be expunged from the register.

It was explained that there was nothing in the decision of this House in Earl Sheffield v. London Joint Stock Bank (13 App. Cas. 333) which (rightly understood) contradicted or threw any doubt upon that principle; that the decision in that case was not an authority for any other case, turning as it did entirely upon the view taken by their Lordships of the special facts of the case, viz. that the bank must be taken to have known that Moxley was exceeding any right which he possessed in relation to the securities in purporting to pledge them for the sum he did, and that it was therefore contrary to good faith for the bank to retain them for anything beyond the sum for which Moxley could legitimately pledge them.

Lords Watson and Herschell observed that the case was not distinguishable in principle from Ex parte Hubbard (17 Q. B. D. 690).

COURT OF APPEAL.

From Ch. Div. CARTER v. SILBER. March 22.

Infant—Settlement—Covenant to settle future Property—Repudiation—Reasonable Time.

This was an appeal from a decision of Romer, J. ([1891] 3 Ch. 553).

By a marriage settlement made in October, 1883, the father of M. A. Silber, the intended husband, covenanted with the trustees to pay to them 1500*l.* a year during the life of the wife, and such further period as there should be any children of the marriage, and the trustees were to pay the 1500*l.* a year to M. A. Silber till he should assign or charge the same, in which case there was a discretionary trust over. The settlement contained a covenant by M. A. Silber that he would settle any property to which he should become entitled under any settlement or appointment by his father or under the will of his father or mother. At the time of the settlement both the husband and wife were infants, and the settlement was confirmed by the Court on behalf of the wife under the Infants' Settlement Act, 1855, but not on behalf of the husband. M. A. Silber attained 21 in November, 1883. The father died in May, 1887, and by his will confirmed certain settlements previously made by him under which M. A. Silber took an interest, and gave the residue of his real and personal estate to his children in equal shares. M. A. Silber received the 1500*l.* a year from the trustees during his father's life, and also after his death, till July, 1888, when he repudiated the settlement and elected to take under the will. In an action by the trustees of the settlement, it was held by Romer, J., that inasmuch as M. A. Silber did not know what his rights would be under his father's will till his father's death, he was not bound by his not having repudiated the settlement during his father's lifetime, and that he had repudiated it in a reasonable time after his father's death. But he held that M. A. Silber was bound to compensate the persons disappointed by the repudiation. From this decision M. A. Silber's mother, who was executrix of the father's will and was one of the persons disappointed by the repudiation, and also the plaintiffs, appealed.

Chadwyck Healey, Q.C., and F. Thompson; Neville, Q.C., and Maidlow; supported the appeal, contending that the repudiation came too late.

Crackanthorpe, Q.C., and Butcher; Horton Smith, Q.C., and Ingpen; for M. A. Silber and his mortgagees.

Methold, Hornell, Boome, A. Chitty, H. Terrell, Wallace, Franks, Waggett, and Yate Lee, for other parties.

LINDLEY, L.J., said that the settlement of an infant was a voidable, not a void, instrument. The deed was created on his marriage, and it was impossible to say that it was not for the benefit of the infant. It was also well settled that a voidable instrument created by an infant must be repudiated by him within a reasonable time after he attained 21. What was a reasonable time depended on the circumstances of each case, and he thought that when nearly five years had elapsed since the husband came of age, it was impossible to say that it was within a reasonable time. The appeal must, therefore, be allowed.

BOWEN, L.J., said that he could not agree with the learned judge in the Court below, that the reasonable time could not expire during the father's lifetime. The husband knew of the settlement, and he could not be heard to say that he did not know that it contained a covenant to settle future property, or that he did not know that he had a right to repudiate, which was a matter of law.

KAY, L.J., was of the same opinion. The option of repudiation must be claimed within a reasonable time after the infant came of age. Questions of waiver and acquiescence depended on knowledge of facts or rights; but he entirely disagreed with the attempt to apply that doctrine to the case of repudiation of an infant's contract after he had attained 21.

Ship—Charterparty—Termination of Voyage—Delivery at usual Fruit Berth—Obligation to Unload—Demurrage.

Appeal from Charles, J., without a jury.

This was an action for breach of a charterparty dated the 2nd of February, 1889, and entered into between the plaintiffs, who were the owners of the steamship Artemis, and the defendants, who were fruit merchants. The charterparty provided that the Artemis should go to certain ports in the Mediterranean, and there load a cargo of oranges, with which she was to proceed to Hamburg, "to be discharged at usual fruit berth as fast as steamer can deliver, as customary, and when ordered by the charterers."

The defence was that, by reason of the usual fruit berth in Hamburg being fully occupied, and there being no other available space or accommodation for the ship on the days in question, she was not able to commence discharging her cargo until the 11th of March, 1889, when she was discharged as fast as she could deliver her cargo.

CHARLES, J., after deciding for the defendants upon another point, held that the plaintiffs had made good claims in respect of 80*l.*, for four days' demurrage, and gave judgment for the plaintiffs upon that point.

The defendants appealed.

Lawson, Q.C., and Rufus D. Isaacs, for the appellants.

Gorell Barnes, Q.C., and F. W. Hollams, for the respondents.

Cur. adv. vult.

April 2. THE COURT (Lord Herschell, and Lindley and Kay, L.JJ.) said that under the terms of the charterparty, and on the authority of Tharsis Sulphur and Copper Company v. Morel Brothers & Co. ([1891] 2 Q. B. 647), the obligation to unload did not commence until the vessel was berthed in a usual fruit berth; and a vessel could not be properly said to be so berthed unless she occupied that berth by the direction or with the assent of the harbour authorities; and if, though she had arrived there, she was not permitted to remain for the purpose of unloading, but was directed by the port authorities immediately to remove to another place, she could not be said to have arrived at her place of discharge so as to impose upon the charterers the obligation forthwith to unload. No doubt under a charterparty such as this the charterers or consignees would be bound to do all in their power to procure discharge of the cargo as quickly as possible: but, applying these principles to the facts of the case, their Lordships held that the judgment of Charles, J., as regarded the question of demurrage could not be supported.

Appeal allowed.

Practice—Bill of Exchange, Action on—Interest, Claim for—Specially indorsed Writ—Order III., r. 6; Order XIV., r. 1—Bills of Exchange Act, 1882, s. 57.

Appeal from the order of the Queen's Bench Division (Denman and A. L. Smith, JJ.), affirming an order at Chambers made under Order XIV., rule 1, giving the plaintiffs leave to sign judgment for the amount claimed by the indorsement on the writ.

The action was on a bill of exchange by indorsees against acceptor, and the indorsement on the writ was as follows: "The plaintiffs' claim is 20*l.* 17*s.* 8*d.* principal, noting, and interest on the defendant's dishonoured acceptance. Particulars: To amount of bill of exchange, dated 18 June, 1891, due this day, accepted by the defendant in favour of Chudleigh Bros., and by them indorsed to the plaintiffs for value, 20*l.* 10*s.* To noting and interest thereon to date, 7*s.* 8*d.* The plaintiffs also claim interest on 20*l.* 10*s.* of the above sum at 5 per cent. from the date hereof until payment."

H. Reed, and Bonner, for the defendant, contended that the writ was not a specially indorsed writ within Order III., rule 6, and, therefore, leave to sign judgment could not be given under Order XIV.

English Harrison, for the plaintiffs, was not called upon.

THE COURT (Lord Esher, M.R., Fry, L.J., and Lopes, L.J.) held, that, inasmuch as by the 57th section of the Bills of Exchange Act, 1882, the expenses of noting and interest on a dishonoured bill are to be "deemed to be liquidated damages," the writ was a specially indorsed writ within Order III., rule 6. They, therefore, dismissed the appeal.

Company—Power to Purchase its own Shares—Effect of Purchase—Extinguishment of Shares.

This was a summons by the official liquidator of the above-named company, which raised the question as to the effect of an authorized purchase by a company of its own shares. The directors had a statutory power to purchase in the name of the company, or otherwise, the company's own shares. This power was exercised from time to time, and the total amount so purchased was 8781 shares; the shares were 10*l.* shares, on which 2*l.* 10*s.* only had been paid up at the time of the purchase. The shares were first transferred into the names of trustees for the company; but in 1881 they were all transferred into the name of the company. The company was ordered to be wound up compulsorily in July, 1889, and the liquidator now sought to place the company itself upon the list of contributories, and thus to obtain an order for a call of 7*l.* 10*s.* per share, or such other sum as might be estimated to produce 65,857*l.* 10*s.*, on all the contributories.

Farwell, Q.C., and Swinfen Eady, for the official liquidator.

Byrne, Q.C., Stallard, and Lemon, for the contributories.

Chitty, J., held that the effect of the purchase by the company of these shares, whether in the names of trustees or of the company, was necessarily to extinguish the shares; that the purchase in the names of the trustees was an extinguishment in Equity, and the subsequent transfer of the shares to the company was an extinguishment in Law and in Equity; and that consequently the liquidator's application failed, and must be dismissed.

Company—Dividends—Sale of part of the Undertaking—Accretion to Capital—Capital or Profit.

The company was incorporated in 1863 for the purpose of carrying on a banking business, with a capital of 1,000,000*l.* divided into 100,000 shares of 10*l.* each. All the shares had been issued with 5*l.* paid up on each. The company had recently sold its goodwill and business in Brazil to a Brazilian bank for 875,000*l.*, and, after deducting sundry payments in Brazil, commission, &c., and the paid-up capital of 500,000*l.*, there remained a net balance of 205,000*l.* On the 24th of March last a resolution was passed by the directors, that the net balance thus derived from the sale of the company's business in Brazil be treated as profit, to be carried to the profit and loss account of the Bank, and dealt with accordingly. Certain of the shareholders now moved to restrain the company from acting upon this resolution, with a view of obtaining the opinion of the Court whether this 205,000*l.* was to be treated as an accretion to capital or as profit.

Whitehorne, Q.C., and S. Dickinson, for the motion.

Byrne, Q.C., and Method, for the company.

Chitty, J., held that the 205,000*l.* was profit on capital, and not part of the capital itself, and that the directors would be justified in carrying this sum to the profit and loss account, and having then appropriated to the reserve fund so much of this sum as they thought fit, they could distribute the remainder as dividends, after an ordinary meeting, called in pursuance of the articles, had passed the requisite resolution.

Will—Construction—Will in Foreign Language—English Translation admitted to Probate—Translation alleged to be Inaccurate—Right of Court to look at Certified Copy of Original Will.

Petition and originating summons to determine a question on the construction of the will of Edwin Cliff, an Englishman who had resided in France, and died there on the 8th of July, 1874. He made a will in the French language, which was registered in France and was retained there. In May, 1876, probate of an English translation was granted by the Probate Division of the High Court to the executor appointed by the will. The translation was certified by an English notary public to be a true and faithful translation of a copy (in French) of the original will, which was certified by a notary public in France to be a correct copy. The translation and the certified copy were both annexed to the certificate of the English notary.

It was now alleged, on behalf of the respondents, that the English translation was in some respects inaccurate.

H. Terrell, for the petitioners, argued that, for the purpose of construing the will, the Court could look only at the document which had been admitted to probate—that is, the English translation of the will. He referred to L'Fit v. L'Batt (1 P. Wms. 526), and Bernal v. Bernal (3 My. & Cr. 561-563, n.).

B. B. Rogers, for one respondent, contended that the Court was entitled to look at the original French.

An officer from the Probate Registry attended with the documents which had been deposited there in the case of L'Fit v. L'Batt. From these documents it appeared that the report of that case in 1 P. Wms. was not accurate, and that the original will was not proved in England. Only an English translation was proved; but a copy in French of the original will was deposited with the English translation on the application for the probate.

B. B. Rogers, then urged that the judgment of Sir J. Jekyll, M.R., in L'Fit v. L'Batt shewed that the Court was entitled to look at the original will, or at the certified copy of it.

Ingpen, for another respondent.

W. M. Cann, for trustees.

NORTH, J., said, that now that he had seen the original documents in L'Fit v. L'Batt, and had thus ascertained the real facts of that case, he thought he was bound to look at the French document as well as at the English. It might be that, any of the parties had insisted on it, he could not have looked at the French document until the English document had been brought into the Probate Court to have the translation corrected. But no one had insisted on this being done; and, therefore, he was prepared to look at the French document, just as if it had formed part of the probate. But, as the French document contained French technical terms, he could not take upon himself to say what it meant without the assistance of French lawyers. Moreover, the domicil of the testator had not been proved, and the construction of the will would depend on his domicil. The hearing must stand over generally.

LANE FOX v. KENSINGTON AND KNIGHTSBRIDGE ELECTRIC LIGHTING COMPANY.

Patent — Validity — Provisional Specification — Variation from amended complete Specification—Nature of Invention—Patents, Designs, and Trade Marks Act, 1883 (46 & 47 Vict. c. 57), s. 5, sub-s. 3, s. 26.

On the 9th of October, 1878, the plaintiff obtained a grant of letters patent for "Improvements in obtaining light by electricity, and in conveying, distributing, measuring, and regulating the same, and in the means or apparatus employed therein."

His provisional specification stated that his invention consisted of the improvements aforesaid, and proceeded to explain how the electric light was obtained, and described the incandescent lamp to be used, and the mode of distributing the light by a large conductor and branches and sub-branches. It then pointed out a method of measuring the electricity, and stated as follows: "The electro-motive force of the electric conducting mains should be kept as nearly as possible constant, at, say, 100 volts or British association units of electro-motive force. A number of Planté's (lead and sulphuric acid) cells, joined together in series between the main and the earth, will serve as a kind of reservoir for the electricity."

After pointing out the kind of conductors to be used, and how they were to be insulated, the provisional specification proceeded: "In order to keep the electro-motive force in the electric mains constant, it is desirable to have, in the first place, several generating machines; next, it is necessary to have some regulator such as that about to be described." No regulation by means of the secondary batteries was here mentioned; but a regulator operating by means of an electrometer was described in detail.

On the 9th of October, 1879, the plaintiff filed his complete specification, the title and claim of which were for the improvements aforesaid. The complete specification again described, but in greater detail, how the electric light was obtained, the lamp, the mode of distribution, and the method of measurement. The complete specification then, in substance, repeated the statements of the provisional specification from "the electro-motive force" down to "reservoir for the electricity," and after giving further details as to the cells of the batteries, and pointing out the use of the batteries for storage when not much electricity was required for lighting purposes, and repeating in effect the statements of the provisional specification as to the kind of conductor and the insulation, proceeded as follows: "In order to keep the electro-motive force in the electric mains constant, it is desirable to have in the first place several generating machines; also a number of reservoir batteries as before explained" (the words in italics being new). "Next, it is necessary to have some regulator such as that about to be described." The regulator operating by means of an electrometer was here described in greater detail, referring to a figure representing an "electrometer adapted to regulating the electro-motive force in the mains as just described." The specification ended by claiming for improvements (inter alia) by the six following means: (1) by distribution of electric energy by mains, branches, and sub-branches; (2) by this distribution in conjunction with incandescent lamps; (3) by the measuring apparatus; (4) by employing secondary batteries as reservoirs in combination with the plaintiff's system of distribution; (5) by the use of a regulator and other mechanical mechanism for regulating the electro-motive force in the mains; (6) by mechanism for conveying electric energy.

On the 26th of January, 1882, the plaintiff disclaimed his claim in respect of the appliances for measuring and conveying electric energy; and on the 30th of July, 1883, he disclaimed his claims in respect of distribution, whether alone or in conjunction with the incandescent lamps, and also in respect of regulation by the electrometer.

The effect of the amendments by disclaimers was that the claiming part of the complete specification was as follows: "I do not claim generally the obtaining of light by the incandescence of a continuous conductor, nor the lamps...; but I claim as my 'Improvements in distributing and regulating the electric current for obtaining light by electricity and in the means or apparatus employed therein,' the employment as described of secondary batteries in combination with a mode or system of distribution such as is hereinbefore explained."

In an action for an injunction against the defendants in respect of an infringement, the defendants set up (inter alia) the defence that the invention described and claimed in the amended complete specification was not the same as that described in the provisional specification, but differed therefrom in describing a method of regulating by secondary batteries different from that of the electrometer.

Sir R. E. Webster, A.G., Moulton, Q.C., and J. C. Graham, for the plaintiff.

Sir H. Davey, Q.C., Finlay, Q.C., and Roger W. Wallace, for the defendants.

A. L. Smith, J., said the defendants were not correct when they stated that the plaintiff by his complete specification only claimed the use of secondary batteries as reservoirs; for by these batteries he also claimed to keep the electro-motive force in the mains constant. But they also urged that, even if so claimed, the complete specification, as it now stood, was not in conformity with the provisional. The law was, that a patentee must describe the nature of his invention in his provisional specification, though he need not go into details; but in his complete specification, when going into details, he must describe the same invention—otherwise his patent was bad. At the first, the plaintiff's provisional specification only claimed, by using secondary batteries, to keep the electro-motive force constant. The words "regulating the electric current," in the complete specification as originally filed, solely applied to the electrometer. By the disclaimer of 1883, it was sought to apply those words to secondary batteries, so as to claim for them, not only the power of keeping the force constant in the mains, but of regulating it therein. That was not claiming for the same invention in the complete specification, as amended, as that claimed for in the provisional specification. The point was fatal to the plaintiff's case; and on this and other grounds his action must be dismissed.

Trust—Constructive Trust—Trustee de son tort—Persons assisting Executrix in carrying on Business in Breach of Trust—Control of Trust Money.

A testator, who was in business as a miller, by his will left all his property to his wife and another as executors and trustees upon trust for her for life, and after her death for his children, but gave no directions as to the carrying on of his business. The widow alone proved the will. Acting upon the advice of her relatives, she resolved to carry on the business for the benefit of herself and children, and two friends, the defendants M. and A., offered to assist her in so doing. It was arranged that by means of the assets of the testator a banking account should be opened in her name, and that cheques should be drawn by her from time to time for the purposes of the business, but such cheques were to be initialed by M. and A., the bankers being instructed by her not to honour cheques unless so initialed. Before the arrangement was carried out, the executrix and M. and A. took the opinion of counsel, who advised that the carrying on of the business would be a breach of trust, but that M. and A., if they acted as agents only, would not, by reason of the mere initialing of the cheques, be responsible as executors de son tort. The arrangement was carried out for some years, and the business was apparently profitable for a time, but afterwards proved a failure. Subsequently the executrix withdrew the direction to the bank, and the cheques were in future cashed upon her sole signature. An action was brought by the children of the testator against the executrix and M. and A. and others seeking (inter alia) to make M. and A. liable for the assets of the testator as trustees de son tort. It was proved that M. and A. had sold goods to the executrix in the ordinary course of business, and been paid for the same by cheques drawn on the banking account. It also appeared that a deed of arrangement with the creditors was entered into by the executrix, and that M. was appointed and acted as a trustee of the deed. M. and A. received no remuneration for their services, and there was no suggestion of any fraud or other improper conduct on the part of either of them.

His Lordship also held that neither the moneys received by M. or A. for goods supplied, nor the moneys received and distributed by M. as trustee of the deed of arrangement, came into the hands of either of them impressed with any trust, constructive or otherwise, and that they could not be held liable in respect of such moneys. Divorce. March 15.

DELAFORCE v. DELAFORCE AND DRISCOLL.

Divorce Suit—Husband's Petition—Abortive Trial—Wife's Full Costs allowed—Hurley v. Hurley and Menzies ([1891] P. 367) followed.

Application for wife's full costs.

This was a petition by the husband for the dissolution of his marriage on the ground of his wife's adultery with the co-respondent. The wife in her answer denied the adultery, and made counter-charges against her husband. The jury found that the husband was not guilty of the counter-charges, but disagreed on the issue of the wife's adultery.

Willis, Q.C. (Barnard, with him), now moved that the wife's full costs be taxed and paid to her, without limiting the amount to the sum paid into Court or secured.

Sir E. Clarke, S.G., contrà:—The proper application in a case of this kind is to call upon the husband to give further security for costs.

Robertson v. Robertson (6 P. D. 119); Weber v. Weber and Pyne (1 Sw. & Tr. 219); Hurley v. Hurley and Menzies ([1891] P. 367) were referred to.

THE PRESIDENT held, that Hurley v. Hurley and Menzies was a direct authority for granting the motion, and made an order that the costs of the abortive trial should be taxed and paid to her.

Divorce. WADDELL v. WADDELL AND CRAIG. March 29.

Divorce—Husband's Petition—Co-respondent condemned in Costs—Death of Co-respondent before payment of Costs—Petitioner appointed Receiver of Co-respondent's Estate.

In this case the petitioner, the husband, had obtained a decree absolute dissolving his marriage on the ground of his wife's adultery with the co-respondent, and the Court condemned the co-respondent in costs. On the 17th of September, 1891, an order was personally served on the co-respondent directing him to pay the taxed costs, amounting to 199*l.* 4*s.* 5*d.*, and in December, 1891, an arrangement was made for the payment of these costs by instalments. At the commencement of March, 1892, the co-respondent died, before the entire sum was paid off, leaving estate the present value of which was estimated at something under 100*l.*, although there were possible assets which might bring the value of the estate up to 500*l.* On the 22nd of March, Jeune, J., made an order restraining the co-respondent's widow from dealing with his estate and effects, and restraining the Cheque Bank Limited, from parting with any money belonging to the deceased.

Bargrave Deane, now moved for a receiver of the estate and effects of the deceased, under Order XVII., rule 4, and Order XLII., rule 28.

Houghton, for the widow, contrà.

THE COURT made the order appointing the petitioner receiver of the deceased's estate as prayed, but directed that the order should remain in the registry for a week to enable the widow to decide whether she would take out administration and give security for the payment of the unpaid costs.

COURT OF APPEAL.

From Ch. Div. Evans v. Evans. April 11.

Deed—Construction—Rule in Shelley's Case—"To the use of such person or persons as at the decease of A. shall be his heir or heirs at law, and of the heirs and assigns of such person or persons."

This was an appeal by the defendant from a decision of Kekewich, J. (ante, p. 11), and was argued on the 30th and 31st of March.

Renshaw, Q.C., and L. H. Jenkins, for the appeal.

Warmington, Q.C., and H. M. Williams, for the plaintiff.

The Court (Lindley, Bowen, and Kay, L.JJ.) held, that the deed sufficiently expressed the intention that on the decease of O. E. the estate should go in fee simple, not to the heir or heirs of O. E. as such, but to the person or persons who at the time of his decease answered the description of his heir or co-heirs, as purchasers, and that the rule in Shelley's Case did not apply. The decision of the Court below was, therefore, reversed.

Trade-mark—Letters—Disclaimer—Patents, Designs, and Trade Marks Act, 1883 (46 & 47 Vict. c. 57), s. 64, sub-s. 2; s. 74, sub-s. 2; s. 77—Patents, Designs, and Trade Marks Act Amendment Act, 1888 (51 & 52 Vict. c. 50), ss. 10, 16.

The plaintiff was a corset manufacturer. He had registered four trade-marks for corsets. Each trade-mark consisted of a label bearing either a fancy name in combination with letters or a device in combination with letters. The letters in such combination on two of the labels were "W. R.," his name initials; he had in each application for registration disclaimed the right to the exclusive use of the added letters.

This was a motion for an interim injunction to restrain the defendants, a firm of corset manufacturers, from using the letters "W. R." on corsets, on the ground that the plaintiff had acquired for his corsets the name of "W. R." corsets, and that corsets bearing those initials were known as corsets of his manufacture. He had only recently used those letters in connection with corsets.

Cozens-Hardy, Q.C., and Sebastian, for the plaintiff:—"W. R." is a trade-mark not capable of registration as a trade-mark recently acquired; therefore the plaintiff is not prohibited by sect. 77 of the principal Act from suing in respect of that mark. Independently of that section, the plaintiff can sue.

Moulton, Q.C., and Swinfen Eady, for the defendants, contrà.

NORTH, J.:—The fact that the plaintiff has solemnly disclaimed the right to the exclusive use of the letters in question is a sufficient ground to prevent my granting the injunction asked for.

In re ROBERTSON, SANDERSON, & CO.'S APPLICATION; AND GILLON & CO.'S OPPOSITION.

Trade-mark—Registration—Notice of Opposition—Admissibility of Fresh Evidence—Leave to Amend Notice—Jurisdiction—Patents, &c. Act, 1883 (46 & 47 Vict. c. 57) s. 69, sub-s. 4—Patents, &c. Act, 1888 (51 & 52 Vict. c. 50), s. 13—Trade Marks Rules, 1890, rr. 26, 31, 54—Rules of the Supreme Court, 1883, Order XXVIII., r. 12.

This was a motion by Gillon & Co. asking for liberty to amend their original notice of opposition to the registration by Robertson & Co. of a trade-mark of which the words "The Original Mountain Dew Whisky" formed part. The notice of opposition was dated the 11th of March, 1891, the alleged ground of opposition being that the opponents themselves had used the words "Mountain Dew" before Robertson & Co. On the hearing of the application to register, on the 7th of July, 1891, Gillon & Co. desired to adduce evidence of prior user by other persons. The registrar, who heard the application, rejected the further evidence and disallowed the opposition, the opponents admitting that they themselves had not used the words as long as the applicants. Gillon & Co. did not ask the registrar for leave to amend their notice of opposition, but appealed to the Board of Trade, who referred the matter to the Court. They then applied to the Court by notice of motion to disallow the registration, and subsequently gave further notice of the present motion for leave to amend their original notice of opposition.

Hastings, Q.C., and J. Cutler, for the motion, contended that the Court had jurisdiction to grant leave to amend. They referred to the Trade Marks Rules, 1890, rr. 31, 54, and to Order XXVIII., r. 12, of the Supreme Court Rules.

Sir R. E. Webster, A.G., and Sebastian, for Robertson & Co., argued that the application having been heard and determined by the registrar, a fresh case could not now be made before this Court.

STIRLING, J., said that the registrar was right in rejecting the further evidence, because by rule 31, sub-rule 8, no opposition is allowed in respect of any ground not stated in the notice of opposition. The only jurisdiction of the Court on the present application was, by sect. 69, sub-sect. 4, of the Act of 1883, to hear and determine the appeal. The Court had heard the appeal and determined that the registrar was right. No leave to amend had been asked from the registrar, and the Court had no jurisdiction to give such leave now.

In re WILLS'S TRADE-MARKS.

Practice—Discovery—Trade-mark—Production of Documents—Form of Order—Rules of Court, 1883, Order XXXI., r. 12.

An application to register a trade-mark was opposed, and the applicant thereupon moved to expunge the trade-marks of the opponents from the register. These marks consisted of the device of a star and the word "star" used in reference to tobacco. At the request of the Court the applicant stated the grounds on which his motion was based. The evidence was put in, and all that remained was the cross-examination of the applicant and one of the opponents. The applicant took out a summons asking that the opponents might make an affidavit of documents "relating to the matters in question." The opponents objected to give discovery in such general terms, and contended that it would be oppressive to require them to set forth in a schedule all the labels and documents relating to their trade-marks.

Renshaw, Q.C., and J. Cutler, for the applicant.

Warmington, Q.C., and Hopkinson, Q.C., for the opponents.

April 5. KEKEWICH, J., held, that in cases of this description a general order for discovery ought not necessarily to be made, for the nature of the discovery must depend upon the particular circumstances. His Lordship made the usual order for discovery with modifications limiting the documents to be produced to those relating to particular questions indicated, and directed that, notwithstanding the generality of the order, the opponents should not be bound to set forth in schedules, or otherwise mention, all the labels or other documents constituting a class, but it should suffice, as regarded each class of labels or other documents, to mention a specimen or specimens fairly representative of the whole.

COURT OF APPEAL.

From Q. B. D. April 8.

Lee v. Dangar, Grant & Co. and Others.

Execution—Concurrent Writs of Fi. Fa.—Double Seizure—Sheriff

—Poundage — Excessive Demand from Execution Debtor — "Offence"— Penalty — "Mens rea" — Mistake — Sheriffs Act, 1887 (50 & 51 Vict. c. 55), s. 29—Order as to Fees, August 31, 1888—Rules of Supreme Court, 1883, Order XLII., r. 17.

Appeal by the plaintiff (an execution debtor) against the judgment of Denman, J. (Weekly Notes [1891] p. 204; [1892] 1 Q. B. 231).

The facts are fully stated in the former report. There was a cross-appeal by the defendants, Nathan & Co., the sheriff's officers.

Gorell Barnes, Q.C., and C. J. Edwards, for the plaintiff.

Finlay, Q.C., and A. T. Lawrence, for the execution creditors, and their solicitors, Messrs. Hollams & Co.

Cock, Q.C., and Rose-Innes, for Nathan & Co.

THE COURT (Lord Esher, M.R., and Fry and Lopes, L.JJ.) dismissed both appeals. They held that the issuing of concurrent writs of execution, when the debtor had goods in more than one county, was clearly legal, and it was the duty of each sheriff to seize the goods of the debtor within his bailiwick. No action would lie against either the creditor or the sheriff in the absence of evidence of malice, of which there was no evidence in the present case. As to the demand by the sheriff's officers of poundage and fees to which they were not entitled as against the execution debtor, their Lordships held that, in order that an "offence" should be committed within the meaning of sect. 29 of the Sheriffs Act, 1887, there must be something in the nature of a criminal offence, and it was essential that there should be a mens rea, and for a mere blunder the sheriff was not liable to the penalty inflicted by the Act. But the Act left untouched any civil remedy which the execution debtor would before the Act have had against the sheriff. In the present case the sheriff's officers were liable to the plaintiff for having remained in possession a day too long; but Denman, J., had rightly assessed the damages at one farthing, and given the plaintiff no costs.

From Ch. Div. YOUNG v. THOMAS. April 8.

Practice—Appeal for Costs—Motion for Judgment in Default of Defence—Discretion of Judge—Rules of Supreme Court, 1883, Order XXVII., r. 11.

In this case the plaintiffs had brought five actions for declarations of title and accounts of rents and profits in respect of five undivided shares in three separate estates against the defendants who were in possession of the estates. Each share was of very small value. The several defendants appeared and called for statements of claim, but put in no defence. The plaintiffs accordingly moved for judgment under Order XXVII., rule 11, which provides that "if the defendant makes default in delivering a defence, the plaintiff may set down the action on motion for judgment, and such judgment shall be given as upon the statement of claim the Court or judge shall consider the plaintiff entitled to."

North, J., by whom the motion was heard, gave judgment for the plaintiffs in all the actions for the relief prayed in the statements of claim, but refused to give the plaintiffs their costs up to the hearing. He, however, gave the plaintiffs leave, under sect. 49 of the Judicature Act, 1873, to appeal from his decision as to the costs. The plaintiffs accordingly appealed.

Cutler, Q.C., and Oswald, for the appellants, contended that the judge had no jurisdiction to disallow the costs of the plaintiffs on a motion for judgment in default of defence under Order XXVII., rule 11, in the absence of any misconduct on the part of the plaintiffs; and further, that the judge had looked at other facts, not appearing in the statements of claim, which he was not justified in doing; and they relied on the observations of Jessel, M.R., in Cooper v. Whittingham (15 Ch. Div. 501).

Upjohn, for the defendants, was not called upon.

LINDLEY, L.J., said that rule 11 of Order XXVII. was not the only rule which must be looked at in deciding the question on this appeal. Order LXV., rule 1, must also be considered, which provides that, subject to the provisions of the Acts and Rules, the costs of and incident to all proceedings in the Supreme Court should be in the discretion of the Court or judge. The proper interpretation to be put on Order XXVII., rule 11, was that, so far as the relief claimed by the plaintiff was concerned, the judge was to look at the statements of claim and nothing else; but there was nothing to deprive the judge of the discretion as to costs given him by the other rule, as in any other case. Even on an appeal with special leave, it was not the duty of the Court of Appeal to review the discretion of the judge as to costs, for that would be only to substitute the discretion of this Court for that of the judge. If the judge had proceeded on some erroneous view of law, or had not really exercised his discretion at all, then the Court of Appeal would review his decision as to costs, even without leave to appeal having been given. But there was nothing of that kind in the present case. The Court ought not, therefore, to review the judge's discretion, and the appeal must be dismissed.

BOWEN, L.J., gave judgment to the same effect.

KAY, L.J., concurred.

Summons by the tenant for life in possession under a will and a deed, asking for a declaration that the will and the deed constituted, for the purposes of the Settled Land Acts, one settlement.

Under the will of George Byng, dated the 11th of Septemt

1844, George Henry Charles, Earl of Strafford, was tenant for life in possession of an estate, called the Wrotham Estate, which was devised by the will on limitations in strict settlement. By a deed dated the 12th of June, 1845, the testator declared the trusts of a sum of Consols which he had transferred to trustees. The fund was to be held on trust for sale, and to lay out the proceeds of sale from time to time in the purchase of land, which was to be settled on limitations identical with those of the will, except that two terms of years were interposed. The trusts of those terms were now satisfied. The deed contained a provision for the apportionment between capital and income of the profits derived from the working of mines, and of the rents and royalties received therefrom. This provision did not correspond with the apportionment made by the Settled Land Act. The will contained no such provision. The same persons were trustees of both the will and the deed. Some land had been purchased under the trusts of the deed, but there remained in the hands of the trustees (as trustees of the deed) a considerable sum which had not yet been laid out in the purchase of land. The applicant was tenant for life in possession under the deed.

The object of the present application was to obtain hereafter the sanction of the Court to the application of some of the money which was in the hands of the trustees (as trustees of the deed) in paying the cost of improvements upon the estate which was settled by the will.

Howard Wright, for the applicant.

NORTH, J., held that for the present purpose the will and the deed constituted one settlement. He thought that in principle the decision in In re Mundy's Settled Estates ([1891] 1 Ch. 399) governed the present case, although in that case the limitations of the deed were declared by reference to those of the will, instead of being separately stated, as in the present case. The money could be applied only in paying for improvements which were equally authorized by both instruments. Application could be made in chambers as to the proposed improvements.

Administration—Company—Shares—Lien—Vendor and Purchaser.

The defendant to this action was the executrix and widow of the testator in the action. Part of the estate consisted of ninety shares in the Argus Printing Company. In June, 1889, before the action was commenced, the defendant sold the ninety shares to one Cohen; she executed a separate transfer of eighty of the shares in blank as to the date and the name of the transferee, and delivered the certificates of the shares. Cohen sold the eighty shares to James Head on June 13, 1889; he handed over the certificate of those shares to Head; the transfer was dated the 25th of November, 1881, filled in with the name of James Head as transferee, executed by him, and lodged with the company for registration in November, 1889. In the meanwhile (namely, in September, 1889) a dividend had been declared by the Argus Printing Company and paid to most of the registered shareholders. The company, in exercise of a lien thus possessed, appropriated the dividend on the testator's ninety shares, amounting to 131*l.* 6*s.* 5*d.*, in part satisfaction of a sum for which the testator's estate was liable to them, but in February, 1890, registered the eighty shares in the name of James Head.

This was a claim by James Head for payment to him out of the estate in priority to the general creditors of 116*l.* 14*s.* 8*d.*, the amount of dividend stopped in respect of his eighty shares.

North, J. In re ORMROD'S SETTLED ESTATE. April 12.

Settled Land—Improvements—Expenses of Opposition to Bill in Parliament—Payment out of Capital Moneys—Settled Land Act, 1882, ss. 21, 25, 26, 36; Settled Land Act, 1890, s. 15.

Summons by the tenant for life in possession of a settled estate, asking that the trustees of the settlement, for the purposes of the Settled Land Acts, might be directed to apply capital moneys in their hands in paying the cost of certain permanent improvements which had been executed upon the estate, and also the costs of the opposition by the trustees to some bills in Parliament which contained provisions injuriously affecting the estate. This opposition was in the years 1876, 1878, and 1879. Of the improvements in question, some had been effected before, and the others after, the Settled Land Act, 1882, came into operation, and those which were executed after were executed without any scheme being previously submitted (as required by sect. 26 of the Act of 1882) for approval to the trustees or to the Court. All the improvements were executed during the lifetime of a previous tenant for life (the applicant being then the first tenant for life in remainder), and the cost was paid by the previous tenant for life; but the applicant gave her some bonds to secure the repayment to her of the money which she had thus expended. The applicant desired to have the amount owing upon those bonds paid out of capital moneys in the hands of the trustees.

Cozens-Hardy, Q.C., and A. Bailey, for the applicant.

Wace, for remaindermen.

F. L. Wright, for the trustees.

NORTH, J., held that, by virtue of sect. 15 of the Settled Land Act, 1890, he had jurisdiction to direct the payment out of the capital moneys of the cost of the improvements which had been executed since the Act of 1882 came into operation, and also that by virtue of sect. 36 of that Act he could direct the payment out of the capital moneys of the costs of the Parliamentary opposition, and he directed payment accordingly in each case. With regard to the cost of the improvements executed before the commencement of the Act of 1882, he would not decide that there was no jurisdiction to direct payment out of the capital moneys. But, assuming that there was jurisdiction, the liability must have been incurred by the tenant for life with the deliberate intention of paying it out of income, there being at that time no other mode in which it could be paid; and his Lordship saw no reason for altering what had been done.

Husband and Wife—Real Estate of Married Woman—Devolution—Tenancy by the Curtesy—Married Women's Property Act, 1882 (45 & 46 Vict. c. 75), ss. 1, sub-s. 1, 5.

This was an action brought by an infant against his father for the purpose of determining the question whether the father was entitled to an estate by the curtesy in certain real estate which had belonged to his wife, the plaintiff's mother. The defendant and his wife were married before the commencement of the Married Women's Property Act, 1882. After that Act came into operation the wife became entitled to the legal estate in an undivided share of certain real property, which she did not dispose of during her lifetime.

The question was whether sect. 1, sub-sect. 1, of the Act, which provides that so far as regards the acquiring, holding, or disposing of real and personal property, the rights of a married woman shall be the same as if she were a feme sole, had the effect of depriving the husband of his right to an estate by the curtesy in the wife's property.

T. L. Wilkinson, for the plaintiff.

Abraham, for the defendant.

STIRLING, J., said that the operation of the Act ought not to be extended beyond its express provisions. Those provisions gave a married woman the same rights, as to the acquiring, holding, and disposing of property, as an unmarried woman had, but did not take away the rights of her husband upon the devolution of any property belonging to her of which she did not dispose. In this case the husband was entitled to an estate by the curtesy in the property.

Will—Construction—Administration—Gift, whether Specific or Residuary—Gift by English Testator of his Property "in England"—Payment of Debts and Funeral and Testamentary Expenses.

A testator who was domiciled, and whose will was proved, in England, after directing payment of his just debts, funeral and testamentary expenses, and making a specific bequest of household chattels, gave all and every sum or sums of money that might be in his house at the time of his death, or which might be due to him from his bankers or army agents or any other person or persons in England, and all his money in the funds and elsewhere in England, and also all bills of exchange or remittances which might have been forwarded to him from India at the time of his decease, upon trusts for one of his two daughters for her life and for her children, and gave all his Government securities deposited in the Agra Bank in Calcutta, together with all interest thereon that might not have been forwarded to him at the time of his decease, and likewise all other money and securities for money and personal estate and effects which might be belonging to him in India, upon trusts in equal moieties for each of his two daughters for life and for her children respectively. The testator had no property elsewhere than in England or India. The trustees and executors of the will paid the debts and funeral and testamentary expenses out of the English and Indian properties rateably, according to their respective values at the testator's death. Upon the death of one of the daughters, the question arose whether this mode of payment was right.

Dibdin, for persons interested in the Indian property only, contended that the gift of the Indian property was specific, while the gift of the English property was general, and that, therefore, the debts and funeral and testamentary expenses ought to be borne exclusively by the latter property.

Peck, for persons otherwise interested, was not called upon.

KEKEWICH, J., referred to Robertson v. Broadbent (8 App. Cas. at p. 820), and held, that the gifts of the English and Indian properties stood on the same footing, both being alike specific, and that the course adopted by the trustees and executors was therefore, right.

IN THE GOODS OF ANN WILKINSON.

Will—Direction to pay Debts held to constitute Executor according to the tenor.

Ann Wilkinson, late of Abercrombie Street, Battersea, in the County of Surrey, died on the 20th of January, 1892, leaving a will duly executed, dated the 21st of March, 1890. The will commenced in these terms: "I hereby revoke all wills, codicils, and other testamentary dispositions heretofore made by me and declare this to be my said will. I appoint Mr. George Torkington and Mr. Eli Wilkinson hereinafter called my trustees of this my will." The will then proceeded to make various specific bequests, and concluded in these words: "It is my wish and desire that my trustees do pay my funeral and all other debts owing by me as soon as possible after my interment. It is also my wish that the residue of my estate is equally divided unto the above said parties."

Searle, moved for a grant of probate to Mr. Torkington and Mr. Wilkinson as executors according to the tenor, and cited In the Goods of Collett (Dea. & Sw. 274), and In the Goods of Fry (1 Hagg. Ecc. 80), in which it had been held that a direction to pay debts had been held to constitute an executor according to the tenor.

JEUNE, J.:—I think, on the construction of the will, these gentlemen are executors according to the tenor, and I make the grant as prayed.

COURT OF APPEAL.

From Bkcy. Ct. In re ARTHUR BURR. April 29.
Ex parte BOARD OF TRADE.

Bankruptcy—Receiving Order—Scheme of Arrangement—Approval by Court—Board of Trade—Right of Appeal—"Person aggrieved"—Bankruptcy Act, 1883, s. 104—Bankruptcy Act, 1890, s. 3, sub-s. 9—Bankruptcy Rules, Nov. 26, 1890, r. 24.

Appeal by the Board of Trade against an order made by Mr. Registrar Giffard, approving a scheme of arrangement of the affairs of Arthur Burr, against whom a receiving order had been made. The scheme had been accepted by the statutory majority of the creditors. The official receiver reported that the terms of the scheme were reasonable and calculated to benefit the general body of the creditors, and also that the scheme provided reasonable security for the payment of not less than 7*s.* 6*d.* in the pound on all the unsecured debts provable against the debtor's estate. The official receiver further reported that the debtor had brought on or contributed to his failure by rash and hazardous speculations; that he had not kept proper books of account; and that he had on two previous occasions been adjudicated bankrupt. On the hearing of the debtor's application for the approval of the scheme the official receiver appeared, and said that he had no objection to make. The registrar, after hearing evidence, approved of the scheme.

The Board of Trade appealed.

Sir E. Clarke, S.G., and Muir Mackenzie, for the Board of Trade.

Bigham, Q.C., and F. Cooper Willis, for the debtor, took the preliminary objection, that the Board of Trade were not entitled to appeal after their officer, the official receiver, had reported in favour of the scheme, and had in fact supported the application for its approval before the registrar.

THE COURT (Lord Esher, M.R., and Fry and Lopes, L.JJ.) held, that rule 24 of the Bankruptcy Rules of the 26th of November, 1890, gave the Board of Trade a right of appeal.

The appeal was then heard on the merits, and

THE COURT allowed it, and discharged the order of the registrar. They were of opinion that it was not shewn that the scheme provided reasonable security for the payment of not less than 7*s.* 6*d.* in the pound. They also held that, even if this had been shewn, the Court was not bound under s. 3, sub-s. 9, of the Bankruptcy Act, 1890, to approve of the scheme, and that, having regard to the offences against the bankruptcy law mentioned in sect. 8, sub-sect. 3 (b), (f), and (k), which the debtor was found to have committed, the scheme ought not to be approved by the Court.

On the application of the official receiver by counsel, an immediate adjudication of bankruptcy was made against the debtor.

CASTLEGATE STEAMSHIP COMPANY, LIMITED v. DEMPSEY AND OTHERS.

Ship—Charterparty—Demurrage—Cargo "to be discharged with all dispatch as customary"—Effect of Strike at Port of Discharge.

Appeal from the judgment of Wright, J., at the trial without a jury (reported [1892] 1 Q. B. 54).

The action was by shipowners against charterers for damages for delay in discharging cargo. . . . . .

The facts were as follows:—The charterparty provided that the ship should load a cargo of deals and sleepers in the Baltic and "proceed to Garston and deliver the cargo as customary on being paid freight, &c. . . . . the cargo to be supplied alongside as fast as the steamer can take it in, Sundays and legal holidays excepted, and 'to be discharged with all dispatch as customary,' and ten days on demurrage over and above the said lying days at 6*d.* per nett register ton per day." It was customary at Garston for the dock company to do the whole of the work of discharging vessels both for shipowners and charterers. By reason of a strike of dock labourers during the unloading of the cargo at Garston, four days' delay occurred.

Wright, J., held that the defendants, the charterers, were liable for damages for such delay.

Kennedy, Q.C., and Joseph Walton, for the defendants.

Barnes, Q.C., and Pickford, for the plaintiffs.

THE COURT (Lord Esher, M.R., Fry, L.J., and Lopes, L.J.) were of opinion that the true construction of the stipulation of the charterparty with regard to the discharge of the cargo was that it did not give any definite time for such discharge, and, therefore, the contract was that the cargo must be discharged with all reasonable dispatch, having regard to the actual circumstances which occurred; that the defendants were, therefore, not liable, and that the appeal must be allowed.

Appeal allowed.

In re RELIANCE PERMANENT BENEFIT BUILDING SOCIETY.

Building Society—Winding-up—Advanced and Preference Shares—Liability of Members inter se—Losses—Contribution.

This society was registered under 6 & 7 Will. 4, c. 32, but had never been incorporated. There were three classes of members—advanced members, unadvanced or depositing members, and holders of preference shares.

The rules provided for the creation of advanced and preference shares. By rule xix. (1) the directors were authorized to issue preference shares bearing a guaranteed rate of interest; (2) members holding preference shares were not (in respect thereof) to be liable to contribute to the expenses or losses of the society, nor to participate in the profits thereof, hold office, or vote. The certificate issued to the holders of preference shares stated that the holder was entitled to all the benefits and exemptions contained in the rules; that the full amount of preference shares would be paid six months after notice; and that the holders were not liable to contribute to the expenses of the society.

The society was now in liquidation, and, though there were considerable assets after payment of all the outside creditors, there was not enough to pay the preference shareholders in full, and the question raised by the present application was, whether the advanced and unadvanced members were bound to provide the additional money necessary to pay all the preference shareholders in full, in accordance with the contract under which those shares had been issued.

Byrne, Q.C., and Colt, for the liquidator.

Farwell, Q.C., and H. Greenwood, for the preference shareholders.

Levett, Q.C., and W. Baker, for the advanced and unadvanced members, contended, that the freedom from liability to contribute further money to meet losses did not exempt the preference shareholders from suffering loss by way of deduction in the event of the insufficiency of the assets, and that the other members were not bound to provide any further money in the present case.

CHITTY, J., held, that the preference shareholders were not liable to contribute to expenses or losses, either by way of payment, or by deduction from the amount already paid by them in respect of their shares, but were entitled to repayment of such amounts in full, with interest at 5*l.* per cent. per annum to the date of actual payment; that the whole of the losses must be borne by the advanced and unadvanced members in fair proportions, the unadvanced being liable to contribute by way of deduction, and the advanced by way of further payment on redemption.

All orders made on these petitions would be completed by the registrars of the Chancery Division attending the various judges by whom such orders were pronounced, but all subsequent proceedings would be taken before Vaughan Williams, J., unless, for special reasons, the judge making the order should think fit to retain the matter under rule 1 of the Companies (Winding-up) Rules, 1892.

MERCANTILE INVESTMENT AND GENERAL TRUST COMPANY v. RIVER PLATE TRUST, LOAN, AND AGENCY COMPANY.

Land out of the Jurisdiction—Mortgage—Receiver.

The plaintiff company were the holders of debentures issued by the International Company of Mexico, a company incorporated by the Legislature of Connecticut and domiciled in the United States. The debentures were issued in accordance with a deed of trust made between the International Company of Mexico of the first part, the River Plate Trust, Loan, and Agency Company, as trustees for the debenture-holders, of the second part, and individuals domiciled in England who constituted a committee of advice and control for the protection of the English debenture-holders, of the third part. The deed hypothecated a tract of land in Lower California, Mexico (that belonged to the International Company of Mexico under certain concessions from the company), to the trustees of the deed to secure money payable under the debentures.

The defendants to the action were the trustee company, the members of the committee of advice and control, the International Company of Mexico, and the Mexican Land and Colonization Company, a company registered in England, having for one of its objects the taking over of the assets, liabilities, and business of the International Company of Mexico.

In order that any hypothecation should be enforced under Mexican law, it was necessary that the hypothecation should be registered in Mexico. It was in evidence that the hypothecation to the trustee company had not been, and could not now, be registered. The land the subject of the hypothecation had been validly transferred to the Mexican Land and Colonization Company, and duly registered in Mexico, with notice of the debenture trust deed and the existence of debentures. Most of the debenture-holders under the deed of 1888 had accepted preference shares in the Mexican Land and Colonization Company in lieu of the debentures. Default was made in paying to the plaintiff company interest on the debentures held by them, and they had obtained judgment in an action in the Common Law Division against the International Company of Mexico for the amount of interest in arrear. They now sued on behalf of themselves and other debenture-holders to enforce their security.

The International Company of Mexico had not been served with notice of a writ in this action. A motion was made on behalf of the plaintiffs against the defendants other than the International Company of Mexico, for a receiver of the rents and profits and proceeds of sale, and money arising from the land in Mexico charged with payment of the debentures, and also of property in England alleged to have been received or receivable by the Mexican Land and Colonization Company, representing part of the land in Mexico charged in favour of the debenture-holders.

Sir H. Davey, Q.C., and Kirby, for the Mexican Land and Colonization Company, contrà.

W. F. Hamilton, for the other defendants within the jurisdiction.

NORTH, J., held, that the Mexican Land and Colonization Company and their directors were responsible individually for any misapplication of proceeds of land in Mexico equitably charged with payment of money due on the debentures; but that, on the evidence before him, it was not shewn that there was any property in England applicable to discharge what was due on the debentures, and that it was shewn that a receiver of property in Mexico could not usefully be appointed. He refused the motion.

In re BOROUGH OF PORTSMOUTH (KINGSTON, FRATTON, AND SOUTHSEA) TRAMWAYS COMPANY.

Company incorporated by Act of Parliament — Winding-up — Right of Debenture-holder to present Petition — Statutory Powers of Public Advantage.

This was a petition by a debenture-holder to wind up the above-named company. The company was incorporated in 1883 by an Act of Parliament which incorporated the Companies Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, and gave the company power to raise money upon debentures. In 1886, the company issued debentures, in the form prescribed by Schedule (c) to the Companies Clauses Act, 1845. The time fixed for the repayment of the principal sums owing upon the security of the debentures had expired. In 1887, the company, by another Act of Parliament, obtained further borrowing powers under which they issued a second series of debentures, the time for repayment of which had also now expired. The petitioner, who was the holder of first debentures, had brought an action on behalf of himself and all other debenture-holders, and had obtained judgment and the appointment of a receiver; but he had not obtained payment of his debt. He then presented this petition to wind up the company.

Hastings, Q.C., and Bradford, for the petitioner.

Bethell, for the company.

Birrell, for holders of second debentures and for shareholders, contended that the petitioner, having by the constitution of the company a special remedy in the appointment of a receiver, was not entitled ex debito justitiæ to a winding-up order; and further, that the order ought not to be made, on the ground that the company had statutory powers which were of public advantage. He relied upon In re Herne Bay Waterworks Company (10 Ch. Div. 42), and In re Exmouth Docks Company (Law Rep. 17 Eq. 181).

STIRLING, J., said that he could not follow the reasoning of Vice-Chancellor Malins in In re Herne Bay Waterworks Company, which moreover differed from the present case, in that the petitioner had not there recovered judgment against the company. His Lordship failed to see how a debenture-holder whose debt had become payable and who had exhausted all his other remedies without obtaining payment should be in a worse position than an ordinary creditor who, it was admitted, might present a petition and obtain a winding-up order. His remedy as a debenture-holder did not deprive him of his rights as an ordinary creditor. The point as to the undertaking being of public advantage was met by In re Barton-upon-Humber Water Company (42 Ch. Div. 585), and the petitioner was entitled to the order he claimed.

County Court — Jurisdiction — Admiralty — Demurrage — "Property to which the Cause relates" — 31 & 32 Vict. c. 71, s. 21, sub-s. 1.

Application for a prohibition.

The plaintiffs, who resided at Newport, in Monmouthshire, brought an action as assignees of a bill of lading in the Newport County Court against the defendants, who resided at Wisbeach, to recover 40*l.* demurrage for damage to cargo caused by the detention at Wisbeach of a ship of which the defendants were the charterers. At the commencement of the proceedings the ship was away at sea, but the cargo was in the district of the Newport County Court. The defendants applied for a prohibition to prohibit the plaintiffs from proceeding with the action in the County Court at Newport.

Arthur Pritchard, for the defendants.

Joseph Walton, for the plaintiffs.

THE COURT (Pollock, B., and Vaughan Williams, J.) held, that the case was one in which property to which the cause related was in the district of the Newport County Court at the commencement of the proceedings within the meaning of the County Courts Admiralty Jurisdiction Act, 1868 (31 & 32 Vict. c. 71), s. 21, sub-s. 1, and therefore the action was rightly brought in that Court.

Building Line—Metropolis Management Amendment Act, 1862 (25 & 26 Vict. c. 102), s. 75—11 & 12 Vict. c. 43, s. 11—Certificate of Architect—Time for making Complaint.

This was an appeal from a decision of Denman and A. L. Smith, JJ., reversing a decision of magistrates who had refused to order a building to be pulled down because it was beyond the building line. The complaint was made on the 28th of October, 1891. The building had, by the 27th of April, 1891, been carried up to the joists of the first floor. The architect certified the building line on the 6th of August, 1891. The builder contended that the complaint was too late, as being beyond six months from the time when the matter of complaint arose. The County Council contended that the matter of complaint did not arise till the architect had certified the building line.

Channell, Q.C., and Macmorran, for the appeal.

Finlay, Q.C., and H. C. Biron, for the Council.

THE COURT (Lindley and Kay, L.JJ.) held, that the ground of complaint arose when the builder commenced building beyond what was afterwards certified to be the building line, and that the complaint was brought too late.

English Court—Jurisdiction—Action for Damages for Trespass to Land in Foreign Country—Defendant resident within Jurisdiction—Abolition of Local Venue by Judicature Act.

Held, by FRY and LOPES, L.JJ. (LORD ESHER, M.R., dissenting), that the High Court has now jurisdiction to entertain an action for damages in respect of trespass to land situate in a foreign country against a defendant resident within the jurisdiction. The cases in which it was formerly held that there was no jurisdiction in such a case depended upon the old rule of local venue; but, now that local venue has been abolished by the Judicature Act, the difficulty in the way of jurisdiction has been removed.

Per LORD ESHER, M.R.:—The objection to the jurisdiction was founded on what may be called "international" venue, and the abolition of "municipal" local venue has made no alteration.

Landlord and Tenant—Distress — Bailiff — Law of Distress Amendment Act, 1888 (51 & 52 Vict. c. 21), s. 7.

Application by plaintiff for judgment or new trial.

The action was for trespass by a wrongful distress. The defendant was the managing director of Jennings Brothers, Limited, a brewery company, and had in person levied a distress for rent upon the goods of the plaintiff, a tenant of the company. The Law of Distress Amendment Act, 1888, s. 7, provides that no person shall act as a bailiff to levy a distress for rent, unless he shall be authorized to act as a bailiff by a certificate in writing under the hand of a county court judge; and that if any person not holding a certificate shall levy a distress contrary to the provisions of the Act, he shall be deemed to have committed a trespass. The defendant had no such certificate. The learned judge at the trial held that the action was not maintainable.

Landlord and Tenant—Covenant for Quiet Enjoyment—Interruption—Underlease—Re-entry by Original Lessor for Breach of Covenant.

Application by defendant for judgment or new trial.

The action was for breach of a covenant for quiet enjoymen

In 1857 two houses were demised to the defendant's father for a term of ninety-nine years, the lease containing a covenant to repair, and a condition of re-entry for non-payment of rent or breach of covenant. In 1863 the defendant's father granted an underlease of one of the houses included in the original lease to one Daymont. The underlease contained a covenant by the lessor for quiet enjoyment of the demised premises by the lessee, "without any interruption from or by him, the said lessor, his executors, administrators, or assigns, or by any person or persons whomsoever, lawfully claiming by, through, or under him." The plaintiff was the assignee of the underlease, and the original lease had become vested in the defendant. The owners of the reversion upon the original lease recovered possession of the premises upon a condition of re-entry therein contained for non-payment of rent and breach of covenant by the defendant. The plaintiff thereupon sued the defendant upon the covenant for quiet enjoyment in the underlease. The learned judge at the trial left the case to the jury, who found a verdict for the plaintiff for 500*l.* damages.

Crump, Q.C., and H. E. Duke, for the defendant.

Herbert Reed, for the plaintiff.

THE COURT (Lord Esher, M.R., Fry, L.J., and Lopes, L.J.) held, that there was no breach of the covenant for quiet enjoyment in the underlease, the interruption being the act of the superior landlord, not that of the sub-lessor or any person claiming by, through, or under him. They therefore granted the application and entered judgment for the defendant.

Company—Business of the Courts—Reduction of Capital—Companies Act, 1867, ss. 9, 12—The Companies (Memorandum of Association) Act, 1890—The Companies (Winding-up) Act 1890—Order of the 26th of March, 1892—Jurisdiction of Chancery Division.

On this petition for the confirmation of a resolution for reduction of the company's capital being opened, a question was raised whether, having regard to the recent order of the Lord Chancellor of the 26th of March last, transferring the jurisdiction of the High Court, under the Companies (Winding-up) Act, 1890, to Vaughan Williams, J., the other judges of the Chancery Division had jurisdiction to entertain applications like the present except "upon the request" of Vaughan Williams, J.

CHITTY, J., said, that when the Companies (Winding-up) Act, 1890, was passed, the jurisdiction to confirm resolutions for the reduction of the capital of limited companies was vested in the Chancery Division of the High Court, and this jurisdiction was not taken away or altered by the Winding-up Act, 1890, or the order made pursuant to it by the Lord Chancellor on the 26th of March last; the simple effect of this order being, that a particular portion of the High Court's jurisdiction was, from henceforth, to be exercised by Vaughan Williams, J.; and it was therefore clear that that order did not apply to petitions for reduction of capital like the present. A similar reasoning might be applied to applications under the Companies (Memorandum of Association) Act, 1890. His Lordship also stated that he had consulted North, Stirling, and Kekewich, JJ., on this matter, and was authorized by them to say that they concurred in the judgment he had just given.

Under these circumstances, his Lordship made the usual order confirming the resolution, and added that it was not necessary for him to act "on the request" of Vaughan Williams, J., and that he had not done so.

Administration—Business of Testator carried on by Executor—Goods supplied to Business by Executor—Account of Profits.

This was an administration action. The testator's estate consisted in part of an hotel, which, at the time of his death, was occupied by a tenant. After the expiration of the lease, the executor himself carried on the business of the hotel. He was a brewer, and also a wine and spirit merchant, and he himself supplied the beer and the wines and spirits which were consumed at the hotel, some of the beer having been brewed by himself. On the further consideration of the action, it was ordered that an account should be taken of the profits made by the executor in carrying on the business of hotel-keeper at or in connection with the hotel, from the date when he commenced carrying it on, he being entitled to all just allowances. A question arose before the chief clerk as to the principle on which this account should be taken. The chief clerk was of opinion that the executor must account for all profits made by him for the purpose of carrying on the hotel, and that in those cases in which he had purchased at wholesale prices the beer and wines and spirits which he had supplied to the hotel, he must produce vouchers shewing what he had paid for the goods respectively. In cases in which he had supplied beer brewed by himself, the plaintiffs must produce evidence to shew what the profit would ordinarily be on the amount supplied to the hotel. The question was adjourned for the opinion of the judge.

Cozens-Hardy, Q.C., and C. B. McLaren, for the plaintiffs.

Everitt, Q.C., and Warrington, for the executor and for the beneficiaries under the will.

NORTH, J., held, that the onus was upon the executor to shew what the goods which he had supplied to the hotel had cost him. As to those which he had purchased, he must produce vouchers shewing what he had paid for them. As to the beer of his own brewing, he must shew what would be a fair allowance to be made to him in respect of its cost. It was conceded that this allowance should include a fair proportion of establishment expenses and of interest on capital, treating the brewery as part of the capital. Apart from this concession, his Lordship was not satisfied that this would not give the executor more than he was entitled to.

WORLEY v. VESTRY OF ST. MARY ABBOTTS, KENSINGTON.

Metropolis Management Amendment Act, 1862 (25 & 26 Vict. c. 102), s. 75—Building Line—Open Ground—Rebuilding.

The plaintiff had a building lease of certain land fronting Kensington Road on the south. On the west of his land was a street called Kensington Court. The front of the house on the east of the plaintiff's land fronting Kensington Road was level with the plaintiff's land; the building line of the houses fronting southward to Kensington Road west of Kensington Court was farther back than the plaintiff's land. The plaintiff had commenced to build up to the end of his land fronting Kensington Road. The superintending architect of the London County Council had certified that the building line of the plaintiff's land facing Kensington Road was on a level with the houses on the west side of Kensington Court. The Vestry of Kensington had served notice on the plaintiff to set his line of building back in accordance with the certificate of the superintending architect. The plaintiff claimed an injunction to restrain the defendant vestry from taking proceedings before a magistrate to compel him to conform with their notice. The action was brought on on motion for an interlocutory injunction treated as the trial of the action. The ground of the plaintiff's action was that a portion of his frontage was the site of an old building, and that, therefore, under the decision of Lord Auckland v. Westminster District Board of Works (Law Rep. 7 Ch. 597), sect. 75 of the Metropolis Management Act, 1862, did not apply.

The facts relating to the site were:—In 1873, on the north side of Kensington Road at the east end were two houses, Colby House and Kensington House. Colby House projected into the road; Kensington House was situated some way back. In that year both houses were pulled down; a portion of the site of Colby House was thrown into the road. A mansion was erected by Baron Grant on a portion of the site of the two houses and the appurtenant ground not abutting on the road, and the rest of the site was appropriated for garden. The mansion was pulled down in 1880. The plaintiff's premises comprised a part of the site of the mansion and grounds, including a portion of the site of Colby House, which abutted on the road.

Cozens-Hardy, Q.C., and Meates, for the plaintiff.

Brice, Q.C., and Theobald, for the defendant vestry.

NORTH, J., held that there had been no continuing intention to rebuild; that the owner had treated the whole frontage as intended to be kept open; and that the site was within sect. 75 of the Metropolis Management Act, 1862. He dismissed the action.

Lease—Forfeiture—Conveyancing and Law of Property Act, 1881 (44 & 45 Vict. c. 41), s. 14, sub-ss. 1, 2—Mode of Procedure.

This was an originating summons for the purpose of obtaining relief under sect. 14 of the Conveyancing and Law of Property Act, 1881, against forfeiture of leases. The plaintiffs were the building lessee and his mortgagee of certain houses at South Tottenham. The defendant was the ground landlord.

In June, 1891, the defendant served notices, in pursuance of sect. 14, sub-sect. 1, of the Conveyancing and Law of Property Act, 1881, on the plaintiffs in respect of the several houses. Each notice required the plaintiffs to do the repairs specified in a schedule within three months, "and also to forthwith pay to the said Arthur Pearce the sum of 2*l.* 2*s.* for the expenses which have been incurred by the said Arthur Pearce for surveyor's fees and solicitor's charges by reason of such breach of covenants as aforesaid," and gave further notice, that in default of making the repairs, "or in making the compensation hereby required," the defendant would enter and take possession.

The defendant brought actions in the County Court against the tenants of the houses for possession; and on the 25th of November, 1891, orders were made on the tenants to give up possession. On the same day the plaintiffs took out this summons; it was made returnable for the 10th of December, 1891. On the 30th of November the plaintiffs, by special leave, served notice of motion on the defendant, for the 4th of December, for an injunction to restrain his proceeding to enforce his judgments in the County Court till the hearing of the summons. Counsel had no opportunity of moving on the 4th of December, and the motion stood over. On the 9th of December the defendant obtained possession of the houses. The motion was subsequently ordered to come on with the summons, and was now heard. Three points were raised in argument: (1) whether the plaintiffs in the summons were precluded from relief by reason of the defendant having obtained possession before the summons was returnable; (2) whether the application was properly made by originating summons; and (3) whether the defendant's notices of breach were bad by reason that no surveyor's fees nor solicitor's charges were payable by the lessee, and no other compensation was demanded in the notices.

Oswald, for the plaintiffs.

Upjohn, for the defendant.

NORTH, J., held, that the plaintiffs' summons was within time, and that the defendant's notices were valid to support actions for possession, it not being necessary, where compen tion is not required, to state in the notice what compensation is required. He did not decide whether an originating summons was the proper mode of proceeding; he decided on the merits that the plaintiffs had no case for relief, and dismissed the summons.

The Huddersfield Banking Company were creditors of Henry Lister & Co., Limited. They believed the security to be collateral security (the property charged being when they took the charge the property of a person other than the debtor company). They proved in the winding-up of the debtor company for the full amount of their debt without valuing their security, and voted at a meeting of creditors in respect of the full amount of the debt, where a resolution was passed nominating a liquidator; but the liquidator nominated by the creditors was not agreed to by the contributories and was not appointed. A motion was now made in the winding-up on behalf of the Huddersfield Banking Company to have the mistake they had made corrected, and for leave to value their security and have the amount of their proof reduced by the value of their security.

Cooper Willis, Q.C., and C. M. Atkinson, for the applicants.

Cozens-Hardy, Q.C., and Alexander Young, for the official receiver as liquidator.

NORTH, J., considered there had been an "inadvertence" on the part of the applicants within the meaning of rule 8 of the schedule to the Companies (Winding-up) Act, 1890; that the Court had power to allow the proof to be amended; and that no person in this case having been placed in a worse position by the act of the applicants, they ought to be allowed to amend their proof. Covenant—Articled Clerk—Solicitor and Client—London Agent.

This was a motion on the part of the plaintiffs, a firm of London solicitors, to restrain a solicitor practising in London, formerly articled as a clerk for five years to Mr. Reid, a member of the plaintiffs' firm, from transacting business with clients of the firm in breach of a covenant contained in the articles.

The words of the covenant were, "not without the consent in writing of the said Henry Reid and any partners of his during the term of five years, at any time within ten years after the expiration of the said term of five years, transact business either on his own behalf, or as clerk to any other person, for any person or persons, company, or corporation, who shall at any time during the said term of five years be a client or clients of the said Henry Reid, or any partner of his." The defendant had acted as London agent in two matters for Messrs. Ellison & Burrows, solicitors of Cambridge. The plaintiff firm had acted as London agent for Messrs. A testator devised and bequeathed all his real and personal estate to trustees, upon trust (subject to a life estate which had expired) for his nephews, John, Thomas, and Gawin, and for their respective heirs, executors, administrators, and assigns. John died before the testator. Gawin had died since the testator, an infant and unmarried. The question was as to the construction of the above gift.

FOLLIT v. EDDYSTONE GRANITE QUARRIES, LIMITED.

Joint Stock Company—Debenture-holders—Power of Majority to bind Minority.

The E. Company issued debentures in the usual form, charging the sums advanced by the debenture-holders upon the company's undertaking and all its property, subject (inter alia) to the conditions that the debentures were to rank pari passu as a first charge upon the property charged; that the holders were to be entitled to the benefit of, and to be subject to the provisions contained in, a covering deed dated the 19th of September, 1889; and that the trustees of that deed might at any time convene a meeting of the debenture-holders. The covering deed provided that a general meeting of the debenture-holders should have (amongst other powers exerciseable by extraordinary resolution) the "power to sanction any modification or compromise of the rights of the debenture-holders against the company or against its property." After the debentures had been issued the company was in want of a loan, and the trustees convened a meeting of the debenture-holders, who, on the 16th of September, 1890, passed an extraordinary resolution sanctioning a loan to the company of 5000*l.*, and that "such loan shall take priority over the existing debentures, and shall be a first charge upon the company's properties, and that the trustees for the debenture-holders be hereby authorized to execute such documents as may be necessary to give effect to the same."

Under the authority of this resolution, a mortgage was executed, dated the 2nd of October, 1890, whereby the company charged all its property with advances up to 5000*l.*, and the trustees postponed the debenture-holders' security in favour of this mortgage.

Under those circumstances, the plaintiff, a bond-holder who had not attended the meeting, alleged that the trustees and the company had been respectively guilty of breaches of trust and of covenant; and he brought this action on behalf of himself and all the debenture-holders for a direction that, notwithstanding the mortgage, the debentures constituted a first charge upon all the property of the company, and for an order that the trusts of the covering deed might be carried into execution under the direction of the Court. The debentures had now become enforceable.

Hastings, Q.C., and Ashton Cross, for the plaintiff.

Buckley, Q.C., and Grosvenor Woods, for the company.

Beale, Q.C., and Warrington, for the mortgagee.

STIRLING, J., held, in accordance with the decision of Chitty, J., in Re Dominion of Canada Freehold Estate and Timber Company (55 L. T. (N.S.) 347), that under the circumstances the majority of the debenture-holders had power to postpone their security so as to bind the minority, and consequently that the resolution passed on the 16th of September, 1890, was a valid one. The action must accordingly be dismissed as to the first portion of the relief asked; but as the debenture-holders' security had become enforceable, there would be a direction that the trusts of it should be carried into execution under the direction of the Court.

Case stated by justices.

The respondent was summoned under sect. 13 of the Licensing Act, 1872, for permitting drunkenness on his premises. An inspector of police, on visiting respondent's premises, found two brothers, one of whom was drunk, standing at the counter each drinking out of a pint pot. It was denied by the respondent's manager that the drunken man had been served with drink while on the premises, and there was no affirmative evidence that he had been so served. The justices dismissed the summons on the ground that an actual supplying of drink to the drunken man was a necessary ingredient of the offence of permitting drunkenness.

Divorce. OLIVER v. OLIVER. May 10.

The Court has no power to make or continue orders for the payment of sums for the maintenance of children over the age of 16 years.

The petitioner in this case, the wife, obtained, on the 1st of April, 1879, a decree absolute dissolving her marriage; and on the same day an order was made that the respondent do pay to his wife the sum of 350*l.* annually for her maintenance so long as she remains unmarried. There was also an order made in April, 1879, that the respondent do pay to the petitioner, until further order, the sum of 100*l.* annually for the maintenance of the three daughters of the marriage. On the 4th of May, 1880, a further order was made that the respondent do pay a further sum of 100*l.* for the maintenance of the children of the marriage. There was no limit of time fixed in the orders. There were three children of the marriage, who were 21, 20, and 19 years of age respectively, and the petitioner had married again.

Barnard, now moved, on behalf of the respondent, that these orders be discharged, on the ground that the Court has no power to make orders for the maintenance of children over the age of 16, and cited Webster v. Webster (31 L. J. (P. & M.) 18; and Blandford v. Blandford (Weekly Notes, ante, p. 36).

B. Deane, contrà:—Blandford v. Blandford does not apply because in that case the application was for an order to be made, and the Court held that it had no power to make such an order in regard to children over 16 years of age; but here the order is in existence, and there is nothing in sect. 35 of 20 & 21 Vict. c. 85, which limits the duration of the allowance.

JEUNE, J., held, that Webster v. Webster and Blandford v. Blandford decide that orders for custody, education, and maintenance stand on the same footing, and that the Court has no power to make or continue such orders for the benefit of children above the age of 16 years. He directed, therefore, that sums ordered to be paid for the children need not longer be paid.

COURT OF APPEAL.

From Q. B. D. MILLINGTON v. HARWOOD. May 5.

Practice—Costs—Action in High Court which might have been brought in County Court—Judgment for 50l.—Rules of Supreme Court, 1883, Order LXV., r. 12—County Courts Act, 1888, s. 116.

Appeal from a decision of a Divisional Court (A. L. Smith and Wright, JJ.), dismissing an application to review the taxation of costs.

The plaintiff brought an action founded on contract for 50*l.* in the High Court. The action was tried before Charles, J., without a jury, and the plaintiff obtained judgment for 50*l.* and costs. The learned judge refused to make an order for costs on the High Court scale, or to give a certificate that there was sufficient cause for bringing the action in the High Court. Under these circumstances the Taxing Master taxed the plaintiff's costs on the county court scale. The plaintiff took out a summons to review the taxation, and Pollock, B., at Chambers, referred the summons to the Divisional Court. The Divisional Court upheld the decision of the Taxing Master, and the plaintiff appealed. The difficulty arose from an apparent inconsistency between Order LXV., rule 12, which provided that in actions brought in the High Court which might have been brought in the county court, if the plaintiff recovered a sum not exceeding 50l. he should be only entitled to county court costs, and the 116th section of the County Courts Act, 1888, which enacted that in such actions if the plaintiff should recover a sum of 20*l.* or upwards, but less than 50l., he should be entitled only to county court costs. In the present case, the plaintiff, having recovered exactly 50*l.*, claimed to be paid costs on the High Court scale.

Roskill, for the appellant, contended that the Act must prevail over the rule, and that under the Act a plaintiff was not to be deprived of High Court costs unless he recovered less than 50*l.*

Shearman, for the respondent.

LINDLEY, L.J., said that certainly an inference might be drawn from the words of the Act, that a plaintiff who recovered exactly 50*l.* was not to be deprived of High Court costs; but it was only an inference, and there were no express words to that effect. Therefore, as the words of the rule, which had the effect of an Act of Parliament, expressly applied to a plaintiff who recovered a sum not exceeding 50*l.*, he was of opinion that the rule must prevail. The appeal must be dismissed.

KAY, L.J., gave judgment to the same effect.

BAWDEN v. THE LONDON, EDINBURGH, AND GLASGOW ASSURANCE COMPANY.

Principal and Agent—Knowledge of Agent imputed to Principal—Policy of Insurance—Misstatement in Proposal.

Application by the defendants for a new trial of the action, or that judgment might be entered for them.

The action was brought upon a policy of insurance against accidental injury issued by the defendant company. The plaintiff was the widow and administratrix of Bawden, the assured. Bawden was induced to apply for the policy by an agent or canvasser of the company named Quinn. Bawden had only one eye, having lost the sight of the other by an accident some years previously. Quinn was aware that he had but one eye. Bawden was an illiterate man, and could scarcely read or write; but he was able to sign his name. Quinn filled up a form of proposal for him, and Bawden then signed it. Quinn also signed it as "agent." The proposal contained a statement that the proposer had no physical infirmity, "nor are there any circumstances that render me peculiarly liable to accidents," and he thereby agreed "that the statements contained in this proposal shall form the basis of the contract between me and the company." Quinn forwarded the proposal to the company, but did not inform them that Bawden had only one eye.

The company accepted the proposal, and granted Bawden a policy, by which they agreed, in consideration of the payment by him of a yearly premium of 2*l.* 1*s.*, to pay him "on permanent total disablement 500*l.*," and "on permanent partial disablement 250*l.*" It was provided that the proposal should be the basis of the contract between the assured and the company. The policy stated that by "permanent total disablement" was meant (inter alia) "the complete and irrecoverable loss of sight of both eyes," and that by "permanent partial disablement" was meant (inter alia) "the complete and irrecoverable loss of sight of one eye." While the policy was current, Bawden met with an accident which resulted in the complete loss of sight in his second eye, and he died in a few months. He, and his administratrix after his death, claimed from the company 500*l.* for "permanent total disablement." The company resisted payment, on the ground that the proposal contained a misstatement in saying that Bawden had no physical infirmity. At any rate, the company contended that they were not liable to pay more than 250*l.*, because Bawden had lost the sight of only one eye by the accident. The administratrix brought the action claiming 500*l.* At the trial before Lord Coleridge, C.J., the company gave no evidence as to the extent of Quinn's authority as an agent. Lord Coleridge held, that the company were, through Quinn, affected with knowledge of the fact that Bawden had but one eye, and that on the construction of the policy Bawden was entitled to recover for "permanent total disablement." The jury found a verdict for the plaintiff for 500*l.* The company applied for a new trial, or that judgment might be entered for them.

Sir C. Russell, Q.C., Ashton Cross, and F. Dodd, for the company.

Gully, Q.C., and Henry, for the plaintiff.

THE COURT (Lord Esher, M.R., and Lindley and Kay, L.JJ.) refused the application. They held that the effect of Quinn's knowledge that Bawden was a one-eyed man was as if a recital of that fact had been introduced into the policy, and that, that being so, the proper construction of the policy was that "permanent total disablement" meant, in the case of a one-eyed man, total blindness produced by an accident. The company were, therefore, liable for 500*l.*

WOLMERSHAUSEN v. G. S. WOLMERSHAUSEN & Co., LIMITED.

Practice—Injunction—Trade Name—Misleading Advertisements—Intention to Deceive the Public—Form of Order.

This was a motion to restrain the defendant company from publishing, or continuing to publish, advertisements, cards, and circulars, printed or arranged in such a way as to represent, or lead to the belief, that the defendants' business was the same or a branch of the business carried on by the plaintiff. The present application was, by consent, treated as the trial of the action.

Farwell, Q.C., and Birrell, for the plaintiff.

Eustace Smith, for the defendant company.

CHITTY, J., considered that the advertisements and circulars complained of were clearly misleading, and, having regard to the observations of Lord Watson in Montgomery v. Thompson ([1891] A. C. at p. 221), directed the order to be drawn up in the following form:—A perpetual injunction to restrain the defendant company, their servants and agents, "from carrying on their business of G. S. Wolmershausen & Co., Limited, without clearly distinguishing such business from the business of the plaintiff; and from publishing advertisements or issuing circulars in their name of G. S. Wolmershausen & Co., Limited, without clearly distinguishing therein their business from the business of the plaintiff, and from otherwise representing in any way that their business is the business, or a branch business, of the plaintiff."

North, J. BARBER v. MACKRELL. May 12.

Renewal of Bills of Exchange—Guarantee—Variation—Release of Guarantee.

This was a claim by Messrs. Young, Son, & Magnay, to prove in a suit for the administration of the estate of William Mackrell, who died in 1867. The guarantee was contained in a letter by the testator to the claimants' firm, dated the 24th of December, 1866, in the following terms: "In reply to your letter of the 22nd inst., I hereby guarantee the payment of Mr.

F. C. Finch of two bills you intend to renew for him, one for 1048*l.* 10*s.* 5*d.*, and the other for 462*l.* 6*s.* 6*d.*, due respectively on the 28th inst. and 4th prox." Two bills were drawn by the claimant firm on F. C. Finch for three months, one for 1025*l.* 6*s.* 11*d.*, the other for 485*l.* 10*s.*, each dated the 22nd of December, 1866. The bills were not met; and in 1867, soon after the suit was instituted, a claim was carried in to prove against the estate of the guarantor for as much as had not been paid from other sources in respect of the debt secured by the bills. The chief clerk did not allow the claim; but proceedings to vary the chief clerk's finding were delayed owing to circumstances connected with the administration. It had recently been found that there would be assets coming to the simple contract creditors, and the claim was now further prosecuted on a summons to vary the chief clerk's certificate.

Brice, Q.C., and B. B. Rogers, for the claim.

Cozens-Hardy, Q.C., and Whitehead, for the estate.

NORTH, J., held, that a renewal of a bill means the drawing and acceptance of a bill of the same amount and for the same period as the old bill, to commence at the expiration of the old bill. That in this case the amounts of the separate new bills having been different from those of the old bills, and the new bills being dated before the expiration of the old bills, there was such a variation of the liability guaranteed that the guarantee was released. He dismissed the summons.

Will—Construction—Nephews and Nieces—Husband and Wife—Gift to a Class.

This was an originating summons taken out by the surviving executor and trustee of William Gue, deceased, who died in 1877, to determine who were entitled to share in a gift of residue to nephews and nieces contained in the will of his testator.

The testator bequeathed "to my nephew Charles Skeates, of Melbourne, Victoria, and his wife, memorial rings similar to the ones worn by me, such rings to be procured by my executors for my said nephew and niece. To each of my nephews and nieces following, namely, Henry Gue, Frederick Gue, Albert Gue, and Mary Gue, Samuel Brown, Mary Ann Brown, James Waterman, and Ann Bowles, the legacy or sum of nineteen pounds nineteen shillings." He directed his executors and trustees, after the death of his daughter in the events which happened, to hold his residue in trust "for all and every my nephews and nieces living at my decease, or born in due time afterwards, who shall live to attain the age of twenty-one years, to be equally divided between them if more than one, including my nephews and nieces to whom I have given legacies as aforesaid."

Henry Gue, Frederick Gue, Albert Gue, Mary Gue, and Ann Bowles, were the testator's own nephews and nieces. Samuel Brown, Mary Ann Brown, James Waterman, and Charles Skeates were nephews and niece of the testator's wife. The wife of Charles Skeates was not related to the testator or his wife.

The testator's daughter having died, this summons was taken out to determine who were entitled to the residue.

Method, for nephews and nieces of the testator.

Cozens-Hardy, Q.C., Rowden, and J. K. Mackay, for Ann Brown, niece of the testator's wife, and representatives of her nephews.

Vernon R. Smith, for the representatives of Charles Skeates and Mary Skeates, his wife when the testator made his will and died.

NORTH, J., held, that the nephews and niece of the testator's wife mentioned in the will and Mary Skeates took shares in the residue, and Charles Skeates and his wife took separate shares; that where there is a gift to a class which includes a husband and his wife, the husband and wife take separate shares.

HOUGHTON v. TOTTENHAM AND FOREST GATE RAILWAY COMPANY.

Practice—Rules of Supreme Court, 1883, Order XXIV., r. 3—Confession of Defence—Judgment for Costs.

This was an action by the holder of a building lease to restrain a railway company from acting on a notice served on the plaintiff that they required part of his land for the purposes of their railway. The plaintiff by his statement of claim alleged that the defendant company required the land for unauthorized purposes. The defendants by their statement of defence alleged that they required their land for a purpose admitted by the plaintiff to be proper for the exercise of the compulsory power of the defendant company, but was not the purpose for which the land was required when the writ was issued. The plaintiff delivered a confession of the defence that alleged was raised on facts that occurred subsequently to the issue of the writ, and at the same time signed judgment against the defendants for costs. A motion was now made on behalf of the defendants to set aside the judgment for costs.

Cozens-Hardy, Q.C., and R. J. Parker, for the motion.

Chubb, contrà.

NORTH, J., thought it might be that the land was required originally for an improper purpose—that was a question remaining to be tried—and the case was not within Order XXIV. rule 3. He ordered the judgment for costs to be discharged. He reserved the costs of the motion till trial. He refused to allow the plaintiff to withdraw the confession of defence.

Trustee—Vesting Order—Death of sole Trustee—Personal Representative out of Jurisdiction—Trustee Act, 1850, s. 25.

The surviving trustee of the will of an English testator w domiciled in Scotland, where he died in August, 1890, having made a will in the Scotch form. His will was duly proved in Scotland. Before his death the trustee had executed a deed appointing two new trustees of the will of the original testator in lieu of himself and his deceased co-trustee; but he omitted to transfer to the new trustees a debenture of an English company and a sum of railway stock which formed part of the trust estate. One of his executors was resident in Scotland, the other was resident in England. They had been requested by the new trustees to prove the testator's will in England, and to transfer the debenture and the stock to the new trustees; but they, for more than twenty-eight days, neglected to do so. The petition was presented by the new trustees, and it asked that the right to transfer the sum secured by the debenture and the sum of railway stock might vest in the petitioners as trustees of the original will.

MacSwinney, for the petitioners, referred to sect. 25 of the Trustee Act, 1850, and to In re Ellis' Settlement (24 Beav. 426); In re Stroud's Trusts (Weekly Notes, 1874, p. 180); and In re Price's Settlement (Weekly Notes, 1883, p. 202).

Breach of Trust—Indemnity—Trustee Act, 1888 (51 & 52 Vict. c. 59), s. 6—"At the instigation or request or with the consent in writing of a beneficiary."

The defendant, the trustee and executor of a will, at the request of a married woman, who was entitled as a beneficiary for life with a restraint upon anticipation, advanced to her a sum of 80*l.* out of the trust funds, on a statement by her that the money was needed by her to prevent her home from being sold up. The request was not in writing. On the further consideration of an administration action, the defendant submitted to pay the 80*l.* into Court, but claimed to be entitled to resort, by way of indemnity, under s. 6 of the Trustee Act, 1888, to the income payable to the married woman.

Renshaw, Q.C., and H. C. Hawkins, for the plaintiff, referred to Ricketts v. Ricketts (64 L. T. (N.S.) 263), and contended first, that the authority of that case, that as the defendant must be taken to have been aware that the payment of the 80*l.* was a breach of trust, and had not been induced to make it by any misrepresentation or deceit on the part of the beneficiary, the Court ought not to exercise its discretion in the defendant's favour; and secondly, that the case was not within the section, inasmuch as there was no evidence of a request in writing.

Warmington, Q.C., and Vernon R. Smith, for the defendant.

KEKEWICH, J., held, upon the construction of the section, that the words "in writing" referred only to the word "consent," and not to the words "instigation or request"; and that where, as here, a trustee had without moral dishonesty committed a breach of trust for the benefit of other persons standing on a footing of equality with himself as regarded knowledge, it was the duty of the Court to exercise its discretion in his favour.

Merger—Intention—Life Estate and Estate pur autre vie—Judicature Act, 1873 (36 & 37 Vict. c. 66), s. 25, sub-s. 4—"Merger by operation of law only."

The legal tenant for life of lands devised by a will, being a lady of advanced age, and desirous of relinquishing the management of the property, by deed conveyed the lands to the next tenant for life to hold to him, his heirs and assigns, during all the remainder of her life, to the use that she might thenceforth during the remainder of her life receive an annual sum of 400*l.* to be issuing out of the rents and profits of the lands, and subject thereto to the use of the next tenant for life, his heirs and assigns, during the remainder of her life. The deed contained a proviso reducing the amount of the rent-charge so long as she resided with him, and he supplied her with certain conveniences. He predeceased her, having by his will devised his real estate to the plaintiffs; and on his death it was contended, on behalf of the infant remainderman under the will, that the effect of the deed was to cause a merger, and that, therefore, the lands vested in the remainderman free from the rent-charge.

Renshaw, Q.C., and Errington, for the plaintiffs, admitted that an estate pur autre vie would merge in a life estate, but contended that, having regard to the intention of the parties, and to sect. 25, sub-sect. 4, of the Judicature Act, 1873, there was not any merger, and that the lands during the life of the lady, the former tenant for life, were vested in the plaintiff subject to the rent-charge.

Rashleigh, for the lady, the former tenant for life.

Warmington, Q.C., and Wace, for the infant remainderman, contended that this was not a case of "merger by operation of law only" within the enactment of 1873, but a case of surrender, and that there was a merger.

KEKEWICH, J., held, that sect. 25, sub-sect. 4, of the Act of 1873 was applicable to all cases where there would not be a merger of estate both at law and in equity, and that, upon the intention manifest on the face of the deed, it did not operate so as to create any merger.

Romer, J. HAWKSLEY v. OUTRAM. May 10.

Partnership Business—Agreement for Sale—Power of Attorney—Construction—Specific Performance—Rescission.

For some years prior to May, 1890, the defendants, Benjamin Outram, Edmund Outram, A. Ashworth, and Elizabeth Outram, carried on the business of dyers and finishers in copartnership at Ellistones, in the county of York, under the style of Benjamin Outram & Co. By a power of attorney under seal dated the 22nd of May, 1889, the defendant Benjamin Outram, being then resident in America, authorized the defendant, Edmund Outram, as his attorney, to sell or concur in selling any of his real or personal property to any person by public auction or private contract upon such terms, subject to such special or other conditions, and in such manner as his said attorney should approve. By an agreement in writing dated the 22nd of May, 1890, and made between the defendants as vendors of the one part, and the plaintiff as purchaser of the other part (the defendant Edmund Outram signing the same as attorney for the defendant Benjamin Outram), the defendants agreed to sell to the plaintiff their said business and property at Ellistones in consideration of the plaintiff discharging all the liabilities of the firm so far as they should not exceed 15,000*l.* The agreement also provided that the purchaser should be at liberty to carry on the business under the style of Benjam Outram & Co.; and that the vendors should not carry on directly or indirectly within a radius of fifty miles of Ellistones aforesaid any business of dyeing or finishing, or any similar business, or be in any way connected therewith. The defendants refused to carry out the agreement, and the plaintiff brought this action to compel specific performance.

The defendants pleaded that the power of attorney did not authorize the defendant Edmund to enter into such an agreement on behalf of the defendant Benjamin Outram, and that their signatures to the agreement had been obtained by pressure and intimidation, and they counter-claimed for rescission.

Neville, Q.C., and Warrington, for the plaintiff.

B. Eyre, and Pattullo, for the defendants.

ROMER, J., held that the clause in the agreement restricting the vendors from trading within fifty miles of Ellistones was wholly unauthorized by the power of attorney, and, therefore, as against the defendant, Benjamin Outram, the action must be dismissed. With regard to the other three defendants, although the plaintiff was willing to accept specific performance as against their interests with an abatement in the purchase-money, that would involve the taking of the partnership accounts, and his Lordship did not see his way to direct such an inquiry. The action therefore failed; but, having regard to the unfounded charges made against the plaintiff, it would be dismissed without costs. As to the counter-claim, it was not a case in which the Court would assist the defendants, and, therefore, it would be dismissed with costs.

Rule nisi for a mandamus to compel the hearing of an appeal from an affiliation order.

The order was made on the 21st of March, and the defendant then expressed his intention to appeal. The Court of summary jurisdiction which had made the order thereupon gave leave to the defendant to make a deposit as security for the prosecution of the appeal and for costs, instead of entering into a recognizance. On the 24th of March, the defendant gave a written notice of appeal, which reached the complainant on the 25th.

The Court of Quarter Sessions refused to hear the appeal.

Gore, shewed cause.

Avory, supported the rule.

THE COURT (Day and Charles, JJ.) held that, because by sect. 31, sub-sect. 8, of the Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1879, the appellant is to enter into a recognizance within three days after giving notice of appeal, and a deposit instead of a recognizance can only be allowed "if the Court of summary jurisdiction before whom the appellant appears to enter into a recognizance think it expedient," the allowance of a deposit by the Court sitting on the 21st of March, before the notice of appeal had been given, was invalid, and therefore the conditions imposed by sect. 31 had not been complied with, and the refusal to hear the appeal was right.

Rule discharged.

The majority of their Lordships were of opinion that "deviation" in its ordinary and natural sense and in the sense in which it is used in statutes simply means shifting the work in its integrity from one site to another which may be more suitable, and does not imply a right not only to alter the situation of the work but to dispense with half or two-thirds of it; and that a local Act prescribing the execution of works described in detail is not complied with by a failure to provide the statutory requirements and by the execution of "a substantial equivalent."

LONDON COUNTY COUNCIL, APPS.; CHURCHWARDENS AND OVERSEERS OF WEST HAM, RESPS.

Poor Rate—Rateability of Sewers—Hypothetical Tenant.

Appeal from judgment of the Queen's Bench Division on a special case stated by Quarter Sessions on an appeal against a poor-rate.

The question raised by the case was whether the London County Council were rateable in respect of their outfall mains or sewers in the parish of West Ham. It was found in the case that the sewers, whilst used as part of the metropolitan sewage system, were incapable of yielding a profit and could not be worked except at a loss. The Quarter Sessions dismissed the appeal subject to the case. The Divisional Court affirmed the order of the Quarter Sessions on the ground that the case was governed by Mayor of Burton-upon-Trent v. Assessment Committee of Burton-upon-Trent Union (24 Q. B. D. 197).

Avory, for the appellants.
R. T. Reid, Q.C., and Montefiore, for the respondents.
Gwynne James, for the assessment committee.

THE COURT (Lord Esher, M.R., Fry, L.J., and Lopes, L.J.) held that, as the County Council had no power to take sewers on lease, they could not be considered as possible tenants of the sewers; that no other person could be considered as such a tenant; and, therefore, the case was governed by Metropolitan Board of Works v. Overseers of West Ham (Law Rep. 6 Q. B. 193), not by Mayor of Burton-upon-Trent v. Assessment Committee of Burton-upon-Trent Union (24 Q. B. D. 197), and the County Council were not rateable in respect of the sewers.

Appeal allowed.

HOARE v. OWEN.

Mortgage of Shares—Creditor's Action to administer Estate of Mortgagor—Receiver—Back Rents and Profits in Hands of Receiver—Right of Mortgagee as against.

On the 30th of June, 1886, Captain Hoare borrowed from Mr. A. de Rothschild the sum of 7000*l.* upon the security of 10,000 shares in the United Horse Shoe and Nail Company, Limited, blank transfers of which were thereupon deposited with the lender. Captain Hoare died in 1889, having paid interest on the loan down to April, 1888. On the 7th of June, 1889, in an action instituted by creditors for that purpose, an order was made for the administration of his estate and for the appointment of a receiver.

On the 26th of July, 1889, the company issued to the receiver certain debenture bonds in respect of arrears of dividends upon the shares accrued for the year 1888. On the 3rd of February, 1892, Mr. de Rothschild valued his security at 1000*l.* and proved for the balance of his debt, waiving his claim to interest, being under the impression that the shares had been unproductive since 1888. He afterwards claimed to have the debentures handed over to him by the receiver. His claim having been dismissed in Chambers, he now moved to discharge that order.

On the 11th of March, 1892, he was registered by the company as transferee of the shares.

It was contended on behalf of the mortgagee that the debentures must be treated as in custodiâ legis, and, therefore, held by the receiver for the mortgagee. In support of this contention, reliance was placed upon an Irish case of Delany v. Mansfield (1 Hogan, 234).

Maidlow, for the motion.

Hastings, Q.C., and McLaren, for the receiver.

Hull, for the executors.

STIRLING, J., said that he did not think the learned judge who decided Delany v. Mansfield intended to lay down that in all cases moneys in the hands of a receiver were in custodiâ legis in the same way as they would be in the hands of a sequestrator. There were English authorities with which that view would be inconsistent. In each case the nature of the action and the object of the appointment of the receiver must be looked at. It might be that, where the object of the action was to ascertain the incumbrancers on a particular property and their priorities, or to settle a dispute as to title, the receiver would hold moneys coming to his hands on behalf of the person who should turn out to be the true owner. Here, however, the object of the appointment of the receiver was to insure that all assets properly applicable for the payment of the testator's debts should be so applied. The receiver stood, so far as the receipt of the assets was concerned, in the place of the executor, and the creditors could not be in a worse position than if the assets had been received by the executor. If the debentures had come to the hands of the executor, the mortgagee would have had no claim, and his application must accordingly be dismissed.

May 24. Hastings, Q.C., mentioned a case of Morrogh v. Hoare (5 Ir. Eq. Rep. 195), in which Blackburne, M.R., had taken the same view of Delany v. Mansfield as that taken by Stirling, J.

Will—Specific Devise of Realty—Children—Legitimacy—Child born out of Wedlock—Subsequent Legitimation by Foreign Law—Domicil.

The Reverend Harry Grey, by his will and codicil, dated in 1848, specifically devised a share of real estate and also a share of personalty to trustees upon trust for his son Harry Grey during his life, and after his death in trust for all his children in equal shares. Harry Grey, who afterwards became Earl of Stamford, left England in 1856, and went to the Cape, where he, in the opinion of the Court, acquired a new domicil, and died there in 1890. He married three times. By his first two wives he had no issue. By his third he had one son, John Grey, born before marriage, and other children born in wedlock. According to the law of the Cape, John Grey was legitimated by the subsequent marriage of his father and mother.

The question which arose upon this originating summons was whether John Grey was entitled to share in the gift of realty and personalty as one of the children of Harry Grey.

Buckley, Q.C., and A. Young, for Lady Mary Grey.

Hastings, Q.C., and Rolt, for John Grey.

W. Monnington, for the trustees of the will.

F. C. Mackarness, for the executor of the Earl of Stamford.

STIRLING, J., held, following In re Andros (24 Ch. Div. 637), and In re Goodman's Trusts (17 Ch. Div. 266), that John Grey was entitled to share in the personalty; and that the rule laid down in Doe v. Vardill (2 Cl. & F. 571; 7 ibid. 895), that a son born out of wedlock could not inherit English land as heir, related only to a case of descent upon an intestacy, and did not affect the case of a devise by will to children. John Grey was, therefore, also entitled to share in the devise of real estate.

Restrictive Covenant — Building Estate — Covenant against Building without Leave of Grantor, his "Heirs or Assigns"—Meaning of "Assign."

A freehold estate called the Branksome estate, belonging to D., was in 1877 divided into plots for building sites, and intending purchasers were shewn and signed a printed form of agreement providing that their conveyances should contain restrictive covenants.

In 1877 D. conveyed one of the plots, with a house on it, to the defendant, who covenanted with D., his appointees, heirs, and assigns, to the intent that such covenant should run with the land, that he would not, "without the consent of the said D., his heirs or assigns, make any alteration in the plan or elevation of the . . . buildings, nor erect any other messuage, building, wall, or fence . . . or carry on . . . any trade or business," or commit any "nuisance, annoyance, or disturbance to the said D., his heirs or assigns, or his or their tenants, or the neighbourhood."

At the date of this conveyance a considerable part of the Branksome estate had been built over, and leases or conveyances of the numerous houses thereon had been executed by D.

In 1883 another of the plots, with the house on it, was conveyed to the plaintiff by L., who in 1879 had purchased it from D.

In 1890, the defendant (with the consent in writing of the successors in title to D. of the very considerable portion of the Branksome estate remaining unsold) erected new buildings on his land. The plaintiff commenced an action claiming to be entitled to an injunction to restrain the continuance of the new building on the ground that its erection was in breach of the restrictive covenant.

Chadwyck Healey, Q.C., Manby, and F. E. Lacey, for the plaintiff.

Neville, Q.C., and Ingpen, for the defendant.

ROMER, J., said he was not satisfied the plaintiff was a person entitled to enforce the restrictive covenant, but that it was unnecessary to decide the point, as there had been no breach of the restrictive covenant. The words "the consent in writing of the said D., his heirs or assigns," did not extend to or require the consent of all the lessees or purchasers acquiring plots after the date of the defendant's conveyance, as well as of the owner of the Branksome estate in its popular and broad sense. The words only required the consent of such an owner, and not the consent of every lessee or purchaser, like the plaintiff, of a small plot.

TAMPLIN'S CASE.
CHAMPION'S CASE.

Company—Prospectus issued before Incorporation—Second Prospectus issued after Incorporation—Containing Misrepresentations—Rescission of Agreement to take Shares.

Prior to the incorporation of a company a prospectus was issued headed "Private and Confidential. Draft subject to Revision," which was handed to a number of persons who before the incorporation entered into an agreement with the vendor to the company to underwrite a number of shares therein "on the terms of the company's prospectus." The draft prospectus contained material misrepresentations, which were in substance repeated in a subsequent prospectus issued by the company after its incorporation.

Tamplin, one of the underwriters, read the draft prospectus but did not read the company's prospectus so as to understand it, but thought it was the same as the draft prospectus.

Champion, another underwriter, read the draft prospectus, and afterwards received the company's prospectus. Without reading this carefully, he glanced through it with sufficient care to satisfy himself that it substantially repeated the statements in the draft prospectus.

Both Tamplin and Champion applied for and were allotted shares in the company.

Having discovered the misrepresentations in the two prospectuses, Tamplin and Champion commenced actions against the company for rescission of their agreements to take shares, and incidental relief.

A winding-up order was shortly afterwards made, and the question whether the plaintiffs were entitled to relief was raised by a summons in the winding-up, asking that their names might be removed from the register of shareholders.

The evidence of the directors shewed that the draft prospectus was not issued with the authority of the directors, and that when they allotted shares to the underwriters they did not know that the applications for the shares had been made on the faith of the statements in the draft prospectus.

Rigby, Q.C., R. T. Reid, Q.C., and Grosvenor Woods, in support of the summons.

Chadwyck Healey, Q.C., and C. E. E. Jenkins, for the liquidator.

ROMER, J., said that Tamplin had acted only on the draft prospectus, not on any document issued by the company. The directors when allotting did not know he had applied on the faith of the statements in the draft prospectus, and he could not be held to have applied on the faith of any representation made by or on behalf of the company. His application for relief, therefore, failed. Champion, however, had satisfied himself that the company's prospectus was the same as the draft prospectus, and was entitled to have his name removed from the register.

VAUGHAN WILLIAMS, J., held, that although the applications, which by rule 3 of the Companies (Winding-up) Rules, 1892, are to be heard before the judge in open Court, include "appeals from the Board of Trade and official receiver to the High Court," these words only referred to appeals from the Board of Trade and official receiver acting as such, and that an application by way of appeal from a decision of the official receiver as liquidator must be made in chambers. County Court—Jurisdiction—Admiralty—Demurrage—Action by Shipowner—Court in District of which Owner of Vessel resides—"Vessel or Property to which the Cause relates"—County Courts Admiralty Jurisdiction Acts, 1868, 1869, 31 & 32 Vict. c. 71, s. 21, sub-s. 1, 2; 32 & 33 Vict. c. 51, s. 2, sub-s. 1.

Application for a prohibition.

The plaintiffs resided at Newport in Monmouthshire, and the defendants at Wisbeach. The action was brought in the Newport County Court, on the Admiralty side, to recover 40*l.* demurrage for detention of the plaintiffs' vessel at Wisbeach. The defendants were indorsees of a bill of lading, which incorporated the terms of a charterparty. Neither the vessel nor the cargo was within the district of the Newport County Court.

Arthur Pritchard, for the defendants.

Joseph Walton, for the plaintiffs.

THE COURT (Pollock, B., and Vaughan Williams, J.) held, that the claim arose out of an agreement made in relation to the use or hire of a ship, and in relation to the carriage of goods in a ship, within the meaning of the County Courts Admiralty Jurisdiction Act, 1869, sect. 2, sub-sect. 1, that the cause related to the vessel, not to the cargo, and therefore sub-sect. 2, and not sub-sect. 1 of sect. 21 of the County Courts Admiralty Jurisdiction Act, 1868, applied, and the action was rightly commenced in the Newport Court, and the circumstance that the claim was within the common law jurisdiction of the County Court did not prevent the Admiralty Jurisdiction Acts from applying.

Application dismissed.

The plaintiffs, who were the registered proprietors of a design under 46 & 47 Vict. c. 57, sued the defendant for penalties for infringing their copyright in such design, in contravention of sect. 58 of that Act, which provides that "any person who acts in contravention of this section shall be liable for every offence to forfeit a sum not exceeding 50*l.* to the registered proprietor of the design, who may recover such sum as a simple contract debt by action." The plaintiffs having administered interrogatories to the defendant, the defendant objected to answer on the ground that the action was a penal one. The master overruled the objection. On appeal the judge (Denman, J.) referred the matter to the Court.

C. Morton, for the plaintiffs.

THE COURT (Day and Charles, J.J.) held, distinguishing Adams v. Batley (18 Q. B. D. 625), that the sum sought to be recovered was a penalty, and that the plaintiffs were consequently not entitled to interrogate the defendant.

Interrogatories disallowed.

Practice—Writ specially indorsed—Sufficiency of Indorsement—Claim for Interest—Rules of the Supreme Court, 1883, Order III., r. 6; Order XIV., r. 1.

Appeal from an order at chambers giving leave to defend.

The indorsement on the writ stated that the claim was for instalments on shares in the plaintiff company, payable under terms of allotment, and for interest thereon at 10 per cent. from the dates when the instalments became payable until payment or judgment, and gave particulars of the instalments, with interest, and claimed interest on the principal moneys at 10 per cent. from date of writ until payment or judgment. It appeared from an affidavit that by the articles of association 10 per cent. interest was payable.

Finlay, Q.C., and Cecil Chapman, for the plaintiffs.

Vennell, for the defendant.

THE COURT (Mathew and A. L. Smith, JJ.) held that, as the writ did not shew that the interest claimed was payable under an agreement, there was not a valid special indorsement, that the fact that the affidavit shewed an agreement to pay interest could not make the indorsement good, and therefore that judgment could not be entered under Order XIV.

Appeal dismissed.

This was an appeal by Mr. Jaynes, the bankrupt's solicitor, from the decision of the Bankruptcy Taxing Master of the High Court, disallowing two items in his bill of costs.

The items in question were two sums of 1*l.* 1*s.* each for journeys to Northallerton on the 17th and 20th of November, 1890, in order to attend the bankrupt's adjourned public examination, which adjournment had taken place for the convenience of the official receiver. The registrar of the county court, in taxing the bill of costs, allowed the two items. The Board of Trade objected to this allowance on the ground (1) that the assets were certified at under 100*l.*, and (2) that the items were included in the 3*l.* allowed in such cases to solicitors in the scale of costs in Appendix I. (a) to the Bankruptcy Rules, 1886, and caused the taxation to be reviewed by the Bankruptcy Taxing Master of the High Court, who disallowed the items.

Mr. Warriner (solicitor), for Mr. Jaynes.

Muir Mackenzie, for the Board of Trade, objected that no appeal lay from the decision of the Bankruptcy Taxing Master of the High Court.

VAUGHAN WILLIAMS, J., overruled the objection. Although in strictness what the Taxing Master of the High Court did was to review and not to tax, yet in substance his review was a retaxation, and then all the general regulations in the appendix under r. 112 of the Bankruptcy Rules, 1886, applied.

Mr. Warriner:—These were special costs incurred at the instance of the official receiver and should be allowed.

Muir Mackenzie, contrà.

VAUGHAN WILLIAMS, J., held, with regret, that the decision of the Bankruptcy Taxing Master must be upheld. No doubt it was the intention of the Legislature that the Board of Trade should keep a jealous eye on the expenditure in bankruptcy; but it could not have been intended that where special costs were properly incurred they should not be paid. No special order, however, as to costs had been made by the county court judge, and, therefore, the objection of the Board of Trade was valid.

Bankruptcy Practice—Notice of Motion—Affidavits in Support—Service—Bankruptcy Rules, 1886, rr. 27, 29.

A question arose in this case as to whether the respondent had been served with the copy of one of the affidavits in support of the notice of motion.

VAUGHAN WILLIAMS, J.:—Both in the bankruptcy business and in the company business there seems to be no definite time for service of the copy affidavits in support of an application. Practitioners appear to delay the service of the copy affidavits until the very last day before the hearing of applications.

Handsell, for the respondent, referred to rr. 27 and 29 of the Bankruptcy Rules, 1886, and submitted that the copy affidavits in support of a bankruptcy application should be served with the notice of motion.

Finlay, Q.C., and Yate Lee, for the motion.

VAUGHAN WILLIAMS, J.:—There should be a definite rule on this matter; and as at present advised I say that, as a general rule, the copy affidavits in support of an application should be served with the notice of motion.

Master and Servant—Injury to Workman resulting in Death after Action brought—Competency of Second Action by Mother for Solatium for same Injury.

Appeal from a judgment of the Second Division of the Court of Session, Scotland, which held that a second action was not competent in the following circumstances: A workman having received severe injuries in his employer's service raised an action for damages against his employer, and an issue to go before a jury was settled, when he died, intestate and unmarried. His mother was appointed his executrix, and she raised a second action against the same person for solatium for her son's death, and asked that the second action should be remitted to the same jury who were to try the first action. COURT OF APPEAL.

From Ch. D. In re KING & Co.'s TRADE-MARK. May 24.

Trade-mark—Rectification of Register—Motion to Expunge—Registered Proprietor domiciled in Ireland—Jurisdiction of English Court—Patents, Designs, and Trade Marks Act, 1883, s. 62 sub-s. 6, ss. 90, 107–117—Patents, Designs, and Trade Marks Act, 1888, s. 8, sub-s. 2.

This was an appeal from an order of Kekewich, J., on the 18th of March, ordering a trade-mark to be expunged from the register (ante, p. 60), and from a further decision of the same judge, on the 1st of April, refusing to set aside that order. The original application was made by the Pure Beef Company, an English company, and the only person served with the notice of motion was the Comptroller-General. The registered proprietors of the trade-mark were a company domiciled in Ireland. They did not appear at the hearing of the motion although they had been informed of the proceedings, and had been furnished with a copy of the notice of motion. On the 1st of April they moved to set aside the order of the 18th of March, on the ground of want of jurisdiction and irregularity; and the learned judge having refused the application, they now appealed from both orders.

Asquith, Q.C., Hopkinson, Q.C., and Lawson, for the applicants

Warmington, Q.C., and Swinfen Eady, for the Pure Beef Company.

Ingle Joyce, for the Comptroller-General.

LINDLEY, L.J., said he was of opinion that there was jurisdiction in the High Court of Justice in this country to rectify the register. He abstained from deciding whether the Iris Courts had concurrent jurisdiction or not. In neither of the Acts relating to the three subjects of patents, designs, and trade-marks, nor in the rules made under those Acts, was there any provision as to how a party interested was to be brought before the Court. Therefore all that was requisite to make a British subject out of the jurisdiction bound by an order made on an application under the Acts was, that the Court should be satisfied that the rules of natural justice, as understood by Englishmen, were satisfied. Natural justice was amply satisfied if the party interested had notice—it did not matter what the form of the notice was—and had an opportunity of being heard before a decision was given against him. Here the applicants had had the fullest notice and opportunity of taking part in the proceedings, and, in his opinion, were bound by the order. The appeal must be dismissed.

BOWEN and KAY, L.JJ., gave judgment to the same effect.

Defamation—Libel—Injurious Statements about a Man's Business—Special Damage—Loss of Business—Evidence.

Motion to enter judgment for the defendant, or for a new trial, by way of appeal from the judgment entered by Mr. Commissioner H. M. Bompas, Q.C., in an action tried with a jury at Chester Assizes in July, 1891.

The plaintiff claimed damages for a false and malicious publication by the defendant, in a Welsh newspaper, of statements about the plaintiff's business as an engineer and boiler-maker, and alleged that by reason thereof he was injured in his trade or business. The statements complained of were to the effect that the plaintiff had ceased to carry on his business of engineer or boiler-maker, and that a firm of Ratcliffe & Sons (under which name the plaintiff was carrying on his business) had ceased to exist. At the trial the plaintiff proved a general loss of business since the publication of the statements; but he gave no specific proof of the loss of any particular customers or orders by reason of such publication. The jury found a verdict for the plaintiff with 120*l.* damages, and the Commissioner gave judgment for him for that amount, with costs.

The defendant appealed, and it was contended on his behalf that there was no evidence for the jury of any such special damage suffered by the plaintiff as was necessary in order to enable him to maintain the action, and that the evidence of general loss of business was improperly admitted.

Bowen Rowlands, Q.C., and E. H. Lloyd, for the appellant.

F. Marshall, for the respondent.

Cur. adv. vult.

May 26. THE COURT OF APPEAL (Lord Esher, M.R., Bowen and Fry, L.JJ.) dismissed the appeal, holding that, having regard to the nature and circumstances of the publication of the false statements complained of, and having regard to the fact that those false statements were intended and reasonably likely to produce, and in the ordinary course of things would produce, a general loss of business, the evidence of such general loss of business was admissible, and was evidence for the jury of special damage sufficient to maintain the cause of action.

Appeal dismissed.

Lunacy—Petition for Inquiry—Pending Proceedings—Private Examination of alleged Lunatic under Order of Court by Medical Practitioner—Report to Petitioner's Solicitors—Proof of Witness to be called—Right of alleged Lunatic to see Report—Lunacy Act, 1891 (54 & 55 Vict. c. 65), s. 26, sub-s. 2.

An inquisition as to the state of mind of a lady was directed upon the petition of her husband, who was living apart from her. During the pendency of the inquisition, and while evidence was being taken therein, an order was made by the Master, at the instance of the petitioner, under the Lunacy Act, 1891, s. 26, sub-s. 2, that the alleged lunatic should attend at a certain time and place to be examined by a medical practitioner. The alleged lunatic at first refused to attend, but ultimately attended in compliance with the order. The interview took place in private, without the attendance of the solicitors on either side, and the medical practitioner stated the result of it in the form of a letter addressed to the petitioner's solicitors.

The lady's solicitors applied for a copy of this report; and the solicitors of the petitioner replied that this report was in the nature of a proof of a witness for the plaintiff, and was not a document to a copy of which the respondent was entitled; and they said further that they considered themselves bound to call the medical practitioner as a witness for examination and cross-examination at the hearing in the ordinary course.

The petitioner then applied for an order that the report might be filed, or a copy of it furnished within four days.

Costelloe, in support of the application.

Lyttelton, for the petitioners, was not called upon.

THE COURT (Lindley, Bowen, and Kay, L.JJ.) said that the object of the examination of the lady by the medical practitioner was to enable him to give evidence as a witness as to her state of mind. He was not bound to make any report, and the report he had chosen to make was in the nature of a proof of a witness of the evidence he was prepared to give at the hearing. The medical practitioner was not an officer of, or employed by, the Court; and the alleged lunatic was no more entitled to see this particular proof than that of any other witness.

Covenant in Restraint of Trade—Assignment.

This was a motion for an interlocutory injunction to restrain a milkman, formerly in the employ of the plaintiff, from soliciting orders from and supplying with milk customers of the plaintiff. The business formerly belonged to one Humphrey, In July, 1890, the defendant went into the employ of Humphrey, and covenanted with him and his assigns not to solicit orders from or supply milk to persons who were customers of the business during his employment. On the 12th of July, Humphrey assigned his business and goodwill to one Dinham. The benefit of the defendant's covenant was not expressly assigned in writing to Dinham, but the document containing the covenant was handed over to Dinham, and the defendant continued in the employ of Dinham. In May, 1891, Dinham assigned the business and goodwill and the benefit of the defendant's covenant to the plaintiff. The defendant remained in the employ of the plaintiff till recently.

Infant—Guardian—Removal by Court—Jurisdiction—Religious Education—Wishes of deceased Father—Welfare of Infant—Guardianship of Infants Act, 1886, ss. 2, 3, 6, 13.

Summons by the next friend of four infants, under the Guardianship of Infants Act, 1886, asking for the removal of a guardian, who had been appointed under the Act by the deceased mother of the infants, and the appointment of guardians by the Court. The real question in dispute was, whether the infants should be educated as Protestants or as Roman Catholics. The father of the infants was a journeyman tailor. He and the mother were both Roman Catholics. They were married in March, 1876. He died in June, 1888. He did not appoint any guardian of the infants, or express any wish as to the religion in which they should be brought up. The infants were three girls, born respectively in February, 1877, August, 1879, and June, 1881, and a boy, born in September, 1886. They were all baptized as Roman Catholics. After the father's death the mother was in very poor circumstances, and she received pecuniary assistance from a Mrs. Scrimgeour, a benevolent lady who was a Protestant. In November, 1889, the mother executed a deed under the Act, appointing Mrs. Scrimgeour to be the guardian of the infants after her own death. The mother ultimately became a Protestant. During the father's lifetime the girls were at a Roman Catholic school. In April, 1890, they were removed from it, and the elder girl was sent to a Protestant Industrial Home; the two younger girls attended a Board School, and in July, 1891, they were sent by Mrs. Scrimgeour to the same Home as their sister. The boy was with his mother's brother, who was a Roman Catholic, and with his uncle's children attended a Board School from May, 1890, to September, 1891, since which time he had attended a Church of England school. The summons was taken out by an aunt of the father of the infants, who was a Roman Catholic, as their next friend, and it asked that Mrs. Scrimgeour might be removed, and that the next friend and a Roman Catholic lady might be appointed guardians, or that they might be appointed to act jointly with Mrs. Scrimgeour.

S. Hall, Q.C., and P. S. Stokes, for the summons.

Cozens-Hardy, Q.C., and Micklem, for Mrs. Scrimgeour.

NORTH, J., held that he had jurisdiction to remove Mrs. Scrimgeour, if he thought that it would be for the welfare of the infants to do so. The father having been a Roman Catholic, if an application had been made to the Court immediately after his death, it must have directed that the infants should be brought up in his religion; but, having regard to what had taken place since, his Lordship did not think it would be for the welfare of the infants to interfere with their religious education. He had seen the elder girl, and she had expressed a wish to be brought up in the Church of England, and he thought that she was old enough to be entitled to choose for herself. The summons must be dismissed.

Executor — Administration — Claim against Estate — Statute of Limitations—Right of Residuary Legatee to require Executor to plead Statute—Originating Summons—Rules of Supreme Court, 1883, Order LV., rr. 3, 4.

Originating summons by the executors and trustees of the will of Laura Wenham, asking, under rules 3 and 4 of Order LV., for the determination of the question, whether the defendant Emily Wenham was a creditor upon the estate of the testatrix, and (if so) to what amount. The residuary legatee was also a defendant. It was admitted that the claim of Emily Wenham as a creditor was barred by the Statute of Limitations; but the plaintiffs had not set up the statute, and did not desire to do so without the direction of the Court, though they disputed the amount of the claim on other grounds.

S. Hall, Q.C., and Curtis Price, for the plaintiffs.

Kemp, Q.C., and Maidlow, for the claimant.

Cozens-Hardy Q.C., and Vernon R. Smith, for the residuary legatee, contended that, if the plaintiffs would not plead the statute, the residuary legatee was entitled to leave to issue a summons for the administration of the estate, and to have an administration order made at once, so as to compel the setting up of the statute.

NORTH, J., said that the procedure under Order LV. was a substitute for the old procedure by way of a decree for administration, dispensing with so much of that procedure as was unnecessary for the determination of the particular question. Under the old procedure the present question could not have arisen until after decree, and after decree the defence of the statute must have been raised, though before decree the executors would have been at liberty to pay the debt without insisting on the statute. For this purpose the parties ought now to be treated as in the same position as they would formerly have been after decree, and, therefore, the residuary legatee was entitled to insist on the defence of the statute being raised.

Company—Winding-up—Claim to Prove—Liquidator—Jurisdiction to consider Set-off—Costs—Companies (Winding-up) Rules, 1890, rr. 110, 112, 178.

In winding-up proceedings, T. Baines brought in a claim to prove for 23*l.* 10*s.* 9*d.* The official receiver, acting as liquidator, disallowed the proof on the ground that the company were entitled to set off a larger sum, which he held to be owing from T. Baines to the company.

On appeal from the liquidator's decision, it was contended that the liquidator had only jurisdiction to examine and adjudicate on the claim sent in, but not to adjudicate on the validity or invalidity of a disputed set-off; and that the appellant was entitled to have the question of set-off tried in independent proceedings by the ordinary tribunal.

Oswald, for the appellant.

Bramwell Davis, for the official receiver.

VAUGHAN WILLIAMS, J., held, that for the purposes of to-day the liquidator was entitled to examine the set-off in order to arrive at the amount, if any, of the proof to be allowed; that under the circumstances the proof must be admitted, but with liberty to the liquidator to apply to expunge the proof if so advised; and that, following the rule in Bankruptcy, the appellant was entitled to his costs, not of the proof, but of the application, out of the assets of the company.

COURT OF APPEAL.

From Q. B. D. HARRIS v. JUDGE. May 16; June 1.

County Courts Act, 1888 (51 & 52 Vict. c. 43), Part III., s. 65; Part IV., s. 116—Action commenced in High Court—Transfer before Trial to County Court—Jurisdiction of Judge of High Court to make Order in Action after Transfer—Costs.

The question on this appeal was whether, in the case of an action commenced in the High Court and transferred to the County Court, a judge of the High Court has, after the transfer, any jurisdiction to make any order in such action. The present action was commenced in the Queen's Bench Division of the High Court, and the plaintiff in it claimed 34*l.* 5*s.* 4*d.* for work, labour, and materials. By an order made under the 65th sect. of the County Courts Act, 1888, and dated the 16th of January, 1892, the action was transferred to the County Court, where it was tried with the result that the plaintiff recovered less than 50*l.* but more than 20*l.* After the trial in the county court the plaintiff applied by summons in the High Court for, and obtained from Pollock, B., in Chambers, an order dated the 1st of April, 1892, giving him liberty to tax the costs of the action according to the High Court scale. This order was reversed by a Divisional Court consisting of Day and Charles, JJ., on the ground that Pollock, B., had no jurisdiction to make it, and from their decision the plaintiff now appealed.

The County Courts Act, 1888, in Part III., relating to "jurisdiction," and at s. 65, after empowering any party to any action of contract brought in the High Court, the claim in which does not exceed or is reduced to 100*l.*, to apply to a judge of the High Court in Chambers to order such action to be tried in any Court in which it might have been commenced, and after enacting that the judge shall, unless there is good cause to the contrary, order such action to be tried accordingly, further enacts that "the action, and all proceedings therein, shall be tried and taken in such Court as if the action had been originally commenced therein; and the costs of the parties in respect of proceedings subsequent to the order of the judge of the High Court shall be allowed" according to the County Court scale, and the costs of the order and the proceedings previous thereto according to the Supreme Court scale.

The same Act, in Part IV., relating to Procedure and Trial, and at s. 116, provides (sub-sect. 1), "If in an action founded on contract the plaintiff shall recover . . . . a sum of 20*l.* or upwards but less than 50*l.*, he shall not be entitled to any more costs than he would have been entitled to if the action had been brought in a county court . . . . unless in any such action a judge of the High Court certifies that there was sufficient reason for bringing the action in that Court, or unless the High Court or a judge thereof at Chambers shall by order allow costs."

It was stated that the order made by Pollock, B., on the 1st of April, 1892, was in accordance with the practice which has hitherto prevailed in the chambers of the judges of the Queen's Bench Division.

Sills, for the appellant.

Ernest Pollock, and C. C. Scott, for the defendant.

Cur. adv. vult.

June 1. THE COURT (Lindley, Bowen, and Kay, L.JJ.) said that the words at the conclusion of s. 65 of the Act of 1888 could not be read as leaving any jurisdiction in the High Court after the action had been transferred to the County Court. Every application which could properly be regarded as a "proceeding" in the action must after the transfer be taken in the County Court as if the action had been originally commenced therein; an application as to the costs of an action was "a proceeding in the action," and must be made to the County Court and not in the High Court. The view taken by the Court of Appeal of sect. 65 was, therefore, right. As to sect. 116, which gave rise to the difficulty, it did not give the judge of the High Court any jurisdiction which he had not already got, and only meant that an order might be made by a judge of the High Court in a case where he had jurisdiction. As to actions not transferred, the rules laid down in sect. 116 would of course have to be applied by the High Court. The appeal must, accordingly, be dismissed with costs.

Practice—Motion to vary Minutes—Appeal.

Appeal from a decision of Kekewich, J., refusing to vary the minutes of the judgment in the action as drawn up by the registrar.

The plaintiff, who was the appellant, had appealed from the judgment before it was drawn up; and when the minutes were drawn up he found that certain documents which, as he alleged, had been put in evidence and admitted at the trial, were not entered in the minutes. The registrar refused to alter the minutes as proposed by the plaintiff; and the plaintiff therefore moved before Kekewich, J., to vary the minutes. His Lordship refused the application, and the plaintiff appealed. On the appeal being opened the Court took the objection that an application to alter the minutes was not a subject for appeal to the Court of Appeal.

Eyre, for the appellant, urged that unless the minutes were rectified the appellant would not be able to use the documents as evidence on the appeal.

Swinfen Eady, for the respondent, was not called on.

LINDLEY, L.J., said that it ought to be clearly understood that it was not the function of the Court of Appeal to assist the parties in drawing up the minutes of a judgment in one of the Courts of first instance. The Court could not interfere with the opinion of the judge as to drawing up the minutes of his own judgment. The appeal must be dismissed.

BOWEN, L.J., said that he was of the same opinion. The proper course was for the appellant to appeal from the judgment as it stood, and to apply at the hearing for leave to use the documents which had been omitted by the registrar as evidence on the appeal. He must, of course, give notice to the other side of his intention to do so.

Company—Winding-up—Official Receiver—Appointment of Provisional Liquidator after Winding-up—Companies (Winding-up) Act, 1890, s. 4.

Appeal from a decision of a Divisional Court consisting of Day and Charles, JJ., dismissing an appeal from an order of the judge of the Carnarvonshire County Court.

The above-mentioned company was registered under the Companies Acts, 1862 to 1890. A petition was presented for winding up the company in the county court of Carnarvonshire. On the presentation of the petition the judge of the Court appointed Mr. Nicholson as provisional liquidator. When the petition came on for hearing His Honour made an order for winding up the company and continued Mr. Nicholson as provisional liquidator until a liquidator should be appointed in his place. The official receiver appealed from the order, contending that under the Companies (Winding-up) Act, 189

s. 4, no person could be appointed provisional liquidator except the official receiver.

The Divisional Court dismissed the appeal, but gave leave to appeal; and an appeal was accordingly brought by the official receiver to the Court of Appeal.

Sir R. E. Webster, A.G., Ingle Joyce, and Muir Mackenzie, for the appellant.

Buckley, Q.C., and Kenyon Parker, for the petitioner.

Hugh Fraser, for Mr. Nicholson.

LINDLEY, L.J., said that the only question on the appeal was whether under the Companies (Winding-up) Act, 1890, a provisional liquidator could be appointed after the winding-up order was made. He gave no opinion as to the power of the Court before the winding-up order was made; but he held that it was no longer optional to appoint a provisional liquidator after the winding-up order was made. Under sect. 4, sub-sect. 1, of that Act, the official receiver on an order being made became provisional liquidator until a meeting of creditors was held and a liquidator appointed by the Court in his place. The object of the enactment was to prevent the controversies which used to arise as to who should be the provisional liquidator and the costs occasioned thereby. The appeal must, therefore, be allowed.

Hopkinson, Q.C., and Wills, for the appellants, contended that the order was oppressive.

Renshaw, Q.C., and J. Cutler, for the respondent.

LINDLEY, L.J., was of opinion that the order for discovery at the present stage of the proceedings was oppressive and must be discharged, but without prejudice to any order which the judge at the trial might make as to production of documents. The power which the Court had of compelling discovery before the trial was a most useful one, but it ought not to be extended so as to be oppressive.

Company — Misrepresentation in Prospectus — Application for Shares before Registration of Company—Companies Act, 1862, s. 35.

This was an appeal by Karberg from a decision of Kekewich, J., refusing to remove his name from the list of contributories of the above-named company (Weekly Notes, ante, p. 29).

The ground relied on by the appellant for his right to repudiate his shares was that he applied for them on the faith of a prospectus issued by the promoters before the company was registered, in which it was stated that Lord Braybourne and Admiral Mayne had consented to be members of the council of administration of the company. Karberg's application was made before the company was formed, and the shares were allotted to him immediately after its registration. Lord Braybourne and Admiral Mayne both refused to become members of the company.

Marten, Q.C., and G. White, for the appellant.

Warmington, Q.C., and H. Terrell, for the liquidator.

May 30. LINDLEY, L.J., said that the right of the appellant to repudiate his shares depended on the answers to be given to the following questions: (1) Was the statement in the prospectus a statement of fact or an expression of expectation only? (2) Was the statement of fact (if any) untrue, or was the expected state of things not really expected by those who issued the prospectus? (3) Was the prospectus the basis of the contract formed by the application and allotment of shares? (4) Was the statement contained in it material to the contract? (5) Did Karberg rely on it? (6) Assuming all these questions to be answered in Karberg's favour, was he precluded from obtaining relief by acquiescence or delay? His Lordship then considered each of these questions, and expressed his opinion that the first five must all be answered in the appellant's favour; but said that he was willing to hear further arguments on the question whether he was precluded from obtaining relief by acquiescence or delay.

KAY, L.J., gave judgment to the same effect.

BOWEN, L.J., concurred.

June 3. The case was again argued on the question reserved. The same counsel appeared.

At the conclusion of the argument,

THE COURT held, that there was no proof of any such acquiescence or delay as would debar the appellant from insisting on his rights. The result was that the decision of Kekewich, J., must be reversed, and the appellant's name removed from the list of contributories. They were also of opinion that he was entitled to interest at 4*l.* per cent. on the money which he had paid for the shares.

Separation Deed—Acts committed before or subsequent to the Date of Deed—Severable Proviso.

On the 1st of July, 1886, a deed of separation was executed by the plaintiff and the defendant Janet Brunton, his wife.

The deed contained a proviso that if the defendant Janet Brunton filed a petition for divorce or judicial separation against the plaintiff for any act committed before or subsequent to the date thereof by the plaintiff, the covenants, stipulations, trusts, and provisions should forthwith be void, and that th-after the trustees should stand possessed of the property thereby settled in trust for the plaintiff absolutely.

In July, 1891, the defendant Janet Brunton presented a petition for divorce in respect of acts alleged to have been committed by the plaintiff both before and subsequent to the date of the deed.

A declaration was now sought that the covenants, stipulations, trusts, and conditions contained in the deed had become and were void, and that the plaintiff had become entitled to a surrender and assignment of the property thereby settled.

Sir Edward Clarke, S.G., Rigby, Q.C., Byrne, Q.C., Bramwell Davis, Vernon Smith, and Cave, for the parties.

CHITTY, J., held, that the proviso as to acts committed before or subsequent to the deed was severable, and that part of the proviso being valid which related to acts committed before the date of the deed, the plaintiff was, therefore, entitled to the declaration he asked for.

Patents, Designs, and Trade Marks Act, 1883 (46 & 47 Vict. c. 57), [ss. 64, 103—Foreign Trade-mark—Descriptive Words.

This was a motion on the part of the Carter Medicine Company (a company incorporated under the law of the State of New York, and having its principal place of business in New York) that the Comptroller-General might be directed to proceed with an application by the Carter Medicine Company to register in their name a trade-mark consisting of the words "Carter's Little Liver Pills." The application stated the essential particulars of the trade-mark to be the words "Little Liver," and that applicants disclaimed any right to the exclusive use of the word "pills." The trade-mark was registered in the United States Patent Office in the name of the applicants on the 17th of November, 1891, in pursuance of an application filed the 19th of October, 1891. The British Government and the Government of the United States are signatories to an International Convention (see In re Californian Fig Syrup Company's Trade-mark (40 Ch. Will—Construction—Residuary Gift—Gift to a Class—Intermarriage of Two Members of Class—Double Share.

A testator by his will, dated the 9th of January, 1889, after divers bequests, bequeathed his residue to all his nephews and nieces living at his decease, with a gift over to the children of nephews and nieces who should die in his lifetime, such children to take in equal shares the share which their respective parent would have taken if he or she had survived the testator.

There were twenty-three nephews and nieces of the testator including a nephew, James Hall, and a niece, Sarah Hall, who intermarried, and both died before the date of the will. There were issue of such marriage several children who survived the testator.

A question, raised on the further consideration of an administration action, was whether such children took a share in respect of each parent, and whether the residuary estate was divisible into twenty-two or twenty-three shares.

It was argued that the use of the word "parent" in the singular indicated the intention of the testator that the children of James and Sarah Hall (who both died before the will was made, as the testator knew) should take only one share.

COURT OF APPEAL.

From Ch. Div. May 26, 27, 28, 30; June 3.

LAURI v. RENAD.

Copyright—Right of Representation—Expiration of Right—International Copyright Act, 1852 (15 & 16 Vict. c. 12), ss. 3, 4—International Copyright Act, 1886 (49 & 50 Vict. c. 33), s. 6—Retrospective operation of Statute.

The plaintiff in this action claimed to have acquired by assignment and registration under the Copyright Acts, the right of representation both of the French and English versions of a play or pantomime known as 'The Voyage in Switzerland,' or 'The Swiss Express,' which was originally written in French in 1879 by two French authors and called 'Le Voyage en Suisse.' The action was for an injunction to restrain the defendants Renad Frères, a Parisian troupe of pantomimists, from performing this play at a theatre in Nottingham of which the defendant Mulholland was the lessee and manager.

The main defence was that all copyright in the play had expired before the passing of the International Copyright Act, 1886, and that no new right had been created by that Act.

Mr. Justice Kekewich, on the 5th of May, 1892, refused to grant the interlocutory injunction claimed by the plaintiff, and the plaintiff now appealed.

Warmington, Q.C., and Swinfen Eady, for the appellant.
Scrutton, and Hamilton Hulse, for Messrs. Renad Frères.
Cutler, Q.C., and Megone, for the defendant Mulholland.

Cur. adv. vult.

June 3. THE COURT (Lindley, Bowen, and Kay, L.JJ.) said, that assuming everything in the appellant's favour, the copyright acquired in 1879 expired in November, 1884, and under sect. 4 of the International Copyright Act, 1852, the right to prevent representations of the play came to an end in the same year. The only enactment, therefore, which could avail the plaintiff was sect. 6 of the International Copyright Act of 1886; but there were rules of law that no statute shall be given a retrospective operation unless its language plainly requires it, and that no statute shall have a greater retrospective operation than its language renders necessary; and it would be a violation of those rules if that section were to be construed so as to revive or recreate a right which had expired before the Act was passed, or to confer a new right on the owners of an expired right without any fresh act done by him. Their Lordships had only to deal with a translation, the copyright in which had expired before the Act came into force, and on the broad ground taken by the Court below, that the Act did not revive expired copyrights, they held that the plaintiff had not the right he asserted, and dismissed the appeal with costs.

From Ch. Div. MOGRIDGE v. CLAPP. June 2

Settled Land Acts—Tenant by the Curtesy—Building Lease—Deed operating as Exercise of Statutory Power—Trustees of Settlement—Absence of Notice—Dealing in Good Faith—Settled Land Act, 1882 (45 & 46 Vict. c. 38), ss. 6, 20, 45, 53—Settled Land Act, 1884 (47 & 48 Vict. c. 18), s. 8.

This was an appeal from a judgment of Kekewich, J., directing specific performance of an agreement by the defendant to buy a leasehold property held by the plaintiff under a lease granted to himself. This lease was a building lease for ninety-nine years, granted by one Hoskins by deed dated the 31st of October, 1884, and Hoskins purported to grant it as absolute owner of the land, and without any reference to the Settled Land Acts, although, in fact, he was only tenant by the curtesy. The plaintiff did not inquire into Hoskins's title, but assumed him to be tenant in fee. The defendant having found out the true state of the title, i.e., that the land had belonged to Hoskins's wife under a will, and that he was only in the position of a tenant for life, refused to complete on the ground that the lease was invalid, or if not, that the plaintiff's title was so questionable that it ought not to be forced upon him.

The Settled Land Act, 1882, provides in sect. 45, sub-sect. 1, that a tenant for life when intending to make a lease shall give notice of his intention to each of the trustees of the settlement; and sub-sect. 3, that "a person dealing in good faith with the tenant for life is not concerned to inquire respecting the giving of any such notice as is required" by the Act. The lease in this case complied with the requirements of sects. 6, 7, and 8 of the Settled Land Act, 1882, as to building leases made by a tenant for life; but at the date of the lease there were no trustees of the will to whom the notice required by sect. 45 could be given.

It was held by Kekewich, J. (see ante, p. 50), that the lease was "intended to operate," and could and did operate under the Settled Land Act, 1882, to convey the land within the meaning of sect. 20, sub-sect. 2; and that, as to the absence of trustees of the settlement and the want of the notices required by sect. 45, the plaintiff was protected by sect. 20, sub-sect. 8.

The defendant appealed.

Marten, Q.C., and Vernon R. Smith, for the appellant.

Warmington, Q.C., and Upjohn, for the respondent.

THE COURT (Lindley, Bowen, and Kay, L.JJ.) affirmed the judgment of Kekewich, J., and dismissed the appeal with costs, holding that the defendant's title would not be practically open to attack.

WALKER v. BACH.
LLOYD'S BANK v. BACH.

Administration — Judgment, Form of — Business of Testator carried on after his Death—Special Inquiries whether necessary.

Creditors of a testator brought an action by writ for the administration of his estate, and the usual administration judgment was made in Chambers. The business of the testator had been carried on after his death by the trustees and executors of his will, and creditors of the business who had recovered judgment against the executors in respect of a debt incurred subsequently to the testator's death, took out an originating summons on behalf of themselves and all other creditors for administration of the estate, and now applied to the Court to discharge or vary the judgment made in Chambers, and in lieu thereof to pronounce a judgment directing inquiries as to the carrying on of the business so as to distinguish between and ascertain the creditors of the testator and the creditors of the business. It was alleged that the business had been carried on with the express assent of the creditors of the testator, so that the principle of Dowse v. Gorton ([1891] A. C. 190; 40 Ch. Div. 536), entitling the applicants to priority, was applicable, and it was contended that their rights would not be sufficiently protected under an ordinary administration judgment.

Hopkinson, Q.C., and C. J. Morris, for the applicants.

Renshaw, Q.C., and R. J. Parker, for the plaintiffs in the action by writ.

KEKEWICH, J., refused the application. His Lordship said that creditors of the class to which the applicants belonged, though not strictly creditors of the testator, had always been recognised as creditors under an administration decree; and though he was not aware of any case in which an ordinary administration judgment had been made at the instance of such creditors, he had no doubt that such an action could be brought, and that the originating summons was to that extent right. He was satisfied, however, that creditors of this class had had their claims considered and fully dealt with under an ordinary judgment without special inquiries, and he was inclined to think that the practice was not to direct special inquiries in the first instance, but to wait until it was necessary to add them, and that it did not often prove to be necessary to do so. It might or might not be necessary to have such special inquiries, but it was not to be assumed that they were necessary. In Dowse v. Gorton there were no doubt special grounds of convenience which induced the Court to direct them. It was not to be assumed without proof that the executors would not do their duty, or that they were likely to ignore the creditors of the business, whose debts had been contracted by the executors own act.

HATTON v. HARRIS. June 27.

Practice—Landed Estates Court in Ireland—Slip in Decree—Power of Correction—Order XXVIII. r. 11.

THE HOUSE OF LORDS (Lords Herschell, Watson, Macnaghten, and Field) held that under the "Slip Order" of the Irish Rules, which is identical with Order XXVIII. r. 11 of the English Rules, the Court had power, upon a proper application being made, to correct a slip in a decree made in 1853, it not being shewn that any rights of other parties had intervened. COURT OF APPEAL.

From Probate Div. June 22.

THOMPSON v. ROURKE.

Practice—Divorce Court—Jactitation of Marriage—Trial by Jury—Undefended Action.

This was an appeal by Mrs. E. M. Thompson in formâ pauperis from an order of Jeune, J., made in a suit of jactitation of marriage in which Mrs. Thompson was the plaintiff. The defendant Rourke had entered an appearance, but had put in no defence. The plaintiff applied to the judge to have the suit tried by a jury. The judge refused the application and the plaintiff appealed.

Mrs. Thompson appeared in person. The defendant did not appear.

LINDLEY, L.J., said that suits of jactitation of marriage were so rare in modern times, that the Court had considered it advisable to inquire into the practice. There was an excellent account of it in Lord Hawke v. Corri (2 Hagg. Cons. Rep. 280). Although the defendant in the present case had entered an appearance, he had put in no defence. There was, therefore, at present nothing to be tried; and it was contrary to the practice of the Divorce Court to have an undefended suit tried by a jury. If a defence should be put in the judge would, no doubt, according to the ordinary course, order a trial by jury. As the case now stood, the order of the judge could not be interfered with. The appeal must, therefore, be dismissed.

LOPES and KAY, L.JJ., concurred.

From Ch. Div. BLACKMAN v. FYSH. June 22.

Will—Construction—Contingent Remainder or Executory Devise—Cesser of Life Estate under Forfeiture Clause.

This was an appeal of the plaintiff from so much of a decision of Kekewich, J., as decided that the limitation over on the failure of the son's life estate was an executory devise, and that the property belonged to all children of the tenant for life who attained twenty-one (Weekly Notes [1891] p. 99).

Renshaw, Q.C., and Macnaghten, for the appeal.

Neville, Q.C., and Richings, for the second child of the tenant for life.

Method, for the children born after the forfeiture of the life estate.

THE COURT (Lindley, Lopes, and A. L. Smith, L.JJ.) held, that as the limitation to the children took effect on the determination by forfeiture of the life estate, it was not a contingent remainder but an executory devise, and that all children who had attained or should attain twenty-one were entitled.

Bankruptcy—Proof of Debt—Loan to Trader—Interest varying with Profits—Postponement of Lender to other Creditors—Partnership Law Amendment Act, 1865 (28 & 29 Vict. c. 86), (Bovill's Act), ss. 1, 5—Partnership Act, 1890 (53 & 54 Vict. c. 39), ss. 2, 3—Agreement Void for Uncertainty.

Appeal against a decision of Vaughan Williams and Collins, JJ. ([1892] 1 Q. B. 587).

Baxter (the appellant) advanced 4500*l.* to Vince (a trader) on the 28th of October, 1889, upon the terms of an agreement in writing, which provided that Vince should pay interest on the loan to Baxter by two half-yearly payments, on the 28th of April and the 28th of October in each year, of 462*l.* 10*s.* for every half-year; and that, in case Vince should be unable to pay to Baxter any part of the half-yearly payments upon any part of the 4500*l.*, by reason of the deficiency of the profits of Vince, "then and upon every such occasion a due allowance shall be made by Baxter to Vince in respect of the same in a fair and reasonable manner."

In January, 1891, a receiving order was made against Vince, and he was afterwards adjudicated a bankrupt. Baxter claimed to prove in the bankruptcy for the balance remaining due to him in respect of the 4500*l.* The judge of the Norwich County Court admitted the proof. The Divisional Court reversed the decision, holding that the proof could be admitted only for the purpose of receiving a dividend after all the other creditors of Vince had been paid in full, on the ground that the effect the agreement was to make the rate of interest on the loan vary with the profits of the business; and that, therefore, sect. 5 of Bovill's Act applied, and operated to postpone the lender to the other creditors.

Baxter appealed.

Cooper Willis, Q.C., and Eversley, for the appellant.

Muir Mackenzie, for the trustee in the bankruptcy.

THE COURT (Lord Esher, M.R., and Bowen and A. L. Smith, LJJ.) reversed the decision, and allowed the appeal, on the ground that the agreement was expressed in such vague and uncertain terms that it was impossible to say in what mode the "due allowance" in diminution of the interest was to be ascertained. It could not, therefore, be said that the rate of interest varied with the profits, or that Bovill's Act applied. The agreement, being unintelligible, must be treated as void, and the appellant was entitled to prove for the unpaid balance of the loan simply as money lent. Their Lordships expressed their assent to the following proposition stated in Leake on Contracts (3rd edition), p. 591: "A promise must be reasonably certain, and if the parties have expressed the matter of their agreement in such uncertain or imperfect terms that it is impossible to ascertain any definite meaning, the agreement is necessarily void."

Will — Annuity — Legacies — Real Estate — Widow — Annuity in satisfaction of Dower — Priority — Dower Act (3 & 4 Wm. 4, c. 105), s. 12.

A testator who was married after the Dower Act (3 & 4 Wm. 4, c. 105) came into operation, by his will, dated in 1873, devised freehold messuage to his wife for life and bequeathed her an annuity of 500*l.*; and after devising all his real estate, subject to his wife's interest in the freehold messuage, to his son, he bequeathed to his trustees two sums of 10,000*l.* for the benefit of his two daughters, and by a codicil declared that the provision made for his wife by his will was in satisfaction of her dower. The testator died seised of real estate out of which, had he died intestate, his widow would have been entitled to dower. The personal estate proving insufficient for the payment of the annuity of 500*l.* to the widow and the legacies of 10,000*l.* each to the daughters in full, a summons was issued for the purpose of determining the question whether the annuity to the widow was payable in priority to the legacies.

Practice — Motion for Judgment — Jurisdiction — Judgment by Consent as against some Defendants only in absence of the Others — Rules of Supreme Court, 1883, Order XXVII., r. 12.

This action was brought against the owners in fee of a piece of land, and a person named Tyler, with whom the owners had agreed to allow him the use of the land for a term of three and a half years, for the purpose of constructing upon it a moveable or other building for the exhibition of a panorama. The benefit of this agreement was assigned by Tyler to a company called the Victoria Company, who were also defendants. When the land was conveyed to the owners in fee they covenanted with the Westminster Land Company (the vendors to them) not to erect on the land any building above a specified height. The plaintiffs were the owners of some adjoining land, which they had also acquired from the Westminster Land Company. They had entered into a similar covenant. The plaintiffs claimed an injunction to restrain the erection upon the defendants' land of a building higher than the specified height, in breach of the covenant contained in the conveyance from the Westminster Land Company.

The Court of Appeal, reversing the decision of North, J., granted an interlocutory injunction.

The defendants Tyler and the Victoria Company afterwards agreed to consent to the injunction being made perpetual against them. The action was set down as a short cause upon motion for judgment against the consenting defendants. The other defendants were not served. Minutes of a judgment by consent for a perpetual injunction against the consenting defendants, with costs, were prepared.

Macaskie, for the plaintiffs, asked for judgment according to the minutes.

G. F. Hart, for the defendants Tyler and the Victoria Company, consented.

The registrar in Court suggested to the judge that there was a difficulty in giving a final judgment against some defendants in the absence of the others; that the Court would not give final judgment piecemeal.

Macaskie, submitted that the other defendants could not be prejudiced, and that those defendants who had no defence to the action were entitled to make an end of it without incurring any more costs.

NORTH, J., said the suggestion of the registrar was that the proposed order against some defendants only could not be made as at the trial of the action, though it could be made upon an interlocutory motion. His Lordship did not quite appreciate the distinction, having regard to Order XXVII., r. 12, but he thought the difficulty might be got over by treating the present motion as an interlocutory motion. The order would then be made as asked; but it would be better, by way of precaution, to add an order staying all further proceedings in the action against the consenting defendants, except for the purpose of giving effect to the present order.

In re DRAKE.
CHAMBERLAIN v. DRAKE.

Trustee—Breach of Trust—Liability of Estate of Deceased Trustee for Breach of Trust committed after his Death.

Trial of action.

W. H. Palk, by his will, dated the 12th of December, 1884, directed that all the residue of his estate might be invested in any of the securities authorized by law, and should be held by his executor upon the trusts therein mentioned. And he appointed T. E. Drake, a solicitor, his executor, and provided that, in case of the resignation or death of his said trustee and executor, or of any future trustee and executor, the resigning trustee, or the executors or administrators of a deceased trustee, might appoint another person to be a trustee. The testator died on the 28th of July, 1885, and his will was proved by T. E. Drake, who possessed himself of the testator's estate. T. E. Drake died on the 9th of March, 1888. By his will, dated the 27th of September, 1886, T. E. Drake gave the residue of his estate equally between his three daughters, and appointed his daughter Harriet Drake (one of the three) his executrix. Harriet Drake proved the will. At the time of the death of T. E. Drake, the estate of Palk consisted of investments standing in the name of T. E. Drake. Harriet Drake, as executrix of T. E. Drake, possessed herself of those investments. C. H. Drake, her brother, was her solicitor. On the 17th of January, 1890, Harriet Drake executed a deed appointing the plaintiff and one Probyn to be trustees of Palk's will. This deed contained a statement of the securities in which Palk's estate was invested. Probyn died on the 17th of May, 1890. After the execution of the deed it was discovered that some of the securities mentioned in it were not in the possession or under the control of Harriet Drake. She had, under the advice and influence of her brother (not clearly understanding what she was doing) executed transfers of the missing securities, and had allowed him to receive the purchase-moneys, which he misappropriated. Some part of the money had been recovered from C. H. Drake, but a considerable balance remained unpaid. This action was brought against Harriet Drake and her two sisters. The plaintiff claimed a declaration that the whole estate of T. E. Drake was liable to make good to the plaintiff, as trustee of Palk's will the trust funds theretofore vested in T. E. Drake as such trustee; that accounts might be taken to ascertain the amount of the liability, and proper orders made to enforce it; that the defendant Harriet Drake might be declared personally liable for such parts of the estate of Palk as she had suffered to be received by C. H. Drake, and that she might be ordered to make good the same; and that, if, and so far as, necessary, the estates of Palk and T. E. Drake might be administered by the Court. By her defence Harriet Drake stated that she was willing that her interest in the estate of T. E. Drake should be treated as liable to make good such amounts, as through the misappropriations of C. H. Drake, remained owing to Palk's estate. The defendants alleged that the whole of the funds subject to the trusts of Palk's will were properly invested at the time of the death of T. E. Drake, and they submitted that his estate was not liable to make good any losses which had arisen by reason of any act or default of Harriet Drake, or of C. H. Drake, or which otherwise had occurred since the death of T. E. Drake.

Beaumont, for the plaintiff, contended that on principle the estate of a deceased sole trustee remained liable for the trust fund, until trustees had been validly appointed in his place and the trust fund had been handed over to them. Harriet Drake was not a trustee of Palk's will; she was only the representative of her father's estate.

Creed, for the defendants.

NORTH, J., held that the estate of the deceased trustee was not liable for trust funds which he left in a proper state of investment at the time of his death. Harriet Drake was of course liable to make good the whole loss. His Lordship made an order declaring that Harriet Drake was personally liable, and that her beneficial interest under her father's will was liable, to make good the trust funds, but that the rest of her father's estate was not liable.

A minute proposing a reduction of capital by treating the issued 10*l.* shares as 7*l.* 10*s.* shares, and the unissued shares as 10*l.* shares, was sanctioned by the Court; but the petition for reduction was ordered to stand over in order that the company might consider the effect of the reduction upon one of the articles of association, giving a member one vote for every complete number of ten shares. MORANT v. BOLTON.

Verbal Promise of Indemnity—Liability undertaken at the Request of Another—Statute of Frauds (29 Car. 2, c. 3), s. 4—Retainer by Executor.

This was an application by creditors to vary the chief clerk's certificate by disallowing a sum of 2000*l.*, retained by the defendant, the executor, in discharge of a debt, for which he and his partner had become personally liable, under the following circumstances. The testator had verbally promised the defendant and his partner that, in consideration of their procuring the bankers of a limited company to make a loan of 4000*l.* to the company, and of their personal guarantee to the bankers for the repayment of this loan, he would repay the defendants' firm whatever they should be called on to pay, to the extent of 2000*l.*, under such guarantee. The advance was made to the company, and subsequently the bankers called upon the defendants' firm to repay the 4000*l.*, which they did. The testator died insolvent, without having repaid the defendants' firm, but having appointed the defendant one of his executors. The estate was being administered in the above action, and the defendant had retained, and claimed to be allowed to retain, 2000*l.* out of the testator's estate in virtue of the above-named undertaking to repay. The creditors, however, contended that the undertaking should have been in writing, as being a "promise to answer for the debt, default, or miscarriage of another person" within sect. 4 of the Statute of Frauds, and that, consequently, the executor had no right of retainer.

Willis Bund, for the application.

Farwell, Q.C., and Hadley, for the defendant.

Hatfield Green, for the plaintiff.

CHITTY, J., said that the case did not fall within the section; it was not a promise to answer for the debt, default or miscarriage of another, but an original contract between the parties, whereby the testator agreed to pay 2000*l.* in an event, which had happened. If the defendants' firm had, at the request of the testator, paid money to a third person, a promise to repay it need not have been in writing: Thomas v. Cook (8 B. & C. 728), and the present case was in substance the same. The case might be put more shortly thus: "If A. undertakes a liability at the request of B., and upon a promise by B. to pay to A. what he pays under the liability, B.'s promise is not within the Statute of Frauds." The decision of Malins, V.C., in Wildes v. Dudlow (Law Rep. 19 Eq. 198) was directly in point, and was binding. The Vice-Chancellor had reviewed the authorities, and it was therefore not necessary to do more than say that he thought the Vice-Chancellor's conclusion was right. For these reasons the executor's claim to retain this 2000*l.* must be allowed, and the summons to vary dismissed with costs.

Power—Execution—Marriage Settlement—Covenant that Wife's Power of Appointment should be executed only in favour of Trustees—General Testamentary Power—Breach of Covenant—Specific Performance—Damages—Liability of Wife's Executors to extent of Assets come to their hands.

A marriage settlement, executed in 1867, contained covenants by the husband and wife that all the estate, property, and effects whatsoever which the wife, or the husband in her right, should at any time during the coverture become possessed of or entitled to, at law or in equity, in any manner whatsoever, should be settled; and also that any power or powers of appointment over any estate, property, or effects whatsoever, of which the wife might at any time during the coverture be the donee under any settlement, will, or other instrument whatsoever, should, if executed by her, be executed only in favour of the trustees of the settlement.

During the coverture the wife became, under the will of her father, Mr. Hugh Parkin, donee of a general testamentary power of appointment over a sum of 5000*l.* 2½ per cent. Stock. By her will, dated the 29th of March, 1889, she executed the power, not in favour of the trustees, but in favour of other persons, including her husband, whom she appointed to be one of her executors.

She died on the 19th of June, 1892, and her will was proved by the executors.

This was an originating summons, taken out by the trustees of Hugh Parkin's will, for the purpose of determining questions which had arisen as to the effect of the covenants contained in the settlement and the dispositions made by the testatrix.

Hastings, Q.C., and Henry Fellows; Buckley, Q.C., and Maidlow; Beale, Q.C., and Ingle Joyce; Sheldon, and Muir Mackenzie, for the various parties.

STIRLING, J., said that, although the Courts had gone a long way in enforcing the specific performance of contracts to leave property by will, yet there had been no case in which specific performance had been granted of a contract by the donee of a testamentary power of appointment to make a particular testamentary disposition, and in his Lordship's opinion specific performance ought not to be decreed in such a case. He held, however, that there had been a breach of her covenants by the testatrix, and that the trustees of the settlement were entitled to recover damages against her executors to the extent of the assets come to their hands, the measure of such damages being the value of the property which would have come to the hands of the trustees if the covenants had been complied with.

His Lordship further held, that the fund appointed by the testatrix was assets for the payment of her ante-nuptial debts, but he expressed no opinion as to the effect of the husband's personal covenant.

Vendor and Purchaser—Covenants for Title—Conveyancing and Law of Property Act, 1881 (44 & 45 Vict. c. 41), s. 7, sub-s. 1 (a).

The defendant for value granted a lease of lands, but subsequently for value took a surrender of it from the lessee. Afterwards the defendant for value, "as beneficial owner," conveyed the lands to the plaintiff's predecessor in title. Some time after the conveyance the plaintiff and the defendant discovered that the lessee had, between the dates of the lease and the surrender, granted sub-leases, which remained valid, notwithstanding the surrender, and seriously affected the value of the fee simple purchased by the plaintiff.

The plaintiff claimed damages for breach of the implied covenant in the deed of conveyance by him, according to sect. 7, sub-sect. 1 (a), of the Conveyancing and Law of Property Act, 1881.

Haldane, Q.C., and Alexander Young, for the plaintiff.

Neville, Q.C., and Macnaghten, for the defendant.

ROMER, J., held, that the defendant was not liable. The implied covenants for right to convey, and quiet enjoyment, free from incumbrances, were all prefaced and limited by the words in the section, "notwithstanding anything by the person who so conveys," i.e. as beneficial owner, "or any one through whom he derives title otherwise than by purchase for value, made, done, executed, or knowingly suffered." The sub-leases were not the acts of the defendant but of his lessee; and the defendant, being a purchaser for value of the lease, was not liable for the acts or omissions of those through whom he claimed the lease purchased.

The implied covenant for further assurance was not expressly limited by the words "notwithstanding," &c., but in construing regard must be had to the prior covenants for title in the same deed. The sub-lessees claimed under the defendant, but only in a secondary sense. They claimed primarily and directly under the lessee, and there was no sufficient ground for making the defendant's implied covenant for further assurance include further assurance by the sub-lessees.

Company — Voluntary Winding-up — Surplus Assets — Capital partly paid up—Distribution—Companies Act, 1862 (25 & 26 Vict. c. 89) s. 133, sub-ss. 1, 10.

The original capital of a company consisted of 150,000*l.* in 1*l.* shares, of which 30,000 only were issued, but these were fully paid up as required by the articles of association.

By special resolutions the capital of 150,000*l.* was afterwards divided into 30,000 shares of 1*l.* each and 24,000 shares of 5*l.* each; a sum of ten shillings per 5*l.* share was payable on application, and a further sum of ten shillings within three months of allotment; the directors might receive from any 5*l.* shareholders willing to advance the same all or any part of the moneys due upon such shares beyond the sums actually called for, and on the advanced moneys interest was payable.

In a voluntary winding-up there was a surplus in the hands of the liquidators (after payment of all liabilities of the company and the costs of the liquidation) available for distribution among the shareholders. There was a deficit, however, on the amount of capital actually called up, including sums payable in advance by 5*l.* shareholders; and the liquidators by originating summons raised the question, on what principle the surplus was to be divided amongst (1) 1*l.* shareholders fully paid up; (2) 5*l.* shareholders who had only paid up 1*l.* per share; (3) 5*l.* shareholders who had, besides paying up 1*l.* per share, made further advances, at interest, on their shares.

W. Baker, for 5*l.* shareholders who had only paid 1*l.* per share.

Swinfen Eady, for the 5*l.* shareholders who had made further advances.

VAUGHAN WILLIAMS, J., held that, after payment of the company's liabilities and the costs of liquidation, the assets must be distributed as follows: (1) in payment to the 5*l.* shareholders who had made further advances of such advances with interest down to the time of distribution; (2) in payment to the 1*l.* shareholders of 16*s.* per share, so as to put them in the position of shareholders who had only paid 20 per cent. on the amount of each of their shares, and on a level with the 5*l.* shareholders who, by paying 1*l.* only, had only paid up 20 per cent. on the amount of each of their shares; (3) in payment to the 5*l.* and 1*l.* shareholders pro rata, treating each 5*l.* shareholder as if, in respect of each of his 5*l.* shares, he were the owner of five 1*l.* shares.

In re W. LAXON AND COMPANY.

Company—Winding-up—Registration—Memorandum of Association—Signature by Infants—Companies Act, 1862 (25 & 26 Vict. c. 89), ss. 6, 18.

A company called W. Laxon and Company, Limited, was in 1891 registered under the Companies Acts, 1862 to 1890, as a company with limited liability, with a capital of 5000*l.* divided into 5*l.* shares, and having its registered office at Bank Chambers, High Street, Coventry.

The Registrar of Joint Stock Companies issued his certificate of incorporation on the 22nd of June, 1891.

The memorandum of association was signed by eight persons, including G. E. Barnard and C. W. E. Barnard, who were then, and also at the date of the hearing of the winding-up petition mentioned below, considerably under the age of twenty-one years.

On the 25th of February, 1892, a petition was presented by creditors in the Coventry County Court, stating that the company had been incorporated and registered under the Companies Acts, and asking that it might be ordered to be wound up on the ground of its insolvency.

On the 12th of April, leave was given to the petitioners to amend their petition by praying in the alternative that the company might be wound up as an unregistered company under Part VIII. of the Act of 1862, on the ground that it was never duly incorporated, the memorandum of association not having been signed by seven "persons" within the meaning of sect. 6 of that Act.

On the 6th of May, 1892, on the application of G. E. Barnard and C. W. E. Barnard, by their next friend, under sect. 35 of the Companies Act, 1862, Stirling, J., ordered that the register of members of the company should be rectified by removing therefrom the names of the applicants in respect of all the respective share or shares registered in their names.

On the 21st of May, 1892, Vaughan Williams, J., on the application of the petitioning creditors, made an order in Chambers intituled, "In the matter of the Companies Acts, 1862 to 1890, and in the matter of a petition presented unto the County Court of Warwickshire holden at Coventry, in the matter of W. Laxon and Company, Limited," that "the said petition now pending in the County Court of Warwickshire holden at Coventry be transferred to this Court (Companies Winding-up)," and this order was affirmed by the Court of Appeal on the 22nd of June, 1892.

The amended petition accordingly was heard before Vaughan Williams, J., on the 25th and 27th of June, 1892, at which time it appeared that the company, if a company under the Act of 1862, consisted of more than seven but less than twenty members.

Levett, Q.C., and Eve, for the petitioners.

Chadwyck Healey, Q.C., and Younger, for the company.

Beale, Q.C., and Arkle, Shearman, and J. M. Paterson, for other parties.

VAUGHAN WILLIAMS, J., said the contract of the infants was only voidable. The infants at the time of signing were "persons" within the meaning of s. 6 of the Companies Act, 1862, and there were, therefore, more than the seven persons required by that section as signatories to the memorandum of association. That view was taken in In re Nassau Phosphate Company (2 Ch. Div. 610), and was approved by Kekewich, J., in In re National Debenture and Assets Corporation ([1891] 2 Ch. 505), when the latter case was before him. The application to wind up as an unregistered company failed; but his Lordship, at the desire of all parties, made an order to wind up the company as a registered company.

Company — Winding-up— Public Examinations — Companies (Winding-up) Act, 1890, s. 8—Companies (Winding-up) Rules, 1890, r. 71.

Sect. 8 of the Companies (Winding-up) Act, 1890, provides (sub-sect. 1) that, after a winding-up order, the official receiver shall submit a preliminary report to the Court (a) as to its capital, assets, and liabilities; (b) as to the causes of its failure; (c) "whether, in his opinion, further inquiry is desirable as to any matter relating to the promotion, formation, or failure of the company, or the conduct of the business thereof"; and (sub-sect. 2) that "the official receiver may also, if he thinks fit, make a further report, or further reports, stating the manner in which the company was formed, and whether, in his opinion, any fraud has been committed by any person in the promotion or formation of the company, or by any director or other officer of the company in relation to the company since the formation thereof, and any other matters which, in his opinion, it is desirable to bring to the notice of the Court." The section also provides (sub-sect. 3) that "the Court may, after consideration of any such report, direct that any person who has taken any part in the promotion or formation of the company, or has been a director or officer of the company, shall attend before the Court. . . . and be publicly examined as to the promotion or formation of the company, or as to the conduct of the business of the company, or as to his conduct or dealings as director or officer of the company."

The official receiver made a preliminary, and also a further report, in neither of which was the name of B. mentioned, and then obtained ex parte an order for the public examination of several persons, including B., who was described in the order only as "a subscriber for shares on the formation of the company."

B. moved that the order might be discharged.

Farwell, Q.C., and Grosvenor Woods, in support of the motion.

Muir Mackenzie, for the Official Receiver.

VAUGHAN WILLIAMS, J., held, that sect. 8 of the Act of 1890 differed from sect. 115 of the Companies Act, 1862, in this respect, that sect. 8 did not justify an order for examination on mere suspicion or probability of information being received; but no one had a locus standi to object to such an order being made except upon the ground that there was no jurisdiction to make it, or that such order was an abuse or oppressive exercise of the powers of the Court, or that the Court had been misled or induced to act without being placed in full knowledge of the circumstances. The applicant had no locus standi to object. It was unnecessary to decide that the "further report" mentioned in sub-sect. 2 was essential to the making of an order for examination; but if such a further report was necessary, no sufficient report had been made. It was sufficient if the report stated any one of the matters catalogued in sub-sect. 2, and in that case the Court had jurisdiction to examine any one it thought fit. Nor need the report under sub-sect. 2 contain anything like an indictment or definition of charges against the person to be examined. But the Court had power to correct anything which ought not to have been done, and if a report contained nothing to shew that a particular person had had something to do with the promotion of the company or other matters mentioned in the section, an order for the examination of that person ought not to be made. Nor could the report be supplemented by an oral statement by the official receiver to the judge under rule 71 of 1890, but any such supplemental report must be made in writing. The application must be dismissed with costs; but a supplemental report must be presented before the examination of the applicant was commenced, shewing that he was so connected with the affairs of the company that he ought to be examined. Pending an appeal, the examination must be adjourned, but without prejudice to any application by the official receiver for a fresh order for examination.

Bankruptcy — Bankruptcy Notices — Irregularity — Obscurity — Notice set aside—Bankruptcy Act, 1883, s. 4, sub-s. 1 (g).

Appeal against an order of a Divisional Court (Pollock, B., and Vaughan Williams, J.), affirming an order of the Stafford County Court, setting aside a bankruptcy notice issued against Mark Howes.

A writ in an action in the Queen's Bench Division was issued by N. T. Hughes, and a number of other persons who were named in the writ as co-plaintiffs, against Howes, claiming damages for breach of covenant in a lease. Howes appeared to the writ. The plaintiffs delivered a statement of claim, in which they alleged that they were "the present trustees" of the hospital of St. John, in Northampton, and the owners of the reversion in the demised premises. Howes did not deliver a defence; and on the 11th of August, 1891, final judgment was obtained against him for default of defence for 166*l.* 11*s.* 4*d.* and costs. In the judgment the plaintiffs were described as "N. T. Hughes and others, plaintiffs," and nothing was said about their being trustees. On the 22nd of January, 1892, the plaintiffs served a bankruptcy notice upon Howes requiring him, within seven days after service, "to pay to N. T. Hughes and others (trustees of St. John's Hospital, Northampton), of the Convalescent Home, Weston Favell, in the county of Northampton, the sum of 250*l.* 16*s.* 6*d.*, claimed by them as being the amount due on a final judgment obtained by them against you in the Queen's Bench Division of the High Court, dated the 11th of August, 1891;" or to secure or compound for the same, or to satisfy the Court "that you have a counter-claim, set-off, or cross-demand against the said N. T. Hughes and others (the trustees of St. John's Hospital, Northampton), which equals or exceeds, &c."

Muir Mackenzie, for the plaintiffs.

THE COURT (Lord Esher, M.R., and Bowen and A. L. Smith, L.JJ.) dismissed the appeal.

LORD ESHER, M.R., said that the bankruptcy notice did not follow the judgment in the sense in which it ought to do so. The judgment was recovered by N. T. Hughes and others; the bankruptcy notice required payment to be made to N. T. Hughes and others, "trustees of St. John's Hospital." This addition to the description of the creditors in the judgment, though in law it might be mere surplusage, might well puzzle the debtor, and this was a sufficient reason for setting the notice aside. His Lordship went further, and said that, if creditors chose to accept a judgment by default expressed in such terms as "N. T. Hughes and others" (they were not obliged to accept it so expressed), and then to issue a bankruptcy notice expressed in similar terms, the notice was so likely to puzzle the debtor, and was so unfair, that the Court of Bankruptcy ought not to enforce it.

BOWEN and A. L. SMITH, L.JJ., concurred.

Appeal from the judgment of the Queen's Bench Division (Wright and Collins, JJ.), upon a special case stated by licensing justices under the Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1879 (42 & 43 Vict. c. 49), s. 33.

The occupier of licensed premises being about to leave same, an interim authority was granted in June, 1891, to the appellant by justices in petty sessions, under 5 & 6 Vict. c. 44, s. 1, to carry on business until the next special session for the transfer of licenses. Such session and the general annual licensing meeting for the division were held simultaneously on the 22nd of August, 1891. The appellant made applications thereto for a transfer of the license for the current year under 9 Geo. 4, c. 61, s. 14, and also for a renewal of the license. Both applications were refused by the justices, because they were not satisfied as to the appellant's good character. No notice of intention to oppose the renewal of the license had been served upon the appellant.

The 42nd sect. of the Licensing Act, 1872 (35 & 36 Vict. c. 94), provides that, "where a licensed person applies for the renewal of his license . . . . the justices shall not entertain any objection to the renewal of such license, or take any evidence with respect to the renewal thereof, unless written notice of an intention to oppose the renewal of such license has been served on such holder not less than seven days before the commencement of the general annual licensing meeting." The question in the case was whether the justices were right in refusing the application for the renewal of the license, the appellant not having been served with the notice mentioned in the section. The respondent in the case was the superintendent of police for the division who had appeared before the magistrates to oppose the license and to whom the appellant had given the written notice of appeal required by 20 & 21 Vict. c. 43, s. 2.

The Divisional Court dismissed the appeal.

Jelf, Q.C., and J. Paterson (Glascodine, with them), for the appellant.

Poland, Q.C., and W. Daniell, for the respondent.

THE COURT (Lord Esher, M.R., Bowen, L.J., and Kay, L.J.) were of opinion that the temporary authority given to the appellant under 5 & 6 Vict. c. 44, s. 1, was not a "license," and did not put him in the position of a "licensed person" within the meaning of the 42nd section of the Licensing Act, 1872, and therefore that the appellant was not "a licensed person" applying for a renewal of "his" license within the meaning of that section. They also held that the superintendent of police was rightly constituted respondent in the case. They, therefore, dismissed the appeal.

Appeal dismissed.

THE COURT (Lindley, Lopes, and A. L. Smith, L.JJ.) discharged the order for examination. Their Lordships said they should not decide whether an order for public examination under sect. 8 of the Companies Act, 1890, could be made ex parte, though they were all disposed to think that it could. Their Lordships, however, were of opinion that such an order could not be made unless the official receiver had made a further report under sect. 8, sub-sect. 2, stating his opinion that fraud had been committed in the promotion or formation of the company, and naming as a person who had taken part in the promotion or formation of the company the person whom it was proposed to examine under sub-sect. 3. As there was no such report in the present case, the order for examination was discharged as made without jurisdiction.

Agreement for Lease — Public-house — "Usual" Covenants — Covenant against Assignment without Notice.

The contract for a lease of a public-house was entirely silent as to what provisions and covenants were to be entered into by the lessor and lessee. The lessor insisted upon the following covenants: (1.) The lessee to reside on the premises and personally conduct the business. (2.) Not to assign without consent, such consent not to be unreasonably withheld. (3.) The proviso for re-entry to extend to cases of the breach of any covenant. The lessee contended that these were not "usual covenants," and a summons under the Vendor and Purchaser Act, 1874, was taken out for the opinion of the Court upon this question.

Tyssen, for the lessee.

Mulligan, for the lessor.

CHITTY, J., held that covenants 1 and 2 could not be insisted upon as "usual" covenants, and that on this point, the fact that the subject-matter of the lease was a public-house, made no difference; he also held, that the proviso for re-entry must be limited to the case of non-payment of rent.

Policy of Life Assurance—Provision for Wife and Children of Assured—Power of Nomination given to Assured—Power not Exercised—Will of Assured not referring to Policy.

Special case for the opinion of the Court.

The Rev. E. Davies, a clergyman, effected a policy of insurance upon his life with the Clergy Mutual Assurance Society. The rules of the society provided that the assurer might nominate any person to receive the sum assured, and that, if no nomination should be existing when the sum assured should become due, that sum should be paid to the assigns (if any) of the assurer, so far as the claim of such assigns should extend in every case where such claims should have arisen under any disposition or charge made by the assurer specifically affecting such sum, or any part thereof, either by express reference thereto or by reference generally to sums due upon assurances, where such disposition or charge should have been made by deed, will, or other instrument or writing. In case there should not be any nomination, nor any such disposition or charge, existing in respect of the sum assured when due, such sum should be paid to the widow of the assurer, or, if he should not leave a widow, to his children living at his death in equal shares.

Davies never made any nomination, disposition, or charge affecting the policy, except so far as the gift of the residue of his estate contained in his will operated as a disposition affecting the policy. By his will he appointed his three daughters to be the trustees and executrixes thereof, and he devised and bequeathed the residue of his real and personal estate to his trustees, upon trusts for sale and conversion, and to hold the proceeds upon trust for division into four equal parts, three of which were to be paid to the three daughters respectively, and the fourth was to be invested for the benefit of the widow and children of a deceased son of the testator.

The question was, whether the policy-money formed part of the residuary estate of the testator, or whether the three daughters (who all survived the testator) were solely entitled thereto.

Eve, for the daughters.

Bardswell, for the widow and children of the deceased son, argued (1) that the provision in the policy that the money should be paid to the widow and children of the assurer was illegal, because it withdrew the fund from the creditors of the assurer; (2) that the testator had a general power to appoint the policy-money by will, which power he intended to exercise and had exercised.

NORTH, J., held that there was nothing illegal in the contract that the policy-money should go to the surviving children of the assurer, unless he should divert it from them in the manner thereby indicated. This he did not do. He might have assigned the policy in his lifetime, or he might by apt words in his will have rendered the money available for the payment of his debts. There was, therefore, nothing contrary to public policy in the contract; and even if the contract were illegal, the present claim was not made by creditors, but by persons who derive title under the will. Phillips v. Cayley (43 Ch. Div. 222) was distinct authority that the will did not operate as a disposition of the policy-money.

Will—Construction—Vested Remainder—Proviso for Forfeiture on Alienation or attempted Alienation during prior Tenancy for Life.

Further consideration of originating summons to ascertain who were entitled to the residuary estate of William Porter, who died in 1851. By his will he gave the residue of his estate, to trustees on trust to pay an annuity of 50*l.* to his widow in case she should marry again (which she did), during her life, and, subject thereto, to pay the income to his two sisters, in equal shares, during their lives, and to pay the whole to the survivor during the remainder of her life; and, after her death, to divide the fund equally between the testator's nephews and nieces. And the testator declared, that if any of his nephews or nieces should, during the lives of his two sisters, or the survivor of them, assign his or her expectant share, or any portion thereof, or should attempt so to do, then he or she so assigning his or her expectant share, or any portion thereof, or attempting so to do, should forfeit all benefit under the testator's will, and the assignment, so far as it should purport to affect any part of the trust moneys, should be null and void, and the share of the person so assigning, or attempting so to do, should go, as if he or she had never been born, to the other nephews or nieces. The survivor of the testator's two sisters died in 1890. In 1876 one of the testator's nieces married, in Australia, Henry Sullivan, a domiciled Australian. No settlement was made on her marriage; but in 1879 she and her husband executed a post-nuptial settlement, which purported to assign (inter alia) her reversionary interest under the will of the testator to trustees, upon certain trusts. By the law of Australia this assignment was inoperative as regarded the wife's reversionary share; it only affected the husband's interest in that share.

Borthwick, for the plaintiffs, the executors of the surviving executor of the testator.

R. J. Parker; and Oswald; for persons entitled in the event of forfeiture.

Warrington, for Mrs. Sullivan and the trustees of her settlement, argued, (1) that the forfeiture clause was void, because it was repugnant to the estate, which was an absolute vested estate though in remainder; (2) that, if the clause was valid, there had, on its true construction, been no forfeiture. There had been no assignment, and there had been no attempt to assign. By an "attempt to assign" was meant the doing of that which, but for the clause of forfeiture, would have been an assignment. Here, independently of the clause, the deed, so far as the wife was concerned, was inoperative, and, consequently, there had been no "attempt" to assign, and no forfeiture.

NORTH, J., held that there had been a forfeiture. He held that the clause was valid, and that there had been an attempt to assign. An attempt to assign was the doing something which was not an assignment.

Interlocutory Injunction—Undertaking as to Damages—Restraining Sale of Shares—Measure of Damages.

An interlocutory injunction restraining the sale of shares was granted on the 21st of March, 1890, on the plaintiff's usual undertaking as to damages.

At the trial on the 31st of January, 1891, the action was dismissed, and an inquiry as to damages was directed.

Before the trial a summons asking that the shares might be sold was successfully opposed by the shareholder.

The chief clerk certified as damages the difference between the price of the shares when judgment was given and the highest price at which, so far as there was evidence, the shares had been quoted between the date of the interlocutory injunction and the date of the judgment; but on a summons to vary the certificate, Romer, J., declined to act on the presumption that such highest price could have been obtained, and adjourned the matter for further evidence ([1891] Weekly Notes, 195).

Evidence was subsequently brought shewing the price of the shares when the injunction was granted.

Div. 259) only justified the refusal of such an order when no advantage could result from making it. In the present case, having regard to the larger powers given by the Act of 1890, the Court was not satisfied that there would, in case an order was made on the petition, be no assets available for the unsecured creditors. Petitions were presented by a company and one of its creditors asking that the company might be ordered to be wound up by the Court.

Before the petitions came on for hearing, an extraordinary resolution was passed in favour of a voluntary winding-up.

At the hearing the petitioners asked that the voluntary winding-up might be continued under the supervision of the Court, and this application was supported by many, and not opposed by any, creditors and contributories.

Beale, Q.C., and Ashworth James, for the petitioning creditors.

VAUGHAN WILLIAMS, J., said that, having regard to the fact of a special protection being provided for creditors and contributories by the Companies (Winding-up) Act, 1890, the making of a supervision order was not so much a matter of course as it had formerly been. The petitions must stand over in order that fresh advertisements might be issued pointing out that a supervision order only was about to be asked for.

The advertisement having been issued, his Lordship, after hearing a creditor in opposition, granted a supervision order, intimating that, in the case of a large company like the one before him, there were many advantages attending a compulsory winding-up, which, however, was not now petitioned for, and that the supervision order would not stand in the way of a compulsory order being subsequently made in case a proper case, on petition, was brought before the Court.

In 1885 one Norton agreed to sell to Burr a policy of assurance of 4000*l.* on the life of Sir R. Mansel. The purchase-money was 3300*l.* and the purchase was to be completed in 1888. Burr failed to complete the contract, and in February, 1891, Norton brought an action for specific performance against Burr, and on the 4th of August he obtained judgment. On the 10th of August a receiving order was made against Burr. At the first meeting of the creditors Norton was represented by his solicitor, Mr. Fereday, who tendered a proof on his behalf for the 3300*l.* due under the agreement and judgment, and the proof contained the usual statement that Norton held no security whatever for his debt. Mr. Fereday also attended as proxy for Norton at the adjourned meeting of the creditors, and voted in favour of a scheme of arrangement. The scheme fell through and adjudication followed, and one Clarke was appointed the trustee.

On the 4th of June, 1892, Sir R. Mansel died, and thereupon the trustee admitted Norton's proof for dividend and claimed the policy-moneys on the ground that Norton, being a secured creditor, had omitted in his proof to mention and value his security, and must, therefore, be deemed to have surrendered it. Norton contended that he was not a secured creditor; but that, if he were, he had omitted to value his security through inadvertence, and he asked leave to withdraw his proof altogether.

H. Reed, for the trustee.

W. Willis, Q.C., and Carrington, for Norton.

VAUGHAN WILLIAMS, J., held that the policy must be treated as part of the property of the bankrupt, and that Norton, in respect of his unpaid vendor's lien under the contract for the sale thereof, was a secured creditor within the meaning of sec. 168 of the Bankruptcy Act, 1883, to whom an ascertained debt was due from the bankrupt. His Lordship was also of opinion that under Sched. I., r. 10, a secured creditor who has voted and omitted to value his security ought always to be allowed to withdraw his proof and be relieved from being deemed to have surrendered his security, unless it clearly appears that he has deliberately and purposely abandoned his security. On the evidence his Lordship came to the conclusion that Norton had omitted to value his security through inadvertence, and accordingly allowed him to withdraw it on his paying all the costs of the trustee's motion and his own cross-motion for relief.

COURT OF APPEAL.

From Q. B. D. In re H. A. GREY. July 11.

Solicitor—Breach of Duty—Failure to pay over Money to Client—Judgment recovered by Client—Disciplinary Jurisdiction of Court—Summary Order for Payment.

Appeal from the decision of a Divisional Court (Grantham and Charles, JJ.), refusing to order a solicitor to pay a sum of money.

The facts were as follows:—The appellant had retained the solicitor to bring an action for him for goods sold and delivered. The action was accordingly brought, and judgment recovered by the appellant for 268*l.* 17*s.* 9*d.*, which amount was received under the judgment by the solicitor. The solicitor claimed to retain the amount so received by him in respect of a bill of costs of greater amount delivered by him to the appellant. The appellant alleged that he was not indebted in respect of the full amount of the costs claimed, on the ground that a special arrangement had been made between him and the solicitor that the latter should only charge costs out of pocket and a commission of 5 per cent. on amounts recovered, and that, giving him credit for such costs and commission, a balance of 156*l.* still remained due from him. The solicitor denied the existence of such an arrangement. The appellant sued the solicitor for this balance, and, the jury having found in the appellant's favour as to the existence of the special arrangement, he obtained judgment in the action for 156*l.* A writ of fi. fa. was issued, but proved ineffective, the judgment debtor having given a bill of sale on his effects to secure a loan of 250*l.* and interest. It was stated by the solicitor on affidavit that this had not been done malâ fide or to defeat an execution, but in order to raise money for a pressing matter unconnected with the action. The appellant applied at chambers for a summary order against the solicitor for payment of the money due within four days. The application was refused by the master and the judge at chambers.

On appeal to the Divisional Court they were of opinion, on the authority of In re Corbet Davies (15 W. R. 46; 15 L. T. (N.S.) 161), that they had no power to make the order in the exercise of their summary jurisdiction over solicitors, the original debt due from the solicitor having merged in the judgment debt, which was not due from him as a solicitor.

French, Q.C., and Avory, for the appellant.

Beddall, for the solicitor.

THE COURT (Lord Esher, M.R., Bowen, L.J., and Kay, L.J.) were of opinion that the fact that judgment had been recovered for the debt did not oust their disciplinary jurisdiction to order the solicitor, as an officer of the Court, to pay the money which it was his duty as a solicitor to pay to his client; that the question whether such an order should be made was one of discretion, to be exercised according to the circumstances of the particular case; and that under the circumstances the proper order was that the solicitor should pay the money within a month, but that the client in the meantime should not proceed upon the judgment in respect of the debt without further order of the Court.

Appeal allowed, and order accordingly.

Lunacy. In re DAVY. July 14.

Lunatic Married Woman—Right of Husband to be appointed Committee of her Person.

This was an application by the mother of a lunatic married woman, who was also deaf and dumb, for the appointment of committees of her estate and person. The person proposed as committee of the person was a lady, a friend of the mother. The lunatic had an income of about 130*l.* a year.

The application was supported by evidence that the husband had married the lunatic without the knowledge of her parents, that he grossly ill-treated her, that he took her money and did not properly support her, and that she had a great dread of him and had run away from him and taken refuge with her mother. It was, therefore, believed that it would be to the injury of her health if her husband were allowed to live with her. The husband opposed the application on the ground that he had a legal right to be appointed committee of the person of his wife. The Master in Lunacy referred the matter to the Court.

Crackanthorpe, Q.C., and Colt, in support of the application.

Cracroft, for the husband, contended that the husband or wife of a lunatic had a right to be appointed committee of the lunatic's person; and that there was no precedent to the contrary.

LINDLEY, L.J., said that he was clearly of opinion that the husband had no such right as was contended for. The Court had full jurisdiction to do what it thought best for the comfort and benefit of the lunatic. In most cases it would be best for a lunatic that her husband should be appointed committee; but in an exceptional case the Court would exercise its own discretion. No one could doubt that in the present case the husband would continue to do as he had done, and spend his wife's allowance on himself, and that it would be most for benefit of the lunatic that the lady who was proposed committee should be appointed. The application must be granted.

LOPES, L.J., concurred, and said, that if there was no precedent for taking the course which the Court was now taking, the sooner one was made the better.

Will—Construction—Specific Devise of House and Land—Land subsequently acquired by Testator and occupied with House—Codicil confirming Will—Wills Act, 1837—Mortgage of subsequently acquired Land by Testator's Heir—Sale by Mortgagee—Right of Beneficiaries to follow Purchase-money.

Trial of action.

Charles Champion, by his will, dated the 9th April, 1873, in which he described himself as "of the Orchard Cottage, Holmwood, in the parish of Dorking," gave and devised "the whole of my said freehold Orchard Cottage, with all the land, outbuildings, and appurtenances thereto belonging, situate, lying, and being in the said parish of Dorking, and now in my own occupation," to Child and Turner, his executors and trustees, upon trust for the testator's wife during her life. And after her death the testator directed his trustees to sell the said cottage and premises, and that the proceeds of sale should be applied in aid of his residuary estate, which he gave on trust for his wife for her life, and after her death to be divided between all his children in equal shares. On the 27th of September, 1873, the testator purchased the fee simple of two pieces of land adjoining the Orchard Cottage, and thenceforth during the remainder of his life he occupied those two pieces of land as appurtenant to the cottage. On the 22nd of October, 1877, the testator made a codicil to his will, by which he revoked his will so far as Child and Turner were objects thereof, and substituted his wife, and his sons, Caleb Champion and Clement Champion, in their place. And he confirmed his will in other respects. The testator died on the 27th of October, 1877. The will and codicil were proved by the widow and the son Caleb, power being reserved to grant probate to the son Clement. The testator left surviving him, besides his wife and his two sons, three daughters. The son Caleb was the testator's heir. On the 14th of July, 1885, a deed was executed by the son Caleb, the widow, and Chapman, a solicitor, which contained a recital that Chapman had lent to Caleb Champion and the widow 75*l.*, on an agreement that the same, with interest, should be secured to him in manner hereinafter appearing. By this deed Caleb Champion and the widow covenanted with Chapman for payment of the 75*l.*, with interest, on the 14th of January 1886, and for the payment of subsequent interest in case the 75*l.* should not be then paid. And Caleb Champion purported thereby, "as beneficial owner," to convey the two pieces of land acquired by the testator in September, 1873, to Chapman in fee simple, subject to a proviso for redemption on payment of the 75*l.*, with interest, on the 14th of January, 1886. At the time of the execution of this deed Chapman had notice of the contents of the testator's will and codicil, and he was advised that the two pieces of land purchased by the testator in September, 1873, did not pass under the will and codicil. On the 31st of December, 1888, the widow died. In June, 1890, Chapman, as mortgagee, sold the two pieces of land for 300*l.*, and on the 12th of July, 1890, he executed a deed by which, in consideration of 300*l.*, he purported to convey those pieces of land to the purchaser in fee, freed from the mortgage.

This action was brought by the three daughters of the testator and their husbands against Caleb Champion and Chapman. The plaintiffs claimed a declaration that the defendants were jointly and severally liable to make good to the testator's estate the said sum of 300*l.*, with interest thereon from the 12th of July, 1890, and to have that liability enforced accordingly. Caleb Champion, who in February 1881, had been adjudicated a bankrupt, delivered a defence, but he did not appear at the trial.

MacSwinney, for the plaintiffs.

Brice, Q.C., and Ribton, for the defendant Chapman, argued, (1) that the two pieces of land purchased in 1873 did not pass by the will and codicil, but descended to the testator's heir; (2) that, if they did pass, the plaintiffs' remedy was against the purchaser, not against Chapman. Chapman was liable to account only to his own mortgagor.

NORTH, J., said that, omitting the words "and now in my own occupation" from the will, it was clear, and was indeed admitted, that the subsequently acquired pieces of land would pass by the will. And, in his opinion, those words made no difference; they were not an essential and vital part of the description; they were only an addition which did not qualify the generality of the previous words. But, even if the effect of the devise in the will were doubtful, the words of confirmation in the codicil amounted to a republication of the will as of the date of the codicil. There was abundant authority for this proposition in such cases as Yarnold v. Wallis (4 Y. & C. Ex. 160) and Doe v. Walker (12 M. & W. 591). The two pieces of land, therefore, passed under the will and codicil to the trustees. A mistake had been made by two persons who had the will and codicil before them, and they must take the consequences. The purchase-money was clearly proceeds of land which formed part of the testator's trust estate. Why should not the plaintiffs have their shares of the money? The sale was not made on their direction. Their property had been sold by a person who was not entitled to it. They had a right to adopt the sale, and to confirm the title of the purchaser, and to say that the purchase-money must be accounted for as part of the testator's estate. There was nothing as yet to shew that the 75*l.* was borrowed on behalf of the testator's estate; if it was, Chapman would be entitled to a charge against the estate for the 75*l.* and interest. The 300*l.* must be paid into Court, and it would not be distributed till Chapman had had an opportunity of shewing that the 75*l.* was borrowed for the testator's estate. Chapman must pay the costs of the action. He was entitled to the same deduction in respect of costs, charges, and expenses as if he had been selling as mortgagee. His Lordship declined to order Chapman to pay interest on the 300*l.*

Vendor and Purchaser—Authority to Agent to find a Purchaser—Contract by Agent—Specific Performance.

This was an action by a purchaser for specific performance of an alleged contract for the purchase of two leasehold houses. The defendant had authorized a firm of estate agents to find a purchaser for the property and negotiate a sale, under which authority the agents purported to enter into an open contract for the sale of the property to the plaintiff.

The defendant denied the authority of the agents to bind him by the contract.

Renshaw, Q.C., and Duka, for the plaintiff.

Marten, Q.C., and E. S. Ford, for the defendant.

KEKEWICH, J., held, that the instructions given by the vendor to the estate agents to find a purchaser and negotiate a sale did not amount to an authority to bind the vendor by a contract. To bind the vendor there must be an express authority to the agent to enter into a contract on behalf of the vendor.

Action dismissed with costs.

In re POSTAGE STAMP AUTOMATIC DELIVERY COMPANY.

Company—Winding-up—Directors—Liability for Undisclosed Gifts from Vendor.

There being a difficulty in obtaining directors of, and subscriptions for shares in, a company, the vendor of patents to work which the company was formed agreed with four persons that, if they would become directors and subscribe for 100 1*l.* shares in the company, he would give each of them an one-fifth share in his profits under his agreement with the company, which was referred to in the memorandum of association. The agreement was then modified, and a schedule added shewing that twenty founders' shares, part of the consideration payable to the vendor, were to be allotted to each of the new directors. The subscribers to the memorandum then appointed the four persons as directors, and approved the modified agreement, which, before the allotment of shares, was registered under sect. 25 of the Companies Act, 1867. Twenty founders' shares were then allotted to each new director, and the vendor transferred to each of them 250 of his 1250 ordinary shares. No other shares were then or afterwards issued (except the seven shares subscribed for in the memorandum of association). All the shareholders were aware of the arrangement. A prospectus subsequently issued to the public asking for subscriptions omitted to mention the transfer of shares by the vendor to the new directors. In a winding-up under the supervision of the Court, the liquidator, who was also a creditor and knew of what had taken place, asked that the new directors might be declared guilty of a misfeasance, and ordered to pay the value of the shares with interest.

Eve, in support of the summons.

T. L. Wilkinson, Swinfen Eady, and Peterson, for the respondents.

VAUGHAN WILLIAMS, J., held, (1) that the respondents were not liable in respect of the founders' shares, as the agreement shewed the transaction, and that they were not an independent board of directors; (2) that the prospectus having invited the public to subscribe without mentioning the fact of the transfer of ordinary shares, and the company not being a private company, the respondents were liable as to the ordinary shares; (3) that the respondents were liable for the par value of the shares, though such shares had not been of any value.

Metropolis — Local Management — Vestryman Qualification—Rating—Occupation—18 & 19 Vict. c. 120, s. 6—19 & 20 Vict. c. 112, s. 8.

Appeal from a judgment of Denman, J. (reported [1892], 1 Q. B. 616).

The defendant was tenant of premises which appeared in the rate-book as of the rateable value of 125*l.* He sub-let a portion of such premises and occupied the remainder. The portion which he retained in his own occupation was of a rateable value of more than 40*l.*, but was not separately assessed in the rate-book. In an action to recover penalties from the defendant for acting as a vestryman under the Metropolis Local Management Act, 1855, as amended by the Act of 1856, without being qualified, Denman, J., gave judgment for the plaintiff. The defendant appealed.

THE COURT (Lindley, Lopes, and A. L. Ship—Charterparty—Excepted Perils—Disablement of Ship—Duty of Shipowner to repair Ship and complete Voyage.

Appeal by the defendants against the judgment of Collins, J. ([1892] 1 Q. B. 571).

Bigham, Q.C., and Hurst, for the defendants.

Sir W. Phillimore, Q.C., and Joseph Walton, for the plaintiff were not called upon.

THE COURT (Lord Esher, M.R, and Bowen and Kay, L.JJ.) dismissed the appeal.

LORD ESHER, M.R., said that by the charterparty the shipowner was bound to carry the cargo offered by the charterers safely to the port named by the latter, which, in this case, was London, unless he was prevented by the perils of the sea. He was not so prevented, for, though the ship was stranded, she was in fact repaired by the shipowner, and she actually proceeded on a voyage longer than that provided for by the charterparty. It was, therefore, the shipowner's own fault that the ship did not proceed on the voyage agreed upon. Under such circumstances no question of constructive loss could arise. The doctrine of constructive loss arose only between an underwriter and his assured. The shipowner's contract had been broken, and the question was, what was the damage to the plaintiffs? The freight was to be a lump sum; but the voyage was not performed at all, and the shipowner was not prevented from performing it by the perils of the sea; he was, therefore, not entitled to any freight. The master borrowed money from the charterers. It was either a simple loan, or it was a prepayment of freight which was never earned, and, as such, a loan. The money was advanced with the consent of the shipowner's agents, and no question of the master's authority could arise. But the master, being left without any money, would have had implied authority to borrow money to pay for the necessary repairs of the ship. The shipowner had had the benefit of the disbursements, and was bound to repay the money advanced. The plaintiffs were also entitled to any damages which were the natural result of the shipowner's default. The decision of Collins, J., was right.

BOWEN, L.J., and KAY, L.J., concurred.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL v. NORTH METROPOLITAN TRAMWAYS COMPANY.

Practice—Discovery—Inspection of Documents—Rules of Supreme Court, 1883, Order XXXI., rr. 1, 2.

The defendant company were incorporated by Act of Parliament passed in 1869. By sect. 40 of the North Metropolitan Tramways Act, 1885, they were authorized under certain conditions, for a period of five years, to manufacture and sell tramway rolling stock. By subsequent Acts of Parliament they were authorized to raise additional capital; they were prohibited from employing such additional capital in manner authorized by sect. 40 of the Act of 1885. The power conferred by that section was extended for ten years.

The action was brought by the Attorney-General, and at the relation of fifteen limited companies, manufacturers of tramway rolling stock, and such fifteen companies as co-plaintiffs. They claimed an injunction to restrain the defendant company from manufacturing tram-car rolling stock for sale or hire, or selling it. The plaintiffs had delivered a statement of claim alleging that the defendant company had made ten tram-cars, which they supplied to another metropolitan tramways company, and had expended money in so doing out of capital which the defendant company had no power to apply in such manner. The plaintiffs claimed an injunction to restrain the defendants from manufacturing, providing, selling, or letting on hire tramway rolling stock, and from expending any capital raised by them since May 21st, 1885, upon such purposes.

The defendants had put in a statement of defence denying specifically that they had expended money in the manufacture or sale of tramway rolling stock out of capital not legally applicable for such purpose.

The plaintiffs took out a summons that the defendant company might be ordered to make an affidavit as to all documents in the possession or power of the defendants relating to the matters in question in the action, and that the defendants might be ordered to produce them for inspection. The summons was dismissed in chambers. A motion was now made on behalf of the plaintiffs to rescind the order made in chambers, and that an order in terms of the summons might be made.

Grosvenor Woods, for the plaintiffs.

Rowden, and F. Richardson, for the defendants.

NORTH, J., considered that the relators were not entitled to the full discovery they asked as to the business of the defendant company, their rivals in business. He considered the plaintiffs were entitled to some discovery as to what capital was employed in the manufacture of rolling stock otherwise than for their own use by the defendant company, and intimated that he would give leave to exhibit proper interrogatories to be answered by some officer of the defendant company.

Light—Implied Grant—Unity of Ownership—Extent of Grant—Injunction—Special Light for extraordinary purposes.

The plaintiffs were the lessees, under-tenants, and occupiers of a building in the city of London, which was erected pursuant to a building lease of September, 1875, whereby the site of that and other buildings was demised by freeholders who were also the owners in fee of an adjacent house. The defendant was entitled in fee to the adjacent house under a conveyance of later date. The defendant proposed to erect a new house thirteen feet higher than the existing one, and in order to test his right to do so put up a screen. The plaintiffs, claiming as implied grantees of the light coming to their building over the defendant's tenement, brought this action for an injunction to restrain the obstruction of light alleged to be caused by the screen. The occupiers of the ground floor of the plaintiffs' building were wool-brokers, and they used the rooms on that floor for the purpose of sorting and valuing wool. It was proved that these processes required an extraordinary amount of light, and that, if the proposed new building were erected, they could not be carried on so advantageously as theretofore, but that the plaintiffs' premises would still be in the enjoyment of a good and sufficient light for all ordinary business purposes.

Sir H. Davey, Q.C., and G. A. Watson, for the plaintiff.

Renshaw, Q.C., and A. Adams, for the defendant.

KEKEWICH, J., held that under an implied grant such as that in question the maximum of light granted was such a reasonable amount as was required for the enjoyment of the premises in the immediate future, and could be reasonably anticipated as likely to be required in the more distant future; that the Court could not impute to the grantor and grantee an intention (so as to make that intention part of the contract between them) that the light should be used for a special purpose not shewn to be present to the minds of either of them at the date of the contract; that in the present case all that was in the contemplation of the parties was that there should be sufficient light for ordinary business purposes in the city of London, and that the action therefore failed.

Company—Winding-up—Directors—Misfeasance or Breach of Trust—Exercise of Judgment or Discretion—Form of Summons—Companies (Winding-up) Act, 1890 (53 & 54 Vict. c. 63), s. 10.

One of the objects of a company incorporated in May, 1891, as defined by its memorandum of association, was to "lend moneys . . . and generally to carry on the business of capitalists, financiers, bankers, merchants, and money-dealers."

At a meeting of directors held on the 5th of August, 1891, it was resolved as follows: "Mr. A. M. Green having requested an advance of 250*l.* against his promissory note at one month's date, and a deposit of 1000 ordinary shares of this company, paid up, that his request be granted, and that a cheque be and is hereby drawn in his favour for 250*l.*, such loan to bear interest at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum." At the same meeting the cheque was drawn and signed by the directors, and handed to the solicitor of the company.

At a subsequent meeting of the directors, held on the 26th of August, 1891, the following minute was made: "Mr. Green having made an application for an advance of 2000*l.* for twenty-one days, upon the security of a contract made between ——— of the one part and ——— of the other part, whereby he is entitled to certain moneys, and offered for such advance a bonus of 300*l.*, the matter was discussed, and it was resolved that 1000*l.* be advanced to Mr. Green upon a first charge upon the contract, and also the deposit of 2000 ordinary shares of this company, and bonus of 150*l.* to be also included in the charges."

This cheque was also filled up and signed by the directors present, or some of them.

Both cheques were handed to Green—but not by the directors personally—and he received the proceeds of them. On the 6th of August, 1891, he gave to the company the promissory note mentioned in the resolution of the previous day, but he never deposited any shares with the company, or gave them any charge or security, and he never repaid any part of the money advanced.

In March, 1892, a receiving order in bankruptcy was made against Green, and there was evidence that his creditors were not likely to receive any dividend from his estate.

In the voluntary winding up of the company, the liquidator took out a summons against the directors alleged to be concerned in the above transactions, directing them to attend on the hearing of an application by the liquidator that it might be declared that all persons, being directors of the company, who in any manner authorized, sanctioned, or participated in the payment to Mr. A. M. Green of the sum of 250*l.* of the company's money on the 5th of August, 1891, and in payment to Mr. A. M. Green of the sum of 1000*l.* of the company's moneys on or about the 26th of August, 1891, were jointly and severally liable to repay to the liquidator the amount so paid, with interest at 5 per cent., and for an order that an inquiry might be made what persons were directors when such payments were made, and which of them in any way authorized, sanctioned, or participated in the making of such payments. There was evidence that the directors knew the nature of the contract referred to in the resolution of the 26th of August, 1891.

Cozens-Hardy, Q.C., and Shearman, in support of the application.

Rowden, H. Terrell, J. Bradford, Eve, and Swinfen Eady, for the directors.

VAUGHAN WILLIAMS, J., said the summons was not in correct form. It was not in accordance with the form (No. 758) in Palmer's Company Precedent, (5th Ed., p. 847), or with that given in Emden's Winding-up Practice (4th Ed., p. 708); and did not sufficiently define the grounds upon which the liquidator's application was based. It did not say on what grounds it was suggested that the payment was wrongful, or an act of misfeasance, so as to make the directors responsible. But the decision would not be on that ground. It was not contended that the directors had done anything fraudulent or ultrà vires the company, but that they had been guilty of "misfeasance or breach of trust" within sect. 10 of the Companies (Winding-up) Act, 1890. But in order to make directors liable the Court must be able to find that they had not really exercised their judgment and discretion as agents of the company. Having regard to the memorandum of association, the passing of the first resolution was not an act of misfeasance. If it had been shewn that the cheque for 250*l.* was handed to the solicitors of the company, to be delivered to Green without his first giving the security required, the directors would have been liable, but no such case had been proved, and on this point the application failed. With regard to the second advance, the directors knew the nature of the contract, and the blanks were matters of detail, which might be left to the company's solicitor. The advance was shewn to have been made in the interests of the company, and the directors were not liable in respect of it. It had not been made out that in either case the directors had not really exercised their judgment and discretion, and, all matters being intra vires, the application failed.

The Lord Chancellor, and Lords Watson, Herschell, and Hannen expressed dissent from the view of the Court of Appeal that it was not an excuse for non-compliance with a writ of habeas corpus that the person to whom it was directed had wrongfully parted with the custody of the child to another person. COURT OF APPEAL.

From Q. B. D. DUCK v. MAYEU. July 25.

Joint Tortfeasors—Release of One—Reservation of Claim against the Other—Covenant not to Sue.

Appeal from judgment of Day, J., at the trial without a jury.

The plaintiff, as the proprietor of the right of representation of a play, sued the defendant under 3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 15, s. 2, for representing such play, or causing the same to be represented, without the plaintiff's previous written consent, and claimed damages for the actual injury sustained by him, or in the alternative one penalty of forty shillings.

It appeared that the defendant and one Wills had been jointly concerned in the representation of the play. Wills had, before the action, paid to the plaintiff 2*l.* 2*s.*, and received in return a letter from the plaintiff's solicitor, acknowledging receipt of that sum, in full discharge of his personal liability, but without prejudice to the plaintiff's claim against the defendant. The learned judge gave judgment for the plaintiff for forty shillings.

Brooke Little, for the defendant, contended that the above-mentioned letter amounted to a release of the joint cause of action in favour of Wills, and that, he and the defendant being joint tortfeasors, the defendant also was released from liability.

Morton Smith, for the plaintiff, contended, that, as the letter reserved the plaintiff's claim against the defendant, it ought not to be considered as a release of the joint cause of action, but merely as an agreement not to sue Wills; and therefore it did not afford any defence to the defendant.

Cur. adv. vult.

July 25. THE COURT (Lord Esher, M.R., Bowen, L.J., and A. L. Smith, L.J.) held, that the letter only amounted to a covenant not to sue, and that it did not therefore release the defendant from liability. They therefore dismissed the appeal.

Appeal dismissed.

Renewal of Bills of Exchange—Guarantee—Variation—Release of Guarantee.

Appeal from a decision of North, J. (ante, p. 87).

This was a claim by Messrs Young, Son, & Magnay to prove in a suit for the administration of the estate of William Mackrell, who died in 1867. The guarantee was contained in a letter by the testator to the claimant's firm, dated the 24th of December, 1866, in the following terms: "In reply to your letter of the 22nd inst., I hereby guarantee the payment by Mr. F. C. Finch of two bills you intend to renew for him, one for 1048*l.* 10*s.* 5*d.*, and the other for 462*l.* 6*s.* 6*d.*, due respectively on the 28th inst. and the 4th prox." Two bills were drawn by the claimants' firm on F. C. Finch for three months, one for 1025*l.* 1*s.* 11*d.*, the other for 485*l.* 10*s.*, each dated the 22nd of December, 1866. The bills were not met; and in 1867, soon after the suit was instituted, a claim was carried in to prove against the estate of the guarantor for as much as had not been paid from other sources in respect of the debt secured by the bills. The Chief Clerk did not allow the claim; but proceedings to vary the Chief Clerk's finding were delayed owing to circumstances connected with the administration. It had recently been found that there would be assets coming to the simple contract creditors, and the claim was further prosecuted on a summons to vary the Chief Clerk's certificate. It was resisted mainly on the ground that the contract was to guarantee renewed bills, and that, although the aggregate amount was the same, these were new bills differing in amount, in parties, and in period from the old bills.

North, J., dismissed the summons. The claimants appealed.

Brice, Q.C., and B. B. Rogers, for the appellants.

Cozens-Hardy, Q.C., and Whitehead, for the estate.

THE COURT (Lindley, Lopes, and A. L. Smith, L.JJ.) held that North, J., had taken too narrow a view of the contract; that the word "renew" was not used in a technical sense; and that Mackrell intended to guarantee the debt represented by the old bills; and they allowed the appeal with costs to be added to the claim.

DIE BADISCHE ANILIN SODA FABRIK v. SCHOTT.

Covenant in Restraint of Trade—Limitation as to Time or Space—Reasonableness—Validity—Public Policy.

Where a covenant in restraint of trade is general, that is, without qualification, it is bad as being unreasonable and contrary to public policy; where it is partial, that is, subject to some qualification either as to time or space, then the question is whether it is reasonable, and, if reasonable, it is good in law.

In considering the question of reasonableness, the points to which the attention of the Court is specially directed are the limits of time and of space and the protection required for the trade of the covenantee, this latter point involving the examination of the nature and extent of the trade.

The reasonableness depends on all the circumstances, which must be duly weighed in each case. If the restraint is greater than can be possibly required for the protection of the covenantee, the covenant is unreasonable; but if the restraint is not greater than can possibly be required for the protection of the covenantee, it is not unreasonable; and where the covenant is qualified as to time, the burden lies on the covenantor of shewing that the restraint is unreasonable.

Company—Reduction of Capital—Confirmation by Court—Repayment to Shareholders—Evidence—Companies Act, 1867.

Petition, presented on the 8th of March by the company, for the confirmation by the Court of a special resolution for the reduction of the capital of the company.

The company was incorporated in 1875 under the Companies Acts, 1862 to 1867. The capital was 50,000*l.*, divided into 10,000 shares of 5*l.* each. Only 4261 shares had been issued, and they had all been paid up in full. The articles of association, as altered by a special resolution, contained power to reduce the capital. On the 6th of January, a resolution was passed at an extraordinary general meeting of the company, "that the capital be reduced from 50,000*l.*, divided into 10,000 shares of 5*l.* each, to 30,000*l.*, divided into 10,000 shares of 3*l.* each, and that such reduction be effected by returning 2*l.* in cash upon each of the 4261 shares that have been issued and are fully paid, and by reducing the nominal amount of all the 10,000 shares from 5*l.* to 3*l.*" This resolution was confirmed at another extraordinary general meeting on the 18th of January.

Paragraph 9 of the petition alleged that "at the time when such special resolution was passed, and at the present time, the capital of the company exceeds by 8522*l.* the wants of the company, and it is intended to pay the said cash return out of such excess capital."

The only affidavit was one made by the secretary of the company on the 17th of March, verifying, in general terms, the statements of the petition.

On the 6th of April an order was made in chambers for an inquiry what were the debts, claims, and liabilities of or affecting the company on the 1st of June, 1892, and advertisements of the presentation of the petition were directed.

On the 8th of July, the Chief Clerk made a certificate, by which he found that there were no debts, claims, or liabilities of or affecting the company on the 1st of June, 1892.

Ingle Joyce, for the company.

North, J., said that there should be an affidavit by the chairman of the company, or some other responsible person, shewing that the condition of things had not altered since the date of the Chief Clerk's certificate—that the amount of capital mentioned was still not required for the purposes of the company, and that there were no fresh creditors. On the production of such an affidavit to the registrar, the order would be made.

In re Burham Brick, Lime, and Cement Company's Trade-marks.

Trade-mark—Alteration—Non-essential Particular—Patents, &c. Acts, 1883-88, s. 92.

This was an application by the company under sect. 92 of the Patents, &c. Acts, 1883-8, for leave to alter their registered trade-marks. The marks in question were old marks, and at the time of their registration the company had carried on business at two places, viz., at Burham Works and at Murston Works, both in Kent, and the names of both these works appeared upon the marks. The company were now about to give up their Murston works, and proposed to alter the marks by striking out the words "Murston Works" at the foot of the marks, and by putting the word "Burham" at the top and the word "Works" at the bottom.

McKenna, for the company, submitted that the proposed alteration was in a non-essential particular within the meaning of sect. 92. For the purposes of registration of old marks, no doubt it was necessary that they should be registered exactly as they had been used; but there was nothing in sect. 92 which prevented the alteration of an old mark, because the original application still remained upon the register. The Courts had frequently granted similar applications for the addition of the word "Limited" in cases where firms had been turned into companies.

Ingle Joyce, for the Comptroller, did not oppose the application.

Stirling, J., said that the alteration was not in an essential particular, and he allowed the application.

Graham v. Corporation of Newcastle-on-Tyne.

Garden—Covenant to keep "open and unbuilt upon"—Public Urinal—Breach of Covenant—Nuisance—Quia timet.

This was a motion by the owner of a certain house in Charlotte Square, Newcastle-on-Tyne, for an interim injunction to restrain the defendants, the Corporation, from proceeding with the erection of a public urinal in the square. By the original conveyance, in 1876, under which the plaintiff claimed his house, all mines and minerals, and all powers and privileges for working the same, were reserved to the Corporation, the grantors, and it contained an agreement (admitted by the defendants to be equivalent to a covenant) by the Corporation, that "the garden or open space" in the centre of the square "should for ever thereafter be kept open and unbuilt upon." The square being on a slope, the garden was supported at the lower end by a high retaining wall, and the Corporation had commenced excavating about forty-six square yards at this end of the garden, and erecting a urinal of the improved modern kind, with an entrance through the retaining wall, the space so excavated being intended to be covered with a cemented and glazed roof, projecting very slightly above the adjoining surface of the garden. The plaintiff then brought this action, and now moved for an injunction to restrain the Corporation from proceeding with the works, on the ground that they constituted a breach of the covenant, and that the urinal itself would create a nuisance. It appeared that the "garden" had never been kept as such, but merely as a railed-in open space, unbuilt upon.

Warmington, Q.C., and H. Greenwood, for the plaintiff.

Renshaw, Q.C., and Warrington, for the defendants.

Kekewich, J., said that, in his opinion, the covenant meant no more than this—that the "garden" was to remain "open" in the sense of being unbuilt upon. According to the Century Dictionary the word "open" might be used either as a noun or an adjective. As a noun it was there defined "as an open or clear space," and the authorities referred to spoke of it as "an open country place clear of obstruction." That, his lordship thought, was clearly the meaning of the word used as a noun, that is, "as the open country," a place free from obstruction, where the air could circulate without being interfered with by any building, or by any obstruction of that kind. This plot might also be said to be "open" in the sense of anyone being able to pass over it who was entitled to do so; but there was nothing in the conveyance to appropriate the plot to the grantees of the houses in the square. The ground might be built upon to some extent and yet remain open. For instance, a greenhouse might be erected upon it. The words "and unbuilt upon" were meant only to emphasize the word "open." The building proposed by the defendants was not such a building as would interfere with the surface being kept open. On that point, therefore, the plaintiff failed. With regard to the other point—the question of nuisance—it was impossible, having regard to the decision of the Court of Appeal in Vernon v. Vestry of St. James, Westminster (16 Ch. Div. 449), to hold that a public urinal must necessarily be a nuisance. This was merely a quia timet action; and his Lordship was not satisfied that the proposed urinal would occasion a nuisance; but should the plaintiff establish a case of nuisance hereafter, he would be entitled to his full remedy. The motion must be refused, but the costs would be costs in the action.

Bill of Sale—Form in Schedule—Untrue Statement of Consideration—Term for the Defeazance of the Security—Agreement to have Prior Recourse to other Securities—Bills of Sale Act (1878) Amendment Act, 1882 (45 & 46 Vict. c. 43), ss. 8, 9.

Appeal from the judgment of Denman, J., at the trial without a jury.

The action was by the grantor of a bill of sale, given as a security for payment of money advanced, against the grantee, seeking to have the instrument declared void. The defendant counter-claimed for the amount due upon the covenant in the bill of sale for payment of the money advanced.

The facts were as follows: The bill of sale, which on the face of it appeared to be in accordance with the form in the schedule to the Bills of Sale Act, 1882, was expressed to be given in consideration of a sum of money advanced to the plaintiff. The money was in fact advanced to the plaintiff's father. At the time of the giving of the bill of sale it was agreed between the plaintiff and the defendant that the defendant should exhaust certain other securities given in respect of the advance before putting the bill of sale in force; but no stipulation to this effect was inserted in the bill of sale. The contention for the plaintiff was that the bill of sale was wholly void under sect. 9 of the Bills of Sale Act, 1882, as not being in accordance with the form in the schedule to the Act, (1) because the consideration was not truly stated; (2) because the stipulation as to exhausting other securities was not inserted in the bill of sale as being a term agreed to by the parties for the defeazance of the security. It was contended for the defendant that the untrue statement of the consideration only avoided the bill of sale in respect of the personal chattels comprised therein under sect. 8, but not the covenant for payment; and that the stipulation as to exhausting other securities was not a term for the defeazance of the security within the meaning of the form in the schedule. The defendant had not realized the other securities. The learned judge gave judgment for the plaintiff, both on the claim and counter-claim.

Bosanquet, Q.C., and Holmes Poulter, for the defendant.

Avory, and Carrington, for the plaintiff.

Cur. adv. vult.

Aug. 2. The Court (Lord Esher, M.R., Bowen, L.J., and Kay, L.J.) were of opinion that the untrue statement of the consideration and the non-insertion of the stipulation as to exhausting other securities did not make the bill of sale otherwise than in accordance with the form in the schedule; that the bill of sale was, therefore, not wholly void under sect. 9 of the Bills of Sale Act, 1882, but only void in respect of the personal chattels comprised therein under sect. 8; that the covenant for repayment of the money advanced was, therefore, not void; that the judgment on the claim must be varied by declaring that the bill of sale was only partially void as above mentioned; but that, as the other securities had not been realized by the defendant, the counter-claim failed. They dismissed the appeal.

Appeal dismissed.

Held by the Court (Lindley, Lopes, and A. L. Ex parte Central Bank of London.

Bankruptcy—Receiving Order—Judgment Debt—Power of Court to go behind Judgment—Bankruptcy Act, 1883, s. 4, sub-s. 1 (g), s. 7.

Appeal by the Central Bank of London from the refusal of Mr. Registrar Hope to make a receiving order against John Fraser on the petition of the bank. The bank were the holders for value of a bill of exchange for 500*l.*, which was accepted in the name of "W. & J. Fraser." That firm had consisted of John Fraser and his brother William Fraser. The acceptance was dishonoured at maturity, and the bank commenced an action on the bill in the Queen's Bench Division with a specially indorsed writ, against "W. & J. Fraser." An appearance was entered for "Wm. Fraser and John Fraser, sued as W. & J. Fraser, carrying on business as W. & J. Fraser." The bank took out a summons for leave to sign judgment under Order xiv. for the amount of the bill, with interest and costs. The defendants did not appear on the hearing of the summons, and the Master gave leave, and judgment was signed accordingly on the 24th of December, 1890. The debt was not paid. On the 9th of March, 1892, the bank served a bankruptcy notice on John Fraser in respect of the judgment debt, on which an act of bankruptcy was ultimately committed. On the 16th of March John Fraser issued a summons in the action, asking that the judgment might be set aside as against him, on the ground that, prior to the acceptance of the bill, the partnership had been dissolved, the business being afterwards carried on in the old firm name by William Fraser alone; so that John Fraser was not liable on the bill. The Master dismissed the application, and his decision was successively affirmed by the Judge in the Divisional Court, and the Court of Appeal. The bank presented a bankruptcy petition against John Fraser. He opposed the making of a receiving order, on the ground on which he had asked to have the judgment set aside. The Registrar held that he was entitled to go behind the judgment, and, being satisfied on the evidence before him that, at the date of the acceptance, John Fraser was not a partner in the firm, he declined to make a receiving order. The bank appealed.

Hopkinson, Q.C., and Vivian Morten, for the bank.

F. Mellor, for John Fraser, was not heard.

The Court (Lord Esher, M.R., and Bowen and Kay, L.JJ.) held that the principle of Ex parte Lennox (16 Q. B. D. 315) applied, and that, notwithstanding the prior decision of the Court of Appeal, the Court of Bankruptcy had a discretion even on the application of the judgment debtor himself, to go behind the judgment. The Registrar had, on the evidence before him, exercised his discretion properly, and the appeal must be dismissed.

Arbitration—Special Case for Opinion of Court—Appeal—Arbitration Act, 1889 (52 & 53 Vict. c. 49), s. 19—Consultative Jurisdiction.

Appeal from the decision of the Queen's Bench Division upon a case stated. The facts were as follows: In an arbitration under the Building Societies Act, 1874, between a member of a building society and the society, the Court had ordered a case to be stated under sect. 19 of the Arbitration Act, 1889, for the opinion of the Court on a question of law arising in the course of the reference: see [1891] 2 Q. B. 63. The Divisional Court having decided the question on the special case in favour of the member, the society appealed.

Fillan (Lincoln Reed, with him), for the respondent, took the preliminary objection that no appeal lay.

Cozens-Hardy, Q.C., and Macoun, for the appellants.

The Court (Lord Esher, M.R., Bowen, L.J., and Kay, L.J.), were of opinion that the jurisdiction of the High Court of Justice upon questions submitted to it by special case under sect. 19 of the Arbitration Act, 1889, was consultative; that the opinion expressed by the Court on the special case was not a judgment or order, and that no appeal lay.

Appeal dismissed.

The appellant was in the service of the defendants, and deductions were made from her wages, under an agreement made when she entered the service, as a contribution to a sick and accident club. CHANCERY DIVISION.

Chitty, J. Mitchell v. Weise. Aug. 4.
Ex parte Friedheim.

Partnership — Dissolution — Partnership Action—Receiver and Manager—Judgment Creditors—Execution—Bankruptcy of all the Partners.

This was a partnership action brought by one partner against his two co-partners, after the dissolution of partnership, for the usual partnership accounts and sale of the business assets and effects. A receiver and manager had been appointed.

Friedheim, who had recovered judgment against the firm in the name of the firm, had applied for payment of his judgment debt and costs, or for liberty to levy execution, notwithstanding the appointment of the receiver, and an order was made on the 4th of April, 1892, for the receiver to pay to Friedheim his debt and costs.

On the 5th of April, 1887, separate adjudications in bankruptcy were made against each of the partners; but there was no joint adjudication against the firm, and in drawing up the above order the Registrar required an affidavit as to this latter fact, and dated the order the 16th of May, 1892, so as to let in this affidavit.

The action had not been revived until after the 16th of May.

Friedheim now applied for a four-day order against the receiver for payment of his debt and costs, pursuant to the order dated the 16th of May.

Herbert Reed, for the applicant, contended that the order, though dated the 16th of May, was really made on the 4th of April, when all the parties were before the Court. Moreover, that there had been no joint adjudication, and that the trustees simply represented the separate estates; that the applicant was a joint creditor, and entitled to be paid out of the joint estate in priority to the separate creditors; and that effect, therefore ought to be given to the order already made.

Levett, Q.C., and Ribton, for the receiver.

Chitty, J., observed that a suit between partners for winding up the partnership business was a suit between the parties themselves in their own individual rights, and that the creditors of the firm had no interest whatever in such action, and that one object of the winding-up Acts had been to give creditors a locus standi in windings-up which they had not before the Acts. But that where a creditor was in a position to levy execution against the assets of the firm he might apply to the Court for leave to do so, notwithstanding the appointment of a receiver, and on such application either leave would be given, or in the interest of the partners themselves an order would be made, directing the receiver to pay, so as to avoid a sale by the sheriff. And further, that the order in the present case being the applicant's own order, must be taken as of the 16th of May, as the applicant might have applied for a direction that the order be drawn up without the affidavit, and dated the 4th of April, when it was actually made; and although it was true that the adjudication was not joint, this was not material having regard to the nature of the suit. Before the 16th of May the interest of each individual partner in the suit had become vested in his trustee in bankruptcy, and the trustees were not before the Court at the date of the order. The order was therefore futile, and no effect would be given to it, and the application must be dismissed with costs.

This was a summons taken out by the tenant for life of a settled estate for the purpose of obtaining a declaration that capital moneys arising under the Settled Land Acts in the hands of the trustees of the settlement might properly be applied (a) in payment of all future instalments, whether consisting of principal or interest, of certain rent-charges created under the Improvement of Land Act, 1864; or, (b) in redemption of such rent-charges, including the payment of any sum payable by way of bonus for redemption; and in either case (c) in payment to the applicant of all instalments, whether consisting of interest or principal, already paid by him in respect of such rent-charges. The matter came before his Lordship in chambers on the 16th of May, when he made a declaration in accordance with paragraphs (a) and (b) of the summons, but adjourned the rest of the summons into court for the consideration of the point whether, having regard to sect. 15 of the Settled Land Act, 1890, an order could properly be made for the repayment to the applicant of the sums already paid by him in respect of instalments of the rent-charges.

Trade-mark—Alteration—Old Mark—Patents, Designs, and Trade Marks Act, 1888 (46 & 47 Vict. c. 57), ss. 64, 92.

This was an application by the proprietors of an old mark asking in effect that the mark should be altered by substituting their name or initials for those of their predecessors in business and in title to the mark.

Warmington, Q.C., and McKenna, for the applicants.

Sir R. E. Webster, A.G., and Ingle Joyce, for the Comptroller-General, opposed the application.

KEKEWICH, J., in refusing the application, said that there was an obvious distinction between an old mark and a new one for the purposes of such an application as the present. An old mark ought to be kept registered just as it was used, in the absence of special circumstances necessitating an alteration, as, for example, where the proprietors were converted into a limited company, and would be obliged to give up the mark altogether unless they were permitted to add the word "Limited" to their names. Mere transmission of title did not render such an alteration as was proposed in any way necessary.

The question was whether the gift was valid.

T. S. Osler, for the plaintiff, the executor.

W. C. Druce, and Daldy, for the defendants, the National Rifle Association, contended that the gift was a gift "for the setting out of soldiers" within sect. 1 of the Charitable Trusts Act (43 Eliz. [c. 4), "setting out" being defined in Johnson's Dictionary as "raising or equipping."

Warmington, Q.C., De Witt, and Percy Simpson, for the defendants, the next-of-kin.

KEKEWICH, J., relying entirely on the latter part of the gift, held, that the gift was, according to the construction given to the Act by decided cases, "for general public use, which extended to the poor as well as to the rich," and could therefore be supported as a good charitable gift.

Highway—Urban Authority—Liability to Action for Non-repair of Highway—Breach of Statutory Duty—Public Health Act 1875 (38 & 39 Vict. c. 55) ss. 144, 149.

Owing to a drop of eighteen inches in the level of a footway vested in the respondents as the urban authority, the appellant fell and sustained injuries, in respect of which he brought this action against them, on the ground that they had wrongfully suffered the highway to be out of repair and dangerous. The difference of level arose from a carriage-way having been made by an owner of property to give access to stables adjoining the footway. The defendants were not shewn to have been guilty of any misfeasance. The plaintiff's counsel relied mainly on the Public Health Act 1875 ss. 144, 149, contending that the highway including the footway being vested in the defendants, they were responsible (if it was not kept in proper condition and repair) to any one who was injured by reason of its not being so kept. The jury found a verdict for the plaintiff on the ground that there was negligence in the defendants in leaving things as they were. Denman J. on further consideration entered judgment for the defendants, and this decision was affirmed by the Court of Appeal.

Practice—Receiver—Equitable Execution—Reversionary Interest—Judgment Creditor—Unregistered Judgment—Death of Judgment Debtor—Priority—Absence of other Creditors—Administration.

After the death of a judgment debtor, the creditor, whose judgment was not registered, brought an action against the debtor's legal personal representative, claiming payment of the debt out of a reversionary interest which formed part of his estate, or, in the alternative, administration, and then moved for the appointment of a receiver of that interest, by way of equitable execution, so as to obtain priority over other judgment creditors whose judgments had been registered, but none of whom were parties to the action. The estate was insufficient for payment of the debts in full.

Held, by Kekewich, J., that relief by way of equitable execution could not be obtained by one judgment creditor in the absence of the others, and the motion was therefore refused with costs.

An appeal by the judgment creditor was dismissed with costs,

THE COURT OF APPEAL (Lindley, Lopes, and A. L. Smith, L.JJ.), observing that, the judgment debtor being dead, the Court would not assist the judgment creditor to gain a preference over other creditors on the estate; but by consent judgment was granted for limited administration.

Chitty, J. BLAKE v. HALSE. Aug. 9.

Proctor—Compensation Annuity—Equitable Assignment—Priority—Notice to Treasury—Probate Act, 1857 (20 & 21 Vict. c. 77), ss. 105, 113.

This was an action to enforce securities charged by one C. H. Brooks on a compensation annuity granted under the Probate Act, 1857 (20 & 21 Vict. c. 77), s. 105.

By a Treasury Minute of the 7th of January, 1859, a compensation annuity of 605*l.* was granted to Messrs. Brickwood & Brooks, as compensation for the abolition of their exclusive privileges as proctors in testamentary matters. On the death of Brickwood the whole of this annuity was subsequently awarded to Brooks for the residue of his life. Before it was known that the whole of the annuity would be awarded to the survivor for life, Brickwood and Brooks had entered into a deed of covenant of the 1st of November, 1857, by which it was arranged that the survivor, if he should become entitled to any greater share than a moiety of the annuity, should pay over to the legal personal representatives of the deceased partner one-third of the excess over and above a moiety of the annuity. No notice of this deed was given to the Treasury.

In October, 1888, and subsequently, Brooks mortgaged the annuity for sums amounting to over 4000*l.*; these mortgages were transferred to the plaintiffs. Notices of these mortgages were given to the Treasury immediately on their execution, but were not accepted by the Treasury. Brooks subsequently became bankrupt. The defendant Halse claimed under the deed of November, 1857. The plaintiffs claimed priority over Halse for their mortgages on the ground of priority of their notices.

Whitehorne, Q.C., and Reginald Winslow, for the plaintiffs.

Levett, Q.C., and Kirby, for the defendant Halse.

Latham, Q.C., and H. Wace, for Brooks' trustee in bankruptcy, contended that under sect. 113 of the Probate Act, 1857, Brooks was liable to be called on to fill public offices under the Crown, and that consequently this annuity was inalienable. Sect. 64 of the Divorce Act, 1857 (20 & 21 Vict. c. 85), was also referred to as supporting this contention.

Charles Walker, for the defendant Brooks.

CHITTY, J., held that sect. 113 did not apply to the compensation given under sect. 105 to a proctor: the compensation annuity was not given in respect of an office abolished by the Probate Act, 1857, but in respect of the loss of fees caused by the abolition of a proctor's exclusive privileges, and that consequently the annuity was assignable; his Lordship also held that the deed of the 1st of November, 1857, operated as a good equitable assignment of a portion of the annuity, and that the notices given to the Treasury by the plaintiffs were nugatory, as being given to persons who were not in actual possession of the fund out of which the annuity was payable, and who were not trustees with a duty to perform in respect of this annuity, and consequently that such notices did not deprive the defendant Halse of his priority.

EVERITT v. AUTOMATIC WEIGHING MACHINE COMPANY.

Mortgagor and Mortgagee—Payment of Mortgage Debt—Right of Mortgagor to require Transfer of Security to his Nominee in lieu of Reconveyance—Company—Lien on Shares for Debt due from Shareholder—Conveyancing Act, 1881, s. 15.

Motion by the plaintiff, a shareholder in the defendant company, for an injunction to restrain the company from selling or transferring his shares, pursuant to a power conferred by the articles of association of the company.

The articles provided that the company should have a first and paramount lien upon the shares of each member for his debts to the company; and that, for the purpose of enforcing such lien, the directors might sell the shares subject thereto, without any notice to or consent by the holder, and might execute a transfer of the shares sold to the purchaser. The plaintiff owed a large debt to the company, and the company had threatened to sell his shares. The plaintiff required the company, on payment of what was due by him, to assign the debt, and their lien on the shares, to a person nominated by him. The company declined to do this; and the plaintiff then brought this action, claiming by his writ: (1) an account of what was due by him to the company on the security of their lien on his shares; (2) redemption of the shares; (3) a declaration that, on payment to the company of the amount due to them, they were bound to assign the debt, and their lien upon the shares, to the plaintiff's nominee; (4) an injunction in the terms mentioned in the notice of motion.

Cozens-Hardy, Q.C., and A. Whitaker, for the plaintiff, contended that by virtue of sect. 15, sub-sect. 1, of the Conveyancing Act, 1881, the plaintiff was entitled to require the company to assign their lien to his nominee, on payment of the amount due to them.

S. Hall, Q.C., and Swinfen Eady, for the company, argued that the lien created no charge on the shares, and that therefore sect. 15 did not apply.

Cozens-Hardy, in reply, referred to In re General Exchange Bank (Law Rep. 6 Ch. 818), as shewing that the company's lien amounted to an equitable charge on the shares, and, therefore, by virtue of the definition clause, sect. 2 (vi.), of the Conveyancing Act, was within sect. 15.

North, J., said that this lien was not like a solicitor's lien, which was lost when the documents subject to it had been parted with. This lien, as Mellish, L.J., pointed out in the case cited, amounted to an equitable charge on the shares of the debtor. It was, therefore, within sect. 15, and the plaintiff was entitled to require the company, on the debt being paid, to assign their lien to his nominee.

His Lordship, upon the undertaking of the plaintiff on four days' notice by the company to pay to them the amount due from him, upon their transferring their lien or charge to his nominee, granted the injunction asked for, until the trial of the action or further order.

Fisher v. Doody.
Hibbert v. Lloyd.

Solicitor — Costs — Taxation — Mortgage — Solicitor one of the Mortgagees—Sale of Mortgaged Property—Foreclosure Action—Solicitor Mortgagee's Firm acting for Mortgagees.

These were two summonses to review taxation of costs in two actions which raised substantially the same question, viz., whether a solicitor mortgagee is entitled, as against the mortgagor, to charge profit costs in respect of business relating to the mortgage carried out by the solicitor acting for himself and a co-mortgagee, or by a firm of solicitors in which he was one of the partners.

In In re Doody, Fisher v. Doody, A. & B. were solicitors carrying on business in partnership together; and A. and X. were transferees of a mortgage of realty made by the testator D. in his lifetime. D. died, and A. and X. brought a creditors' action for administration of his estate, and obtained the usual administration judgment.

In June, 1890, an order was made for the sale of the mortgaged property, and a further order was afterwards made that the sale should be concluded out of Court, subject to a reserved price and to the auctioneer's charges being approved by the Judge; and that the purchase-money should be received by the plaintiffs, they undertaking to pay into Court the balance after satisfaction of the mortgage debt. The sale took place; and the plaintiffs carried in for taxation two bills of costs delivered by the firm of A. & B., one for costs incurred on the transfer of the mortgage, and the other for costs incurred in carrying out the sale. In taxing these bills the Master had disallowed all costs, except costs out of pocket, on the ground that A., one of the mortgagees, was a member of the firm of A. & B., by whom the costs claimed were charged. It appeared that the business charged for was transacted exclusively by B. and the clerks of the firm and not by A., who acted simply as mortgagee or transferee jointly with B.

Hibbert v. Lloyd was a foreclosure action in which a judgment for foreclosure had been made. The two plaintiffs in the action were mortgagees, and on taxing their costs of the action the Master had disallowed all profit costs on the ground that they had been and were represented in the actions by one of themselves who was a solicitor.

Hastings, Q.C., and Prior, for the plaintiffs; and Micklem, for the defendant in In re Doody, Fisher v. Doody.

Hastings, Q.C., and Methold, were for the plaintiffs; and Challis, and Birrell, for other parties in Hibbert v. Lloyd.

Stirling, J., said, that as a general rule neither a solicitor trustee, nor a firm of which the trustee is a member, can receive out of the trust estate profit costs by way of remuneration for transacting legal business in connection with the trust. And it had been decided that to some extent solicitor mortgagees were subject to the same rules as solicitor trustees. The principle was that a solicitor mortgagee was not to receive remuneration for his own trouble, and it could make no difference in the application of the principle whether the trouble was undertaken by the solicitor on his own behalf solely, or on behalf of himself jointly with some one else. The mortgagee solicitor could not, therefore, retain his share of the profit costs as against the mortgagor. But although there was no authority precisely in point, on principle there was nothing to prevent the partner of the solicitor mortgagee from receiving remuneration for his trouble; and, in the absence of any agreement that the mortgagee solicitor was not to share in the profits arising from the transaction, the proper course seemed to be to ascertain the profit costs, and then to allow to the other partner the same share in the profit costs of the transaction in question as he was entitled to in the general profits of the partnership business. The result was that the summons in In re Doody, Fisher v. Doody, would be allowed as to both classes of items, and the matter would be remitted to the Taxing Master for reconsideration, with a direction to ascertain what would be properly chargeable against the mortgagor if an independent solicitor had been employed, and to allow such proportion of that amount as B. was entitled to in respect of the profits of the partnership as between himself and A. But the Master was not to be precluded from considering whether the decision of Kindersley, V.-C., in Matthison v. Clarke (3 Drew. 3), was applicable to the items in respect of the sale of the mortgaged property. As to Hibbert v. Lloyd, the summons would be dismissed without costs.

KIMBER v. PRESS ASSOCIATION, LIMITED.

Defamation—Libel—Privilege—Report of Judicial Proceedings—Ex parte Application to Magistrates for Summons.

Motion to enter judgment for the plaintiff or for a new trial in an action, tried before Hawkins, J., and a jury, for damages for an alleged libel contained in a report of an application made ex parte by counsel on behalf of one Hasker, for the issue of a summons against the plaintiff for perjury. The report which was communicated by the Press Association to, and inserted in, several London newspapers, was headed, "Alleged Perjury by a Solicitor," and stated that a barrister had that day applied at the Guildhall, Canterbury, for a summons against the plaintiff, who was a solicitor, for perjury alleged to have been committed in the Canterbury Bankruptcy Court in connection with some bankruptcy proceedings, and that the Bench acceded to the application. The publication of the report was admitted on the pleadings. At the trial the plaintiff called as a witness the clerk to the magistrates, who proved that the statements in the report were accurate; that the application was heard in the place in which the magistrates usually sat; that no order to exclude the public, under 11 & 12 Vict. c. 42, s. 19, was made, and that some of the public were present. At the close of the plaintiff's case his counsel contended that the report was unfair, because the name of the person on whose behalf the application for a summons was made had been omitted, so that the public had no opportunity of judging whether he was a person entitled to credit, and the name of the bankrupt in the bankruptcy proceedings (who was not the plaintiff) was also omitted, and asked that the question whether the report was fair should be left to the jury. Hawkins, J., declined to leave the question to the jury; held that the report was privileged; directed a verdict for the defendants, and gave judgment for them. The plaintiff appealed.

Candy, Q.C., and J. E. Fox (Alan Macpherson, with them), for the appellant.

Murphy, Q.C., and Blake Odgers, for the respondents.

THE COURT OF APPEAL (Lord Esher, M.R., Lopes and Kay, LJJ.) dismissed the appeal, holding that the report was privileged as being a fair and accurate account, published without malice, of judicial proceedings in open Court, before a properly constituted tribunal having jurisdiction in the matter, and that, the omissions relied on by the plaintiff's counsel being immaterial, the learned judge at the trial, having regard to the evidence given in support of the plaintiff's case, was right in the course he took.

Appeal dismissed.

ONWARD BUILDING SOCIETY v. SMITHSON.

Covenant for Title—Estoppel—Misrepresentation.

The trustees of Smithson's will sold some land to Toward in 1875, and he in 1876 mortgaged it to the Bishop Auckland Building Society. In 1887 Toward proposed to buy a further piece of land from the trustees, and by a deed dated the 4th of April, 1877, which recited that Smithson was seised in fee at his death of an estate of which the land to be conveyed was part, and recited his will and his death, and that the trustees in exercise of a power in his will had contracted with Toward for the sale to him of the piece of land therein conveyed for an estate in fee simple in possession, and that H. S. C. Smithson, one of the trustees, as beneficial owner subject to the power of sale, had agreed to concur, the trustees granted, and the one who was beneficial owner confirmed, to Toward in fee a piece of land which was in fact part of what had been already conveyed to him in 1875. In September, 1877, Toward mortgaged this piece of land to the plaintiffs. After some years Toward absconded, the Bishop Auckland Society took possession, and the plaintiffs' mortgage money was lost. The plaintiffs sued the trustees to be compensated for the loss on the ground that it had been caused by the misrepresentation of the defendants, or in the alternative for damages for breach of the covenants for title. Kekewich, J., gave the plaintiffs their mortgage money and interest, by way of damages for breach of covenant. The defendants appealed.

J. Scott Fox, for the appeal.

Warmington, Q.C., and Warrington, for the respondents.

THE COURT (Lindley, Bowen and A. L. Smith, L.JJ.) allowed the appeal on the ground that in the conveyance of April, 1877, there was not any averment of the decision of the vendors sufficiently defined and precise to create an estoppel; that there was, therefore, no estate with which the covenants could run, and the plaintiffs were not entitled to sue on the covenants for title; and that no action would lie for the misrepresentation as it was not fraudulent. Their Lordships inclined to the view that the deed of conveyance was not void but only voidable, so that non est factum could not have been successfully pleaded, and that the defendants might have defended themselves on the ground of Toward's fraud in obtaining that conveyance; but their Lordships did not give a concluded opinion on either of these two points.

Bankruptcy—Judgment Summons—Jurisdiction—Order for Committal—Irish Judgment—Judgments Extension Act, 1868 (31 & 32 Vict. c. 54), ss. 1, 4—Debtors Act, 1869 (32 & 33 Vict. c. 62), ss. 4, 5.

Appeal by judgment creditors against the dismissal by Pollock, B., of a judgment summons which they had issued against the judgment debtor under sect. 5 of the Debtors Act, 1869. The judgment had been recovered in an action in Ireland, and had been registered in England under the Judgments Extension Act, 1868. Sect. 1 of that Act gives the English Court jurisdiction over an Irish judgment so registered; but sect. 4 provides that the English Court shall exercise that jurisdiction "in so far only as relates to execution under this Act." Pollock, B., held that an order for committal of a debtor upon a judgment summons under the Debtors Act, 1869, is not "execution" of the judgment, and that, consequently, he had no jurisdiction to make such an order in relation to an Irish judgment.

H. Reed, Q.C., and Wm. Clarke Hall, for the appellants.

Channell, Q.C., and Beddall, for the debtor, were not heard.

THE COURT (Lord Esher, M.R., and Lopes and Kay, L.JJ.) affirmed the decision. They said that in Stonor v. Fowle (13 App. Cas. 20) it was decided that an order for committal on a judgment summons is punitive, and not merely a mode of enforcing payment of the debt. It was not "execution" at all, and not "execution under this Act," i.e. the Act of 1868.

HOOPER v. WESTERN COUNTIES AND SOUTH WALES TELEPHONE COMPANY.

Company—Voluntary Liquidation—Reconstruction—Amalgamation—Companies Act, 1862, s. 161.

The defendant company had issued a series of 100*l.* debentures redeemable in the year 1896. Each debenture was also redeemable at 105*l.* on three months' previous notice by the company at any time prior to 1896, and contained a further condition, that if the defendant company commenced to be wound-up "otherwise than for the purposes of reorganisation or reconstruction," the debentures were to be immediately redeemable at par.

The defendant company had recently passed special resolutions for a voluntary winding-up with a view of carrying into effect "an agreement for amalgamation" with another large telephone company, under which the business and property of the defendant company was to be made over to the large company in consideration of an allotment of shares in the larger company. Under these circumstances the defendant company claimed the right to pay off the debentures at par.

The plaintiff, a holder of debentures in the defendant company, contended that the so-called amalgamation was in fact a "reconstruction" of the defendant company, and that, accordingly, his debentures were redeemable only at 105*l.*, pursuant to the conditions contained in each debenture.

Upjohn, for the plaintiff.

Farwell, Q.C., and Kirby, for the defendant company.

CHITTY, J., considered that the substance of the transaction between the two companies was a sale, and not a reconstruction. The words "reorganisation" and "reconstruction," as applied to companies, had no fixed technical meaning in law, neither were they words of art, but according to the interpretations placed upon the word "reconstruction" by the various text-books, notably Palmer's Company Precedents, and Lindley on Companies, the formation of a new company, to take over the the assets of the old, was the most essential part of any scheme of reconstruction: that was not the present case; the word reorganisation had no wider meaning. The plaintiff's application, therefore, failed, and must be dismissed.

A testator bequeathed his residuary estate between his nephews and nieces during their respective lives, and declared that if any of his nephews and nieces should die leaving child or children living at their death, the proportionate share of such nephew or niece in his said residuary estate should go and be divided equally between such child or children, as to sons on their attaining 21, or as to daughters at that age or marriage; and as to any of his nephews or nieces dying without having any child or children surviving them, then he directed that the proportionate share of each such nephew or niece so dying without issue in the residuary estate should be divided equally between the child or children of his other said nephews and nieces.

One of the testator's nephews entitled to a share in his residuary estate died without issue.

PERKINS v. BAGOT.

Power—Exercise—Validity—Condition attached—Fraud on Power.

Summons to determine whether a power of appointment has been validly exercised.

Under the will of her father, a testatrix had power to appoint a fund (by deed or will) among her children or remoter issue. In default of appointment the fund was to go to her children in equal shares at 21 or marriage. She had two sons and two daughters. By her will, which recited the power, she stated that she had appointed the greater part of the fund in favour of her daughters, and that the only part remaining appointed was a sum of 713*l.* Consols, she, in exercise of the power, appointed the 713*l.*, and all the other trust moneys over which she had a power of appointment under her father's will, to her sons in equal shares, on condition that they should give up all claim to the proceeds of the sale of the furniture in a house formerly occupied by her, and sign a release to her executors in respect of all claims to any portion of the produce of the sale of the furniture within three months after her death. But, in the event of their making any claim to the furniture or the produce of the sale thereof, or refusing, neglecting, or declining to give such release to her executors within the time specified, then she appointed the 713*l.*, and the trust funds thereinbefore appointed to one of her daughters absolutely. She bequeathed the remainder of her estate to a person who was not an object of the power. Besides the 713*l.*, there was in fact a further sum of 934*l.* which the testatrix had not previously appointed. The furniture to which she referred had been bequeathed by the will of her deceased husband to herself for her life, with remainder to her sons in equal shares. Power was given to her to sell it; but, if she did so, the proceeds of sale were to be held on the same trusts. She had sold the furniture for about 700*l.*, and had received the proceeds of sale, so that her sons had a claim against her estate for about 700*l.* The summons was taken out by the trustees of the father's will; the defendants were the two sons of the testatrix, and the respective representatives of the two daughters, who were both dead.

There was no evidence that the appointment was made in pursuance of any bargain between the testatrix and her sons, or that the sons knew anything about the appointment before her death.

Coltman, for the plaintiffs.

Clark, for the sons, argued that the appointment to them was good, but that the condition was void, and must be rejected.

Bramley; and Sebastian; for the representatives of the daughters, contended that the appointment was void altogether, and that the fund went as in default of appointment. The appointment was really made in order to increase the residuary estate of the testatrix for the benefit of the residuary legatee.

NORTH, J., held, that the appointment was bad in toto. He could not sever the appointment from the condition. It was clear that the appointment was made for the purpose of increasing the estate of the testatrix for the benefit of the residuary legatee by the amount of the claim which the sons had against her estate, and that it would not have been made but for this. The appointment was, therefore, a fraud on the power. He did not suggest that the testatrix had any fraudulent intention, but she was abusing the power.

BROMPTON HOSPITAL FOR CONSUMPTION v. LEWIS.

Will—Construction—Gift to Charity of such part of Residue "as may by Law be given for Charitable Purposes"—Will made before passing of the Mortmain and Charitable Uses Act, 1891—Death of Testator after passing of Act—Mortmain and Charitable Uses Act, 1891 (54 & 55 Vict. c. 73), s. 9.

Originating summons asking for the determination of the question, whether the Brompton Hospital was, subject to the life interest of a testator's widow, entitled to the whole of the testator's residuary estate, or whether the defendant Elizabeth Williams was entitled to any and what part thereof.

The testator by his will, dated the 29th of June, 1891, bequeathed the residue of his estate to trustees, in trust to pay the income thereof to his wife for her life, and from and after her decease in trust to pay "such part of my said residuary trust estate which may by law be given for charitable purposes" to the Brompton Hospital, and, as to the remainder of the said residuary trust estate, upon trust for Elizabeth Williams absolutely. The Act of 1891, which made valid gifts of land and impure personalty by will for charitable purposes was passed on the 5th of August, 1891. Sect. 9 provides that "This Act shall only apply to the will of a testator dying after the passing of this Act." The testator died on the 20th of February, 1892.

Sir A. T. Watson, Q.C., and J. T. Prior, for the plaintiffs.

Ingle Joyce, for the trustees of the will.

Cozens-Hardy, Q.C., and C. Crawley, for Elizabeth Williams.

NORTH, J., held that the plaintiffs were entitled to the whole of the residuary estate. He thought the point was concluded by the terms of sect. 9, which he read as meaning that the Act was to apply to the will of a testator who died after the passing of the Act. He could not read the will as giving to the plaintiffs only such part of his property as could, by the law as it stood at the date of his will, be given by will to charity. In his opinion the testator intended to give to the plaintiffs all that he could give by law when his will should take effect.

LORD HENRY BRUCE AND OTHERS v. MARQUIS OF AILESBURY.

Settled Lands—Mansion-house—Sale by Tenant for Life sanctioned by House of Lords—Subsequent action to restrain Sale on ground of Fraud—Abuse of the process of the Court—Jurisdiction to dismiss before Hearing—Settled Land Act, 1882 (45 & 46 Vict. c. 38), ss. 15, 53.

The tenant for life of an estate, acting under the powers conferred by the Settled Land Acts, in June, 1891, entered into a contract for the sale of the estate, including the mansion-house, to a purchaser. One of the two trustees for the purposes of the Settled Land Acts approved of the sale, but the other trustee, who was a remainderman, objected to it, as also did all the other remaindermen who were sui juris. The tenant for life then presented a petition asking that the sale might be sanctioned by the Court, and the Court of Appeal, overruling the judgment of Stirling, J., made, on the 12th of December, 1891, an order giving the tenant for life liberty to carry the sale into effect. The remaindermen appealed; but the House of Lords, on the 9th of August, 1892, dismissed the appeal.

On the 5th of August, 1892, the objecting trustee and two of the other remaindermen, issued the writ in this action against the tenant for life the assenting trustee and the purchaser, by which they claimed a declaration that the agreement for sale was fraudulent and ought to be set aside, and an injunction to restrain the defendants from carrying it into effect. The plaintiffs obtained leave to move for their injunction on the 10th of August; but on that day they saved their motion on the ground that they had not had time to complete their evidence. The defendants, the tenant for life and the purchaser, then, by special leave, each moved that the action might at once be dismissed as frivolous and vexatious, and an abuse of the process of the Court; and these motions were heard on the 12th and 13th of August, 1892.

Hastings, Q.C., and Muir Mackenzie, for the assenting trustee; and Sir Henry James, Q.C., and Spencer Butler, for the purchaser.

Upon the conclusion of the arguments, Stirling, J., stated his opinion that the motions made on behalf of the defendants must succeed, and the sale must go on, but reserved his formal judgment.

Oct. 25. STIRLING, J., said that the jurisdiction invoked by the defendants was unquestionable; and according to the law as stated in Metropolitan Bank v. Pooley (10 App. Cas. 210), and Lawrance v. Lord Norreys (39 Ch. Div. 213), wherever the circumstances were shewn to be such that the action was an abuse of the process of the Court, there existed the power of summarily putting an end to it; and the jurisdiction was exercised when the Court was satisfied that the plaintiff had no reasonable grounds for making his allegations. There were two allegations here—one that the tenant for life had secretly bargained with the mortgagee of his life estate for an annuity in consideration of his entering into the contract for sale. As to that, when an estate was encumbered, and the increased income resulting from the sale belonged to the tenant for life and his encumbrancer, there was no reason why they should not determine in what shares it should be apportioned between them; and, moreover, this was an attempt to reopen a litigation which had been closed by the decision of the House of Lords.

The other allegation principally affected the purchaser, and was that an offer of 50,000*l.* had been made to the principal remainderman, either on behalf of the mortgagee of the life estate or the purchaser, if he would withdraw his opposition to the sale. As to this, the offer, if any, was made in October, 1891, and could not affect the validity of the contract which had been entered into the previous June. The mortgagee had denied that any such offer had proceeded from him; and the purchaser had given his denial on oath. His Lordship was convinced that there was no reasonable ground whatever for any suspicion against the purchaser, and accordingly, without attributing to the plaintiffs any want of good faith, he held that they had no reasonable ground for their action, and dismissed it with costs.

Divorce—Annual sum ordered to be paid to Wife under 20 & 21 Vict. c. 85, s. 32*—Alimony—Property—Right of Wife to prove against former Husband's Estate.*

This was a claim carried in by the widow of the testator in an action to administer his estate. The marriage between the testator and the claimant was dissolved in February 1869, upon her petition. On the 19th of November, 1889, Butt, J., made an order that the testator should pay to the applicant a sum of 300*l.* per annum for her maintenance, and referred it to one of the conveyancing counsel of the Chancery Division to settle and approve of a deed to secure such annual payment to the applicant for her life; and further, ordered that the testator should pay to the applicant for the maintenance of the only child of the marriage the sum of 75*l.* per annum, payable quarterly.

The testator appealed; and the Court of Appeal, on the 18th of December, 1889, directed that the words "until further order" should be added to the order for the payment of the 75*l.*, and otherwise dismissed the appeal with costs. The deed directed to be settled and approved was duly prepared and engrossed, but was never executed by the testator, who left this country to avoid service, and died abroad in insolvent circumstances.

The chief clerk had only allowed the applicant to rank as a creditor for the proportion of the 300*l.* and the 75*l.*, by the orders directed to be paid, which had accrued up to the death of the testator, and the present application was made by way of appeal.

E. Ford, for the applicant, relied on Harrison v. Harrison (Law Rep. 13 P. D. 180).

Macaskie, and Firminger, for the executors:—The operation of the orders ceased on the death of the husband. The sum directed to be paid to the wife was in the nature of alimony, and alimony is not alienable as an assignable annuity, and cannot be dealt with as if it were the separate property of the wife.

STIRLING, J., said that the order of Butt, J., as varied by the Court of Appeal, was an absolute order for payment of the annual sums of 300*l.* and 75*l.*, the true construction of which, so far as the wife was concerned, was that the sum of 300*l.* was payable to the wife for her maintenance during her life. It was not alimony at all, but an annual sum which the Court, upon the dissolution of marriage, had, under the Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857 (20 & 21 Vict. c. 85), s. 32, ordered to be paid by the husband to the wife, and which was enforceable under sect. 52 of the same Act.

Upon the authority of Harrison v. Harrison (Law Rep. 13 P. D. 180), this was "property of the wife," even though the deed to secure it had not been executed, and she must be admitted to prove as a creditor in the administration action accordingly.

Administration—Probate Duty—Estate Duty—Incidence—Specific Legatees—Residuary Legatee—Customs and Inland Revenue Act, 1881 (44 & 45 Vict. c. 12), ss. 27, 41—Customs and Inland Revenue Act, 1889 (52 & 53 Vict. c. 7), s. 5.

The testatrix, who died on the 9th of December, 1891, by her will, dated the 18th of March, 1870, after making certain pecuniary bequests and specific gifts of property, partly real and partly personal, and disposing of the residue of her real estate, gave the residue of her personal estate to G. E. Martin absolu

This was an originating summons raising the question whether the stamp duty payable under sect. 27 of the Customs and Inland Revenue Act, 1881, and the estate duty payable under sect. 5 of the Customs and Inland Revenue Act, 1889, were payable in part out of the property specifically given, or whether they must be borne entirely by the residuary personal estate.

Badcock, for the residuary legatee, relied upon sect. 41 of the Act of 1881, as shewing that the Legislature intended that the burden of the probate duty should be borne rateably by specific and residuary legatees, inasmuch as by that section both legacies and residue upon which the duty has been paid are relieved from payment of the 1 per cent. duty imposed by 55 Geo. 3, c. 184, and contended that the same principle applied to the estate duty. He cited In re Croft ([1892] 1 Ch. 652).

C. Gurdon, for the specific legatees.

STIRLING, J., said, that according to the practice which existed previously to 1880, the duty payable under the old law was paid out of the general residuary personal estate. The Act of 1881 did not contain any intimation as to how the new duty was to be paid; and, in the absence of such intimation, the principle which governed the incidence of the old duties must govern those substituted by the modern Act. Sect. 41 of the Act of 1881 was of limited application, and merely gave relief in certain cases where the beneficiaries under the will were members of the testator's family. In case the residue were insufficient, and the legatees were called upon to bear the duty, they would then get the relief; but the section afforded no indication of an intention that the incidence of the duty should be changed. In re Croft, did not relate to the incidence of the duty as between specific and residuary legatees, but as between appointees of various parts of a specific fund. The principle laid down in that case did not, therefore, govern the present case. His Lordship thought that the incidence of the duties in question remained as under the old Acts, and that no part of them should be borne by the specific legatees, so long as there was any general residue out of which they could be paid.

Leasehold House—Trustees—Tenant for Life—Remainderman—Rents—Repairs and Insurance—Fines for Renewal—Liability.

A testator bequeathed a leasehold house in London, held on a renewable lease containing covenants to repair and insure, to trustees upon trust for his widow for life, with remainder to his son for life, with remainders over. And he bequeathed his residuary personal estate to his trustees upon trust out of the income to pay all the costs, charges, and expenses of carrying into execution the trusts of his will, and then to pay an annuity to his wife, and, subject thereto, to hold his residuary personal estate upon trusts for his said son and his other children in certain settled shares.

The question was, upon whom the rent, the current expenses of repairing and insuring the house, and the fines for renewal, ought to be thrown.

Sir H. Davey, Q.C., and Ingle Joyce, for the plaintiffs, the trustees.

Hornell, for the widow, the first tenant for life.

Swinfen Eady, for the son, the second tenant for life.

KEKEWICH, J., said he was bound by In re Courtier (34 Ch. Div. 136) to hold that there was no obligation on the tenant for life to pay any part of the rent, or any of the expenses either of repairs or insurance, or of renewal; that the rent and the expenses of repairs and insurance ought to be treated as charges on income, and paid by the trustees out of the income of the residuary personal estate, and that the fines and expenses of renewal ought to be distributed among the beneficiaries of the house according to their actual enjoyment, to be ascertained by actuarial valuation.

The question was whether the mortgage debt was payable out of the specified fund, or must be borne by the devisee of the mortgaged estate.

Upjohn, Dundas Gardiner, and Hornell, appeared.

KEKEWICH, J., held, that the words used by the testator did not indicate a contrary intention within the meaning of the Real Estate Charges Acts so as to throw the mortgage debt on the specified fund, but that the devisee of the mortgaged estate took cum onere.

Tunnel under Highway—Easement or Hereditament—Exclusive Occupation—Statute of Limitations (37 & 38 Vict. c. 57), s. 1; 3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 27, s. 2.

By deed dated the 12th of July 1871, the trustees of the highway leading from Northfleet to Rochester, under the powers given them by the Highway Act, 3 Geo. 4, c. lxx., granted to D. for valuable consideration, license to construct a tunnel under the highway at Northfleet. The powers of the trustees and the Act of 3 Geo. 4, c. lxx., expired on the 1st of November, 1871.

D. commenced the excavation of the tunnel in December, 1871, and completed it in July, 1872. The tunnel was twelve feet wide and twelve feet high, and ran for about one hundred yards under the highway along its length, at a depth of about seventy feet below the surface. It was bricked at each end and part of its length, and connected chalk pits of D. on the south side of the highway with cement works of D. on the north side of the highway. The soil and chalk excavated by D. in making the tunnel were carried away and used by him in constructing a wharf at the cement works. From the time of its construction until August, 1891, when the writ in this action was issued, the tunnel was continuously and uninterruptedly used by D. and those claiming under him to carry chalk in trucks on rails from the pits to the cement works. D. was the predecessor in title of the defendants.

The plaintiff was the owner in fee simple in possession of the land abutting on both sides of that part of the highway under which the tunnel ran, and claimed to be the owner in fee of sub-soil of the highway, and alleged that the defendants had committed a trespass on his land in excavating and using the tunnel as a railway, and sought an injunction to restrain them from so doing, and damages.

Sir H. Davey, Q.C., Haldane, Q.C., Ingpen, and Elgood, for the plaintiff, contended that the tunnel was a right of way, and as the defendants and their predecessors in title had not been in exclusive possession of it for twenty years they had not acquired a title to it.

Rigby, S.G., Chadwyck Healey, Q.C., and F. Thompson, argued, contrâ, that the tunnel was not an easement, but a hereditament, and that as D. and those claiming under him had for twelve years and upwards been in exclusive possession of the tunnel, they had acquired an absolute title to it.

ROMER, J., held that D. could not be said to have made the tunnel under the license as it expired with the powers of the highway trustees on the 1st of November, 1871. D. therefore wrongfully constructed the tunnel. But in his Lordship's opinion the tunnel was not an easement, but a hereditament, and as D. and those claiming under him had, for more than twelve years from July, 1892, been in exclusive possession and occupation of the tunnel, they had acquired a statutory title to it, at any rate as against the plaintiff, whether the sub-soil of the highway was vested in him or not, and therefore the action must be dismissed with costs.

Solicitor—Bill of Costs—Conducting Sale of Property by Auction—Fee to Vendor's Solicitor for—Sale of Property in Lots—Solicitors' Remuneration Act, 1881 (44 & 45 Vict. c. 44), General Order, Sched. 1.

Motion to review taxation. The Onward Building Society being in liquidation, the liquidator of the society employed a Mr. Watson, a solicitor, to conduct the sale, by auction, of certain freehold and leasehold property of the society. The property was sold in three lots, each lot being sold to a different purchaser. Each of the lots was held by the vendors under a different title. Lot 1 was sold for 102*l.* 10*s.*, lot 2 for 270*l.* 5*s.*, and lot 3 for 262*l.* 10*s.*, making an aggregate price for the three lots of 635*l.* 5*s.*

According to Sched. I. of the General Order made under the Solicitors' Remuneration Act, 1881, the scale fee payable to a vendor's solicitor "for conducting a sale of property by public auction including the conditions of sale, when the property is sold," is, for the first 1000*l.*, 20*s.* per 100*l.*, with a minimum charge of 5*l.* whether a sale is effected or not. And by rule 7 of the rules under that Order, fractions of 100*l.* under 50*l.*, are to be reckoned as 50*l.* By rule 1: "The commission for deducing title, and perusing and completing conveyance on a sale by auction, is to be chargeable on each lot of property, except that when a property held under the same title is divided into lots for convenience of sale, and the same purchaser buys several such lots and takes one conveyance, and only one abstract is delivered, the commission is to be chargeable on the aggregate prices of the lots." By rule 2: "The commission on an attempted sale by auction in lots is to be chargeable on the aggregate of the reserve prices." But the rules are silent as to whether, in the event of a successful sale in lots, the commission is to be chargeable on each lot, or on the aggregate prices of the lots. The solicitor sent in a bill of costs in which he charged a commission of 15*l.* for conducting the sale of the above three lots, being the minimum charge of 5*l.* on each lot.

The registrar of the county court in which the liquidation was being conducted, allowed upon taxation only the sum of 6*l.* 10*s.*, being the scale fee on the aggregate price of the three lots. The solicitor moved before the county court judge to vary the registrar's certificate of taxation, but the judge confirmed such certificate. The solicitor appealed.

THE COURT (Pollock, B., and Hawkins, J.) affirmed the decision of the county court judge.

DAVIDSON AND ANOTHER v. CARLTON BANK, LIMITED.

Bill of Sale—Registration—Schedule or Inventory therein referred to—Specific Description of Chattels.

Appeal from judgment of Cave, J., at the trial of an interpleader issue without a jury.

The facts were as follows:—The plaintiffs were the claimants under a bill of sale of goods taken in execution at the suit of the defendants. The grantor of the bill of sale, which was given as security for an advance, was at the time of the execution of such bill of sale possessed of furniture and other chattels, including books to the number of 1800 volumes, which were in a study at his residence. The schedule annexed to the bill of sale commenced with the words, "The whole of the chattels at present at Westhoe Rectory, and consisting, inter alia, of the following." It then proceeded to specify the furniture and other chattels contained in each of the rooms of the house respectively. Under the head "Study" was the item, "Eighteen hundred volumes of books as per catalogue." There was a catalogue of books in the study in existence previously to the bill of sale, which, however, was not put in evidence at the trial. There was no evidence of any extrinsic facts shewing that there was any ambiguity in the description of the books assigned, or any difficulty in identifying the books referred to by such description. The bill of sale, with the schedule, was registered, but not the catalogue of the books. It was contended for the defendants that the bill of sale was void as against them by reason of the provisions of sub-sect. 2 of sect. 10 of the Bills of Sale Act, 1878, because the catalogue of books was not registered as well as the bill of sale and schedule annexed thereto. It was further contended that, so far as the books were concerned, the bill of sale was inoperative because the books were not specifically described in the schedule, as required by sect. 4 of the Bills of Sale Act, 1882.

The learned judge ruled against the defendants on both points, and accordingly gave judgment for the plaintiffs.

Willis, Q.C., and Colam, for the defendants.

H. Reed, Q.C., and Simey, for the plaintiffs.

THE COURT (Lord Esher, M.R., Lopes, L.J., and Kay, L.J.) held, that the catalogue was not referred to in the bill of sale within the meaning of sub-sect. 2 of sect. 10 of the Bills of Sale Act, 1878, and therefore it was not necessary that it should be registered together with the bill of sale; and that the books were "specifically described" in the schedule, inasmuch as the words "as per catalogue" were not restrictive of the previous description, which sufficiently identified the books assigned. They therefore dismissed the appeal.

Appeal dismissed.

Will—Ademption—Devised Estate sold and reconveyed by way of Mortgage.

This was an appeal from a decision of the Vice-Chancellor of the County Palatine of Lancaster. T. Clowes, by his will made in 1878 and by a codicil dated in 1883, devised certain freehold houses therein specifically described to J. Hudson absolutely.

In the year 1888 the testator sold the houses comprised in the devise to W. B. Hill, and by an indenture dated the 11th of August, 1888, conveyed them to him in fee. By another indenture, dated the next day, W. B. Hill reconveyed the houses to the testator in fee by way of mortgage for securing 900*l.*, part of the purchase-money, which was allowed to remain charged on the property. The testator did not enter into possession of the mortgaged property, and the mortgage debt remained due at his death, which happened in October 1889. After his death, Hill paid off the mortgage, and the executors reconveyed the property to him. A summons having been taken out for the administration of the testator's estate, Hudson claimed that, as at the time of the testator's death the mortgage was the only interest in the premises vested in the testator, he was entitled to the benefit of such mortgage, and that the sum of 900*l.* belonged to him. The Vice-Chancellor held that Hudson was entitled to the sum claimed, and the residuary legatee appealed from this decision.

Hopkinson, Q.C., and Bather, for the appellant.

Farwell, Q.C., and Astbury, for the respondent, relied on the 23rd and 24th sections of the Wills Act (1 Vict. c. 26), and on Woodhouse v. Meredith (1 Mer. 450), where a house held on mortgage was held to pass under a devise of the testator's messuages at K.

Norris, for the executors.

LINDLEY, L.J., said, that notwithstanding the decision in Woodhouse v. Meredith, which turned on the special fra the will, he could not consider that as a general rule a devise of a testator's freehold estates at a particular place would pass an estate held by way of mortgage together with the money secured by the mortgage. That being so, the 23rd and 24th sections of the Wills Act did not operate upon the devise. The decision of the Vice-Chancellor must be reversed.

Copyright—International Copyright Act, 1886 (49 & 50 Vict. c. 33), s. 6—Saving of Rights and Interests previously acquired—Trade-mark—Interest in Advertising—Subsisting and Valuable Interests—Artistic Work first produced in Foreign Country.

The plaintiff, a foreigner, claimed to be entitled to the copyright in an oil painting called "Lisette," so far as regarded the right of reproduction by photographic processes, and also to the copyright in a photograph of the said oil painting as a distinct work of art. The oil painting was produced in Germany, before December, 1885, and represented the half-length figure of a girl in a mob cap, laughing, with a candle in her left hand, shielding with the right hand the light, which was reflected over her face and bust. In January, 1887, the predecessors in business of the defendant company registered as their trade-mark for candles, a photograph of "Lisette" on a small scale, with the words "Trade mark" across the lower part of the figure, and used this trade-mark upon their goods. The defendant company had also reproduced this picture in various sizes and colours by means of chromo-lithography without the words "trade mark" on show cards and trade lists for the purpose of advertising their goods.

In January, 1892, the plaintiff registered himself as the owner of the aforesaid copyright in England, under the International Copyright Act, 1886, and the Order in Council made thereunder on the 28th of November, 1887, and now sought to restrain the defendant company from infringing his copyright, by continuing the use of these show cards, it being admitted that the defendant company were entitled to use this trade-mark, because when that was registered the plaintiff had no copyright in England.

Byrne, Q.C., and Scrutton, for the plaintiff.

Farwell, Q.C., and John Cutler, for the defendant company.

CHITTY, J., held that the defendant company, as the proprietors of the trade-mark, had an interest in advertising it as they had done by means of the show cards and trade lists; that this was an interest arising from or in connection with the trade-mark itself, which was subsisting and valuable at the time of the publication of the Order in Council in November 1887, and consequently that the proviso in sect. 6 of the International Copyright Act, 1886, applied, and the action must be dismissed.

Solicitor—Costs—Taxation—"Attendance"—"Drawing Case for Counsel"—Solicitors' Remuneration Order, Sched. II.

Summons by solicitors to review a taxation of costs. The solicitors in their bill had charged a number of "attendances" at 10*s.* each, this being the fee allowed by Sched. II. to the Solicitors' Remuneration Order "in ordinary cases;" also, in the bill they had charged 2*s.* per folio for drawing two cases for opinion of counsel, that being the fee allowed by the schedule "in ordinary cases." The schedule also provides that "in extraordinary cases the taxing master may increase or diminish the above charge if for any special reasons he shall think fit." In taxing the bill the taxing master disallowed some of the attendances altogether, allowed 10*s.* each for some, and reduced the fee for the remainder to 6*s.* 8*d.* each. He did not state any special reasons for the reduction. He also allowed only 1*s.* per folio for drawing the cases for opinion of counsel. The solicitors objected to the reduction of the fee for "attendances" to 6*s.* 8*d.*, and to the allowance of only 1*s.* per folio for drawing. They said that the "attendances" were ordinary attendances in an ordinary case, and that the taxing master had no discretion to diminish the charge, at any rate without some special reasons; and they said that a case for opinion of counsel was a "document" within Sched II., for which 2*s.* per folio was the proper charge.

In his answers to objections the taxing master said that he had a discretion under Sched. II., and that many of the attendances were of an extraordinarily simple character. He considered that a case for opinion of counsel was not a "document" within the schedule, and he said that the taxing masters, one and all, allowed 1*s.* per folio for drawing such a case.

Sir H. Davey, Q.C., and R. F. Norton, for the solicitors.

Butcher, for the client.

NORTH, J., held that under Sched. II. the taxing master has a discretion either to increase or to diminish the prescribed fees. He must have special reasons for doing so; but he is not bound to state his reasons. In the present case his Lordship thought that the taxing master had exercised his discretion as to the "attendances," and his decision could not be reviewed. But, with regard to the drawing fees, he had not exercised any discretion, but had proceeded on the ground that a case for opinion of counsel was not a "document" within the schedule. In his Lordship's opinion it was, and the 2*s.* per folio ought to have been allowed in the absence of special reasons.

Tenant for Life—Income—Mortgage—Colliery in Possession—Apportionment.

This was an action for the administration of the estate of William Godden, who died in 1887, having by his will directed his residuary estate to be divided, in the events which happened, into five shares, the income of which he directed to be paid, in the events which happened, to his five several daughters, for their respective lives. At the time of his death a part of the testator's personal estate consisted of a mortgage debt secured on a colliery. The debt carried interest at 8 per cent. per annum. The interest on the mortgage was in arrear, and the testator was in possession, having gone into possession prior to the date of his will. Soon after the testator's death his executors commenced an action to foreclose the mortgage. A receiver was appointed who worked the colliery. Large net profits were made, and from time to time paid into Court by the receiver in the mortgage action. A foreclosure decree was ultimately made. The funds in Court in the mortgage action were transferred to the credit of this action; and there was now in Court a sum of 5689*l.* 14*s.* New Consols, representing the proceeds of the colliery down to the date of the foreclosure decree, and accumulated interest.

This was a summons by one of the tenants for life, in which the question was raised in what manner, as between the tenants for life and persons entitled in remainder, the sum in Court ought to be apportioned.

S. Hall, Q.C., and Stock; Badcock, Willis Bund, and Vernon R. Smith, for the tenants for life.

Method, and Clydesdale, for persons interested in remainder.

Ingle Joyce, and Bramwell Davis, for trustees.

NORTH, J., declared that the tenants for life were entitled to the income of the fund in Court that had arisen since the funds were transferred to the credit of this action. He directed an inquiry, what sum, with interest at 4 per cent., down to the date of transfer to the credit of this action from the date of the testator's death, would amount to the sum transferred into Court, and declared that the tenants for life were entitled to the difference between the amount transferred into Court and the amount so found, and that such last-mentioned amount belonged to the estate as capital.

In re BOOTH AND KETTLEWELL'S CONTRACT.

Rules of Supreme Court, 1883, Order XVI., r. 8—Parties—Trustee—Foreclosure Action.

This was a summons by vendors of real estate who derived title under a foreclosure decree made in an action in which they were plaintiffs. The mortgage was made by Joseph Lockwood, the owner in fee, to secure an advance made by the vendors to John Sowby Lockwood, the son of Joseph Lockwood. Joseph Lockwood died in 1886, having made a will and codicils by which he appointed his wife, who predeceased him, his son, John Sowby Lockwood, and a third person, who renounced and disclaimed, his executors and trustees; he devised and bequeathed his residuary real and personal estate to his trustees in trust for sale and conversion and investment; after the death of his wife he directed his trustees to set apart a sum of 700*l.* on trust to pay the income to his son, John Sowby Lockwood, until the youngest child of John Sowby Lockwood came of age; and, in case of a contingency, on trust as to the capital for John Sowby Lockwood; and, if the contingency did not happen, on trust for the children of John Sowby Lockwood. He gave his ultimate residue to John Sowby Lockwood.

The vendors instituted their foreclosure action against John Sowby Lockwood, certain puisne mortgagees, and Marian Turley Lockwood, the only child of John Sowby Lockwood, who was of age, and in March, 1891, a decree was made foreclosing the defendants to the action.

The vendors contracted to sell the premises to Kettlewell, the respondent to this summons. A requisition was made on the part of the purchaser, that the infant children of John Sowby Lockwood, by reason of their being interested in the legacy of 700*l.*, ought to have been parties to the foreclosure action. The requisition was answered on the part of the purchaser, that John Sowby Lockwood, as sole executor, sufficiently represented all the beneficiaries under the will of Joseph Lockwood.

The purchaser not having accepted the answer, this summons was taken out to have it declared that the requisition had been fully answered.

Cozens-Hardy, Q.C., and Solomon, for the vendors.

H. M. Humphry, for the purchaser.

NORTH, J., held, that the executors fully represented all the beneficiaries, and declared the requisition had been sufficiently answered.

BURNLEY v. HARLAND.

Will—Forfeiture Clause—Alienation on Bankruptcy.

This was an adjourned summons raising questions on the construction of the will of William Jennings, who died in 18[illegible]. The testator gave his residuary real and personal estate to trustees and executors in trust for sale at their absolute discretion, and out of the proceeds to pay debts, testamentary and funeral expenses, and on trust to invest the residue, and during the life of his wife on trust to pay her an annuity of 100*l.*, and provide her a house, and after her death on trust to pay such annuitants yearly sums amounting in the aggregate to 18[illegible] and after the death of the last surviving annuitant to pay certain small legacies, and, "subject to the aforesaid trusts," to pay and divide his real and personal estate to and among Sarah Elizabeth Unwin, and nephews and nieces of himself and his wife, at 21 equally, with a substitutionary clause in favour of children of legatees of shares in his residue.

The will contained a proviso making void a bequest to any person who should alienate or become bankrupt, and directed that in case of bankruptcy the share of such legatee should go as if he were then dead. But it was provided that the trustees might in their discretion apply the income of a bankrupt legatee's share at their discretion for such legatee's benefit.

The testator's widow died in 1880. The last surviving annuitant died in October, 1891.

There were, exclusively of an excepted nephew, thirty-one nephews and nieces of the testator and his wife who had children or survived the testator, and attained 21, making the number of shares into which the estate was divisible (as the Court held) thirty-two, including Sarah Elizabeth Unwin.

The summons raised questions as to who were entitled to participate in the estate, and what was the effect of the forfeiture clause.

H. Greenwood, for the trustees of the will.

B. Eyre, Wright Taylor, Edward Ford, Brooke, and Bardswell, for claimants.

MacDonnell, for the assignee in bankruptcy of a nephew of the testator who survived the testator and afterwards became bankrupt and died without obtaining his discharge, argued that the forfeiture clause was bad because it was repugnant to an absolute gift, and there was no gift over to any one other than this bankrupt.

NORTH, J., held that children of deceased nephews and nieces were entitled to participate whether their parent died in the lifetime of the testator or afterwards; that the shares were payable at the death of the last surviving annuitant, but were vested on the death of the testator; that in the case of the share of the bankrupt nephew, the forfeiture clause took effect on his bankruptcy, and that his share, being a share of residue, was undisposed of.

PEACOCK v. FRIGOUT.

Will—Rule against Perpetuities—Invalid Power—Validity of Limitations in Default of Appointment.

The testatrix by her will, dated the 6th of December, 1890, bequeathed the sum of 3500*l.* to trustees upon trust for her step-daughter A. for life, with remainder to her husband for life, and after the death of the survivor for the children of the marriage as the parents or the survivor of them should appoint, and in default of appointment for all the children of the marriage who, being sons, should attain 21, or, being daughters, should attain that age, or marry under that age, share and share alike.

At the time of the death of the testatrix, A. was unmarried. She had since married, and was now the wife of F.

The question raised upon the present summons was whether the trusts of the legacy were to any and what extent void having regard to the rule against perpetuities. It was contended that A. might have married, and, if she became a widow, might still marry a husband who was not living at the death of the testatrix, which husband might survive her and exercise the power so as to tie up the property for a period greater than that allowed by the rule; and that consequently both the power and the limitations in default of appointment were bad.

Beale, Q.C., and Fossett Lock; Buckley, Q.C., and MacSwinney; Hastings, Q.C., and Stock; and Ashton Cross, for the various parties.

STIRLING, J., said, assuming that the power of appointment conferred upon a husband of A. who might survive her might be invalid, the main question was whether the trusts in default of appointment were thereby invalidated. No doubt limitations depending or expectant upon a prior limitation void for remoteness were invalid, because the subsequent limitations were not intended to take effect unless and until the prior one was exhausted. That reasoning, however, did not necessarily apply to limitations in default of appointment, the intention in such cases generally being that they should take effect unless displaced by a valid exercise of the power. In illustration of this principle his Lordship referred to Webb v. Sadler (Law Rep. 8 Ch. 419), and said that the intention of the testatrix was, that the fund should go to A.'s children, unless their interests were effectually displaced by means of the power. If the power was to any extent invalid the result would be that the interests of the children could never be displaced. It was not contended that these interests were in themselves obnoxious to the rule against perpetuities, and therefore the trusts in default of appointment must be declared to be valid.

BIRMINGHAM AND DISTRICT LAND COMPANY v. ALLDAY.

Vendor and Purchaser—Sale of Building Lots—Restrictive Condition—Retainer of other Lands by Vendor.

A land company put up property for sale by auction in lots, describing it in the particulars as "a small freehold estate divided into twenty-two convenient lots of sound building sites." The particulars specified the frontages and dimensions of the various lots, the position and boundaries of which were delineated upon a plan annexed to the particulars; and such plan shewed certain building lines to be existing on other adjacent lands of the vendors. The conditions of sale provided in substance that each purchaser was to covenant (1) that no buildings should be built upon the land purchased by him other than private dwelling-houses only; (2) that every such dwelling-house should cost not less than 250*l.*; and (3) that the building line already existing as to buildings on other lands of the vendors should be duly observed.

The property comprised in the lots put up for sale was only a portion of the estate of the vendors, who retained in their own hands adjacent lands of considerable extent.

At the auction some of the lots put up for sale were sold, and Allday purchased one of them, the rest being unsold. Before Allday's purchase was completed, the vendors set up a claim to be able to sell the unsold lots free from the restrictive conditions; and this was a summons under the Vendor and Purchaser Act, 1874, in reality to determine what the rights of the purchaser were under the contract, though in form to settle the terms of the covenants to be contained in his conveyance.

T. C. Wright, for the purchaser.

Hastings, Q.C., and Henry Fellows, for the vendors, contended that, although a purchaser might by implied contract be entitled to the benefit of restrictive covenants as against a vendor selling the whole of his property, that doctrine did not apply where the vendor retained adjacent lands in his own hands: Nottingham Patent Brick and Tile Company v. Butler (16 Q. B. D. 778).

Cur. adv. vult.

Nov. 2. STIRLING, J., said that the proposition contended for was not in accordance with the judgments in the case cited. The retainer of other property by a vendor was only an element to be taken into consideration with other circumstances in ascertaining the intention. Here, the particulars and conditions constituted an invitation to the public to purchase on the footing that the whole of the property offered for sale was to be bound by one general law affecting the character of the buildings to be erected thereon; and the vendors ought not to be allowed to destroy the value of that which was sold by authorizing the use of a part of the property for purposes inconsistent with the law by which they purported to bind the whole. There must be a declaration that the purchaser was entitled to the benefit of the contract by the vendors implied in the conditions of sale, that they would, as to lots unsold at the auction in question, observe stipulations similar to those which the purchasers of those lots, had they been sold, would have been bound to covenant to observe; and further, that the purchaser was entitled to have such obligations of the vendors expressed in the conveyance to him of his lot.

Summons referred to the Court by a judge at chambers The action was brought to recover 148*l.*, money paid by the plaintiff for the defendant at his request.

The case came before the learned judge at chambers upon a summons for judgment under Ord. XIV.; and, with the consent of the parties, he referred it to the Court, to be treated as a trial of the action upon the facts stated in the affidavits.

It appeared that the defendant wrote a letter asking the plaintiff to settle certain accounts for him, amounting to 148*l.* A list of the names of the persons to whom the accounts were owing, with the sums owing to them respectively by the defendant, was enclosed in his letter. The plaintiff did as he was requested, and brought his action to recover the sums paid by him in pursuance of the request. The sums were, in fact, due for bets which the defendant had lost. There was no direct statement in the affidavits that the plaintiff knew this; but the Divisional Court inferred from them that he did know at the time he paid the money.

By the Gaming Act, 1892, s. 1, "any promise, express or implied, to pay any person any sum of money paid by him under or in respect of any contract or agreement rendered null and void by 8 & 9 Vict. c. 109 . . . . shall be null and void, and no action shall be brought or maintained to recover any such sum of money."

THE COURT (Lord Coleridge, C.J., and Wills, J.) gave judgment for the defendant, holding that the plaintiff paid the money "in respect of" a contract rendered null and void by 8 & 9 Vict. c. 109, so that the Gaming Act, 1892, s. 1, applied to prevent him from maintaining his action.

Case stated by justices.

The appellant was convicted of selling beer on licensed premises during the time at which the premises were directed to be closed, namely, at 9.45 on the morning of Sunday, the 22nd of May, 1892. The person supplied with beer was a railway porter. Early on the Sunday morning he left his house where he had slept, walked three quarters of a mile to a railway station, and travelled thence by train to another station, where he was on duty. During the interval between two trains which he had to attend to he went for a walk to occupy his time, and walked to the appellant's inn, which was less than a mile from the station where he was on duty, and more than three miles from his own house, and was there supplied with beer at about 9.45 on Sunday morning.

THE COURT (Pollock, B., and Hawkins, J.) held, that the person supplied with beer was a bonâ fide traveller within the meaning of sect. 10 of the Licensing Act, 1874, and therefore the appellant was wrongly convicted.

Conviction quashed.

LONDON AND NORTH WESTERN RAILWAY COMPANY v. EVANS.

Canal—Right of Navigation—Subjacent Mines—Right to Support.

This was an appeal by the plaintiffs from a judgment of Kekewich, J., dismissing the action ([1892] 2 Ch. 432).

THE COURT (Lindley, Bowen, and A. L. From Q. B. D. OPPENHEIM & Co. v. SHEFFIELD. Nov. 7.

Practice—Discovery—Interrogatories—Setting aside or striking out—Order XXXI., r. 7.

Appeal from the order of a Divisional Court (Lord Coleridge, C.J., and Cave, J.) affirming an order of Day, J., at chambers setting aside interrogatories.

The facts were as follows: The action was brought by stockbrokers against a customer for a balance of account in respect of transactions in stocks and shares. The defendant counterclaimed an account. The plaintiffs replied that accounts of the transactions in question had been delivered by them to the defendant from time to time, and agreed and settled between them. The defendant obtained leave to interrogate, and delivered interrogatories. These interrogatories were very lengthy and numerous, and interrogated in great detail with regard to the particulars of the transactions and items of the accounts between the plaintiffs and the defendant. The plaintiffs applied at chambers, under Order XXXI., r. 7, to set aside the interrogatories as having been unreasonably or vexatiously exhibited, or to strike them out as being prolix, oppressive, or unnecessary. The master refused the application, directing that the plaintiffs should state their objections to the interrogatories by way of answer. The judge at chambers reversed his decision and set the interrogatories aside. The Divisional Court, on appeal to them, affirmed the decision of the judge at chambers.

By Order XXXI., r. 7, "any interrogatories may be set aside on the ground that they have been exhibited unreasonably or vexatiously, or struck out on the ground that they are prolix, oppressive, unnecessary, or scandalous."

H. D. Greene, Q.C., and Morten, for the defendant, contended that Order XXXI., r. 7, does not apply to cases where leave to administer interrogatories is necessary and has been obtained, but only to cases where interrogatories are administered without leave: that the interrogatories, having been administered by leave, could not be set aside as unreasonably or vexatiously exhibited: that some, at any rate, of the interrogatories were clearly admissible, and, that being so, the settled practice was that the judge should not go through the interrogatories to see which were objectionable and which were not, but the objections to them should be taken by way of answer: and that, assuming otherwise, then the judge at chambers and the Divisional Court were not entitled to treat the interrogatories en bloc and strike out the whole, some being clearly unobjectionable. They cited Sammons v. Bailey (24 Q. B. D. 727) and McIlroy v. Duncan (Weekly Notes, 1884, p. 48).

Horne Payne, Q.C., and A. G. M. McIntyre, for the plaintiffs, were not called upon.

THE COURT (Lord Esher, M.R., Lopes, L.J., and Kay, L.J.) held that Order XXXI., r. 7, applies to cases where leave has been obtained to administer interrogatories: that under its terms all or any of a set of interrogatories may be set aside as being unreasonably or vexatiously exhibited, or may be struck out as being prolix, oppressive, unnecessary, or scandalous; that, if the Court are of opinion, looking at a set of interrogatories as a whole, that they are unreasonably or vexatiously exhibited, or are prolix, oppressive, unnecessary, or scandalous, they may set aside or strike the whole out, although there may be some one or more interrogatories among them, which, taken alone, would be unobjectionable; and that, looking at the interrogatories in question as a whole, they came within the terms of rule 7, and consequently the order of the Divisional Court was right. They therefore dismissed the appeal.

Appeal dismissed.

Restraint of Trade—Covenant not to keep Coffee-house—Sale of Refreshments by Grocer.

This was an appeal from a decision of North, J.

The defendant Iles granted a lease of a house in Bermondsey New Road for twenty-one years to the plaintiff, who was described in the lease as a coffee-house keeper, and the lessor covenanted that he would not, during the term, let any shop in the same road over which he had any control as a coffee-house. A few months afterwards the defendant granted a lease of another house in the same road to the defendants Went and Buchanan, who were described as merchants, for twenty-one years; and the lessees covenanted that they would not, during the term, use the house, or any part thereof, or permit the same to be used, as a coffee-house, nor, without the consent of the lessor, use the same premises for any other trade or business than that of a tea and coffee dealer, and for the sale of non-intoxicating refreshments. The defendants Went and Buchanan were dealers in tea, coffee, sugar, and other groceries; but they also proposed, for the convenience of their customers and to attract custom to their shop, to supply their customers with cups of tea and coffee, and also with bread-and-butter, eggs, sandwiches, and other light refreshments, on the premises. The plaintiff having ascertained that the defendants were fitting up the shop with a view of selling refreshments, commenced an action, in which he claimed an injunction to restrain the use of the shop as a coffee-house, and damages. He then moved for an interim injunction to the same effect. It appeared from the evidence that the defendants Went and Buchanan had several shops in other parts of London, conducted in the same manner, which were called in the trade "Te-to-tum" shops; but the money taken for refreshments bore only a very small proportion to the money taken for groceries, merely about 3 per cent.

North, J., granted the injunction, and the defendants appealed.

Cozens-Hardy, Q.C., and E. S. Ford, for the plaintiff.

LINDLEY, L.J., said that the covenant not to let any other house in the road as a coffee-house was made in order to protect the plaintiff in his business, and he was of opinion that the defendants' mode of conducting their business would tend to injure the plaintiff. The question was whether their mode of conducting their business was keeping a coffee-shop within the meaning of the covenant. He was of opinion that it was. The defendants were in fact conducting two businesses—a grocer's and a coffee-shop keeper's. The case was very different from Stuart v. Diplock, which was relied on by the appellants. The appeal must be dismissed.

Pledge—Tender of Amount due—Refusal of Pledgee to accept—Right of Pledgor to recover Possession of Goods—Conduct of Pledgee excusing Pledgor from making Tender.

Motion by the plaintiff for a new trial of the action, or that judgment, which had been entered for the defendant, might be entered for the plaintiff.

The action was in detinue. The plaintiff claimed the return of some pictures, which he said he had pledged to the defendant as security for advances of money, and damages for their wrongful detention. The defendant asserted that the plaintiff had sold the pictures to him out and out. At the trial before Lord Coleridge, C.J., it appeared that the plaintiff had never tendered to the defendant the amount due to him, on the assumption that there had been a pledge of the pictures. But the plaintiff had told the defendant that he had found a person who would purchase the pictures, if the defendant would allow him to have them, and that the plaintiff would pay the amount due out of the purchase-money. It was contended that the plaintiff was excused from making a tender by reason of the defendant's insisting that the pictures were his absolute property. At the trial it was admitted that the plaintiff was not in a position to pay the amount due, except by means of a sale of the pictures. Lord Coleridge held that, assuming that the transaction amounted to a pledge, and not to a sale, the action could not be maintained, because the plaintiff had never tendered to the defendant the amount due, and there had been nothing to excuse him from so doing. His Lordship accordingly directed the jury to find a verdict for the defendant.

Channell, Q.C., and Dove, for the plaintiff.

Murphy, Q.C., and J. Eldon Bankes, for the defendant.

THE COURT (Lord Esher, M.R. and Lopes and Kay, L.JJ.) refused the application.

LORD ESHER, M.R., said that it had, no doubt, been decided that, if the pledgor of goods tendered to the pledgee the amount due on the security, and the pledgee refused to accept it, his special property in the goods was determined, and the pledgor could maintain an action of trover or detinue for the goods. In the present case, there had been no tender by the plaintiff, and Halliday v. Holgate (Law Rep. 3 Ex. 299) shewed that the mere assertion by the defendant that the pictures were his own property did not amount to a waiver of tender.

HOYLE v. HOYLE.

Guarantee—Indemnity—Statute of Frauds (29 Car. 2, c. 3), s. 4, "Note or Memorandum in Writing."

The testator carried on business in partnership with his sons Theodore Hoyle, and J. A. D. Shipley. The testator's son Savile Hoyle, was indebted to the firm, and a verbal arrangement was made that Savile Hoyle should give the testator mortgage, and that the testator should guarantee to the firm whatever balance might ultimately be found due from S. Hoyle. The testator, by will dated the 20th of August, 1879, recited that he had guaranteed the firm against loss in respect of the debt of Savile Hoyle to the firm, and directed that the amount of the debt should be brought into hotchpot in ascertaining his share under the will. Savile Hoyle died in September, 1879.

In the administration of the estate of the testator, who died in 1885, the question arose whether the other partners could rank as creditors against the estate under this undertaking by the testator. The chief clerk certified that testator's estate was indebted to the firm in respect of the debt due to the firm from Savile Hoyle. Kekewich, J., held that there was no note or memorandum in writing to satisfy the Statute of Frauds, and varied the certificate by finding that the partners were not entitled to the benefit of the testator's guarantee. The partners appealed.

Renshaw, Q.C., and Greenwood, for the appeal.

Warmington, Q.C., and Warrington, for the respondents.

THE COURT (Lindley, Bowen, and A. L. Smith, L.JJ.) reversed the decision. Lindley and Bowen, L.JJ., thought that the agreement was not a guarantee, but an agreement with the two other partners to indemnify them against loss, and did not require a memorandum in writing. A. L. Smith, L.JJ., gave no opinion on that point; all three judges being agreed that if the agreement came within the Statute of Frauds, the mention of it in the will was a sufficient note or memorandum signed by the testator.

This was an appeal from a decision of Chitty, J. (ante, p. 114).

The testator had verbally promised his solicitors that, in consideration of their procuring the bankers of a limited company a loan to the company of 4000*l.* on their personal guarantee, he would repay them what they might be called upon to pay to the amount of 2000*l.* under such guarantee. The advance was made, and the solicitors had to pay the 4000*l.* The testator appointed one of the solicitors his executor. The estate being administered by the Court, the other creditors contended that the undertaking ought to have been in writing under the 4th section of the Statute of Frauds. Chitty, J., held that the statute did not apply, and that the executor had a right of retainer for the amount of the debt.

Willis Bund, for the appellants.

Byrne, Q.C., and Hadley, for the executor.

Hadfield Green, for other parties.

LINDLEY, L.J., said that it appeared from the evidence that the loan from the bankers was to be applied in meeting the testator's own liability on some bills of exchange which he had accepted for the company. It was therefore his own debt for which the solicitors made themselves responsible, and the Statute of Frauds had no application to the case. The appeal must be dismissed.

In re DE TEISSIER'S SETTLED ESTATES.

DE TEISSIER v. DE TEISSIER.

Application of "Capital Money"—Mansion-house—Alterations with a view to letting—Rebuilding—Rental of Settled Land—Settled Land Act, 1882 (45 & 46 Vict. c. 38), ss. 22 (5), 25—Settled Land Act, 1890 (53 & 54 Vict. c. 69), ss. 13 (ii.), (iv.), 15—Repairs—Tenant for Life—Expenditure of Trust Money—Infant—Jurisdiction.

The late Baron De Teissier, who died in April, 1891, devised his mansion-house, called Bourne House, and thirty acres of land, by legal limitations, to his brother for life, with remainder to his brother's eldest son for life, with remainder to his eldest son for life, such son being an infant, with remainders over. All the tenants for life were unimpeachable for waste. The testator also bequeathed his residuary personal estate to trustees, upon trusts corresponding with the limitations of his real estate; and this residuary estate, amounting to 50,000*l.*, had, in a previous action, been directed by the Court to be treated as held upon the same trusts as if it were "capital money" arising under the Settled Land Act.

Bourne House was in a dilapidated condition at the time of the testator's death, and it appeared that the repairs which were considered necessary to make the house habitable consisted of a new roof, alterations of a structural nature consequent upon dry-rot and the insecurity of the outside walls, and a rearrangement of the drainage, which was alleged to be deficient and unsanitary. The tenant for life on entering into possession, after conferring with the trustees, had already expended about 930*l.* on repairs and improvements, and it was proposed to spend a further sum of 900*l.* The first of the above-mentioned summonses was an application by the tenant for life, under the Settled Land Acts, 1882 and 1890, for authority to the trustees to repay the tenant for life, and to expend the amount necessary for the repairs and further improvements, out of the capital money in their hands. The income derived from the settled land and the capital money was about 1600*l.*

Upjohn, for the tenant for life, contended that the house could not be let until it was repaired, and that the Settled Land Act, 1890, s. 13 (ii.) applied, and also that the structural repairs necessary amounted to a "rebuilding" within sub-sect. (iv.) of the same section.

Bramwell Davis, for the next tenants for life, and the trustees raised no objection to the proposed expenditure.

CHITTY, J., held that the words of the Settled Land Act, 1890, s. 13 (ii.), authorizing the expenditure of capital money in "making any additions to or alterations in buildings reasonably necessary or proper to enable the same to be let," must be confined to cases where an actual or immediate letting was in contemplation; whereas in the present case some of the money had been already spent, and the tenant for life was intending to occupy the premises; that even the considerable structural repairs proposed in the present case did not amount to a "rebuilding" of the principal mansion-house within sub-sect. (iv.) of the same section, which must be construed strictly and meant actual rebuilding; and further, that the sums actually spent in repairs already exceeded one half of the annual rental of the settled land—calculating the "annual rental," for the purposes of the proviso in this sub-section, as including the income derived from capital moneys invested—and that for these reasons the present application was not within the scope of the Settled Land Act, 1890, s. 13; and with this expression of opinion the matter might go back to chambers for further inquiry.

Upjohn, for the trustees of the will, then opened the second summons, which asked, that the trustees might be at liberty to expend a sum of 1900*l.* out of moneys in their hands representing the residuary estate of the testator in paying for the rebuilding and improvement of Bourne House, and argued that the Court had power, under its general jurisdiction, to make or allow such expenditure for the preservation and salvage of the property which would be for the general benefit of all persons interested in the estate; and he asked for an inquiry similar to that directed in Conway v. Fenton (40 Ch. Div. 512).

Bramwell Davis, for the next tenant for life and the infant, supported the application.

CHITTY, J., said the applicants had not been able to cite any authority for the proposition that the Court had, under circumstances like the present, the right to charge the estate of an infant remainderman with an expenditure of the nature in question. The Court did not assume plenary powers over an infant's estate, and had no jurisdiction to charge or sell such estate upon the notion that such a proceeding would be beneficial to the infant; the case of Conway v. Fenton was distinguishable; and the present application, though very ingenious, must be refused. His Lordship added, that even were he able to accede to the present application, he foresaw there would be numerous similar applications by tenants for life, unless the Court were firm in dealing with matters of this kind. Tenants for life would first make application under the Settled Land Acts to see what they could get under that jurisdiction, and, failing to obtain all they wished for, would then try and see what could be done for them under the general jurisdiction of the Court, and the Court would be flooded with these applications. The summons must therefore be dismissed, though, under the circumstances, the costs of it would be allowed out of the residuary estate.

PROVIDENT CLERKS' MUTUAL LIFE ASSURANCE ASSOCIATION v. LEWIS.

Mortgage—Foreclosure Action—Sale—Conveyancing Act, 1881 (44 & 45 Vict. c. 41), s. 25.

This was the further consideration of a foreclosure action. The mortgage comprised four parcels of freeholds, partly building land, partly residential, four parcels of leaseholds, and some policies of life assurance. The parties to the action were the mortgagees (plaintiffs), and three sets of defendants, namely second mortgagees, persons claiming to have a charge in priority to the second mortgagees subsequent to the first mortgagees, and the trustees in bankruptcy of the mortgagor as the persons entitled to the equity of redemption. The policies had fallen in, and one parcel of leaseholds had been sold, so that the original mortgage debt had been considerably reduced, but there was a large sum still owing on the first mortgage. The second mortgage was of a substantial amount. It was admitted by all parties that the property left in mortgage could not advantageously be sold by auction in one lot. It was also stated, and not denied, that the property was situated so that it was probable that its value would increase. An application had been made by the second mortgagees in chambers for a sale, and refused on hearing argument as to evidence.

Yate Lee, for the plaintiff, asked for foreclosure.

Everitt, Q.C., and Cruickshank, for the trustees in bankruptcy supported the application. They stated that before the time to be limited for foreclosure expired, they thought it likely that the value of the property would rise; they might then have money in hand, and they wished an opportunity to redeem.

Cozens-Hardy, Q.C., Ingle Joyce, and Vernon R. Smith, for puisne incumbrancers, desired a sale.

NORTH, J., considered (1) the fact that an application in chambers for a sale had been refused, there being no further evidence; (2) that he was not satisfied that the security was sufficient; and (3) the fact that the property was not suitable to be sold in one lot, reasons why he should not under the circumstances direct a sale, the mortgagee and mort desiring foreclosure. He made an order for foreclosure, giving one period of six months to redeem.

y an order dated the 3rd of June, 1892, the second inquiry referred by the judge to Mr. Fischer, Q.C., for inquiry and rt under sect. 13 of the Arbitration Act, 1889. By his rt, dated the 3rd of September, 1892, the arbitrator rted that the strict mode of ascertaining the relative value e commonable rights of the different tenements, viz., by ence to the winter eatage of the tenements, was impracticable, having regard to the fact that the land in question was now nearly covered with buildings, and that the expense of ascertaining the shares according to such strict mode would probably exhaust the fund. Under these circumstances the arbitrator reported that the maxim, "Equality is equity" ought to be observed, and that the fund ought to be divided into 144 equal parts, one of such parts to be assigned in respect of each of the 144 tenements mentioned in the certificate. RAPIER v. LONDON TRAMWAYS COMPANY.

Tramway Company—Stables—Nuisance—Statutory Powers—Injunction.

The plaintiff, the owner of a house and garden in Tooting Park Road, moved for an interim injunction to restrain the defendant company from using a large block of stables which they had recently erected near his house in such a manner as to cause a nuisance by smell or otherwise.

The defendant company was a limited company formed under the Companies Act, 1862. By a private Act of 1888 they took over the tramways and undertakings of two older companies, and by that Act they were empowered to lay down two additional short lines of tramway, according to deposited plans and sections, "together with the works and conveniences connected therewith." These short lines of tramways were duly constructed, one being laid down in the Balham Road, out of which Tooting Park Road opened.

The motion now came on for hearing, with witnesses, as the trial of the action.

Finlay, Q.C., Warmington, Q.C., and Stokes, for the plaintiff.

Rigby, S.-G., Renshaw, Q.C., and J. H. Gregson, for the defendants.

KEKEWICH, J., held that the evidence had clearly established the existence of a nuisance. The question was whether the Legislature had authorized the construction of the stables, so that the plaintiff was not entitled to maintain an action for any nuisance caused by them. It had been contended that the statutory power to make the two short lines of tramway, "together with the works and conveniences connected therewith," included a power to erect stables; but, according to the ordinary rules of construction, the word "conveniences" meant only those conveniences which had some physical connection with the tramways which were by the Act to be constructed according to the deposited plans and sections. The word must be limited to things ejusdem generis; and it certainly could not apply to the other lines authorized by the Acts of Parliament relating to the older tramway companies. If the company required stables they must get them under the ordinary powers which an individual capitalist had, or which a corporation formed under the Companies Act, 1862, had under its constitution. His Lordship was of opinion that Parliament, not considering that this company required power to purchase land or build stables, left them to their ordinary powers, and to the ordinary rules which governed Her Majesty's subjects. They might keep horses and build stables, but subject to this —that they must not incommode their neighbours. The law applicable to the case was to be gathered from the decisions of the House of Lords in Metropolitan Asylum District v. Hill (6 App. Cas. 193), and Truman v. London, Brighton, & South Coast Railway Company (11 App. Cas. 45, 51, 53), which shewed the distinction between a railway company which had a statutory power under the Railway Acts to create a nuisance, and other bodies which had no such statutory power. The plaintiff was therefore entitled to an injunction, with costs.

Romer, J. TUCKER v. VOWLES. Nov. 10.

Vendor and Purchaser—Restrictive Covenants—Property sold in Plots—Representations by Vendor—Plan—Printed Agreement Form.

The defendant and another person in 1887 purchased six acres of land, the greater portion of which they offered in plots, as building sites, at fee farm rents. A block plan, prepared originally for the approval of the local sanitary authority, shewed the estate cut up into a number of plots of even size, on each of which was the ground plan of a semi-detached house, but of no other building. The plaintiff entered into negotiations with the owners for a conveyance of one of the plots, and was shewn a tracing of the principal part of the block plan, and he selected his plots by reference to such plan. The vendors also informed him that the houses to be built on the estate were to be of a superior class, and worth at least 800*l.* each. He was also informed that on certain plots, pointed out in the plan, the erection of stables would be permitted. The plaintiff signed a contract to take conveyances of four plots, the principal parts of which contract were in a printed form, one of the printed clauses providing that the grantee should not erect upon any plot any dwelling-house or building other than a dwelling-house worth 800*l.*, except a greenhouse, at the back of such dwelling-house, and of a specified height. The plaintiff took conveyances of his four plots, having erected on each a dwelling-house in accordance with the agreement: and by each conveyance he entered into restrictive covenants not to alter the external elevation of his buildings, and not to erect any other building except a greenhouse.

The defendant subsequently acquired the interest of his co-owner in other plots facing the plaintiff's plots, and erected thereon a billiard-room, conservatory, and stable, as adjuncts to his own house.

The plaintiff contended that the entire estate was bound by a building scheme, and that only such buildings as were shewn on the plan and referred to in the printed clauses of the contract could be erected on any plot, and he claimed a mandatory injunction for the removal of the defendant's billiard-room, conservatory, and stable.

Chadwyck Healey, Q.C., and H. C. Seddon, for the plaintiff.

Neville, Q.C., and Waggett, for the defendant.

ROMER, J., said the plaintiff proved that the plan was shewn to him, and that he had been called upon to sign the printed form of agreement containing provisions which were said to govern the whole estate, but it was not proved that representations had been made to him that every plot would be governed by those provisions. It could not be laid down that, wherever a vendor prepared, and shewed to a purchaser of one or more plots, a plan of an estate in plots, with houses upon them, and there happened also to be an agreement in a printed form, the purchaser was entitled to assume that the whole estate was governed by a scheme in strict accordance with the plan, and that each plot was to be bound by the printed clauses of the agreement. The action must be dismissed.

The advertisement of a winding-up petition omitted the foot-note required by rule 19 of the Companies (Winding-up) Rules, 1892, and contained in Form 3 in the Appendix to the Rules.

Geare, for the petitioner.

VAUGHAN WILLIAMS, J., said that in the Queen's Printer's copy of the Rules of 1892, part of Form 3 was printed on p. 11, and the foot-note was printed at the top of p. 12. Several persons had made the mistake of supposing that the whole form was given on p. 11. A winding-up order would be made and no fresh advertisement need be issued; but it must not be assumed that the Court would always follow this course.

Arthur Russell, for the liquidator in the voluntary winding up of the company, did not oppose the making of the order, but asked that the liquidator might be allowed his costs of appearing at the hearing. He had been served, and attended to give any information the Court might require.

VAUGHAN WILLIAMS, J., said that if the company appeared by counsel instructed by the liquidator in the voluntary winding-up, he would be allowed his costs, no one appearing separately for the company.

GILROY, SONS, & Co., APPS.; W. R. PRICE & Co. (Shipowners) RESPS. Nov. 21.

(Reversed.)

Ship — Affreightment—Bill of Lading — Uncovered Pipe and Damage to Cargo thereby—Judicature (Scotland) Act, 1825 (6 Geo. 4, c. 120), s. 40—Bill of Lading—Exception of Default of Crew and Condition precedent—Seaworthiness—Inference of Law from finding of Fact.

This was a claim by the appellants for damages for injury caused to jute by sea-water coming through an uncased pipe, which was broken by the pressure of the cargo.

The appeal was from a judgment of the Court of Session (18 Ct. Sess. Cas. 4th Series (Rettie), 569), recalling the interlocutor of the sheriff-substitute. The appeal had been remitted back by this House on the 29th of March, 1892 (ante, p. 6) to the Court of Session with directions to return further answers to certain questions of fact. These answers were—(1) "That in case of vessels carrying jute it is according to the usual practice that a pipe such as that in question is cased before the cargo is loaded and the ship starts on her voyage; (2) that after" the ship "was loaded the pipe in question was not visible or accessible without the removal of part of the cargo; and (3) that in order to get at the pipe for the purposes of casing it would have been necessary to remove part of the cargo (which was in bales that could have been removed), but that the evidence in the case does not shew what amount of the cargo required to be removed for that purpose." On the first hearing the Court of Session had also found "that the pipe was not cased as it should have been to prevent the pressure of the cargo on the pipe."

THE HOUSE (Lord Herschell, L.C., and Lords Watson, Halsbury, Morris, and Field) now held, that the legal inference from the answers was that the ship was unseaworthy when the cargo was taken on board; and their Lordships reversed the interlocutor appealed from, with costs here and in the Court below: judgment to be entered for the appellants for the sum agreed on as the amount of damage.

Infant—Guardian—Religious Education—Wishes of deceased Father—Welfare of Infant.

This was an appeal from a decision of North, J., refusing to remove a Protestant guardian appointed by the mother of certain infants whose father was dead, in order that they might be brought up in the Roman Catholic religion, which was the religion of their father (ante, p. 101; [1892] 2 Ch. 496).

The infants, by their next friend, appealed.

Cozens-Hardy, Q.C., and Micklem, for the guardian.

THE COURT (Lindley, Bowen, and A. L. Smith, L.JJ.) held, taking all the circumstances of the case into consideration, that it was not for the benefit of the infants to remove them from the care of their present legal guardian and to have them brought up in the Roman Catholic faith. The appeal was therefore dismissed.

Practice—New Trustees—Vesting Order—Form of Order—Transfer of Shares—Trustee Act, 1850, ss. 31, 35—Trustee Act, 1852, s. 6.

Elizabeth Alcock, widow, being the registered holder of 491 shares of 25*l.* each in the above limited company, on which 5*l.* per share only had been paid up, died in 1890, having by her will appointed her sons, A. Alcock and J. F. Alcock, her executors, who duly proved the will.

In 1891 the shares were transferred to A. Alcock alone, who thereupon became the registered holder of the shares. A. Alcock afterwards absconded, and a receiving order in bankruptcy was made against him.

An administration action having been commenced by the beneficiaries under the will against A. Alcock and J. F. Alcock, an order was made in chambers by Chitty, J., appointing C. Alcock a trustee of the will in substitution for A. Alcock, jointly with J. F. Alcock; and it was ordered that "the right to call for a transfer of, and to transfer the said sums of stock and shares specified in the schedule hereto"—including the 491 shares—"to any purchaser or purchasers, and to receive the dividends accrued and to accrue thereon, do vest in the said J. F. Alcock and C. Alcock as such trustees of the will of the said Elizabeth Alcock, the said J. F. Alcock and C. Alcock by their solicitors undertaking to hold the proceeds of the sale thereof (if any) upon the trusts of the said will."

In making the order Chitty, J., said he felt himself bound to follow the form indicated in In re Peacock (14 Ch. Div. 212).

J. F. Alcock and C. Alcock subsequently sold and transferred one of the shares to one Earle; but the company refused to act on the vesting order, insisting that it was wrong in form, and did not state who were to be registered as the holders of the shares.

The trustees and Earle then served the company with notice of motion, under sect. 35 of the Companies Act, 1862, to rectify the register of shareholders by substituting the name of Earle for that of A. Alcock as the holder of the share sold, and Chitty, J., made an order for rectification accordingly.

The company appealed.

Latham, Q.C. and Howard Wright, for the company.

Farwell, Q.C., and G. Henderson, for the trustees and Earle.

THE COURT (Lindley, Bowen, and A. L. Smith, L.JJ.) dismissed the appeal, holding that the order was not imperfect by reason of the omission of the actual names of the transferees, and that the language of sect. 31 of the Trustee Act, 1850, was sufficient to authorize the words "to any purchaser or purchasers" to be put into the order. In re Peacock, however, could not be treated as an authority for putting in those words in all cases; generally, it would seem better to leave them out, though this was a matter of discretion. Although, as a matter of common form, it might be better to leave out the words, yet the Court had the power to put them in, and might do so in a reasonable case. In point of form merely the appellants were right, for there seemed no reason for embarrassing the practitioner by putting in words that were not wanted.

LINDLEY, L.J.:—As to the form of a vesting order, I think that given in Tripp's Forms is neater than that in Seton. It is better that the order should not go on to direct the trustees to transfer "into their own names."

Specific Performance—Contract by Lessors to employ Resident Porter—Contract performance of which would require superintendence of Court—Enforcement of part of entire Contract.

Appeal from the judgment of A. L. Smith, J., reported [1892] 1 Ch. 427. The action was for an injunction against a breach of covenant and for specific performance of the same.

A lease to the plaintiff of a residential flat in a block of buildings contained a covenant by the defendants, the lessors, to employ a resident porter, who was to act in certain respects as the servant of the tenants of the several rooms in the block, and to be constantly in attendance in such block, either by himself, or, in his temporary absence, by some trustworthy assistant. The defendants appointed to the situation of porter a person who was a man cook, and permitted him to carry on his business as such, and provide boys and charwomen to perform his duties as porter; and for some months he was engaged for four hours daily, at the instance of the defendants, in acting as chef at a neighbouring club. Judgment was given for an injunction against the defendants to restrain them from employing as the porter in charge of the block any person not resident and constantly in attendance therein, and able and willing to act as the servant of the plaintiff according to the agreement, and ordering specific performance by the defendants of the agreement to appoint a resident porter in charge of the block.

Chadwyck Healey, Q.C., and Swinfen Eady, for the defendants.

Haldane, Q.C., and Warrington, for the plaintiff, contended that the judgment was correct so far as it ordered specific performance of the agreement to appoint a resident porter.

THE COURT (Lord Esher, M.R., Lopes, L.J., and Kay, L.J.) were of opinion that the case was not one in which, according to the principles which guided the Court of Chancery in relation to the subject, specific performance could be ordered. They held that the covenant to appoint a resident porter, who should perform certain duties for the tenants, was an entirety, to enforce the complete performance of which would require such supervision by the Court as it could not undertake; and, that being so, the Court could not grant specific performance of part of the contract by ordering the defendants to appoint a resident porter. They therefore allowed the appeal.

Lease for Lives—Sub-lease—Surrender of original Lease—New Lease for Lives—Recovery of Possession—Statute of Limitations—Statute 4 Geo. 2, c. 28, s. 6.

In 1805, Dr. Richardson, then chancellor of the cathedral church of St. Paul, London, and parson of the parish church of Ealing, granted a freehold lease, for lives to three tenants, of the glebe lands and hereditaments of which he was seised in fee simple. The last of such lives dropped in 1874.

In 1807, the tenants under the lease of 1805 granted a sub-lease of part of the property for ninty-nine years, determinable on the dropping of the same lives as in the principal lease; therefore that sub-lease ran out in 1874.

On the 24th of August, 1832, the persons then entitled to the lease of 1805 surrendered such lease to the chancellor; and on the following day the chancellor granted a new freehold lease for three lives. The last of these lives dropped in 1891.

The plaintiffs claiming through the chancellor, their title having accrued on his death in 1839, had since the reversion title accrued to them received the rent reserved by the lease of 1832.

The defendants claiming through the sub-lessees had been since 1874, when the sub-lease expired, in actual possession of the lands without title.

The plaintiffs claimed possession of the premises and mesne profits on the ground that their title accrued in 1891.

The defendants claimed to be entitled to the premises for an estate of inheritance in fee simple on the ground that the plaintiffs' title accrued in 1874, and neglected to enter on the land, and they claimed the benefit of the Statute of Limitations.

Byrne, Q.C., and B. B. Swan, for the plaintiffs.

Levett, Q.C., and H. Terrell, for the defendants.

CHITTY, J., held that the lease of 1832 was, by virtue of the statute of 4 Geo. 2, c. 28, s. 6, a valid lease, and was a lease which, passing an estate to the new lessees, prevented the grantor and those claiming under him from seeking to recover the land till that lease had expired, and therefore that the plaintiffs' title did not accrue till 1891, when the last life dropped.

Settlement of Real Estate—Power to Tenant for Life to charge Jointure and Portions—Exercise of Power—Devise of Real Estate and Bequest of Personalty to be laid out in purchase of Land to be settled to same uses—Effect of Charges upon Devised Estate.

In April, 1864, real estates were settled in strict settlement, John Berners being the first tenant for life, with remainders to his issue; remainder to Hugh Berners for his life; remainder to C. H. Berners for his life; remainder to his first and other sons successively in tail male; remainders over. Power was given to C. H. Berners by deed or will to charge the estates with a jointure not exceeding 300*l.*, for any woman whom he might marry, and with portions, not exceeding 10,000*l.* for each child, for his children, except an eldest or only son. In June, 1867, C. H. Berners married, and by his marriage settlement he exercised both these powers. John Berners, by his will dated the 3rd of January, 1877, devised real estate which he had purchased to such of the uses, upon and for such of the trusts, and with, under, and subject to such of the powers and provisoes, in and by the settlement of 1864, limited and declared of the settled estates, as at the time of his death should be subsisting and undetermined, or capable of taking effect, but not so as to increase or multiply charges or powers of charging, to the intent that the devised estate might go and be held along with and as part of the settled estate, or as near thereto as circumstances would permit. The testator also bequeathed the residue of his personal estate to trustees, upon trust to lay out the same in the purchase of real estate, which was to be settled to the uses and upon the trusts, and with and subject to the powers and provisoes thereinbefore expressed or concerning the real estate thereinbefore devised, but not so as to increase or multiply any charges or powers of charging.

The testator died on the 31st of August, 1886, without issue. Hugh Berners died on the 20th of September, 1886. C. H. Berners had had three sons and two daughters. On the 27th June, 1892, C. H. Berners, and his eldest son J. A. Berners, who had attained 21, executed a deed disentailing the settled estates and the devised estate, and by the same deed they assigned to a trustee all the residuary personal estate of John Berners which was subject to be laid out in the purchase of land to be settled, upon such trusts as C. H. Berners and J. A. Berners should by deed jointly appoint.

This was a summons by C. H. Berners and his eldest son as plaintiffs, asking for a declaration that the trustees of the will might transfer or pay the residuary personal estate of the testator to the plaintiffs on their joint receipt. The defendants were, the trustees of the will; the wife of C. H. Berners; and the trustees of a term for raising the portions.

The question was whether the devised estate and the residuary personalty were subject to the charges existing at the death of the testator for the jointure and the portions.

Owens-Hardy, Q.C., and L. S. Bristowe, for the plaintiffs.

Sebastian, for the trustees of the will.

Vernon R. Smith, for Mrs. Berners, and the trustees of the term.

Smyth-Pigott v. Smyth-Pigott (Weekly Notes, 1884, p. 149) was referred to.

NORTH, J., held that, on the fair construction of the will, the devised real estate and the residuary personalty were not subject to the charges which were created by C. H. Berners for the jointure and the portions before the death of the testator, and that the trustees were bound to transfer the residuary personalty to the applicants. A release of the power ought to be executed.

Motion by the defendant for judgment in accordance with his counter-claim in default of a reply by the plaintiff.

The action had after the delivery of the counter-claim been dismissed for want of prosecution.

P. F. Wheeler, for the defendant.

The plaintiff had been served with notice of the motion, but he did not appear.

The plaintiffs, by a deed executed in 1871, created a perpetual rent-charge of 10,000*l.* a year, for the benefit of the first defendant. The deed provided that the plaintiffs should be entitled at any time to redeem the rent-charge by transferring to the trustees thereof a specified amount of "3*l.* per cent. Annuities." In 1888 the National Debt (Conversion) Act was passed, and the plaintiffs now claimed to be entitled to redeem the rent-charge by transferring to the surviving trustee an amount of the New Consolidated 2¾ per cent. Annuities, created by the Act, equal to the specified amount of 3 per cent. Annuities. The question was, whether the plaintiffs were entitled to do this.

Cozens-Hardy, Q.C., and Onslow, for the plaintiffs.

Sir H. Davey, Q.C., and Yate Lee, for the defendants.

NORTH, J., held that, by virtue of sect. 25, sub-sect. 2, of the Act, the plaintiffs were entitled to redeem by transferring the specified amount of New Consols. He was inclined to think that sect. 21, sub-sect. 1, also applied; but he did not express a concluded opinion as to this, because he thought sect. 25, sub-sect. 2, hit the case exactly.

Mortgages—Priority—Legal Estate—Misconduct—Executor—Legatee of Mortgaged Estates—Title to Deeds.

This was a creditors' action to administer an insolvent estate in which the usual judgment had been given, and the question now raised was, which of two creditors claiming in respect of securities on the estate was entitled to priority.

The testator Ingham, who died in November, 1890, had in 1879 mortgaged two separate leasehold properties to A. B., and had handed over to A. B. as mortgagee the two deeds by which such properties had been assigned to himself. A. B. had died in 1880, having by his will left all his estate to his wife for life, with remainder to X. Y., and having appointed her and X. Y. his executrix and executor, and given them his trust and mortgage estates as joint tenants; and the will was duly proved by both of them. The two assignments and the mortgage deed were taken possession of by A. B.'s widow, and remained in her custody till 1884. In that year the widow's agent pressed Ingham to pay off the mortgage debt, and, under the pretext of borrowing the money for the purpose, Ingham got from her the two assignments and the mortgage deed. Ingham was not able to borrow the money, and purported to return the deeds in a parcel to her. The widow died in March, 1890, and Ingham died in September following, and after his death it appeared that he had returned the mortgage deed, but not the two assignments; and that in 1885 he had executed a legal mortgage of the property comprised in one deed of assignment to a bank, handing over that deed to them at the time, and that in 1887 he had deposited the other deed of assignment with the same bank by way of equitable security for an advance.

X. Y. deposed that he had no knowledge of the deeds having been sent to Ingham, and he claimed the sum due upon the mortgage of 1878, with an arrear of interest. The bank, on the other hand, claimed the sums due in respect of their legal and equitable mortgages.

Hastings, Q.C., and Warrington, for X. Y.

Buckley, Q.C., and E. Knowles Corrie, for the bank.

Cur. adv. vult.

Nov. 12. STIRLING, J., said that the legal estate in the property was vested in X. Y. as surviving executor and devisee and legatee of the mortgaged estates of A. B.; and that he had not been guilty of fraud or any such negligence as to postpone his title to that of a subsequent equitable mortgagee. There was no case in which a Court of Equity had interfered against the legal title under similar circumstances except when the legal owner had been guilty of misconduct, or had conferred an apparent authority to deal with the mortgaged property as if it were unincumbered. His Lordship held, therefore, that X. Y. was entitled to priority over the bank, and that the Bank must deliver up the deeds to him.

Railway—Railways Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845 (8 & 9 Vict. c. 20), ss. 77, 78, 79—Minerals under Railway—Clay—Right of Owner to work from Surface.

In December, 1891, the plaintiffs conveyed a piece of land to the defendants for the purposes of their railway, authorized by their special Act, with which was incorporated the Railways Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845. The mines and minerals under the land were excepted from the conveyance. There was a bed of clay under the land, and, according to the custom of the district, such clay was worked by pits from the surface. The plaintiffs, having previously given notice, under sect. 78 of the Act of 1845, of their intention to work the clay, in September, 1892, commenced working a pit in the direction of the railway, and proceeded to remove the surface, to grub up the boundary fence of the defendants' railway, and to lay a tramway on the land within the fence. The defendants removed the tramway, and the plaintiffs thereupon brought this action for an injunction to restrain the defendants from interfering with the plaintiffs in getting their clay, or in removing the surface soil lying above the clay, or from removing the tramway. The defendants contended that the plaintiffs were not entitled to come upon the surface of the land conveyed to them for the purpose of working the clay.

Resolutions were passed for the voluntary winding-up of this company, and a liquidator was appointed. Upon the subsequent petition of a creditor an order was made continuing the voluntary winding-up under the supervision of the Court. The liquidator died, leaving a balance due from him un

The costs of the petitioning creditor exceeded the amount of the balance, and he claimed to have the whole of it paid to him in discharge of his costs, on the ground that he was entitled to be paid them in priority to the liquidator. There were, however, costs incurred by the liquidator, both before and after the supervision order, and his solicitor, in whose hands the balance was, claimed to retain such costs, or, at all events, those incurred previously to the supervision order, in priority to the petitioning creditor.

In a creditor's action for the administration of a testator's estate, an order was made directing the defendants A. and H., trustees of the will, to pay into Court a considerable sum of money due from them to the estate, and proved to have been in their possession or under their control. They disobeyed the order, and a motion was made for their committal or attachment. A receiving order in bankruptcy had been made against A., and it was contended on his behalf that by force of sect. 9 of the Bankruptcy Act, 1883, the Court had no jurisdiction against his property or person; or that, if there were jurisdiction, the Court, in its discretion, would not make an order against him, as it did not appear that he had put any of the money into his own pocket, or that the loss to the estate was due to any act of his, but only to his omissions.

[illegible]son (25 Q. B. D. 188), and held, upon a consideration of the authorities, that Cobham v. Dalton (Law. Rep. 10 Ch. 655), on which his own decision in In re Simes was rested, must be treated as no longer of binding authority; that it was now established that the remedy against the property or person of a debtor, prohibited by sect. 9 of the Act of 1883, was in respect of a debt, in the sense of being intended to enforce payment of that debt, whereas the remedy by committal or attachment under the Act of 1869 was punishment for an offence; and that the Court had jurisdiction to entertain the application notwithstanding the enactment of 1883. With reference to the question of discretion, his Lordship said that in his opinion a trustee who accepted a trust, and then simply neglected it, and thereby wronged those whom it was his duty to protect, was dishonest and fraudulent, and ought to be punished accordingly. Upon the facts of the case he ordered that writs of attachment should issue against the two trustees.

Railway Company—Scheme of Arrangement—Confirmation by Court—Scheme depending on Sanction of Parliament—Railway Companies Act, 1867 (30 & 31 Vict. c. 127), s. 18.

This was a petition for the confirmation of a scheme of arrangement of the affairs of the company. By the company's special Acts several separate undertakings were constituted. The provisions of the Acts were complicated, and there were numerous questions as to the priorities and rights inter se of those interested in such undertakings. By the scheme it was proposed that the whole of the company's undertakings should be sold to the Midland and Great Northern Railway Companies in consideration of a rent-charge, which was to be converted into a new stock and distributed among the holders of shares, stock or debentures in the several undertakings. The sale, however, required the sanction of Parliament; and it was intended to make application to Parliament in the ensuing session for an Act sanctioning the sale. There was no opposition to the scheme, which was supported by debenture-holders, and it was stated that far more than the number of assents required by the statute had been obtained.

Renshaw, Q.C., Prior, and J. Cutler, appeared.

KEKEWICH, J., said that when a scheme was proposed which depended on the raising of capital, the Court, protecting the interests of outside creditors, had never, so far as he knew, confirmed such scheme in the absence of evidence shewing that it was probable that the capital would be raised. The present scheme depended on the sanction of Parliament to the proposed sale. It was practically impossible now to prove to the satisfaction of the Court that it was probable that Parliament would within a reasonable period of time, or at all, give the required sanction, and the Court in the exercise of its discretion ought not to confirm a scheme which rested on a basis so hypothetical. All his Lordship could do was to order that the petition should stand over generally with liberty to apply, leaving the parties, if they thought fit, to apply to restore if at any time during the following year they could shew that there was a good prospect of the bill sanctioning the sale becoming law.

Samuel Evans, deceased, late of Cardiff, died on the 13th of November, 1891, leaving a will bearing date the 22nd of June, 1891, by which he appointed Lucy Evans his executrix. She took out probate in common form in the district registry on the 6th of January, 1892, and on the 28th of October, 1892, D. E. Evans, a son of the deceased, extracted a citation calling on the executrix to bring in the probate in order that it might be revoked. This citation was served on the widow on the 31st of October, 1892; and as she did not comply with it, a notice of motion was served on her to shew cause why a writ of attachment should not be issued against her. On the 7th of November she entered an appearance in the action for revocation of probate; and it appeared that the probate was brought in on the 17th of November, but no arrangement had been made for the payment of costs.

A. J. David, now moved for a writ of attachment; upon which Barnard, for the executrix, took the preliminary objection that Order LII., r. 4, had not been complied with, which requires that along with the notice of motion the affidavits which are to be relied on shall also be served.

A. J. David:—There is only one affidavit, and that is the affidavit of service. The motion may be adjourned in order that that affidavit may be filed.

Barnard:—The motion cannot be cured in that way. There is also another objection—that the memorandum required by Order XLI., r. 5, has not been indorsed on the back of the citation.

A. J. David:—The citation is settled in the registry, and we have no right to alter it.

MANN AND BEATTIE, APPS.; EDINBURGH NORTHERN TRAMWAYS COMPANY, RESPS. — Nov. 29.

Company—Expenses of Private Act—Promotion Money—Persons in Fiduciary Position—Private Advantage—Ratification by Directors—Liability to Account.

This was an appeal from the unanimous judgment of the First Division of the Court of Session, Scotland, affirming the decision of the Lord Ordinary (Lord Trayner) (18 Ct. Sess. Cas. 4th Series (Rettie) 1140).

The respondent company was formed for the purpose of introducing a new system of tramways in Edinburgh. The promoters, some of whom appeared as the first directors named by the special Act, entered into an agreement with contractors for the execution of the work at a certain price, one provision of the agreement being that the contractors should pay all expenses incurred in obtaining the special Act. The appellants, who were the respondent company's solicitor and engineer, and had also been among its promoters, on the day after the above agreement executed a second agreement with the contractors, by which the appellants undertook to relieve the contractors of their liability for the expenses of obtaining the Act, in consideration of a sum of 17,000*l.*, 5000*l.* of which was paid in cash. The respondent company now claimed the benefit of that agreement, and called upon the appellants to account for any money received by them under it, bringing into account their disbursements. The appellants refused, claiming to be entitled to the agreement for their own benefit. All the shares of the company had not been issued.

Sir John Rigby, S.G., and Henry Johnston (of the Scotch Bar), heard for the appellant.

A. Graham-Murray, Q.C., and E. T. Salvesen (both of the Scotch Bar), for the respondents, not heard.

The House (Lord Herschell, L.C., and Lords Watson, Ashbourne, and Morris) held that the appellants, occupying a fiduciary position to the respondent company, could not derive any private advantage from the agreement, because (a) it was not proved that the agreement was brought to the directors' knowledge until long after it was concluded; (b) or that, even when brought to their knowledge, it was ever adopted; and (c.) that if the directors had approved of such an agreement without the production [of a single voucher shewing how the 17,000*l.* in the name of expenses was incurred, sanctioning such an agreement would have been ultrà vires of the directors, and it never could have been made binding on the company by any kind of adoption or acquiescence.

Appeal dismissed with costs.

Trustee—Breach of Trust—Misconduct—Costs subsequent to Judgment.

Appeal from North, J.

This was an action by beneficiaries under a settlement charging the defendant, the sole trustee, with breach of trust. By the judgment, dated the 20th of July, 1889, upon default of defence, the defendant was ordered to pay the costs of the action up to and including the trial, and was removed from being trustee. Accounts and inquiries were taken under the judgment, and the defendant attended these proceedings. The chief clerk made his certificate, and on the case coming on upon further consideration, the defendant was ordered to pay a balance due from him into Court, the order not giving him any of his costs of the action subsequent to the judgment. From that order the defendant appealed, so far as it omitted to give him those costs. Before the appeal the defendant had paid into Court the whole of the trust funds found due from him.

Everitt, Q.C., and Methold, for the appellant, relied on Hewett v. Foster (7 Beav. 348).

Cozens-Hardy, Q.C., Warrington, and Leverson, for the respondents.

The Court (Lindley, Bowen, and A. L. Smith, L.JJ.) said the Court would go as far as it could to give trustees their costs, charges, and expenses properly incurred; but in the present case North, J., had refused the costs in question on the ground that the action had been caused entirely by the misconduct of the trustee. Hewett v. Foster did not lay down that in such a case as the present a trustee was entitled to the costs subsequent to decree; it did not necessarily imply more than that there was a discretion, and in that particular case the trustee was held entitled to such costs. Where the action in which the costs had been incurred had been occasioned by the misconduct of the trustee, the costs were in the discretion of the Court.

Appeal dismissed with costs.

Patent—Action to restrain Threats—Answer to Inquiries—Privileged Communications—Patents Act, 1883, s. 32.

Appeal from North, J.

The plaintiffs and the defendants were rival manufacturers of photographic cameras. The defendants were patentees of a camera, and the plaintiffs had taken out provisional protection for one. On the 12th of February, 1892, the defendants were informed by letter from the L. S. Company, who were business connections of theirs, that the plaintiffs had submitted to them with a view of placing it upon the market, a camera which somewhat resembled that of the defendants; and the L. S. Company inquired whether the defendants thought it encroached upon their rights.

On the 13th of February the defendants replied, that in their opinion the plaintiffs' camera was an infringement of their patent.

In a subsequent letter of the 18th of February, in answer to further inquiries from the L. S. Company, the defendants confirmed their opinion that the plaintiffs' camera was an infringement, and said that they were "prepared to stop the sale of the camera if placed upon the market." The L. S. Company then declined to continue their negociations the plaintiffs, who thereupon wrote to the defendants stating that they were prepared to defend any action the defendants might bring, but that they could not withdraw their camera from the market. In reply to this, the defendants again confirmed their opinion, and stated that they were prepared to take action to stop the sale of the plaintiffs' camera.

The plaintiffs then brought this action under sect. 32 of the Patents Act of 1883, and moved for an injunction to restrain the defendants from threatening them with legal proceedings or liability. On the hearing of the motion, it appeared that the defendants had not brought, and were not in a position to bring, an action for infringement against the plaintiffs, because they had applied for an amendment of their specification (which was said to be invalid), and their application was still pending; and it was held by North, J., in granting the injunction, that the letters of the defendants amounted to a threat within the meaning of sect. 32 of the Patents Act of 1883.

The defendants appealed.

Bousfield, Q.C., and T. Terrell, for the appellants:—There was no threat within the meaning of sect. 32, but merely a bonâ fide answer to a question; and, moreover, the defendants' letters were privileged communications.

Moulton, Q.C., and Micklem, for the respondents, were not called upon.

The Court (Lindley, Lopes, and A. L. Smith, L.JJ.) affirmed the judgment of North, J., and dismissed the appeal with costs.

Lunacy. Nov. 21.

In re Hirst (a Person of Unsound Mind).

Lunacy—Person of Unsound Mind—Maintenance—Capital—Fund subject to Power of Appointment—Release of—Dealings with Fund inconsistent with exercise of Power—Lunacy Act, 1890 (53 Vict. c. 5), ss. 116 (e), 117, 120, 128.

Mrs. H., a widow of forty-seven years of age, was a person of unsound mind and incapable of managing her affairs, and her income did not exceed the amount specified in sect. 116 (e.) of the Lunacy Act, 1890. There was evidence that she was permanently enfeebled, and she had been resident in an asylum for nearly three years. Her only available property was a life interest under a settlement in a fund held by trustees upon trust for investment with her consent, and payment of the income to herself for life, and after her death in trust for her children or remoter issue of the marriage as she should appoint, and in default for the child or children of the marriage. The income of the fund was insufficient for her support.

She had only one child, a son, who was the only person entitled in default of appointment; and it was proposed to apply part of the capital of the fund in payment for her past maintenance, and from time to time to apply further part in addition of income for her future support.

This was an application by the son, asking the Court to authorize the raising by the trustees of the sums necessary for the purpose, not exceeding 65*l.* a year, out of income and capital, so that the trustees might be protected in case the widow should recover and exercise her power of appointment in favour of the remoter issue.

Brinton, in support of the summons, referred to In re Radcliffe ([1892] 1 Ch. 227); West v. Berney (1 Russ. & My. 431), and the Lunacy Act, 1890, sects. 116, 117, 120, and 128, and suggested that, although the Lunacy Act, 1890, did not in express terms empower the Court to release a power, the Court might, under sect. 117, sanction a dealing with the estate inconsistent with the exercise of the power, and thus the extinguishment of the power and the protection of the trustees might be effected.

The Court (Lindley, Bowen, and A. L. Smith, L.JJ.) said, that the contingency which gave rise to the difficulty was most unlikely to occur, but the Court could not release the power. They would, however, send the application back to the Master with the intimation that, in the opinion of the Court, the order asked for might be made without prejudice to any question which might arise in the event of any appointment being made by the lunatic in favour of the issue of the son.

Practice—Rules of Supreme Court, 1883, Order xvii., r. 4—Change of Parties—Death of co-Plaintiff.

This was an action to administer the trusts of the will of Thomas Holmes, who died in 1848, and the trusts of a deed of family arrangement executed in 1856. The original plaintiffs were James Farrar and Grace Farrar, the beneficiaries. Grace Farrar died, having appointed James Farrar and G. W. Farrar Prowse her executors, by order dated the 15th of April, 1889. G. W. Farrar Prowse was added as plaintiff. In February, 1891, judgment was given in the action, directing certain accounts. In August, 1892, the plaintiff James Farrar died, having appointed Hannah Sophia Farrar one of the executors of his will. The other executors renounced, and on the 26th of October she proved the will. On the 29th of October, 1892, she obtained an order on ex parte petition appointing her co-plaintiff with G. W. Farrar Prowse. A motion was now made on behalf of G. W. Farrar Prowse to set aside the order of the 29th of October for irregularity.

Administration—Blended Trust Funds—Apportionment of Income.

This was a summons in a suit instituted in 1872 for the administration of the trusts of the will of Charles Bell, deceased. The testator bequeathed an annuity of 2000*l.* to his sisters Mary Bell and Maria de Valdrome, and the survivor of them, payable out of the income of his residuary trust estate. The testator directed that the annuity should abate each year in which the income of the residuary trust fund fell below a certain amount. The testator directed a trust fund to be accumulated. In the course of administration by the Court claims against the estate matured into debts payable out of the capital of the residuary trust fund. From time to time capital belonging to the testator's accumulated trust fund (in some cases consisting of cash in hand, in other cases consisting of the proceeds of Consols or other investments) were applied in discharge of such obligations on the residuary trust fund. The capital account between the trust funds were adjusted from time to time. One question raised in this summons was what sums ought to be charged to the residuary trust fund in respect of income on the capital money advanced out of the accumulated trust fund for the purpose of ascertaining how much (if anything) the annuity given to the testator's sisters ought to abate in each year. The question was whether the sum allowed ought to be measured (1) by the amount of income saved to the residuary trust fund by postponing realization of securities ultimately applied in discharge of the liabilities; or (2) by the amount of income lost to the accumulated fund by the application of capital to purposes other than those proper to the fund; or (3) by a fixed rate of interest, and if so what rate of interest ought to be taken.

Trustee—Liability—Loss by Dishonesty of Servant—Effect of Trustee being remunerated for his Services.

The plaintiff assigned all his property to the defendant upon trusts for the benefit of the plaintiff's creditors, and under the deed the defendant was entitled to remuneration for his services. Subsequently, the creditors resolved that the property assigned should be resold to the plaintiff, or his friends, for a sum equal to the costs and expenses of executing the trusts of the deed, and a composition of 15*s.* in the pound to the creditors.

The expenses and composition were duly paid; and the defendant handed back to the plaintiff the residue of the property assigned by the deed, except certain items, including a watch and other articles, which, during the time when the defendant was carrying on the plaintiff's business under the deed, were stolen by L., a servant employed in the business by the defendant.

There was no negligence in the selection of L. for the work. He was necessarily employed in the business, and had a good character when employed, and the defendant had no reason to suppose he was not properly doing his work. It was contended that the fact of the defendant having been a remunerated trustee rendered him liable for the loss occasioned by the thefts, even if he would have been under no liability if an unremunerated trustee.

Arthur Powell, for the plaintiff.

Neville, Q.C., and Swinfen Eady, for the defendant.

Romer, J., held that the fact that the defendant was paid for his services did not render him liable, whether he was regarded as a trustee, or as a common bailee for reward who had to take care of, or do something with, the articles handed to him.

Practice—Writ specially indorsed—Application for Judgment—Amendment of Indorsement after appearance but before Summons for Judgment—Order III., r. 6; Order XIV., r. 1.

Appeal from a judge at chambers.

The writ was issued on the 24th of September, 1892, and contained a claim for interest which prevented it from being a specially indorsed writ. The defendant entered an appearance in due course.

On the 21st of October the plaintiff took out a summons for judgment under Order XIV., r. 1; but, the writ not being specially indorsed, the defendant was given unconditional leave to defend.

On the 1st of November the plaintiff obtained from the master at chambers an order, to which the defendant was a party, amending the writ by striking out the claim for interest and directing that the appearance entered in the action by the defendant should stand as an appearance to the amended writ.

On the 12th of November the plaintiff took out a fresh summons for judgment under Order XIV., r. 1, on the amended writ, and obtained leave from the master to sign final judgment in the action. The judge at chambers upheld this order, and the defendant appealed on the ground that Order XIV., r. 1, did not apply to such a case.

F. M. Abrahams, for the defendant.

T. Willes Chitty, for the plaintiff.

The Court (Lord Coleridge, C.J., and Wills, J.) dismissed the appeal, holding that by the amendment, which had been made before the summons for judgment under Order XIV., r. 1, was taken out, the writ had become a writ of summons specially indorsed under Order III., r. 6, to which the defendant had appeared, and that therefore Order XIV., r. 1, applied.

Appeal dismissed.

Practice—Contempt of Court — Attachment — Notice — Personal Service—Irregularity—Rules of Supreme Court, 1883, Order XLIV. r. 2; Order LXVII. r. 4; Order LXX. r. 1.

This was an administration action. The defendant, a solicitor, the trustee of the will, did not enter an appearance. An order having been made for inquiries, the plaintiff obtained on summons on the 4th of March, 1892, an order on the defendant to attend before the examiner as a witness at such time as the examiner should appoint. This order was made without notice to the defendant, but after filing the summons under Order LXVII., r. 4, and was personally served on the defendant, who failed to attend; and on the 25th of March an order was made on the defendant to attend at his own expense to be examined. This order also was made after filing the notice of motion under Order LXVII., r. 4, and it was personally served; but the defendant again failed to attend. On the 29th of April, 1892, Mr. Justice Kekewich, on motion, gave leave to issue a writ of attachment. This writ was moved for without personal service of the notice of motion but after filing the notice under Order LXVII., r. 4. The defendant was attached and sent to prison, and then moved to set aside the order of the 29th of April, and to be discharged. Mr. Justice Kekewich, acting under Order LXX., r. 1, and following Petty v. Daniel (34 Ch. Div. 172), refused the application. The defendant appealed.

C. H. Lindon, for the appeal.

Ingpen, for the plaintiff.

THE COURT (Lindley, Bowen, and A. L. Smith, L.JJ.) dismissed the appeal. Their Lordships expressed some doubt whether the case was not so far of a criminal description that an appeal would not lie—O'Shea v. O'Shea (15 P. D. 59)—but were inclined to think that an appeal did lie. They were however of opinion that, as Order XLIV., r. 2, only said that the order must be applied for on notice, not saying that there must be personal service, and Order LXVII., r. 4, provided for the filing a notice not requiring personal service being equivalent to service where no appearance had been entered, the proceedings were regular according to the General Orders, and the defendant ought not to be discharged.

Bankruptcy— Bankruptcy Notice — "Final Judgment"—Decree for Dissolution of Marriage—Order for payment of Costs by Respondent—Bankruptcy Act, 1883, s. 4, sub-s. 1 (g.)

Appeal by Dale against the dismissal by Mr. Registrar H. of a bankruptcy petition against Binstead.

In a suit by Dale for a dissolution of his marriage with wife, Binstead was co-respondent. A decree nisi for dissolution was made, the decree containing an order for the payment of costs by the co-respondent. The decree was afterwards made absolute, and the costs were taxed at 205*l*. Binstead did not pay the costs, and Dale served him with a bankruptcy notice in respect of the amount. The notice was not complied with, and Dale presented a bankruptcy petition, treating the non-compliance with the notice as an act of bankruptcy. The Registrar dismissed the petition, on the ground that the order for payment of costs was not a "final judgment" in an action within the meaning of sect. 4, sub-sect. 1 (g.), of the Bankruptcy Act, 1883. Dale appealed.

THE COURT (Lord Esher, M.R., and Lopes and Kay, L.JJ.) affirmed the decision, holding that the order for payment of costs was not a "final judgment," and that a bankruptcy notice could not be issued in respect of it.

DOWNES v. COTTAM.

Trustee—Appeal for Costs—Practice—Rules of Supreme Court, Order LXV., r. 1—36 & 37 Vict. c. 66, s. 49.

This was an appeal from an order of Kekewich, J., on an originating summons taken out for the decision of a question which had arisen in the administration of the real estate of Sarah Beddoe, deceased. The plaintiff was T. P. Downes, the surviving trustee and executor of Sarah Beddoe's will, and the defendant was C. B. Cottam, one of the persons beneficially interested under the will. Mrs. Savage, the tenant for life of the estate, claimed the custody of the title deeds which were in the possession of the plaintiff Downes, and applied to him to give them up to her, as she was desirous of selling the estate under the powers of the Settled Land Act. Downes refused to give them up, claiming to be entitled to their custody as trustee. Mrs. Savage accordingly brought an action of detinue against him in the Queen's Bench Division, and at the trial judgment was given against Downes, with costs. The question now submitted to the Court was whether Downes was entitled to retain the costs which he had to pay in the Queen's Bench action, out of the proceeds of the sale of the trust estate which had been sold. Kekewich, J., held that the costs of the Queen's Bench action were costs, charges, and expenses properly incurred by Downes in the execution of the trusts of the will, and that he was entitled to obtain them out of the trust funds. The defendant Cottam, who had been appointed to represent the other beneficiaries under the will, appealed.

Cottam appeared in person, and contended that the costs of the Queen's Bench action, which had been occasioned by Downes's own conduct, ought not to be paid out of the trust estate.

Renshaw, Q.C., and Herbert Lake, for the plaintiff, contended that the costs of the action were costs of "proceedings in the Supreme Court," within Order LXV., r. 1, and were therefore within the absolute discretion of Kekewich, J., and no appeal could be brought in respect of them; and, further, that if an appeal could be brought, Downes had not acted unreasonably in defending the action, and ought to be allowed his costs out of the estate as charges and expenses properly incurred.

THE COURT (Lindley, Bowen, and A. L. Smith, L.JJ.) were of opinion that the costs of the Queen's Bench action, although incurred in proceedings in the Supreme Court, were not costs within the meaning of Order LXV., r. 1, being only collateral to the administration of the estate, but were charges and expenses with respect to which there might be an appeal. And they held that, under the circumstances of the case, the plaintiff was not justified in defending the action, and ought not be allowed his costs thereby incurred. The decision of Kekewich, J., was, therefore, reversed.

Charity—Sale of Land—Consent of Charity Commissioners—Charitable Trusts Act, 1853, ss. 24, 62, 66—Charitable Trusts Amendment Act, 1855, ss. 1, 29, 48.

Summons under the Vendor and Purchaser Act, 1874, the question being, whether, under the Charitable Trusts Acts, 1853 and 1855, it was necessary to obtain the consent of the Charity Commissioners to a sale of land belonging to the above charity. The governors of the charity were incorporated under the above name by Royal Charter in 1678. The charter empowered them to acquire and hold land and to sell it. In 1717 some land at Upper Whitton in Yorkshire was granted to the use of the Corporation, and their successors, for ever; and they had ever since been in possession of the land, and had applied the rents thereof to the general purposes of the charity. In May, 1892, the Corporation entered into a contract to sell the land to Skinner. He took the objection that it was necessary to obtain the consent of the Commissioners to the sale. The Corporation insisted that this consent was not necessary, and they declined to apply for it. The purchaser took out this summons.

Cozens-Hardy, Q.C., and Dibdin, for the Corporation.

NORTH, J., held that the consent of the Commissioners was not necessary. In his opinion this land was, by sect. 62 of the Act of 1853, excepted from the operation of that Act, and that exception was maintained by sect. 48 of the Act of 1855. Before the Act of 1855 the Corporation might have sold the land as they pleased, and might have applied the proceeds of sale as income for the general purposes of the charity. The "endowment" referred to in sect. 62 was an endowment for a specific purpose—not for the general purposes of a charity. His Lordship followed the view of Lord Romilly, M.R., in The Governors of this same Charity and Sutton (27 Beav. 651), which had been adopted by other judges.

JONES v. MORGAN.

Trustee—Account—Limitation—Trustee Act, 1888 (51 & 52 Vict. c. 59). s. 8.

Originating summons for the administration of the estate of Ann Page, who died in May, 1875. The plaintiff was C. H. Jones, her residuary legatee; the defendants were Thomas Morgan and Richard Jones, the trustees and executors. The plaintiff attained 21 in 1880. The summons was taken out in 1892. For some years after the death of the testatrix, during the infancy of the plaintiff, he resided with Morgan, and was maintained by him. The plaintiff did not allege any fraud or fraudulent breach of trust to which the trustees had been parties or privies. The defendant Jones did not appear. The defendant Morgan made an affidavit, in which he said that he had expended the whole of the residuary estate in the maintenance and education of the plaintiff during his minority. The plaintiff adduced no evidence to shew that the trustees still retained any part of the residue, or that they had converted any part of it to their own use.

Gatey, for the defendant Morgan.

North, J., held that sect. 8 of the Trustee Act, 1888, applied, and that the right of the plaintiff to an account was barred by the lapse of time. His Lordship dismissed the summons.

Tramways Company—Winding-up—Application of Parliamentary Deposit—Costs of Liquidator—Tramways Act, 1870, s. 12—Board of Trade Rules, 1886, r. 22.

Summons by the liquidator of the above company, whose undertaking was authorized by two provisional orders of the Board of Trade (subsequently confirmed by Act of Parliament), made in 1883 and 1884. On the application for each of these orders, a deposit was made in Court, in conformity with the provisions of the Tramways Act, 1870, and the Rules made by the Board of Trade under that Act. The company's tramways were not completed within the time prescribed by the orders, and in 1887 an order was made to wind up the company.

Its assets were insufficient for the payment of its debts and the costs of the liquidation. Rule 22 of the Board of Trade Rules, 1886, provided that, if the tramway should not be completed within the prescribed time, the deposit fund should, from and after the expiration of that time, be applied towards compensating all road authorities for the expense incurred by them in taking up any tramway placed by the promoters in or on any road vested in or maintainable by such road authorities respectively, and for which no compensation or inadequate compensation should have been made, and should be distributed in such manner as to the Court might seem fit; and, if no such compensation should be payable, or a portion of the deposit should have been paid sufficient to satisfy all just claims in respect of such compensation, then the deposit, or the residue of it, should either be forfeited to the Crown, or, in the discretion of the Court, if the promoters were a company, and the company was insolvent and had been ordered to be wound up, should be wholly or in part paid to the liquidator of the company, or be otherwise applied as part of the assets of the company for the benefit of the creditors thereof. The Court had already ordered a part of the deposit to be paid to a road authority. By this summons the liquidator asked that the residue of the deposit might be applied (1) in paying the taxed costs of the Solicitor to the Treasury of certain orders and inquiries; (2) in paying the taxed costs, charges, and expenses of the liquidator in the liquidation generally, and his remuneration (to be fixed by the chief clerk), after first applying the other assets of the company for those purposes, and that the residue of the fund might be apportioned among the creditors of the company, named in a certificate of the chief clerk, these being what are known as "meritorious" creditors.

Cozens-Hardy, Q.C., and T. L. Wilkinson, for the liquidator.

Ingle Joyce, for the Treasury, made no claim, except to costs.

S. Hall, Q.C., and Eustace Smith, for the creditors.

North, J., held that under rule 22 there was no jurisdiction to order payment of the liquidator's general costs of the liquidation, or his remuneration, out of the deposit. He could only have out of it his costs of the proceedings with reference to the application of the deposit. It had been conceded by the respondents that the liquidator was entitled to be paid the latter costs out of the deposit. The deposit was not part of the general assets of the company; it was only made assets for a special purpose. The costs of the Treasury must be paid, and the costs of the liquidator in relation to the proceedings for the application of the deposit, and the residue (if any) of the deposit must be apportioned among the meritorious creditors.

This was a summons to determine to what extent a contingent bequest of residuary personal estate or trust for charitable purposes took effect. The testator in the matter, James Corcoran, bequeathed his residuary personal estate to his nephew, Edward de Verdon Corcoran, his niece, Ann Corcoran, and C. J. Johnson, the executors and trustees of his will, upon trust to sell, convert, and get in the same. He declared that his trustees should have full discretionary power to permit any part of his residuary personal estate which should at his decease consist of mortgages or other specific securities to remain in the same state of investment for such period as his trustees should think fit; and as to the money to arise from the sale and conversion of his residuary personal estate upon trust for investment in securities specified, including real securities in England or Wales. He directed his trustees to pay the income of his residuary personal estate to his niece, Ann Corcoran, for life, and to hold the principal after her death in trust for her issue. But if no object of the preceding trust should acquire an absolute vested interest in the trust, upon the death of his niece, Ann Corcoran, to pay, assign, and transfer his said residuary personal estate, and the stock funds and securities wherein the same might be then invested, or so much and such parts thereof as might by law be so applied, unto the Roman Catholic Bishop of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Northampton, his then vicar-general, and the priest who should then be in charge of the Roman Catholic Mission at Bedford, to apply the same as part of the general funds of the diocese.

The testator died in 1879. At his death part of his residuary personal estate consisted of mortgages of real estate; and part had been invested in mortgages of real estate by his trustees. The testator's niece, Ann Corcoran, had recently died without having been married. The question for the decision of the Court was to what extent the charitable trustees were entitled to the residuary personal estate of the testator.

Macnaghten, for the trustees of the will.

Cozens-Hardy, Q.C., and Butcher, for the donees in trust for the general purposes of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Northampton.

Sir A. Watson, Q.C., and Warrington, for the testator's next of kin.

North, J., held that the bequest on trust for the general purposes of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Northampton did not take effect on such parts of the estate as at the death of the testator, or afterwards, were invested on mortgage of real estates.

The Attorney-General v. The Churchwardens and Overseers of Deeping St. Nicholas.

Poor Rate—County Rate—Extra-parochial Place—Situate in Two Counties—Parish—County Rates Act, 1852 (15 & 16 Vict. c. 81), ss. 21, 26, 31, 32, 33, 34.

The county of Lincoln is divided into three divisions—Lindsey, Kesteven, and Holland—each of which has, since the Local Government Act, 1888, been, for administrative purposes, a separate county, with a separate county fund, and separate county rates are made and levied in each of them.

This was an action at the relation of one of the ratepayers of a parish, the area of which was, before a local Act passed in 1856, extra-parochial, and situate partly in Holland and partly in Kesteven, in order to obtain a declaration that if a county rate, assessed in respect of lands in the parish which before 1856 were in Holland, should be paid in the first instance out of the poor rate for the entire parish, the defendants ought to reimburse the amount so paid out of the poor rate by a separate rate levied upon the occupiers of such land only; and the plaintiff sought a similar declaration with regard to a county rate assessed in respect of lands in the parish which were, before the Act of 1856, situate in Kesteven.

By the Act of 1856, this extra-parochial area was constituted a parish, and was to be deemed to be altogether in Holland, and the laws in force for the relief of the poor in England were to be enforced therein in like manner as in other parishes, and by sect. 52 it was provided that "the county rate now payable in respect of the lands comprised in the parish should continue to be paid and payable to the respective treasurers of the rates for Kesteven and Holland within which such lands are situate." Before the passing of the Act of 1856 the justices in quarter sessions for each division were in the habit of assessing the part of the area in their division, and the rate in each part was collected by a separate collector appointed by the justices for the purpose under sect. 21 of the County Rates Act, 1852. After it became a parish it became included in Spalding Union, and under sect. 34 of the County Rates Act the precepts of the two counties were addressed to the guardians by the two county authorities. The guardians then in the usual way sent on their order to the overseers requiring them to levy and pay the sums required for the common fund, including the sums required to satisfy the two precepts.

In the present case, the plaintiff complained that the defendants simply paid all these amounts out of the poor rate without regard to the fact that a separate rate should be made on each part of the parish for the county rate payable in respect of that part; and, as the rate in Holland was 1½*d.* in the pound, and that in Kesteven 5½*d.* in the pound, the ratepayers in Holland objected to contribute in any way towards the sum which they alleged was chargeable to the part of the parish which was situate in Kesteven.

Hastings, Q.C., and Macmorran, for the plaintiffs.

Eastwick, for the defendants.

Nov. 26. Stirling, J., after going through the 21st, 26th, 31st, 32nd, 33rd and 34th sections of the County Rates Act, 1852, held that the plaintiff was right in his contention, being of opinion that the effect of sect. 52 of the Local Act was to bring the parish under the combined effect of sects. 31 and 34 of the County Rates Act. He therefore held the plaintiff entitled to the relief he claimed, and made declarations accordingly, saying that the case was one the costs of which might properly be paid out of the poor rate for the entire parish.

Practice—Service—Writ—Foreign Corporation—English Shareholders—Register of Transfers kept at London Office—Service on Agent in England—Setting aside—Rules of the Supreme Court, 1883, Order ix., r. 8.

Motion to set aside service of writ on a foreign corporation.

The defendant company was an American company incorporated according to the law of Tennessee for the purpose of carrying on the business of hotel proprietors in that State. The company was controlled and managed by a board of directors, all of whom were resident in America, and the offices of the company were at New York and Cumberland Gap in Tennessee. The capital of the company was divided into shares, about three-fourths of which were held by persons resident in England. The company had an agent in London, who was authorized to keep a register of shares held by the English shareholders, and to make entries therein of all transactions relating to transfers of such shares, and to hand to the transferees share certificates duly signed in America by the president of the company. He was further authorized to receive money in respect of calls payable by the English shareholders, and to remit the proceeds to America. He had business connections with several other companies, whose names, together with that of the defendant company, were put up on the door of his own offices. Circulars and prospectuses were issued by him relating to the company, in which his offices were described as the London office of the company. There was also evidence to shew that there was in his office certain furniture belonging to the company, and that money belonging to the company had been temporarily employed by him in transactions upon the London Stock Exchange.

The writ, the service of which the defendant company now sought to set aside, was served upon the London agent of the company at his office in London.

Buckley, Q.C., and Carson, for the motion.

Hastings, Q.C., and Swinfen Eady, for the plaintiff.

Stirling, J., said that it had not been established that the defendant company carried on a principal part of its business in this country, so as to be deemed to be resident in this country within the rule laid down by Cotton, L.J., in the case of Haggin v. Comptoir d'Escompte de Paris (23 Q. B. D. 519). It was not enough to shew that the company had property in England; it must be proved that it was carrying on business in such a way as to be resident in this country. He accordingly allowed the application, and directed the service of the writ to be set aside.

Building Society—Advanced Member—Mortgage—Proviso for Redemption—Alteration of Rules after date of Mortgage—Contract of Mortgage and Contract of Membership.

The plaintiff, an advanced member of a building society, executed a mortgage to the society, with a proviso for redemption on payment of "the several sums, whether consisting of monthly subscriptions, fines, interest, or other payments which under the constitution of the said society and the rules and regulations thereof ought to be paid" in respect of his shares. The mortgage contained a covenant for payment to the same effect. At the date of the mortgage the rules of the society did not provide for any contribution by advanced members to losses of the society, but the society had power to alter the rules from time to time. After the execution of the mortgage the rules were duly altered, and the directors were empowered to direct a levy on members of such sum as would cover any loss which might arise or be likely to arise through any of the properties mortgaged to the society. Under the altered rules the directors made a levy in respect of estimated deficiency of their mortgage securities. The plaintiff claimed to be entitled to redeem according to the original rules and without paying any portion of the levy in respect of his shares.

Company—Winding-up—Transfer of Liquidation—Transfer from High Court to Court without Bankruptcy Jurisdiction—Transfer to High Court of Liquidation of Building Society—Companies (Winding up) Act, 1890, ss. 1 (sub-s. 5), 3—Order of Lord Chancellor of the 29th November, 1890—Bankruptcy Act, 1883, s. 96.

A building society, registered under the Building Societies Act, 1874, was ordered, by the City of London Court, to be wound up.

An order to wind up a company, registered under the Companies Acts, 1862, &c., the affairs of which were connected with those of the building society, was subsequently made by the High Court of Justice.

An application was made by the official receiver in both liquidations for an order transferring the winding-up proceedings of the limited company to the City of London Court.

Theobald, for the applicant.

Buckley, Q.C., and Whinney, for debenture-holders of the limited company, admitted they had no locus standi to resist the application, but, as amici curiæ, suggested that the winding-up of the limited company should be retained in, and the winding-up of the building society transferred to, the High Court.

Vaughan Williams, J., held, that under sect. 3 of the Act of 1890 a transfer could only be made to a Court having winding-up jurisdiction under the Act; that the effect of sect. 1, sub-sect. 5, of 1890, the Order of the Lord Chancellor of the 29th of November, 1890, and sect. 96 of the Bankruptcy Act, 1883, was, that the City of London Court, being within the London Bankruptcy District, was excluded from having jurisdiction to wind up under the Act of 1890; and that there was no jurisdiction to make an order of transfer. His Lordship also intimated that the effect of the decision of North, J., in In re London and Suburban Bank ([1892] 1 Ch. 604), was, that the winding-up of a building society registered under the Act of 1874 could not be transferred to the High Court.

Registry Acts (Yorkshire)—Agreement for Sale of Land—"Conveyance"—"Memorandum of Charge"—Yorkshire Registries Act, 1884 (47 & 48 Vict. c. 54), ss. 3, 4, 14.

Appeal from the judgment of a Divisional Court (Mathew and Bruce, JJ.) upon a special case stated on a point of law in an action pursuant to Order XXXIV., rr. 1, 2.

The question raised by the case was in substance as follows: N., the owner of certain land near Leeds, on the 11th of April, 1889, mortgaged it to the defendants to secure an advance. This mortgage was duly registered under the Yorkshire Registries Act, 1884, on the 31st of August, 1889. By an agreement in writing dated the 7th of June, 1889, it was agreed between N. and the plaintiff that, in consideration of 200*l.* then paid by the plaintiff, N. would complete certain buildings on the land, and that the plaintiff would purchase the same when completed at the price of 750*l.*, the above sum of 200*l.* to be considered as in so much reduction of the purchase-money. The plaintiff, not having then received notice of the defendants' mortgage, registered this agreement on the 30th of August, 1889, and claimed priority over the defendants' mortgage on the ground that the agreement was registered before the defendants' mortgage. The question for the Court was whether the agreement of the 7th of June was an "assurance" entitled to be registered within the meaning of the Yorkshire Registries Act, 1884, s. 14.

The Divisional Court gave judgment in favour of the plaintiff, holding that it was.

Sect. 4 of the Yorkshire Registries Act, 1884, provides for the registration of "assurances," by which any lands within any of the three ridings are affected. By sect. 3 of the Act "assurance" includes, among other things, "conveyance" or "memorandum of charge"; "conveyance" includes "any assignment, appointment, lease, or settlement, made by deed of a sale, mortgage, demise, or settlement of any land or appointment of a new trustee, &c.,"; and "memorandum of charge" includes "any memorandum of a lien or charge on any land which may be registered under the provisions of this Act."

P. B. Abraham, for the defendants, contended that the agreement did not come within any of the terms of the Act.

Lyon, for the plaintiff, contended that the agreement was either a "conveyance" or a "memorandum of charge" within the Act.

THE COURT (Lord Esher, M.R., Lopes, L.J., and Kay, L.J.) held that the agreement was not an assurance capable of registration within the meaning of the Act, and therefore allowed the appeal.

Appeal allowed.

Statute of Limitations (3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 27), s. 40—Real Property Limitation Act, 1874 (37 & 38 Vict. c. 57), s. 8—Rules of Supreme Court, 1883, Order xvii., r. 4.

This was an appeal from a decision of a Divisional Court consisting of Lord Coleridge, C.J., and Wills, J.

In 1878 the plaintiff recovered judgment on a covenant against the defendant which was still unsatisfied. Both plaintiff and defendant were now dead. In 1892 the legal personal representatives of the plaintiff applied under Order xvii., r. 4, that proceedings upon the judgment might be carried on between them and the legal personal representatives of the defendant. The Court refused the application on the ground that the remedy on the judgment was barred by the Real Property Limitation Act, 1874 (37 & 38 Vict. c. 57), s. 8. The representatives of the plaintiff appealed.

Witt, Q.C., and Montague Lush, for the appellants, contended that sect. 8 of the Real Property Limitation Act, 1874, had no application to a judgment in a personal action, as such a judgment did not now bind real estate.

Finlay, Q.C., and Eve, for the respondents.

Lindley, L.J., said that it had been decided by Shadwell, V.C., in Watson v. Birch (15 Sim. 523), more than forty years ago, that a judgment in a personal action was within sect. 40 of the 3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 27, and was barred by a lapse of twenty years, and that decision had been acted upon ever since. The Real Property Limitation Act, s. 8, repeated the words of the earlier Act, only enacting that the bar should be twelve years instead of twenty. He was of opinion that, although a judgment was not now per se a charge upon real estate, the recent Act must be read, like the earlier Act, as applying to judgments in personal actions; and that the decision of the Divisional Court was right, and must be affirmed.

Bowen, L.J., concurred.

Appeal by the defendants, the owners of the barge Isabella Little, from a judgment of a Divisional Court (Sir Francis H. Jeune, President, and Gainsford Bruce, J.) of the Probate, Divorce, and Admiralty Division, sitting in Admiralty, reversing a judgment of the judge of the county court of Kent, holden at Rochester, in an Admiralty cause.

Pyke, Q.C. (Baden Powell, with him), for the respondents (plaintiffs), took the preliminary objection that there was no jurisdiction to hear the appeal, as the Divisional Court had refused the appellants leave to appeal: Rules of Supreme Court, Order lix., r. 4; Judicature Act, 1873, s. 45.

Bucknill, Q.C., (A. E. Nelson, with him), for the appellants (defendants):—A right of appeal exists, for, by the Judicature Act, 1873, s. 19, a general right of appeal to the Court of Appeal is given, subject to the provisions of the Act, and to rules made in pursuance of the Act. By sect. 45, appeals from County Courts to a Divisional Court are to be final, unless special leave to appeal is given. By the County Courts Act, 1875, s. 10, no leave to appeal to the Privy Council (for which the Court of Appeal is now substituted), shall be necessary, where the High Court of Admiralty (for which a Divisional Court of the Probate, Divorce, and Admiralty Division is now substituted) alters the judgment of the County Court: see The Lydia (14 P. D. 1).

This sect. 10 of the County Courts Act, 1875, therefore, impliedly repealed so much of sect. 45 of the Judicature Act, 1873, as is inconsistent with it, and, though the County Courts Act, 1888, s. 188, repeals the whole of the County Courts Act of 1875, it is provided by sub-sect. 5 that the repeal shall not revive any enactment not in force at the commencement of the Act.

The Court (Lord Esher, M.R., Lopes and Kay, L.JJ.) overruled the objection, holding that the Court had jurisdiction.

The appeal was then heard on the merits and dismissed.

North, J. Christie v. Davey. Dec. 10.

Injunction—Noise—Playing on Musical Instruments—Noises made maliciously.

Trial of action.

The plaintiffs and the defendant lived in adjoining houses, separated by a thin party-wall. The plaintiffs by their writ claimed an injunction to restrain the defendant, his servants and agents, from playing concertinas, horns, flutes, pianos, and other musical instruments; blowing whistles; knocking on trays or boards; hammering, shrieking, or shouting; and making other loud noises in such a manner as to cause annoyance or injury to the plaintiffs, or either of them, as occupiers of their house. No pleadings were delivered; but the defendant served a notice by way of counter-claim, by which he asked for an injunction to restrain the plaintiffs from making noises in their house by giving lessons, practising or playing upon pianos, violins, violoncellos, or other musical instruments, or singing in an unreasonable manner or at unreasonable times, or from otherwise causing or permitting loud noises to be made in the house in such a manner as to cause nuisance, annoyance, or injury to the defendant as occupier of his house.

The plaintiffs were a husband and wife. The wife was a professional musician, and a teacher of music and singing. The plaintiffs had a daughter living in the house, who was also a professional musician, and gave lessons on the piano and the violin. The lessons given by the two ladies to pupils who came to the house occupied about seventeen hours a week. The daughter also practised playing and singing. Another lady, also a professed musician, resided in the house, and practised the piano from time to time. The plaintiffs also had a son living in the house, and he was in the habit of practising on the violoncello from 10 to 11 at night, and sometimes a little later, and occasionally on Sundays. The plaintiffs occasionally had musical parties in the evening.

The defendant was an engraver on wood, and his business required a certain amount of hammering. He had a musical evening regularly once a week, and played the concertina and other instruments, and sang at other times.

Cozens-Hardy, Q.C., and Upjohn, for the plaintiffs.

Lyttelton Chubb, for the defendant.

North, J., came to the conclusion that the defendant had been maliciously making noises for the mere purpose of vexing and annoying the plaintiffs. He therefore granted an injunction to restrain the defendant from making noises so as to vex or annoy the plaintiffs; but the injunction was not to interfere with the defendant carrying on his business, or having musical evenings as he had been accustomed to do. On the evidence, his Lordship came to the conclusion that the plaintiffs had done nothing with the intention of annoying the defendant, and that they had not been making an unreasonable use of their house. There was no ground for the interference of the Court against them.

Partition—Equitable Mortgage of Share—Receipt of Rents by Mortgagor—Hotchpot—Priority as between Mortgagee and co-Owners of Mortgagor.

This was the further consideration of a partition action. The property forming the subject of the action had been sold, and the proceeds were now about to be divided. One of the persons entitled to a share of the property had created an equitable charge upon it by deposit of deeds. The mortgagor had, since the date of the mortgage, been in possession and receipt of the rents of part of the property, and had retained more than his own share of such rents.

The question was whether the other persons interested in the property were entitled to have the amount of the rents so received by the mortgagor in excess of his share deducted from his share of the proceeds before any payment was made to the mortgagee, who claimed to have his debt, interest, and costs first satisfied out of the mortgagor's share.

Stirling, J., held that the rents received by the mortgagor in excess of his share must be brought into account as between him and his co-owners, in priority to the mortgagee, who, not having gone into possession, as he might have done, could not be in a better position than his mortgagor.

Romer, J. Crossley v. Magniac. Dec. 8.

Power of Attorney to Sell and Transfer Stock—Intervention of Country Broker—Liability of London Stockbroker to Country Customer—Payment to Agent.

The plaintiff, C., living in Canada, was the owner of 1000*l.* New Consols. He instructed his brother, J., who lived at Halifax (in England), to take steps to sell the Consols, and J. consulted a stockbroker called R., who carried on business in Halifax. R. advised that the Bank of England would only act on a special power of attorney, and wrote to the defendants, stockbrokers, his London agents, asking them to apply for a power of attorney for sale of the "1000*l.* Goschens standing in the name of C.," and stating C.'s old address in England and his new address in Canada. The defendants obtained from the Bank of England a power of attorney to a member of their firm in the usual form to "sell and transfer" the stock, and on the 17th of June, 1890, they wrote to R., enclosing the power to such member "to act as Mr. C.'s attorney for the purpose of selling" the stock. The powers were sent out to Canada to the plaintiff, and returned by him to J. duly executed. J. retained the power for some time, and then left it with R. and told him to sell for 97¼. In January, 1891, R. instructed the defendants to sell the 1000*l.* "at best for cash." The defendants sold on the 23rd of January for 970*l.*, which they credited to R. in their general private account with them, which had previously shown a balance against R. After crediting R. with the 970*l.* and debiting him with the broker's commission, there was a balance in his favour. This balance was paid at R.'s request to satisfy bills drawn by him on the defendants; and no part of the proceeds of sale of the stock was ever paid to C. or J. That a sale having taken place was only discovered in the bankruptcy of R. some months afterwards.

C. brought an action against the defendants to recover the 970*l.* less broker's commission.

Neville Q.C., and T. Bateman Napier, for the plaintiff.

Haldane, Q.C., and Kirby, for the defendants.

Romer, J., said that on the purchase-money being received by the defendants and their being paid for their services as set out, it was their duty to pay the balance to the plaintiff or to some person authorized by him to receive it, and, having had previous dealings with R., they were bound to pay the balance in cash and not by crediting him with the amount in their account. It made no difference that the power of attorney had been obtained through a country broker, seeing that the defendants knew the stock was the plaintiff's, and sold it for him under the power of attorney. The fact of the plaintiff's being abroad did not entitle the defendants to ignore him, nor were they justified in treating the purchase-money as the country broker's own. There had been no payment by the defendants to the country broker in respect of the particular purchase-money belonging to the plaintiff; and still less a payment in circumstances which the defendants could rely as a discharge in whole or in part. Bridges v. Garrett (Law Rep. 5 C. P. 451) was distinguishable, and the plaintiff was entitled to judgment.

Company—Transfer of Shares—Refusal to Register—Certificate issued to Transferor—Liability of Company on—Estoppel—Damages—Companies Act, 1862 (25 & 26 Vict. c. 89), s. 35.

Appeal from Stirling, J.

Goode, a stock-jobber, on the 6th of April, 1892, bought on the Stock Exchange 4300 shares in this company for 2s. 6d. a piece from G., a stock-broker, taking his word that he, G., was the owner of them. On the same day G. brought a transfer of the 4300 shares from himself to Goode in consideration of 537*l.* 10*s.* (being 2*s.* 6*d.* per share) duly executed, and delivered it to Goode, together with a certificate dated the 23rd of March, 1892, under the seal of the company, and signed by two of the directors and the secretary, certifying that he, G., was the proprietor of 4300 shares, the numbers of which were specified in the certificate, and that the sum of 19*s.* per share, and all call of 8*s.* a share, had been paid up thereon. Goode then paid the purchase-money, executed the transfer himself, and on the same day sent it to the company's office for registration, accompanied by the certificate. The company's clerk, however, declined to receive the documents, stating that he had orders not to do so.

On the 8th of April Goode and his solicitor again tend the transfer and certificate at the company's office, asking that the matter might be dealt with in the usual way. On that occasion the company's solicitor took the documents, but stated that the company did not undertake to register Goode as owner of the shares. Goode then paid the transfer fee and took a receipt for the documents which expressed that they were "to be dealt with in due course." It appeared from the evidence that the chairman of the company had discovered on the 5th of April that a former secretary of the company had made fraudulent transfers, and had falsified the register of shares, and had obtained the certificate in question by fraud from two of the directors, who had signed it without checking it, and that it was in consequence of this discovery that the documents had not been taken in. The directors were unable to register Goode as the holder of the 4300 shares in question, as they were all standing in the names of other people, but they were willing to register Goode in respect of 4300 other shares. After some negotiation the transfer was considered at a board meeting, held on the 13th of April, when the matter was ordered to stand over for further investigation, and the transfer deed, the certificate, and the fee paid, were returned to Goode.

On the 31st of May Goode moved, under sect. 35 of the Companies Act, 1862, to rectify the register of members of the company by inserting his name as holder of the 4300 shares in question, and that the company might be ordered to pay him the damages suffered by him by reason of their refusal to register him as a shareholder. It appeared that between the 6th and the 13th of April the company's shares went down in value, so that the question on what day the company had refused to register Goode became material with reference to the amount of damages to which he might be entitled. Stirling, J., made no order as to rectification, but directed an inquiry as to what damages had been sustained by Goode by reason of the inability of the company to register him, and ordered the company to pay him what should be certified as the amount thereof. The Chief Clerk certified on the 22nd of July that the amount of the damages was the sum of 537*l.* 10*s.*, being the amount Goode had paid for the shares on the 6th of April. The company then moved to vary the certificate, contending that they had not refused to register until the 13th of April, and that the damages should have been assessed according to the value of the shares at that date. Stirling, J., however, held, on the 8th of November, that the certificate was right; and this was a motion by the company by way of appeal from that decision. Upon the hearing of the appeal it was agreed that the Court should adjudicate what damages the company ought to pay.

Butcher, for the appellants, contended that the company were, under the circumstances, entitled to a reasonable time to consider whether they could register the applicant, and that their refusal ought to date from the 13th.

Buckmaster, for the respondent, contended, on the authority of In re Bahia and San Francisco Railway Company (Law. Rep. 3 Q. B. 584), that the issue of the certificate to Goode's transferor was a warranty of his title to the shares, and that the company had refused to transfer on the 6th of April.

THE COURT (Lindley, Bowen, and A. L. Smith, L.JJ.) doubted whether Stirling, J., had jurisdiction to give damages under the Companies Act, 1862, s. 35, in a case where there was no order as to rectification, but said that with the consent of the parties they would treat the case as within that section. They doubted whether the case cited was an authority that the mere issue of a share certificate to a transferor was a warranty of title such as under circumstances like these would give a right of action to a transferee, between whom and the company there was no priority. But the cause of action was not the representation in the certificate; it was the refusal of the company to register; and although the directors were entitled to a reasonable time for the consideration of the documents, they had already made up their minds on the 6th that they would not consider the documents at all, and their refusal must date from that day. Their Lordships accordingly dismissed the appeal with costs.

Appeal by the plaintiffs against two decisions of a Divisional Court (Wright and Collins, JJ.).

The question was whether the plaintiffs were rateable in respect of a pumping station and sewage works, which formed part of the system of the main drainage of the metropolis. The Divisional Court held, upon the authority of Mayor, &c., of Burton-upon-Trent v. Assessment Committee of Burton-upon-Trent (24 Q. B. D. 197), and an unreported case in which the Court of Appeal had followed that case, that the plaintiffs were rateable in respect of these works. The plaintiffs appealed.

Avory, for the plaintiffs.

Littler, Q.C., and Sinclair Cox, for the Woolwich Union.

Meadows White, Q.C., and Danckwerts, for the St. George's Union.

THE COURT (Lord Esher, M.R., and Lopes, and Kay, L.JJ.) allowed the appeal.

Their LORDSHIPS held that, for the present purpose, the works in question stood, under sect. 150 of the Metropolis Management Act, 1855, in precisely the same position as did sewers, and therefore London County Council v. Churchwardens of West Ham ([1892] 2 Q. B. 44) applied in principle, and shewed that the plaintiffs were not liable to be rated in respect of the works. The plaintiffs could not be taken into consideration as possible tenants. The Metropolis Main Drainage Act, 1858, and the Local Government Act, 1888, which were not cited in London County Council v. Churchwardens of West Ham, did not really make any difference.

Cox v. Watson.

Will—Construction—Remoteness—Maintenance Clause—Separable.

A testator devised his real estate to trustees upon trust for sale, and to invest 3000*l.* and pay the income to his wife for life, and after her death to hold the same in trust for all the children, or any the child of his son George who should attain the age of 24 years, share and share alike, with benefit of survivorship in case any should die under that age and without issue, and declared that his trustees should, after the death of his wife, apply the whole, or such part as they should in their discretion think fit, of the income of the 3000*l.* for or towards the maintenance or education of all or any of such children and might either themselves apply the same, or might pay it to the guardian or guardians of such children.

Held, that the gift of the 3000*l.* to the children of George was void for remoteness, but that the maintenance clause was separable from the rest of the gift and was valid, and that such of the children only who were under 21 took the benefit of that trust.

Adams v. Adams.

Will—Gift to Members of Class on attaining 21*—Income—Maintenance — Conveyancing and Real Property Act*, 1881 (44 & 45 Vict. c. 41), s. 43.

The testator in this matter devised and bequeathed his residue to his executors and trustees in trust as to one-third in equal shares for all the children of his brother, Thomas Adams, who should survive him, the testator, and being sons or a son should attain 21, or being daughters or a daughter should attain that age or marry, and the issue of any such child as should predecease the testator. The testator died in November, 1890. His brother had six children, all of whom survived the testator, and were now under age, and none of them had married.

This was a summons to have it determined whether the trustees of the testator's will were authorized by sect. 45 of the Conveyancing Act, 1881, to apply the income of one-third of the testator's residuary estate towards the maintenance and education of the children of his brother Thomas.

W. F. Webster, for the children of Thomas Adams, the plaintiffs in the summons.

Disturnal, for the trustees of the will.

North, J., decided that the income accruing from one-third of the residue while all the children of Thomas Adams were under age, and being daughters unmarried, was part of that one-third of residue to which such children would be entitled as they attained 21, or being daughters married, and that the trustees were therefore authorized by sect. 43 of the Conveyancing Act, 1881, to apply such income towards the maintenance and education of the children until a son attained 21, or a daughter attained 21 or married. He adhered in opinion to the decision he gave in In re Jeffery ([1891] 1 Ch. 671).

Company—Debenture-holder—Appointment of Receiver and Manager—Floating Security—Interest not in arrear.

This was an action by holders of debentures, issued by the defendant company, against the company, to enforce their security. The debentures were not yet due, and there was no interest in arrear. The debentures comprised the whole property of the company, and were a floating security. The plaintiffs now moved for the appointment of a receiver and manager. The company consented to the application. There was evidence that executions were being levied by creditors of the company.

C. Macnaghten, for the plaintiffs.

Oswald, for the company.

North, J., at first felt some difficulty in making the appointment, because nothing was yet due to the plaintiffs in respect of their security, and he thought that he should be interfering with the rights of execution creditors. But, ultimately, on the authority of Wildy v. Mid-Hants Railway Company (W. R. 409), he appointed a receiver. And, on the authority of Makins v. Percy Ibotson & Sons ([1891] 1 Ch. 133), his Lordship appointed a manager.

Treasure Trove—Crown—Prerogative—Jurisdiction of Coroner—Inquest—Question of Title between Crown and Grantee—Coroners Act, 1887 (50 & 51 Vict. c. 71), s. 36.

On the 16th of December, 1891, certain articles, consisting of ancient silver church plate, were discovered buried in the earth at Stoke Prior, in Herefordshire, and delivered by the finders into the possession of the coroner for the district, who proceeded to hold an inquest upon them before a jury duly panelled for the purpose. The jury found that the articles were treasure trove; but a claim was made on behalf of the lord of the manor, who set up a title to them under a charter of grant of "royalties," dated in 1620, and executed by James I. to a predecessor in title of the lord. The jury failed to agree upon a verdict as to the ownership of the treasure, and were bound over by the coroner to attend the next assizes at Hereford.

At the assizes, one of the jury being absent through i

Day, J., discharged them, and, upon an application being made to him on behalf of the Crown that the coroner might be directed to record the verdict of "treasure trove" upon the inquest, he held that the inquest was not complete, but that the coroner was bound to inquire into the question of title. The coroner having given notice of his intention to hold a fresh inquest, the Crown now moved for an order directing the coroner to deposit the articles in Court, or for an injunction to restrain him until the trial of the action from parting with them to any persons other than the Lords Commissioners of the Treasury.

Sir John Rigby, S.G., and Ingle Joyce, for the motion.

Corner, for the coroner.

A. J. David, for the Lord of the Manor.

STIRLING, J., held that the jurisdiction of the coroner was limited by sect. 36 of the Act of 1887 to the determination of "who was the finder, and who was suspected thereof." He had no jurisdiction to determine a question of title between the Crown and its subject. The Crown was clearly entitled to come to this Court and have the question of title decided, and to have the articles kept in medio until the trial. Upon an undertaking by the coroner not to part with the articles until further order, his Lordship allowed him to retain possession until after he had completed his inquiry, which the Court did not desire to interfere with. After the inquest the treasure trove must be brought into Court, and the coroner might apply as to costs.

In re NEW CHILE GOLD MINING COMPANY, LIMITED.

Company—Winding-up—Contributory—Shares issued at a Discount—Purchase by Shareholder—Notice.

This was an application by the official liquidator of the above-named company to place the name of the respondent upon the list of contributories in respect of certain shares purchased by him, which had been issued at a discount.

At the time of the purchase of the shares in question the respondent was already the holder of fully paid shares in the company.

On the 13th of May, 1887, the company issued the following circular to the shareholders: "The directors, having obtained power to issue 400,000 new shares, now beg to hand you annexed application form, and will thank you in the event of your desiring an allotment of these shares to send in your application not later than Saturday the 21st inst. The directors have decided upon offering these shares to the shareholders (with £½ per share credited as paid up) at 5s. per share, payable 6d. per share on application, and 1s. per share on allotment."

It was assumed for the purpose of his Lordship's decision that the respondent had notice of this circular. He did not apply for any of the new shares, but he afterwards bought further shares upon the market, and obtained certificates purporting that the shares so purchased were fully paid up. They were, in fact, part of the shares issued at a discount, and it was in respect of the shares so acquired that the liquidator now sought to put him upon the list of contributories. It was contended on behalf of the liquidator that the respondent must be treated as having constructive notice that the shares were issued at a discount, and that it was his duty to search at the office of the Registrar of Joint Stock Companies, where he could have discovered that they were so issued.

A. J. Chitty, for the liquidator.

Hastings, Q.C., and Ashworth James, for the respondent.

STIRLING, J., said that to accede to the application would be to carry the doctrine of constructive notice too far. In the similar case of In re Hall & Co. (37 Ch. Div. 712), his Lordship had referred to the following remarks of Lord Cranworth in Ware v. Lord Egmont (4 D. M. & G. 460): "Where a person has actual notice of any matter of fact, there can be no danger of doing injustice if he is held bound by all the consequences of that which he knows to exist. But where he has not actual notice, he ought not to be treated as if he had notice, unless the circumstances are such as enable the Court to say, not only that he might have acquired, but also that he ought to have acquired, the notice with which it is sought to affect him—that he would have acquired if but for his gross negligence." Here the utmost the respondent knew was that some shares had been issued at a discount. He was not bound to search the register at Somerset House to see if the shares he purchased were part of that issue. No case was made against him of wilfully shutting his eyes, and the application of the liquidator must fail.

Tenant for Life and Remainderman—Residue—Circus belonging to Testator unsaleable—Apportionment of yearly Loss or Profit between Capital and Income.

A testator directed in effect that his residuary estate should be sold and converted into money on the 1st of March, 1892, and that the proceeds should be held, as to part thereof, on trust for his wife for life, with remainder to other persons. The residuary estate consisted in part of a circus which the testator held under a lease at a very large rent. It had not been and was not possible to sell the circus advantageously, and the executors and trustees had carried it on since the 1st at a yearly loss. The question was, how such losses, or any losses or profits in future years, should be apportioned as between capital and income.

Warmington, Q.C., and Theobald; Renshaw, Q.C., and T. R. Hughes; and P. O. Lawrence, for the parties.

KEKEWICH, J., made an order (penned by himself) to the following effect:—Declare that as from the 1st of March, 1892, the profit made or loss sustained in each year during postponement of sale ought to be apportioned between capital and income of testator's estate in manner after directed. Let the following inquiries be made after the last day of February, 1893, and the last day of February in each succeeding year during such postponement. (1) An inquiry what was the amount of profit or loss in respect of the circus buildings during the year ending on such last day of February; (2) an inquiry what sum put out at interest at 4 per centum per annum on the 1st of March 1892, and as regards such succeeding years, accumulating at compound interest calculated at the like rate with yearly rests, would together with such interest and accumulations, after deducting income tax, have been equivalent on such last day of February to the amount of such profit or loss. Declare that the sum ascertained by the last foregoing inquiry ought to be credited to or charged against the capital of the testator's estate, and that the rest of such profit or loss ought to be credited to or charged against the income thereof.

Injunction—Light—Inchoate right—Prescription Act (2 & 3 Will. 4, c. 71), s. 3—Light enjoyed for more than nineteen but less than twenty years.

The plaintiffs were the owners of premises having windows, the access of light to which, over adjoining land, was claimed to have been enjoyed by the plaintiffs for more than nineteen but less than twenty years. The defendants, the owners of the adjoining land, were proceeding to erect thereon buildings of a permanent character which, if completed, would obstruct the access of light to the windows. The plaintiffs brought this action and moved the Court for an injunction to restrain the further erection of the buildings.

Renshaw, Q.C., and Yate Lee, for the plaintiffs, submitted that they were entitled to an injunction by way of protection to their inchoate right, which in a few months would ripen, under sect. 3 of the Prescription Act, into an absolute and indefeasible right.

Warmington, Q.C., and Kirby, for the defendants.

KEKEWICH, J., declined to grant an injunction. It was conceded that there was no precedent for so doing, and he was not disposed to make one. The case was not one in which the plaintiffs' property would be destroyed if an injunction was not granted. If the defendants were to run up their buildings they would constitute, at the end of a few months, an interference with what would then be the plaintiffs' ancient lights, but that interference would be amenable to the jurisdiction of the Court. There was an inconvenience about that, no doubt, but it was one which was incident to the inchoate nature of the plaintiffs' right.

Partnership—Signed Annual Account—Death of Partner before Actual signing or taking of Account.

The material clauses in articles of partnership, dated the 31st of March, 1884, between J. and the defendants, in the business of oil and colour merchants, were as follows:—"(15) On the 31st day of March in each year during the continuance of the partnership, or as near thereto as conveniently may be, a general account shall be taken of the assets and liabilities of the partnership, and of all dealings and transactions of the partnership during the then preceding year, and of all matters and things usually comprehended in accounts of a like nature taken by persons engaged in a like business, and in taking such account a just valuation shall be made of all items requiring valuation, together with an estimate of all doubtful and bad debts; and in the general yearly account so to be taken there shall from time to time be made a balance-sheet, and the said balance-sheet shall be signed by all the partners in testimony of their approbation thereof, and the accounts to be so made and signed shall not afterwards be called in question, opened, or in any manner contravened after such yearly settlement as aforesaid." "(23) If any partner shall retire under the provisions hereinbefore contained, or shall die during the continuance of the partnership, the remaining or surviving partners shall (but subject in respect of a partner so dying to the power hereinbefore contained of bequeathing his share and interest in the partnership) accept and take, in the shares and proportions to which they shall at the time of such retirement or decease be interested in the profits of the partnership business, all the share and interest of the partner so retiring or dying in the capital of the business and the share of the profits of the partner so retiring or dying; and the amount of the share and interest of the partner so retiring or dying shall be taken at the amount appearing as standing to his credit in the last annual balance-sheet which shall have been signed previously to the date of such retirement or death, addition being made thereto on account of the proportion of profits which shall have accrued due to such partner since the last annual account according to the average amount of profits during the three years preceding the last annual account if so many years shall have elapsed, according to the average amount of profits during so many years as shall have elapsed."

The annual account was not usually taken until towards the end of April, and in the account so taken for the year ending the 31st of March, 1890, no value was placed on leasehold premises at St. George's-in-the-East, forming part of the partnership assets, though a value was set on other leasehold assets.

In June, 1890, a railway company gave the firm notice to treat in respect of a portion of the first-named leaseholds, and in December, 1890, the firm sent in a claim for 20,000*l.*

Negotiations then took place between the firm and the railway company, which had not concluded on the 10th of April 1891, on which day J. died. The negotiations resulted, after J.'s death, in an agreement for the sale of the premises, in respect of which notice to treat had been given, to the railway company for 19,000*l.* No account or balance-sheet for the year ending on the 31st of March, 1891, had been taken or made out at the time of J.'s death, though his Lordship declined to hold that the account might not have been taken and signed between the 31st of March, 1891, and the day of such death. In an action by the executor of J. against the surviving partners, the questions arose whether the plaintiff was entitled to have the account taken up to the 31st of March 1891, and to have inserted in such account the value of the leaseholds taken by the railway company.

Neville, Q.C., and Dauney, for the plaintiff.

Chadwyck Healey, Q.C., and J. M. Stone, for the defendants.

ROMER, J., said that article 15 meant that whenever a partnership year (ending the 31st of March) was completed, the account for that year was to be taken and signed, and that preliminary words of the clause indicated that the actual taking of the account might not be completed on the 31st of March, but that in practice it might be taken and completed shortly afterwards. If a partnership year was completed, the parties were bound and entitled to have the account for that year taken, and not the less because afterwards one or more of the partners might die. The fact that when taken the account could not be signed, by reason of the death or physical inability to sign of a partner, did not prevent the account being taken as between the parties interested. The annual balance-sheet mentioned in article 23, "which shall have been signed previously to the date of such retirement or death," referred to the annual account under article 15, as signed, and contemplated what was to be done as having been done. The authorities shewed that in clauses like article 23 absolute signing was not essential, nor was the absolute taking of the account essential if the account ought, under the articles, to have been taken and signed. There was no authority for the defendant's contention that, if the partner died so soon after the account day that the account up to that time could not with reasonable speed be taken in the meantime, then the account governing the relation of the parties was the immediately preceding account; and such a result would work unfairly and lead to inconveniences, one of which would be the necessity of inquiry in each case whether the account could have been reasonably made up in so many days. Nor was this the true meaning of clauses of this kind. His Lordship did not come to the conclusion—if the fact was material, and in his view it was not—that the account could not have been taken and signed between the 31st of March, 1891, and the death of J., though in the ordinary course the parties would probably have taken some time longer. The rights of the parties were governed by an account to be taken as to the 31st of March, 1891, and the value of the leaseholds taken by the railway company, as of that day, must be included in such account.

PROBATE, DIVORCE, AND ADMIRALTY DIVISION.

Probate. IN THE GOODS OF WRIGHT. Dec. 13.

Where there was evidence that the deceased had executed a will, but it could not be found, nor could any information be procured as to its contents, administration to the estate and effects of the deceased were granted to his next of kin until such time as his will should be found.

James Wright, deceased, late of 99, Nile Terrace, Bermondsey, died on the 1st of May, 1877, leaving a widow and a son and daughter surviving him.

It appeared from the affidavit of J. T. Riches, of 48, Jamaica Road, secretary to the East Surrey Building Society, that some time in 1886 or 1887 he made a will for the deceased, which was duly executed, but as to the contents of which he had no recollection and could give no information.

John Lann, of Bermondsey, a rate-collector, made an affidavit that he had attested a will executed by the deceased which he believed was drawn by Mr. Riches, who also attested it.

Mr. J. T. Wright, the son of deceased, made an affidavit to the effect that the deceased's widow told him that his father had made a will which had been accidentally destroyed.

Search had been made for the will, but none had been found; and on the 12th of August an order had been made on the widow, Mrs. Wright, to attend and be cross-examined as to her knowledge of a will; but she had not obeyed the order.

Powles, now moved for a grant of administration to the deceased's son James Wright, until the will be found, and cited In the Goods of Metcalfe (1 Add. 343); and In the Goods of Campbell (2 Hagg. Ecc. 555).

THE COURT made the grant as prayed.

FORM OF STATEMENT OF RECEIPTS AND PAYMENTS AND GENERAL DIRECTIONS AS TO STATEMENTS.

Size of Sheets.

(1.) Every statement must be on sheets 13 inches by 16 inches.

Form and Contents of Statement.

(2.) Every statement must contain a detailed account of all the liquidator's realizations and disbursements in respect of the Company. The statement of realizations should contain a record of all receipts received from assets existing at the date of the winding-up order or resolution and subsequently realized, including balance in Bank, Book Debts and Calls Collected, Property Sold, &c.; and the account of disbursements should contain all payments for costs and charges, or to creditors, or contributories. Where property has been realized, the gross proceeds of sale must be entered under realizations, and the necessary payments incidental to sales must be entered as disbursements. These accounts should not contain payments into or out of Bank, or temporary investments by the liquidator, or the proceeds of such investments when realized, which should be shown separately:—

(a.) by means of the Bank Pass Book;

Interest allowed or charged by the Bank, Bank Commission, &c., and gain or loss upon the realization of temporary investments, should, however, be inserted in the accounts of realizations or disbursements, as the case may be. Each receipt and payment must be entered in the account in such a manner as sufficiently to explain its nature. The receipts and payments must severally be added up at the foot of each page, and the totals carried forward from one account to another without any intermediate balance, so that the gross totals shall represent the total amounts received and paid by the liquidator respectively.

Trading Account.

(3.) When the liquidator carries on a business, a trading account must be forwarded as a distinct account, and the totals of receipts and payments on the trading account must alone be set out in the statement.

Dividends, &c.

(4.) When dividends or instalments of composition are paid to creditors, or a return of surplus assets is made to contributories, the total amount of each dividend, or instalment of composition, or payment to contributories, must be entered in the statement of disbursements as one sum; and the liquidator must forward separate accounts showing in lists the amount of the claim of each creditor, and the amount of dividend or composition payable to each creditor, and of surplus assets payable to each contributory, distinguishing in each list the dividends or instalments of composition and shares of surplus assets actually paid and those remaining unclaimed. Each list must be on sheets 13 inches by 8 inches

LAND REGISTRY (MIDDLESEX DEEDS) RULES, 1892.

RULES UNDER THE LAND REGISTRY (MIDDLESEX DEEDS) ACT, 1891.

Interpretation.

1. In these Rules the Land Registry (Middlesex Deeds) Act, 1891, is referred to as the Act of 1891, and that Act and the Middlesex Registry Act, 1708, are referred to together as the Middlesex Deeds Acts; and the same mode of citation may be used in all forms and proceedings under the said Acts.

As to Memorials generally.

2. Memorials, and certificates of satisfaction of mortgages, shall be written or printed on the best white loan paper, 16 inches long by 8 inches wide, with an inner margin 2 inches wide and an outer margin of an inch wide, and shall be left at the office by hand, and shall bear Land Registry stamps for the amount of the fees, and shall be accompanied by the original instruments and mortgages respectively.

3. The particulars required by paragraph 5 of the First Schedule of the Act of 1891 to be inserted in memorials, shall only be required in so far as the same appear from the original instrument, except that the address and description of the witness to the memorial shall in all cases be inserted therein.

4. Where the original instrument contains a plan, a copy thereof (or of so much thereof as is referred to in the memorial) shall be drawn on the memorial, unless owing to its size this cannot be done; in which case a tracing on linen, signed by the person signing the memorial and by the witness, shall be left with the memorial and filed in the office. No other copy shall be required.

5. It shall no longer be necessary to seal any memorial, or to verify by oath the signing thereof or the execution of the instrument to which it refers; but the signing of the certificate of satisfaction of a mortgage shall continue to be verified by oath as heretofore.

6. The witness to the memorial shall be a witness or one of the witnesses (if any) to the original instrument, unless at the date of the memorial every such witness is dead or absent from the United Kingdom or cannot be found, or some other sufficient cause exists to prevent it. In such cases a statutory declaration shall be furnished and left with the memorial at the Registry, stating the reason why the witness to the memorial is not one of the witnesses to the instrument.

7. Every memorial shall be compared by an officer of the Registry with the instrument to which it relates; and any clerical, trifling or obvious errors may be corrected by him. But if any error is found which appears to the officer unsuitable for such correction, its nature shall be notified to the person who has left the memorial in the office, and (unless he satisfies the Registrar that it is sufficient) the memorial may be returned and the registration be cancelled, the fee paid being retained, but no fee charged on a substituted memorial.

Indexes.

8. The index known as the Parliamentary Index shall be closed as from the commencement of the index known as the Lexicographical Index on the 1st of January 1828, and such latter index shall be continued. But the Registrar shall have power to introduce such alterations in the mode of keeping the same as he shall from time to time think advisable.

The names of the grantees shall not be included in the index.

Searches.

9. An ordinary search shall be a search made against one name on one day by a person not an officer of the Registry, in any of the indexes, books, or documents open to public inspection.

The requisition for a search shall state the nature of the search, and the name against which it is to be made, and shall bear Land Registry stamps for the fee and be signed by the applicant.

10. An official search shall be a search made by an officer of the Registry, in the index only, for certain specified years, for all entries therein, against one name, affecting lands in a specified parish.

11. The requisition for an official search shall state the surname and christian name of the person against whom it is to be made, the parish, the years over which it is to extend, and the day on which the certificate is required, not being less than six clear days from the leaving of the requisition in the office. The requisition shall be signed by the applicant, and shall bear Land Registry stamps for the amount of the fee.

12. An official certificate of the result of every official search shall be issued from the Registry to the applicant, and a copy, or other sufficient record of the same, shall be kept in the office.

13. Applications for official searches shall be subject to the following provisions:—

(a.) That the search shall not be such as for any sufficient reason shall appear to be impracticable to complete.

(b.) That the Lord Chancellor may make regulations limiting or extending the period to be covered by official searches.

14. Where a person obtains an official certificate of search he shall not be answerable in respect of any loss that may arise from error therein. Where the certificate is obtained by a solicitor acting for trustees, executors, or other persons in a fiduciary position those persons also shall not be so answerable.

Registration under the Land Transfer Act, 1875.

15. Every application made under paragraph 14 of the First Schedule to the Act of 1891, for registration of a possessory title under the Land Transfer Act, 1875, in lieu of registration of a memorial under the Middlesex Deeds Acts, shall be signed by the applicant or his solicitor, and shall bear Land Registry stamps for the fee, and shall be left in the office, together with the instrument which confers the right to apply, and a deposit of 10s. to meet expenses.

Office Copies.

16. Office copies of, or extracts from, all books and documents in the office open to public inspection, shall be furnished on the written application of any person.

Miscellaneous.

17. Any indorsement certificate or signature to be made or given by any officer of the Registry, may be made or given by stamping, sealing, or writing, as the Registrar may by regulation direct, and any act required by the Middlesex Deeds Acts to be done by the Registrar may be done by such officer of the Registry as the Registrar may for that purpose appoint.

18. The forms in the schedule hereto, with such variations as circumstances may require, shall be used in all cases to which they refer.

19. The Registrar may at any time issue new forms to be used instead of, or in addition to, those in use, and generally shall have discretionary power in regard to all formal and administrative matters.

20. Land Registry stamps and all forms in use in the office shall be obtainable at the Registry.

21. These Rules may be cited as the Land Registry (Middlesex Deeds) Rules, 1892; they shall come into operation on the first of April, 1892, and shall be in substitution for all rules relating to the Middlesex Registry subsisting before the passing of the Act of 1891.

The eighth day of February, 1892.

24. [No appointments for settling order.]—It shall not be necessary for the Registrar to make an appointment to settle the order, or to give notice to any of the parties thereto, unless in any particular case the special circumstances make an appointment or notice necessary.

(d.) If the winding-up is in the Stannaries Court the examination shall be held before the Vice-Warden.

27. ORDER I.

Partnerships and Firms.

1. [O. XLVIII., A. r. 1.]—Any two or more persons claiming or being liable as co-partners and carrying on business within the jurisdiction may sue or be sued in the name of the respective firms, if any, of which such persons were co-partners at the time of the accruing of the cause of action; and any party to an action may in such case apply at Chambers to a judge for a statement of the names and addresses of the persons who were, at the time of the accruing of the cause of action, co-partners in any such firm, to be furnished in such manner, and verified on oath or otherwise, as the judge may direct.

2. [O. XLVIII., A. r. 2.]—When a plaint is sued out by partners in the name of their firm, the plaintiffs or their solicitors shall, on demand in writing by or on behalf of any defendant, forthwith declare in writing the names and places of residence of all the persons constituting the firm on whose behalf the action is brought. And if the plaintiffs or their solicitors shall fail to comply with such demand, all proceedings in the action may, upon an application for that purpose, be stayed upon such terms as the Court or a Judge may direct. And when the names of the partners are so declared, the action shall proceed in the same manner and the same consequences in all respects shall follow as if they had been named as the plaintiffs in the plaint. But all the proceedings shall, nevertheless, continue in the name of the firm.

3. [O. XLVIII., A. r. 3.]—Where persons are sued as partners in the name of their firm under Rule 1, the plaint shall be served either upon any one or more of the partners or at the principal place, within the jurisdiction, of the business of the partnership upon any person having at the time of service the control or management of the partnership business there; and, subject to these rules, such services shall be deemed good service upon the firm so sued, whether any of the members thereof are out of the jurisdiction or not: provided that in the case of a co-partnership which has been dissolved to the knowledge of the plaintiff before the commencement of the action, the plaint shall be served upon every person within the jurisdiction sought to be made liable.

4. [O. XLVIII., A. r. 4.]—Where a plaint is issued against a firm, and is served as directed by Rule 3, every person upon whom it is served shall be informed by notice in writing given at the time of such service whether he is served as a partner or as a person having the control or management of the partnership business, or in both characters. In default of such notice, the person served shall be deemed to be served as a partner.

5. [O. XLVIII., A. r. 5.]—Where persons are sued as partners in the name of their firm, they shall appear individually in their own names; but all subsequent proceedings shall, nevertheless, continue in the name of the firm.

6. [O. XLVIII., A. r. 6.]—Where a writ is served under Rule 3, upon a person having the control or management of the partnership business, no appearance by him shall be necessary unless he is a member of the firm sued.

7. [O. XLVIII., A. r. 7.]—Any person served as a partner under Rule 3, may enter an appearance under protest, denying that he is a partner, but such appearance shall not preclude the plaintiff from otherwise serving the firm and obtaining judgment against the firm in default of appearance if no partner has entered an appearance in the ordinary form.

8. [O. XLVIII., A. r. 8.]—Where a judgment or order is against a firm, execution may issue:

(a.) Against any property of the partnership within the jurisdiction;

(b.) Against any person who has appeared in his own name under Rule 5 or 6, or who has admitted on the pleadings that he is, or who has been adjudged to be a partner;

(c.) Against any person who has been individually served, as a partner, with the plaint, and has failed to appear.

If the party who has obtained judgment or an order claims to be entitled to issue execution against any other person as being a member of the firm, he may apply to the Court or a Judge for leave so to do, and the Court or Judge may give such leave if the liability be not disputed, or if such liability be disputed may order that the liability of such person be tried and determined in any manner in which any issue or question in an action may be tried and determined. But except as against any property of the partnership, a judgment against a firm shall not render liable, release, or otherwise affect any member thereof who was out of the jurisdiction when the plaint was issued and who has not appeared to the plaint unless he has been served within the jurisdiction after the plaint in the action was issued.

9. [O. XLVIII., A. r. 9.]—Debts owing from a firm carrying on business within the jurisdiction may be attached, although one or more members of such firm may be resident abroad: provided that any person having the control and management of the partnership business or any member of the firm within the jurisdiction is served with the garnishee order. An appearance by any member pursuant to an order shall be a sufficient appearance by the firm.

10. [O. XLVIII., A. r. 10.]—The above rules shall apply to actions between a firm and one or more of its members, and to actions between firms having one or more members in common, provided such firms carry on business within the jurisdiction, but no execution shall be issued in such actions without leave of the Court or a Judge, on an application for leave to issue such execution all such accounts and inquiries may be directed to be taken and made, and directions given, as may be just.

11. [O. XLVIII., A. r. 11.]—Any person carrying on business within the jurisdiction in a name or style other than his own name may be sued in such name or style as if it were a firm name; and, so far as the nature of the case will permit, all rules relating to proceedings against firms shall apply.

ORDER II.

Third Party Procedure.

1. [O. XVI., r 48.]—Where a defendant claims to be entitled to contribution, or indemnity over against any person not a party to the action, he may, by leave of the Court or a Judge, issue a notice (hereafter called the third-party notice) to that effect, stamped with the seal with which plaints are sealed. A copy of such notice shall be filed with the proper officer and served on such person according to the rules relating to the service of plaints. The notice shall state the nature and grounds of the claim, and shall, unless otherwise ordered by the Court or a Judge, be served within the time limited for delivering his defence. Such notice may be in the form or to the effect of the Form No. 1 in Appendix A., with such variations as circumstances may require, and therewith shall be served a c the declaration, or if there be no declaration, then a copy of the plaint in the action.

2. [O. XVI., r. 49.]—If a person not a party to the action, who is served as mentioned in Rule 1 (hereinafter called the third party), desires to dispute the plaintiff's claim in the action as against the defendant on whose behalf the notice has been given, or his own liability to the defendant, the third party must enter an appearance in the action within eight days from the service of the notice. In default of his so doing, he shall be deemed to admit the validity of the judgment obtained against such defendant, whether obtained by consent or otherwise, and his own liability to contribute or indemnify, as the case may be, to the extent claimed in the third-party notice. Provided always, that a person so served and failing to appear within the said period of eight days may apply to the Court or a Judge for leave to appear, and such leave may be given upon such terms, if any, as the Court or Judge shall think fit.

3. [O. XVI., r. 50.]—Where a third party makes default in entering an appearance in the action, in case the defendant giving the notice suffer judgment by default, he shall be entitled at any time, after satisfaction of the judgment against himself, or before such satisfaction by leave of the Court or a Judge, to enter judgment against the third party to the extent of the contribution or indemnity claimed in the third-party notice: provided that it shall be lawful for the Court or a Judge to set aside or vary such judgment upon such terms as may seem just.

4. [O. XVI., r. 51.]—Where a third party makes default in entering an appearance in the action, in case the action is tried and results in favour of the plaintiff, the Judge who tries the action may, at or after the trial, enter such judgment as the nature of the case may require against the defendant giving the notice against the third party: provided that execution thereof be not issued without leave of the Judge until after satisfaction by such defendant of the verdict or judgment against him. And if the action is finally decided in the plaintiff's favour, otherwise than by trial, the Court or a Judge may, on application by motion or summons, as the case may be, order such judgment as the nature of the case may require to be entered for the defendant giving the notice against the third party at any time after satisfaction by the defendant of the amount recovered by the plaintiff against him.

[O. XVI., r. 52.]—If a third party appears pursuant to the third-party notice, the defendant giving the notice may apply to the Court or Judge for directions, and the Court or Judge, upon the hearing of such application, may, if satisfied that there is a question proper to be tried as to the liability of the third party to make the contribution or indemnity claimed, in whole or in part, order the question of such liability, as between the third party and the defendant giving the notice, to be tried in such manner, at or after the trial of the action, as the Court or Judge may direct; and, if not so satisfied, may order such judgment as the nature of the case may require to be entered in favour of the defendant giving the notice against the third party.

[O. XVI., r. 53.]—The Court or a Judge upon the hearing of the application mentioned in Rule 5, may, if it shall appear desirable to do so, give the third party liberty to defend the action, upon such terms as may be just, or to appear at the trial and take such part thereat as may be just, and generally may order such proceedings to be taken, documents to be delivered, or amendments to be made, and give such directions as to the Court or Judge shall appear proper for having the question most conveniently determined, and as to the mode and extent in or to which the third party shall be bound or made liable by the judgment in the action.

[O. XVI., r. 54.]—The Court or a Judge may decide all questions of costs, as between a third party and the other parties to the action, and may order any one or more to pay the costs of any other, or others, or give such direction as to costs as the justice of the case may require.

[O. XVI., r. 55.]—Where a defendant claims to be entitled to contribution or indemnity against any other defendant to the action, a notice may be issued and the same procedure shall be adopted, for the determination of such questions between the defendant, as would be issued and taken against such other defendant, if such last-mentioned defendant were a third party: but nothing herein contained shall affect the rights of the plaintiff against any defendant in the action.

ORDER III.

Payment into and out of Court and Tender.

[O. XXII., r. 1.]—Where any action is brought to recover a debt or damages, any defendant may, before or at the time of delivering his defence, or at any later time by leave of the Court or a Judge, pay into Court a sum of money by way of satisfaction, which shall be taken to admit the claim or cause of action in respect of which the payment is made; or he may, with a defence denying liability (except in actions or counter-claims for libel or slander), pay money into Court which shall be subject to the provisions of Rule 6: Provided that in an action on a bond under the Statute 8 & 9 Will. III. c. xi. payment into Court shall be admissible to particular breaches only, and not to the whole action.

2. [O. XXII., r. 2.]—Payment into Court shall be signified in the defence, and the claim or cause of action in satisfaction of which such payment is made shall be specified therein.

3. [O. XXII., r. 3.]—With a defence setting up a tender before action, the sum of money alleged to have been tendered must be brought into Court.

4. [O. XXII., r. 4.]—If the defendant pays money into Court before delivering his defence, he shall serve upon the plaintiff a notice specifying both the fact that he has paid in such money, and also the claim or cause of action in respect of which such payment has been made. Such notice shall be in the Form No. 2 in Appendix A., with such variations as circumstances may require.

5. [O. XXII., r. 5.]—In the following cases of payment into Court under this Order, viz.:—

(a.) When payment into Court is made before delivery of defence:
(b.) When the liability of the defendant in respect of the claim or cause of action in satisfaction of which the payment into Court is made, is not denied in the defence:
(c.) When payment into Court is made with a defence setting up a tender of the sum paid:

the money paid into Court shall be paid out to the plaintiff on his request, or to his solicitor on the plaintiff's written authority, unless the Court or a Judge shall otherwise order.

6. [O. XXII., r. 6.]—When the liability of the defendant, in respect of the claim or cause of action in satisfaction of which the payment into Court has been made, is denied in the defence, the following rules shall apply:—

(a.) The plaintiff may accept, in satisfaction of the claim or cause of action in respect of which the payment into Court has been made, the sum so paid in, in which case he shall be entitled to have the money paid out to him as hereinafter provided, notwithstanding the defendant's denial of liability, whereupon all further proceedings, in respect of such claim or cause of action, except as to costs shall be stayed; or the plaintiff may refuse to accept the money in satisfaction and reply accordingly, in which case the money shall remain in Court subject to the provisions hereinafter mentioned:
(b.) If the plaintiff accepts the money so paid in, he shall, after service of such notice in the Form No. 3 in Appendix A. as in Rule 7, mentioned, or after delivery of a reply accepting the money, be entitled to have the money paid out to himself on request, or to his solicitor on the plaintiff's written authority, unless the Court or a Judge shall otherwise order:
(c.) If the plaintiff does not accept, in satisfaction of the claim or cause of action in respect of which the payment into Court has been made, the sum so paid in, but proceeds with the action in respect of such claim or cause of action, or any part thereof, the money shall remain in Court and be subject to the order of the Court or a Judge, and shall not be paid out of Court except in pursuance of an order. If the plaintiff proceeds with the action in respect of such claim or cause of action, or any part thereof, and recovers less than the amount paid into Court, the amount paid in shall be applied, so far as is necessary, in satisfaction of the plaintiff's claim, and the balance (if any) shall, under such order, be repaid to the defendant. If the defendant succeeds in respect of such claim or cause of action, the whole amount shall, under such order, be repaid to him.

7. [O. XXII., r. 7.]—The plaintiff, when payment into Court is made before delivery of defence, may within four days after the receipt of notice of such payment, or when such payment is first signified in a defence, may before reply, accept in satisfaction of the claim or cause of action in respect of which such payment has been made the sum so paid in, in which case he shall give notice to the defendant in the Form No. 3 in Appendix A., and shall be at liberty, in case the entire claim or cause of action is thereby satisfied, to tax his costs after the expiration of four days from the service of such notice, unless the Court or a Judge shall otherwise order, and in case of non-payment of the costs within forty-eight hours after such taxation, to sign judgment for his costs so taxed.

8. [O. XXII., r. 8.]—Where money is paid into Court in two or more actions which are consolidated, and the plaintiff proceeds to trial in one, and fails, the money paid in and the costs in all the actions shall be dealt with under this Order in the same manner as in the action tried.

9. [O. XXII., r. 9.]—A plaintiff may, in answer to a counter-claim, pay money into Court in satisfaction thereof, subject to the like conditions as to costs and otherwise as upon payment into Court by a defendant.

10. [O. XXII., r. 11.]—Money paid into Court under an order of the Court or a Judge or certificate of a Registrar shall not be paid out of Court except in pursuance of an order of the Court or a Judge.

ORDER IV.

Proceedings in lieu of Demurrer.

1. [O. XXV., r. 1.]—No demurrer shall be allowed.

2. [O. XXV., r. 2.]—Any party shall be entitled to raise by his pleading any point of law, and any point so raised shall be disposed of by the Judge who tries the cause at or after the trial, provided that by consent of the parties, or by order of the Court or a Judge on the application of either party, the same may be set down for hearing and disposed of at any time before the trial.

3. [O. XXV., r. 3.]—If, in the opinion of the Court or a Judge, the decision of such point of law substantially disposes of the whole action, or of any distinct cause of action, ground of defence, set-off, counter-claim, or reply therein, the Court or Judge may thereupon dismiss the action or make such other order therein as may be just.

4. [O. XXV., r. 4.]—The Court or a Judge may order any pleading to be struck out, on the ground that it discloses no reasonable cause of action or answer, and in any such case or in case of the action or defence being shown by the pleadings to be frivolous or vexatious, the Court or a Judge may order the action to be stayed or dismissed, or judgment to be entered accordingly, as may be just.

ORDER V.

Discovery and Inspection.

1. An affidavit shall no longer be necessary on an application for discovery of documents.

2. [XXXI., r. 21.]—If any party fails to comply with any order to answer interrogatories, or for discovery or inspection of documents, he shall be liable to attachment. He shall also, if a plaintiff, be liable to have his action dismissed for want of prosecution, and, if a defendant, to have his defence, if any, struck out, and to be placed in the same position as if he had not defended, and the party interrogating may apply to the Court or a Judge for an order to that effect, and an order may be made accordingly.

3. [O. XXXI., r. 22.]—Service of an order for interrogatories or discovery or inspection made against any party on his solicitor shall be sufficient service to found an application for an attachment for disobedience to the order. But the party against whom the application for an attachment is made may show in answer to the application that he has had no notice or knowledge of the order.

4. [O. XXXI., r. 23.]—A solicitor, upon whom an order against any party for interrogatories or discovery or inspection is served under the last preceding Rule, who neglects without reasonable excuse to give notice thereof to his client, shall be liable to attachment.

5. [O. XXXI., r. 24.]—Any party may, at the trial of a cause, matter, or issue, use in evidence any one or more of the answers or any part of an answer of the opposite party to interrogatories without putting in the others or the whole of such answer: Provided always, that in such case the Judge may look at the whole of the answers, and if he shall be of opinion that any others of them are so connected with those put in that the last-mentioned answers ought not to be used without them, he may direct them to be put in.

ORDER VI.

Admissions.

1. [O. XXXII., r. 4.]—Any party may, by notice in writing, at any time not later than 9 days before the day for which notice of trial may be given, call on any other party to admit, for the purposes of the cause, matter, or issue only, any specific fact or facts mentioned in such notice. And in case of refusal or neglect to admit the same within 6 days after service of such notice, or within such further time as may be allowed by the Court or a Judge, the costs of proving such fact or facts shall be paid by the party so neglecting or refusing, whatever the result of the cause, matter, or issue may be, unless at the trial or hearing the Court or a Judge certify that the refusal to admit was reasonable, or unless the Court or a Judge shall at any time otherwise order or direct. Provided that any admission made in pursuance of such notice is to be deemed to be made only for the purposes of the particular cause, matter, or issue, and not as an admission to be used against the party on any other occasion or in favour of any person other than the party giving the notice: Provided also, that the Court or a Judge may at any time allow any party to amend or withdraw any admission so made on such terms as may be just.

2. [O. XXXII., r. 5.]—A notice to admit facts shall be in the Form No. 4, in Appendix A., and admissions of facts shall be in the Form No. 5, in Appendix A., with such variations as circumstances may require.

3. [O. XXXII., r. 6.]—Any party may at any stage of a cause or matter, where admissions of fact have been made, either on the pleadings, or otherwise, apply to the Court or a Judge for such judgment or order as upon such admissions he may be entitled to, without waiting for the determination of any other question between the parties; and the Court and a Judge may upon such application make such order, or give such judgment as the Court or Judge may think just.

4. [O. XXXII., r. 7.]—An affidavit of the solicitor or his clerk, of the due signature of any admissions made in pursuance of any notice to admit documents or facts, shall be sufficient evidence of such admissions, if evidence thereof be required.

ORDER VII.

Arbitrations.

1. [O. XXXVI., rr. 48 and 52*a*.]—Where any cause or matter, or any question or issue of fact in any cause or matter, is referred to a Referee, he may, subject to the order of the Court or a Judge, hold the trial at or adjourn it to any place which he may deem more convenient, and have any inspection or view, either by himself or with his assessors (if any), which he may deem expedient for the better disposal of the controversy before him.

2. [O. XXXVI., r. 49.]—Subject to any order to be made by the Court or Judge ordering the same, evidence shall be taken at any trial before a Referee, and the attendance of witnesses may be enforced by subpœna, and every such trial shall be conducted in the same manner as nearly as circumstances will admit, as trials are conducted before a Judge.

3. [O. XXXVI., r. 50.]—Subject to any such order as last aforesaid, the Referee shall have the same authority with respect to discovery and production of documents, and in the conduct of any reference or trial, and the same power to direct that judgment be entered for any party, either party, as a Judge of the Court.

4. [O. XXXVI., r. 51.]—Nothing in these Rules contained shall authorise any Referee to commit any person to prison or to enforce any order by attachment or otherwise.

5. [O. XXXVI., r. 52.]—The Referee may, before the conclusion of any trial before him, or by his report under the reference made to him, submit any question arising therein for the decision of the Court, or state any facts specially, with power to the Court to draw inferences therefrom, and in any such case the order to be made on such submission or statement shall be entered as the Court may direct; and the Court shall have power to require any explanation or reasons from the Referee, and to remit the cause or matter, or any part thereof, for trial or further consideration to the same or any other Referee; or the Court may decide the question referred to any Referee on the evidence taken before him, either with or without additional evidence as the Court may direct.

6. [O. XXXVI., r. 53.]—Whenever a report shall be made by a Referee, he shall on the same day cause notice thereof to be given to all the parties to the trial or the reference before him by prepaid post letter directed to the address for service of each party, who shall in due course of post be deemed to have notice of such report.

7. [O. XXXVI., rr. 54 and 55a.]—Where under section 13 of the Arbitration Act, 1889, the report of the Referee has been made in a cause or matter, the further consideration of which has been adjourned, it shall be lawful for any party, on the hearing of such further consideration, without notice of motion or summons, to apply to the Court or Judge to adopt the report, or without leave of the Court or a Judge to give not less than four days' notice of motion, to come on with the further consideration, to vary the report or to remit the cause or matter or any part thereof for re-hearing or further consideration to the same or any other Referee.

8. [O. XXXVI., rr. 55 and 55a.]—Where under section 13 of the Arbitration Act, 1889, the report of the Referee has been made in a cause or matter, the further consideration of which has not been adjourned, it shall be lawful for any party by a four days' notice of motion to apply to the Court to adopt and carry into effect the report of the Referee, or to vary the report, or to remit the cause or matter or any part thereof for re-hearing or further consideration to the same or any other Referee.

9. [XXXVI., r. 55b.]—Where the whole of any cause or matter is referred to a Registrar under an order of Court, he may, subject to any directions in the order, exercise the same discretion as to costs as the Court or a Judge could have exercised.

10. [O. XXXVI., r. 55c.]—The provisions of Rules 1 to 9 of this Order shall apply, where any cause or matter or any question or issue of fact therein is referred to an officer of the Court or to a special Referee or Arbitrator.

ORDER VIII.

Costs.

1. [O. LXV., r. 1.]—Subject to the provisions of section 11 of the Mayor's Court of London Procedure Act, 1857, and section 117 of the County Courts Act, 1888, the costs of and incident to all proceedings in the Court, including the administration of estates and trusts, shall be in the discretion of the Court or Judge: Provided that nothing herein contained shall deprive an executor, administrator, trustee, or mortgagee who has not unreasonably instituted or carried on or resisted any proceedings, of any right to costs out of a particular estate or fund to which he would be entitled according to the rules hitherto acted upon in the Chancery Division of Her Majesty's High Court of Justice: Provided also that, where any action, cause, matter, or issue is tried with a jury, the costs shall follow the event, unless the Judge before whom such action, cause, matter, or issue is tried, or the Court shall, for good cause, otherwise order.

2. [O. LXV., r. 2.]—When issues in fact and law are raised by a claim or counterclaim, the costs of the several issues respectively, both in law and fact, shall, unless otherwise ordered, follow the event.

3. If a defendant succeeds in establishing his plea to the jurisdiction of the Court, the Court or Judge shall have power to make an order allowing him his costs, notwithstanding that the Court has no power to hear the action on its merits.

ORDER IX.

Judgment Summons.

1. Any judgment-debtor may be summoned after a request in the form No. 1 in Appendix B has been lodged by the judgment-creditor at the office of the Court. The judgment summons shall be in the form No. 2 in Appendix B.

2. The judgment summons shall, whenever it is practicable, be served personally upon the judgment-debtor, but if it appear to the Court that reasonable efforts have been made to effect personal service, or either that there are reasonable grounds for believing that the summons has come to the knowledge of the debtor, or that he wilfully evades service, an order may be made as if personal service had been effected upon such terms as the Court shall think fit.

3. If the judgment-debtor do not appear either personally or by his representative on the day and at the time appointed for the hearing of the judgment summons, the service thereof must be proved orally or by affidavit: Provided that an affidavit will only be admitted if the debtor has been personally served.

4. The means of the judgment-debtor may be proved orally or by affidavit. If at the hearing, or any adjourned hearing, of the judgment summons it shall appear to the Court that a viva voce examination of the judgment-debtor, or of any other person or persons, or the production of any book or document, is expedient or necessary, the Court may make an order commanding the attendance of such person or persons or the production of such book or document. The disobedience to any such order shall be deemed a contempt of Court, and shall be punishable by attachment.

5. The judgment, record, or order in respect of which the debtor is summoned shall be produced in Court at the hearing of every judgment-summons.

6. Any witness may be summoned to prove the means of the judgment-debtor or for the production of any book or document by a witness-summons in the Form No. 9 in Appendix B. Such summons shall be served three clear days before the hearing of the case.

7. The hearing of any judgment-summons may be adjourned from time to time if the Court shall think fit to a day and time to be named. If the judgment-debtor shall appear on the day on which the summons is adjourned, no notice of such adjournment need be given to him, but if the judgment-debtor shall not appear on such day, then notice of such adjournment shall be sent to him by post, or in such other manner as the Court may direct.

8. The costs of and incidental to every judgment-summons and of any writ of fi. fa. issued on the judgment shall be in the discretion of the Court, but, unless otherwise ordered, the judgment-creditor shall be entitled to his costs according to the prescribed scale.

9. The order for the payment of the judgment-debt and costs shall be in the Form No. 4 in Appendix B. But such order need only be drawn up and served in cases where the judgment-debtor has failed to appear personally or by his representative at the time the order was made. In cases where service of such order is necessary, a copy thereof sent by post to the judgment-debtor, or in such other manner as the Court may direct, shall be deemed sufficient service of such order.

10. Notice of the order for the committal of the judgment-debtor must be given to him unless he has appeared personally or by his representative on the day on which such order of committal was made. Such notice shall be in the Form No. 5 in Appendix B, and may be served personally on, or sent by post to, the judgment-debtor.

11. The warrant of committal shall be in the Form No. 7 in Appendix B. No warrant of committal will be issued from the office of the Court unless an affidavit be filed to the effect set out in the Form No. 6 in Appendix B.

12. A warrant of committal will not be issued from the office of the Court after the expiration of six months from the date of the order of the committal, except by leave of the Court, but such leave may be obtained on an ex parte application to the Court.

13. If the judgment-creditor, or any person on his behalf, receive any part of the debt, instalment or costs in respect of which the order of committal has been made after the warrant of committal has issued from the office of the Court, such warrant will not be executed by the Serjeant at Mace except by leave of the Court, which leave may be obtained on an ex parte application to the Court.

14. A warrant of committal shall become void and of no effect if a writ of fi. fa. be issued, or any garnishee order be obtained in respect of the same judgment-debt.

15. Upon payment of the amount of the debt and costs specified as payable in the warrant of committal, together with the fees of the Court, the judgment-debtor shall be entitled to his discharge.

16. The Governor of the Debtor's prison of the City of London may receive the amount of the debt and costs specified as payable in the warrant of committal, together with the fees of the Court, and may thereupon, or upon the certificate of the Serjeant at Mace that the same have been satisfied, discharge the judgment-debtor.

17. Where a judgment-debtor shall at the hearing of a judgment-summons satisfy the Court that a receiving order has been made for the protection of his estate, or that he has been adjudicated bankrupt and that the debt was provable in the bankruptcy, or that in respect of the debt resolutions have been duly registered under Sections 125 and 126 of the Bankruptcy Act, 1869, or that an order has been made for the administration of his estate under Section 122 of the Bankruptcy Act, 1883, no order of committal shall be made.

18. Where a judgment-debtor shall, after the making of an order of committal against him, file in Court an affidavit according to the Form

No. 8 in Appendix B, stating that a receiving order has been made for the protection of his estate, or that he has been adjudicated a bankrupt and that the debt was provable in the bankruptcy, or that in respect of the judgment-debt resolutions have been duly registered under Sections 125 and 126 of the Bankruptcy Act, 1869, or that an order for the administration of his estate has been made under Section 122 of the Bankruptcy Act, 1883, annexing to such affidavit in such last-mentioned case a certificate of the Registrar of the Court in which such last-mentioned order shall have been so made, and shall forthwith upon such affidavit being so filed, give notice to the judgment-creditor of the filing thereof, such order of committal shall not issue, but if issued and not executed it shall be recalled.

19. Where a judgment-debtor is arrested he may file in Court an affidavit as mentioned in the last preceding Rule, and thereupon the judgment-debtor shall be discharged out of custody upon the certificate of the Registrar, who shall forthwith give notice to the judgment-creditor of such discharge.

ROBERT HALLETT HOLT.

RULES UNDER SECTION 10 OF THE SMALL HOLDINGS ACT, 1892.

I.—Generally.

2. Application by a County Council for registration as proprietor, with Absolute Title of land acquired in pursuance of the Act, shall be made in Form 1, or to the like effect, and shall be signed by the Clerk or the Solicitor to, or some other responsible officer of, the Council, and shall be accompanied by a map of the land (prepared according to Rule 6 of the Land Registry Rules, 1889), the conveyance to the Council, and a Statutory Declaration by the Solicitor of the Council, or such other Solicitor as may have been employed by them in the purchase, in Form 2, or to the like effect.

3. If the Council have purchased in consideration of a fee farm or other rent secured by a condition of re-entry or otherwise, whether under Section 13 of the Act, or under Section 10 of the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, or if the land is subject to any incumbrance, or if it be known that the mines and minerals are excepted, the fact shall be stated and short particulars given in the Statutory Declaration aforesaid.

4. On receipt of the application the aforesaid Statutory Declaration shall be filed and referred to on the Register, and the Registrar shall register the County Council as proprietors of the land for the purposes of the Act, with an absolute title, if satisfied that they have a good holding title, or, if not so satisfied, he shall register the County Council provisionally pending further investigation, with such other title as is authorised by the Land Transfer Act, 1875; and in the latter case the purchasers from the County Council shall, pending the completion of the absolute registration, have the benefit of the title possessed by the County Council at the time of their provisional registration, and on the registration of such purchasers a note shall be made on the Register accordingly.

II.—Investigation of Title under Conveyancing Counsel outside the Office.

9. If at any time, either before or after the purchase of land, and either before or after the leaving of a formal application for registration, the County Council desire to have the title investigated through the Registry with a view to registration with Absolute title, they may apply to the Registrar for a reference of the title to any land they have purchased, or are about to purchase, to a Conveyancing Counsel, and the Registrar shall, if he think proper, refer them to such Conveyancing Counsel (of not less than 10 years' standing) as he shall think fit.

10. The title shall be investigated by such Counsel, and the Conveyance (if not already settled) shall be settled by him under the instructions of the County Council, and shall describe the property by reference to the Ordnance map.

11. If the application for registration by the County Council is made after the execution of the Conveyance, they shall leave with the application a report on their Title signed by the Conveyancing Counsel by whom the investigation was made.

12. Such report shall state whether or not the title of the County Council appears to be a good holding title, and whether or not there are any Qualifications, Incumbrances, Conditions, exceptions or other matters affecting it, which ought to be entered on the Register, and, if any, the details thereof.

13. The Registrar may act on such report, and may register the Title as Absolute or Qualified accordingly, but if it appear to the Registrar that the title, though open to objection, is one the holding under which will not be disturbed, he may register the same as Absolute or otherwise proceed under the 17th section of the Land Transfer Act, 1875.

14. Where the title has already been investigated by any such Conveyancing Counsel as aforesaid, the County Council may request that the reference be made to such Counsel if the Registrar so think fit.

15. Where the sale has been completed without the opinion of such Conveyancing Counsel as aforesaid being taken, the title may be referred and proceeded with in the same manner as above prescribed, as soon as the application for registration is left in the office.

PART II.

18. Such charge, so executed, shall be entered on the Register, and shall (subject to the provisions of the Act) operate in all respects as a charge made by a registered proprietor of the land, and may be dealt with on the Register accordingly.

19. An entry shall be made on the Register to the effect that the land was originally acquired under the Act, giving also the date of the sale by the County Council, and showing that the land is subject generally to such of the restrictions and conditions imposed by the Act as may for the time being be subsisting.

20. Such entry may be modified or removed with the consent of the County Council, and on production of a Certificate signed by the Clerk or Solicitor, or other responsible officer of the said Council, to the effect that the land is no longer subject to the conditions contained in Section 9 of the Act, or that the requirements of Section 11 of the Act have been complied with respectively.

21. The cost of the Land Certificate to be issued to the purchaser from the County Council shall, for the purposes of Section 6, Sub-section (1) of the Act, be included in the costs of Registration of Title.

23. The provisions hereinbefore contained as to the creation of Incumbrances by the first purchaser of a Small Holding shall apply to any such sale.

24. The Transferee shall be registered as proprietor, and suitable entries and cancellations shall be made on the Register according to the terms of the Transfer, and no evidence shall be required by the Registrar as to the happening of any of the events mentioned in the said Section 9 as giving rise to the powers of the County Council, or the fulfilment of any of the provisions in that Section contained.

PART IV.

PROCEEDINGS ON THE DEATH OF THE PROPRIETOR OF A SMALL HOLDING.

25. On the death of the Sole Proprietor, or of the survivor of several joint registered proprietors of a Small Holding, the Registrar may enter the Executor or Administrator (if any) as proprietor in place of the deceased proprietor without regard to the beneficial in

26. The application for such registration shall be in Form 8.

27. In the exercise of his power as registered proprietor of the land, such Executor or Administrator shall be a Trustee for all persons beneficially interested, and (except for purposes of registered dealings for value with the land) the registration of the Executor or Administrator shall not affect the beneficial ownership of the land.

28. Production of the Probate or Letters of Administration shall be sufficient proof of the death of the proprietor and of the execution and validity of the Will, or the fact of the intestacy.

29. A Statutory Declaration of Identity in Form 9 or to the like effect shall be the only additional evidence required.

30. Where the Will is not proved, or no Administration is taken out, the Registrar shall proceed as prescribed by Section 41 of the Land Transfer Act, 1875.

PART V.

35. A reasonable contribution to the remuneration of the Local Registrar may, for the purposes of Section 6, Sub-section (1) of the Act, be included in the cost of Registration of Title.

36. The persons appointed as hereinbefore mentioned may be removed by the Registrar at any time for incompetence or failure to perform their duties in a satisfactory manner, or (on the application of the County Council) on the ground that the amount of business is insufficient to require such local assistance.

PART VI.

Miscellaneous.

37. Where the land purchased by the County Council is already registered with an indefeasible title under the Land Registry Act, 1862, or with an absolute title under the Land Transfer Act, 1875, the proceedings under these Rules shall be modified in such manner as the Registrar may deem convenient.

38. Every instrument of transfer or Charge duly executed relating to a Small Holding shall (so far as consistent with the Act) take effect as a Conveyance or Mortgage by deed, and the provisions of the Conveyancing Act, 1881, shall take effect accordingly, except as varied or negatived in the instrument or by these rules.

39. So long as land is registered as subject to the Act, no Transfer (including a Transfer by the registered proprietor of a Charge) or Charge shall be registered without the consent of the County Council, testified by their concurring in the execution thereof.

40. On any sale by the registered proprietor of a Charge, the Instrument of Transfer shall be deemed to have been made in professed exercise of the power of sale (if any) implied in the Charge.

41. On any Transfer for value of land, made by the registered proprietor of a registered Charge or Incumbrance conferring a power of sale, it shall be assumed that the Transfer is made in exercise of the power, and that the land transferred is sold free from the Charge, and from all Charges registered subsequently thereto.

42. No purchaser of land, provisionally registered under these Rules, or registered with an absolute title, shall (in the absence of express stipulation to the contrary) require any further title beyond that to be obtained by an inspection of the Register, or a certified extract from, or copy of the Register (to be furnished at his expense), and a statutory declaration (at the like expense) as to the existence or otherwise of matters which are declared by Section 18 of the Land Transfer Act, 1875, not to be incumbrances within the meaning of that Act.

43. In applying the 3rd and 6th Sub-sections of Section 83 of the Land Transfer Act of 1875 to Small Holdings, the word "Registrar" shall be substituted for the word "Court."

44. Any land on which a County Council has advanced money under Section 19 of the Act may, with the consent of the County Council, be registered, provisionally or otherwise, in like manner and with the like effect as hereinbefore provided with respect to land originally acquired by the County Council for the purposes of the Act.

45. Where land is sold or exchanged by the County Council under Section 15 of the Act, the Instrument of Transfer shall contain additions in Form 10 or to the like effect.

46. On receipt of such Transfer, the Registrar shall register the Transferee without further enquiry as to the fulfilment of the provisions of the said Section, and shall cancel all references to the Act that may have been entered on the Register and that no longer affect the land.

47. Except as varied by these Rules, the existing Rules made under the Land Transfer Act, 1875, shall apply to Small Holdings.

48. These Rules may be cited as The Land Registry (Small Holdings) Rules, 1892, and shall commence on the 1st of October, 1892.

SUGGESTIONS

for facilitating the progress of applications for Registration by County Councils under Sec. 10 (1) of the Small Holdings Act.

1. Contracts for the purchase of land for the purposes of the Small Holdings Act should, wherever practicable, be made conditional on the acceptance of the Title by the Land Registry as Absolute, and on the Vendor giving all necessary facilities to that end.

An analogous provision (to the effect that the title must be approved by the Court) is commonly inserted in contracts for the purchase of land by Trustees and other persons where the purchase-money is to be paid out of funds in Court, and is found to work satisfactorily.

2. As soon as the contract is signed, application should be made to the Land Registry, under Rule 9, for a reference to Conveyancing Counsel (of not less than ten years' standing).

3. The Solicitor to the County Council should then investigate the title under such Counsel's directions, and obtain (if practicable) all evidence necessary to enable the latter to report the title to the Registrar as fit for registration as Absolute under Rule 12.

4. With regard to the investigation of title it may be observed that Sec. 17 of the Land Transfer Act, 1875, enables a title to be registered as Absolute though open to objection, provided that it is one the holding under which in the opinion of the Registrar will not be disturbed, and that Rule 2 of the Land Transfer Rules of 1889 gives a general discretion to the Registrar with regard to the acceptance of titles which are good holding titles, and which have been investigated and accepted outside the office on recent dealings for value though not deduced for the full period. It would seem, therefore, that a title which would fail to satisfy such very moderate requirements would hardly be a proper investment for public money.

5. In case for any reason the above suggestions cannot be followed, it may be observed that the Rules also provide (Rule 4) for the provisional registration of the County Council with such title as may be practicable under the circumstances of the case. Thus, where despatch is of importance, the registration of the County Council and the transfer to the small holder can be effected without waiting for the completion of all formalities required for an absolute title. Under Rules 4 and 8 the several purchasers will be able to obtain the benefit of the absolute registration when completed, and Rule 42 is intended to protect the County Council and their purchasers from any practical inconvenience arising in the meantime on sales, &c., owing to the provisional nature of the registration.

6. In any case the conveyance to or by the County Council should show the property on the Ordnance map (Rule 10), as registration is always made by means of that map. The 25-inch scale, uncoloured edition, is the one recommended for use, with any corrections or enlargements that may be necessary.

7. The fees are regulated by the fee order of 16th January, 1889, as modified by the special fee order issued under the Act. The General Rules regulating applications are dated 25th December, 1875, 1st January, 1889, and 9th August, 1892. It is in contemplation to publish these in one edition, or possibly in a consolidated form.
